Jesus went unto the mount of Olives. And early in the morning he came again into the temple, and all the people came unto him; and he sat down, and taught them. The Pharisees therefore said unto him, Thou barest record of thyself; thy record is not true. Jesus answered and said unto them, Though I bear record of myself, yet my record is true: for I know whence I came, and whither I go; but ye cannot tell whence I come, and whither I go. Ye judge after the flesh; I judge no man.

Why do ye not understand my speech? even because ye cannot hear my word. Ye are of your father the devil, and the lusts of your father ye will do. He was a murderer from the beginning, and abode not in the truth, because there is no truth in him. When he speaketh a lie, he speaketh of his own: for he is a liar, and the father of it. He that is of God heareth God's words: ye therefore hear them not, because ye are not of God. (John 8: 1, 2, 13-15, 43, 44, 47.)

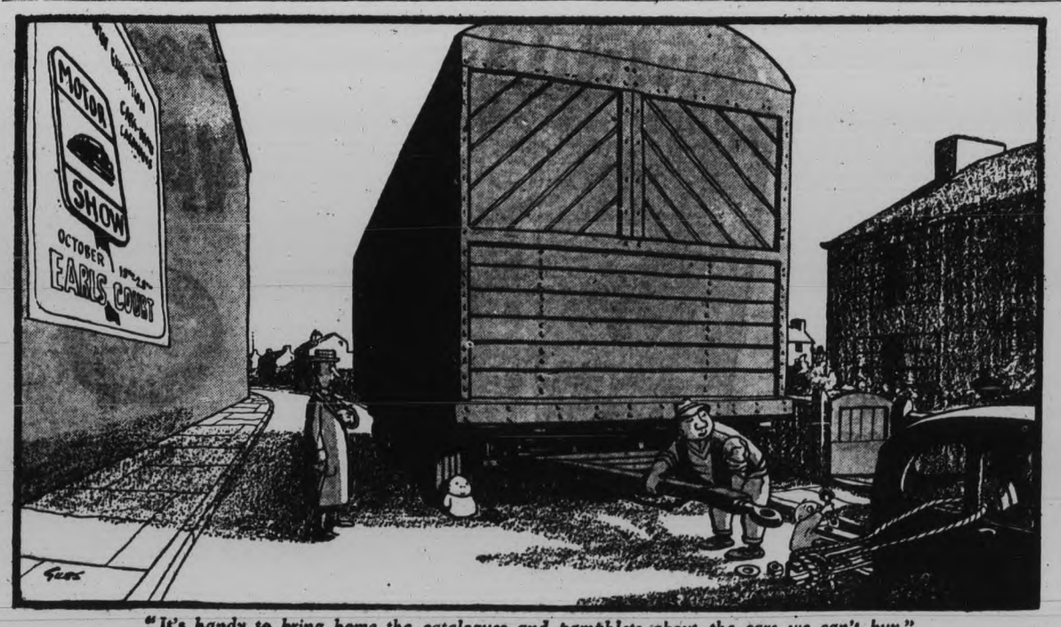
For if ye live after the flesh, ye shall die: but if ye through the Spirit do mortify the needs of the body, ye shall live. For as many as are led by the Spirit of God, they are the sons of God. (Rom. 8: 13, 14.)



A LONG TIME TO WAIT

He sat fidgeting and nervous in the solicitor's waiting-room. A clerk entered.

"I say," said the client, beckoning to him, "I have an appointment with the solicitor at ten o'clock. It's about a legacy."

"And how long have you been waiting?"

"Twenty years!"

"It's handy to bring home the catalogues and pamphlets about the cars we can't buy."

Ask Canadian Dollar Accepted In All Countries For Goods

By FORBES RHUDE,
Canadian Press Business Editor.

OTTAWA, Nov. 7 (CP).—Canadian exporters today asked that they be allowed to accept Canadian dollars in all countries in payment for their goods.

They made the request of the Canadian government by resolution passed by the annual convention of the Canadian Exporters' Association.

Other resolutions asked:

That the United Kingdom allow non-self governing territories in the Commonwealth to use for buying in Canada a substantial part of the dollars they earn from selling in Canada, without discrimination as to the kind of products, whether they be primary or manufactured; and that the self-governing Commonwealth countries and certain "special arrangement" countries also spend more Canadian-earned dollars to buy here. Special trade delegations to these countries was suggested.

Further:

That the Canadian government increase its efforts with the United States to provide for mutual trade "on an equitable basis, and mutual treatment of similar goods entering both countries."

Get Preference

That wherever and whenever shipping rates and facilities are competitive, association members be urged to give first consideration to Canadian shipping services and that the government take whatever economic steps are possible to increase Canadian shipping facilities to the point that so far as is practicable Canadian goods be shipped in Canadian bottoms through Canadian ports.

The resolution asking that payment in Canadian dollars for Canadian exports be allowed in all countries said that failing this, all possible efforts should be made to maintain existing "special arrangements" and to extend them to dollar-area countries, particularly to Latin America; "thus developing the Canadian dollar into a true world currency."

At present exporters may accept Canadian dollars or pounds sterling in sterling-area countries and also in certain countries which are closely connected with it; such as Belgium, Belgian Congo, Norway, Sweden, Egypt. These are known as "special arrangement" countries.

In other countries payment for Canadian goods must be made in United States dollars.

Add To Burden

This dollar resolution said that present regulations add the burden of exchange risks to the already numerous problems of Canadian exporters.

The resolution asking Commonwealth and "special arrangement" countries to make more Canadian-earned dollars available for spending for Canadian goods, notes that the dollar position of these countries has improved and that Canada has contributed to the improvement by encouraging imports from them.

WORLD'S LARGEST — Imperial Leduc, world's largest fresh-water tanker, takes to the water at Collingwood, after being launched by Mrs. N. E. Tanner, wife of Alberta's mines minister. The Imperial Leduc, built at a cost of about $4,000,000 will carry an estimted 5,000,000 barrels of crude oil each season from Superior, Wis., to Ontario refineries. A sister ship, the Imperial Redwater, will be launched at Port Arthur, Ont., Nov. 18.

Aleutians-Tokyo Trip Tough But Reds Make It Worse

By DAVE McINTOSH

TOKYO, Nov. 7 (CP)—Making the long 11-hour airlift jump from Shemya in the Aleutians to Tokyo is tough for RCAF crews, but the Russians made it worse.

Almost every day, Canadian crews get a look behind the Iron Curtain, but from a long way away. The airlift route passes within some 50 miles of the Kurile Islands, the chain of big stepping stones stretching northeast from the northern tip of Japan to the U.S.S.R. Kamchatka Peninsula. The Russians occupy the northern half of the island string.

The Russians jam Loran and radio continuously and navigators must depend on the sextant and the one weather ship that sits in the Pacific along the 2,085-mile route from Shemya to Haneda airport, Tokyo.

Worst Weather

We were aboard North Star 7, one of the Thundercloud Squadron planes in the North Korean airlift, when it took off from Elmendorf field in Alaska. From there the route was over Cook Inlet, Kenai, Bruin Bay, Kakhonex, Kukakiek, Naknek and out over the Bering Sea into the worst weather cauldron in the world.

More than 1,500 miles later, the skipper, FO. Doc Payne, DFC, of Toronto, was "talked down" by ground control approach at Shemya.

Shemya is a two-by-four-mile island of desolation almost at the westernmost tip of the Aleutian archipelago. One of its next-door neighbors is Attu, where the Americans had to dig out the Japs during the war. There are some 350 Americans based on Shemya, where they serve a year.

The Bering Sea and Japanese curents clash off the Aleutians and the result of this meeting is fog, sleet and terrific winds.

In ground control approach, the pilot merely carries out orders of the traffic man on the ground, who can see the plane in his radar screen. The traffic control officer can bring a plane in until the wheels are literally only inches away from the runway.

A chill wind whipped across Shemya as the North Star's cargo was unloaded. Now on the last leg to Tokyo, the plane is riding empty. The airlift movement now is going the other way—flying troops home.

Refuel Plane

While the American ground crew refuelled the aircraft, the crew got into a truck and rattled off to the mess hall for a 40-cent 2 a.m. breakfast and then to operations to get the weather report and clearance and where navigator Flt. Lt. Torchy Weeden, D.C., of Halifax, worked out a new flight plan.

An hour out of Shemya, a hazy moon squinted through the clouds as the North Star droned on over the Pacific. While four passengers slept, the crew fought the aircraft ahead through strong, clinging winds. Icing was bad. More than two inches formed on the windscreen and along the leading edges of the wings.

Eight hours out of Shemya, the plane travelled over a thick floor of white cloud, with a blazing sun pulling itself over the doorstep.

Reject Sports Vote

KINGSTON, Nov. 7 (CP) — City council Monday rejected by a 14-to-4 vote a request by the Trades and Labor Council that Sunday sports here be voted on at the Dec. 4 civic election. Most council members said there was insufficient time for a proper presentation of the issue.

Oil Refineries Raise Output 14% In 6 Months

OTTAWA, Nov. 7 — (CP) — Canadian oil refineries boosted their output by 14 per cent in the first six months of this year, the Bureau of Statistics reported Monday.

Although the refineries received more crude oil from domestic sources than they did a year ago, they also imported more from other countries.

Crude imports totalled 36,040,828 barrels compared with 35,082,597 in the first six months of 1949. The United States supplied 13,809,300 barrels, compared with 13,792,000 a year ago. Venezuela supplied 13,566,200 barrels compared with 17,058,600.

There was a sharp jump in supplies from Arabia. They rose to 7,792,200 barrels from 3,118,500. Imports from Trinidad dropped to 573,000 from 1,113,500.

The receipts of crude oil from domestic sources advanced to 12,240,709 barrels from 9,370,968.

Other Figures

Production of refined products totalled 45,819,326 barrels compared with 40,107,962 in the first six months of 1949.

Motor gasoline output was up to 20,531,227 barrels from 18,451,244. Light fuel oil was up to 5,295,309 barrels from 3,473,147. Naptha specialities, Diesel fuel, and heavy fuel oil also showed increases. Aviation gasoline and tractor fuel output was lower.

The increases, which applied to the six-month period, were reflected in June output, the last month for which figures were available.

The report showed that in June the output of refined petroleum products was 20 per cent higher than in June, 1949. The output for the month amounted to 9,335,643 barrels compared with 7,784,569.

Met Opening Huge Success Televised To Thousands

By HENRIETTA LEITH

NEW YORK, Nov. 7 (AP) — The Metropolitan Opera played to the largest audience in opening-night history Monday night —but most of the viewers sat at home, watching the curtain go up via television.

The performance, Verdi's Don Carlo, was televised on the American Broadcasting Company's network — expanded since the opera was televised for the first time last year.

But the money rolled into the box office just the same.

Under a new arrangement, members of the first-night audience had to buy tickets for three operas to get into the first one of the 1950-51 season. They will use their other tickets later.

The crowd of gaping sidewalk onlookers — police estimated it at about 3,000 persons—saw a glittering and glamorous parade heavily laced with society figures, show people and stars of the music world.

And the sidewalk throng was in strong voice—as were the principals onstage. The onlookers sent up waves of "bravos" as their favorites entered the opera house.

But by the time the performance was underway most of the estimated 3,500 ticket-holders were in their seats.

Mary Garden, who made her operatic debut 50 years ago, was there—the first time she ever attended an opening. She said she was there because of her faith in the new manager, Rudolf Bing.

"Mr. Bing will probably be the last manager of the Metropolitan," she said, "because soon they will tear it down and all opera will come to the people by television."

Among the singers in the audience were Blanch Thebom, Gladys Swarthout and Rise Stevens.

Actress Faye Emerson received her share of attention, with a costume all white except for tiny pink orchids behind her ears. She was escorted by orchestra leader Skitch Henderson.

Petes Take Over Top Spot With 7-4 Win In Belleville

BELLEVILLE, Nov. 7.—Showing a lack of condition and practice a fighting Belleville Redmen team went down to a 7-4 defeat before the Petes in the opening game of the senior season here last night. It was the Petes' third consecutive victory and the win puts them in top slot in the group standing with their city mates, the Eagles, in second position.

The Redmen surprised nearly 1,200 fans with a hard-hitting display with both squads indulging in rugged checking, most of it illegal. Eight penalties were handed out by referee Pat Patterson, five of them coming in the third period.

Stage a Scrap

Joe Nolan and Fryia of the Petes furnished a rugged rhubarb with a minute to go in the third chukker and when the ice brawl continued in the penalty box both were given majors.

The three lines of the homesters, showing a marked equality in their first appearance, held the fast skating Petes to a 1-1 tie in the first period. Both teams played the game clean, although the checking was heavy with no damage done.

The Redmen wilted slightly in the second period and showed signs of the speedy tempo of the game. The Petes roared to the attack and rammed home four goals to sail the game away against a lone return from the Redshirts. Two of the goals were screened shots which Jack Keays, a new Belleville goalie, never saw.

Goalie Good

The Redmen flashed their first period form in the third period and with diminutive Brian Mulvihill pacing the attack outscored the Petes two to one. Both goalies were oustanding, with Harding kicking out determined Red forwards in the first period and Keays doing a fine job in the third period when the Petes rushed to the attack on well played sorties.

The Peterborough team deserved to win on the night's play. Their combination plays clicked the last of the game and they were very effective around the opposing nets. They had a plain advantage in team play and condition and thereby hangs part of the tale.

Things brightened when Nolan and Fryia started slugging and pushing with several players and the officials rushing in to break it up. The players continued the fisticuffs in the penalty box and were given majors.

Mulvihill with three goals, Schreiber and Keays, looked the best for the Red although all players turned in a good performance. Wade, Dugan, West with the Leonards and Tompkins went well for the winners.

The teams:

Petes — Goal, Harding; defence, Davidson, E. Leonard; centre, Wade; wings, Dugan, Floyd; subs, Tompkins, G. Leonard, Fryia, West, Garvey, Collins, Horton, Millar.

Belleville—Goal, Keays; defence, Schreider, Nolan; centre, L. Goyer; wings, Williams, V. Goyer subs, Free, Schmidt, Mulvihill, Wardhaugh, Green, Macdonald, Doug Day, Graham.

Referee Pat Patterson, Kingston; linesman, W. Holloway, Belleville.

Summary

First Period

Belleville—Mulvihill (Green) 15:55
Petes—Garvey (Millar) 17:06

Re-elect Duncan League Prexy

BELLEVILLE, Nov. 7 — Art Duncan of Batawa was re-elected as president of the Trent Valley Hockey League for his fourth term at the loop annual meeting.

Huck McCarthy of Campbellford will serve as first vice-president, Bill Reagan of Marmora, second vice-president; Ron Webb of Norwood, third vice-president, and Herb Rankin of Frankford, secretary-treasurer.

Seven teams are entered, the Frankford-Bata Combines, Brighton, Trenton, Campbellford, Norwood, Belleville, and the defending champions, Marmora Millionaires.

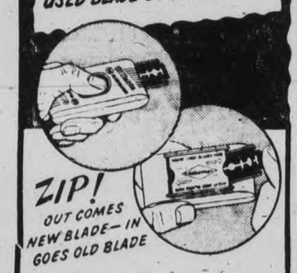
The league constitution will have to be redrafted in order to allow Trenton and Belleville to compete. Prior to this season, entry was restricted to centres with a population under 5,000. The Belleville entry will be made up of players who couldn't catch places on the local OHA squad and will in all probability play their "home" games in Brighton. There is a possibilty that at least one other team will be added before the loop gets underway at the turn of the year.

Can't Attend Final

Viscount Alexander, who probably boots the longest kick-off ball of any Governor-General, won't be able to start off this year's east-west football final at Toronto.

Aides said Monday he was greatly disappointed that long-standing engagements would prevent him from kicking off at the Nov. 25 Grey Cup classic.

His excellency is down for a series of official engagements that day at Montreal and Lachute, Que.



An old rugger player, Viscount Alexander got off kicks of 22 and 27 yards in launching the Grey Cup games in 1948 and 1949. His best mark is about 35 yards in opening a game here last year.

Jones Walks Off With Highest Scoring Honors

TORONTO, Nov. 7 (CP). — American imports provided most of the scoring punch in the Eastern Canada Big Four Football Union this season.

Statistics compiled by The Canadian Press show that import Edgar (Special Delivery) Jones of Hamilton Tiger-Cats walked off with individual scoring honors with his record 108 points in 12 games.

Moreover, 19 Americans scored 501 points while 37 Canadians divided the other 395 of the 896 racked up over the 10-week schedule.

Jones, who formerly played with the professional Cleveland Browns, finished in front of Ulysses Curtis, Negro halfback with Toronto Argonauts who scored 70 points in 11 games. Curtis played with Florida A. and M. in the U.S.

Wagner Third

Virgil Wagner, who came from Belleville, Ill., in 1946 to join Montreal Alouette, finished third with 60 points. It was the first season that Wagner finished below first place in the Big Four lists since he entered Canadian football. His 77 points last season was the previous record high for the Union.

Bill Gregus of the Tiger-Cats, who came from Wake Forest College, stood fourth with 50 points. Nick Volpe of the Argos ranked fifth and stood first among the Canadians. He had 44 points on 41 converts and one field goal.

In the Intercollegiate Union, Bob McFarlane of the University of Western Ontario Mustangs heads the list with 34 points in five games. The college schedule winds up next Saturday. Fred Wilmot of McGill Redmen, who comes from Calgary, ranks second with 26.

Curling News

By HERB MARTIN

Walked into the curling rink yesterday afternoon—ran across G. Braund, secretary, I. Moore, H. Clegg, and George Green. No sooner had we landed in an No. 8 than George Green says: "I've got a new one for you—the curling season can't be far off."

Saw the boys marking out the rings and painting the ices in preparation for the opening night.

It is quite possible that the schedule books will be ready for distribution this week.

It was passed on to us that Rev. Wm. MacDonald intends calling the hot stove league together early next week.

G. Braund, C. Giroux, E. Braund, and H. Hamblin are taking in the bonspiel at Galt next week. So adding it all up it looks as if the boys are just waiting for the bell.

The schedule games commence next Monday evening. Group No. 1 at 7:00 o'clock. Group No. 2 at 9:00 o'clock.

Nylons Whip Queen's

KINGSTON, Nov. 7—(CP)—Kingston Nylons defeated the Queen's University Combines 11-5 in an Ontario Hockey Association senior game last night. The win was Nylons first in three starts and the third straight defeat for Queen's.

The Combines made it a close struggle until the last 15 minutes when Nylons racked up five consecutive goals in less than 12 minutes.

The Combines are lining up a number of local players to go along with the student members of the team.

Wins Melbourne Cup

MELBOURNE, Australia, Nov. 7 (CP).—Top-weighted Comic Court, generally regarded as Australia's best race horse, today won the Melbourne Cup, biggest turf event in the Commonwealth. The five-year-old son of Powers-Court out of Witty Maid, carrying 131 pounds, ran the two miles in the record time of three minutes, 19½ seconds. It broke the Australian two-mile record by one-quarter second.

Demarco Top Scorer

NEW YORK, Nov. 7 (AP). — Ab Demarco, veteran center of the Buffalo Bisons, today topped the American Hockey League scoring parade in all offensive departments. Demarco leads the field in points with 28, is first in goals with 12 and in assists with 16.

GAGNON WINS

Nernando Gagnon of Quebec, Canadian bantamweight champion, knocked out Johnny Arduini of Washington, D. C., in the fourth round of a scheduled 10-round boxing feature match in Quebec City last night. Gagnon weighed 116¼, Arduini, 121¼.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

While those are nice healthy margins the PCVS grid teams hold over Belleville in COSSA semi-finals, neither Coach Bev Goulding of the senior Garnet and Greys nor Coach Alex Londry of the junior PCI-ers are letting their players coast this week. They will be in top form Saturday at the Oval for the return frays. The local seniors won 32-1 as the juniors romped to a 17-0 verdict, but past performances don't concern the coaches. They stress coming contests. But it certainly looks like the Collegiate colors in both brackets will be seen once more in COSSA finals after Saturday — a fairly familiar spot for the PCVS footballers for some years.

* * * * * * *

It was the end of the road Saturday for the Orfuns as they bowed out in ORFU intermediate "B" semi-finals. But not the end of the Orfuns as a football club. They will be back another year, constantly building under a strong executive. They lost money again, but they'll be back. Football is not only the toughest team game of them all, but it is the most expensive. Clubs must carry such large rosters, heavily equipped, with travelling and working expenses, and the season is so short that capacity crowds must attend every game if a club is to break even. Yet, Orfuns will return next fall with a stronger squad.

* * * * * * *

Line Was Really Good

They started a rebuilding program this year and the team went well. We had the best line in a strong senior "B" grouping, but lacked a couple of outstanding backfielders. Ace hoofers, good passers and fast runners. Two such already have applied for a spot here next year. Had we those two this season, Orfuns would not have dropped several heart-breaking battles. They should have won group honors. But Coach Bamforth, the working executive and the gallant gridders did all they could under the circs. Next year they should have all imports in early and living here so that they can attend every drill. Also, don't bring in fellows who will buzz off ere season's end to play hockey elsewhere.

* * * * * * *

Local footballers did well, only a few of the imports really over-shadowing them. There's no gamer athlete in town than Russ Scriver who played all season on the limp. Frank Fitzgerald was out there in the last game with a broken hand in a cast. Jim Conlin is another gamester. Ditto Gord Beatty, Spike Matthews, and the rest. The club had tough luck early in losing Doug Plunkett and Bill Davidson with fractured collar-bones. Good imports like Merv Bonney, John Lynch, Bill Huntley and some more certainly improved the squad a lot, but we still need a few more. Couple of backs, as stated before, perhaps a quarter and a snap. An ace pass receiver would help, too. Get those and the team in shape and drilling early—with an exhibition or two before the schedule—and Peterborough would be back in the ORFU limelight.

Reds Tackling Eagles

OHA senior "B" hockey returns tomorrow eve at 8.30 in Civic Arena with Belleville Redmen tangling with the local Eagles. First showing of the Reds here this season, and they'll be trying to even up a few scores of last season against the men o' McGillis—known a year ago as the Legionnaires. Whether or not they can can match speed and fight with the scrappy Eagles remains to be seen, but we expect a rousing dish of senior hockey for a big crowd of puck consumers. Games won now don't have to be won near the end of the schedule, you know, and Mick Magee's crew are well aware of that fact. They don't take kindly to losses.

* * * * * * *

The speedy Petes took over top place in the senior "B" standing by themselves last eve on Quinte ice when they yanked out a 7-4 verdict before a hefty crowd. Jake Wade was really flying on the large surface, with Fryia, Dugan, Garvey, West and some of the others sparkling, as well. Whole team, in fact, clicked like castanets—as they found stiff opposition most of the route from the big Redmen, Mulvihill shining as he scored three markers. The latter are still a bit shy on condition. Joe Nolan, who got the OHA okay to play for Belleville, and Chum Fryia had a hot fist fight near the finish, carrying it into the penalty box. A fairly clean fray but plenty of hard checking seen. Horton stood out on defence for the Jopling crew.

The Ghosts have won a flock of titles in the past 12 years, even taking Dominion intermediate honors.... Trent Valley puck loop has re-organized for the coming cold spell.... Looks like the Lindsay intermediates won't operate, except for some exhibition tilts.... They expect to use Ross Nicholls, Al Burns and Sixty Coombs in exhibition play.... Ald. Claude Tice of Belleville took part in the opening ceremony there last gloaming.... Honey Tompkins is starting to round into shape now.... Legrow, Casey and Edgar may play for Port Hope intermediates.... Can't think of another thing to say.

TOKEN OF GRATITUDE — A group of Canadian Czechoslovakians, grateful and appreciative of their Canadian citizenship, paid a visit to Prime Minister St. Laurent, to pledge their unfailing devotion and loyalty to their adopted country. Here are some of the younger ones, dressed in their native costumes, with the prime minister.

Branch Rickey Named Bucs' Manager

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 7 (AP).—Branch Rickey, generally regarded as baseball's shrewdest executive, has a brand new challenge today—lifting the Pittsburgh Pirates out of the National League cellar.

Rickey is the new vice-president and general manager of the Bucs—a team that hasn't won a pennant since 1927.

The 68-year-old man with the bushy eyebrows and fat cigar didn't bat an eye Monday when Pirate president John Galbreath told a press conference the rumors about Rickey coming to the Bucs were true.

A little later, when congratulatory remarks were being passed around, Rickey beamed as only Rickey can.

Rickey has a five-year contract at an unannounced salary. There's a clause permitting him to extend the contract another five years.

What will happen to the club's present general manager, portly Roy Hamey? Rickey isn't prepared to say at the moment, but he smiled and added:

"I'm not familiar with the club's corporate structure... But I see nothing wrong with having two or three general managers.

Do Same Job

"Roy will continue to do much the same job as he has in the past, concentrating on players. My son, (Branch Rickey, Jr.) will have a similar responsibility."

Young Rickey has been associated with his father several years and was expected to go along after the "Mahatma" resigned last week as president and general manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Rickey said that in his new contract there are no provisions for buying Pirate stock.

Rickey, the man who built the St. Louis Cardinal farm system, and who brought pennant winners to both the Cards and Dodgers, was his old cagey self when he got down to discussing the immediate future.

Asked whether Bill Meyer will be back to finish the last year of his contract as manager, he said: "I'll be able to answer that in a month." He also said he hasn't made up his mind about possible player trades.

Here And There In Sports . . .

By The Canadian Press

Officials bent over backwards to keep things properly balanced for both sides in the all-important first game of the Western Interprovincial Football Union final at Edmonton last Saturday. Arm-chair statisticians say the officials did more passing than either backfield in the spine-tingling thriller won by Edmonton Eskimos 17-16.

Officials used two balls — a yellow one and a white one. When Winnipeg Blue Bombers, in white pants, took over the offensive the yellow ball went into play. The white one was substituted when the yellow-panted Esks went on the attack.

Apprentice jockey Gilbert Rowntree booted home four winners at Toronto's Dufferin Park Monday as the curtain came down on Canadian racing for 1950. It duplicated his performance of last Saturday when he also rode four winners.

The youngster rode three successive winners, Royal Trainee at $11.80 for $2 straight in the second; Zapolya, owned by J. M. Monaghan of Montreal, at $8.50 in the third; Hickory Lea at $7.25 in the fourth and Good Story at $16 in the featured sixth event.

His eight winners during the meeting's last two days brought his total for the last two weeks to 19, two short of the total ridden by Darrell Hartley, Calgary apprentice.

Tommy Farr, former British heavyweight boxing champion attempting a comeback, scored a third-round knockout over Piet Wilde, Belgian champion, before a crowd of 9,000 at Leicester, England, Monday night.

Farr weighed 196 to Wilde's 205½. The fight was scheduled for 10 rounds.

The 36-year-old Briton had difficulty in getting inside Wilde's defences until the third, when he suddenly crossed a right to the Belgian's jaw.

Wilde fell in a sitting position. He was getting up at the count of 10 but the referee ruled he failed to beat the count.

Boos and shouts greeted the decision. Farr was howled down as he tried to talk to the crowd.

The Fighting Glens No. 6 paid a visit to Legion to play the Legionnaires No. 3 and outflanked them in every frame but four taking this first encounter 19-6. The second game saw the Glens driven back into their foxholes although they did threaten in the sixth and seventh frames, but a three-end by the Legionnaires squashed their chance and while they scored two more singles they lost it 10-5. A game apiece.

The Quakermen were hosts to St. Luke's No. 1. And while the East City Midgets tried hard they could not overcome the energy displayed by the Full-O-Pep team. Both games went to the hosts 10-3 and 8-5. The East City Midgets are still a team to be reckoned with and will shortly break into the winner's column if their lead man "Butch" can get his second ball to stay on the mat like his first one does.

Big Bens No. 7 had as their guests the South End Saints and both games were humdingers. The Bens broke the ice and led for the first two frames 3-0. St. George's took the next four frames and then led 6-3, then a gigantic five scored by the Big Bens and that proved the turning point and, while the Saints scored in three more ends, they were only singles and they lost the first one 11-9. The second encounter saw the Big Bens going into the lead and as the game progressed had them trailing behind the Saints 5-7 going into the 10th frame. Then the Big Bens got their balance wheel on even keel and swept the last three frames 6-0 taking that game by a score of 11-7. Two well-fought games.

The fourth match saw SOE No. 8 defending the "Old Citadel" against the onslaught of the Old Sweats No. 5. The first game saw three draws in seven frames, then the Sons weakened and the Old Sweats swept on to a 14-9 victory. The second game had the Sons behind until they scored a four in the eighth, going ahead by one point. In the last four frames the Sons rallied taking the first three by scores of 2, 3 and 3 and, while the Old Sweats came back to score a four in the final frame, they had weakened too long, losing the game 16-11. Both teams took a game apiece by virtue of a five count.

The final match of the week was played at the Fire Hall between those arch enemies King Billie and Fire Fighters, or the president and secretary's teams, and it turned out to be the match of the week as they were evenly matched; draws resulted in both games. Even at that the Smoke-Eaters had to come from behind in both games to score a two to tie both games respectively by scores of 12-12, 9-9. But further games between these two teams should result in victories for the Orange-Squeezers if and when their vice-skip recovers the full use of his right hand.

The schedule for next week—November 13: Glens No. 6 vs SOE No. 8; St. George's No. 10 vs St. Luke's No. 1; Legion No. 3 vs Legion No. 5; Fire Hall No. 9 vs Legion No. 7; LOL No. 2 vs Quakers No. 4.

This write-up will appear earlier in the week for the balance of the season.

No further dues had been received since the last report. Do not forget to push the sale of draw tickets.

Standing up to Nov. 4.

Changes At Met. Delight Audience Opening Night

NEW YORK, Nov. 7—(AP)—Another hit opened on Broadway Monday night—at the Metropolitan Opera House.

The old institution on the edge of the midtown theatre district began its 1950-51 season with a new production of Verdi's Don Carlo.

The opening night, always a social event, was an artistic one, too. For a welcome change, society was not content to ogle society; it also ogled the opera.

Everything was brand new: new general manager, the first in 15 years, new stage manager, for the first time ever a woman; three singers making their United States as well as Met debuts, and a fourth, her debut at the Met; all the cast, chorus and all sets and costumes especially designed for this occasion.

Rudolph Bing replaced Edward Johnson of Guelph, as general manager this season.

Hamming Eliminated

Of all the bouquets to pass out, one of the biggest should go to Margaret Webster, borrowed from the theatre to stage this production. Nobody got in anybody's way. Actors walked around as if they had someplace to go, or stood still naturally as if they didn't. Boy kissed girl as if he meant it. Eyes did not roll to heaven. The too-familiar hamming was eliminated.

The opera, laid in the 16th century, tells of Spanish King Philip II's struggles with the church, with his rebellious son and heir Don Carlo, and with his oppressed subjects, the Flemings, who are befriended by Rodrigo, a Grandee. The material is dramatic: frustrated love, jealousy, betrayal, a shooting, the clash of swords. The mood is gloomy and tragic.

American debuts were by two Italians, Basso Cesare Siepi as the King and Mezzo Fedora Barbieri as the Princess of Eboli, and by Delia Rigal, soprano from Argentina, as Elizabeth of Valois, wife of Philip and beloved by her stepson Don Carlo. The Met debut was by Lucine Amara, as the briefly heard off-stage celestial voice.

Familiars In Cast

Familiars in the cast included Jussi Bjoerlin as Carlo, Robert Merrill as Rodrigo, Jerome Hines as Grand Inquisitor, Anne Bollinger as Theobald and Emery Darcy as Royal Herald.

The new singers as well as the old deserved the warm applause they received.

General Manager Rudolph Bing, whose first show here this was, could have used a really-great voice, and on the basis of this performance alone he did not have one. He has had difficulty getting some singers into this country because of new immigration regulations.

But the voices he did choose were all better than good and he made the most of them. It was an excitingly co-ordinated production.

Conductor Fritz Stiedry had the whole performance under expert command. The sets designed by Rolph Gerard were simple, impressive and handsome—in particular the first of the six showing the Tomb of Charles V at the Cloisters.

7 American League Players On Major League All-Star Team

NEW YORK, Nov. 7 (AP). — Seven players from the American and four from the National make up the 1950 major baseball league's all-star team selected for The Associated Press by 381 sports writers and sportscasters from coast to coast.

Half of the 16 big league clubs four in each circuit, are represented in the AP's fifth annual all-star squad.

The world champion New York Yankees and Boston Red Sox are the only clubs to have more than one representative. In addition to short-stop Phil Rizzuto, the most popular of the 11 selections, the Yanks landed outfielder Joe DiMaggio and catcher Yogi Berra. The Red Sox provide first baseman Walt Dropo and utility man Billy Goodman.

Not a single member of the National League champion Philadelphia Phils made the team.

The all-star team:

First base—Walter Dropo, Red Sox.

Second base—Jackie Robinson, Dodgers.

Third base—George Kell, Tigers.

Short stop—Phil Rizzuto, Yankees.

Right field—Stan Musial, Cardinals.

Centre field—Joe DiMaggio, Yankees.

Catcher—Yogi Berra, Yankees.

Righthanded pitcher—Bob Lemon, Indians.

Lefthanded pitcher — Warren Spahn, Braves.

Utility—Billy Goodman, Red Sox.

Five Holdovers

Five of the players are holdovers from the 1949 all-star team They are Jackie Robinson, George Kell, Phil Rizzuto, Stan Musial and Ralph Kiner.

Ted Williams, who finished fifth among the flychasers, failed to make the team for the first time since the poll was inaugurated in 1946. The Red Sox slugger was sidelined for two months with a fractured elbow.

Rizzuto, the American League's most valuable player, was named on the most ballots, 360. Kell, runner-up to Boston's Billy Goodman for the junior circuit's batting title, received the second highest number of votes, 325. The only freshman to make the team, Dropo received 205 votes.

DiMaggio, who with Musial and Kiner comprise the outfield, received the smallest number of votes by a winner. He had 129.

The team boasts seven .300 hitters, five players who drove in 100 or more runs and who clouted 25 or more homers, the National League's batting, home run and runs batted in king as well as the American League's R.B.I. leader. The outfield presents three power hitters who walloped 107 homers and drove in 347 runs.

Max Keeps Leafs In Top Position

MONTREAL, Nov. 7—(CP)—One of the big reasons for the brilliant showing of Toronto Maple Leafs, undefeated in 10 games, is smooth play-making Max Bentley, who stands atop the National Hockey League scoring parade.

The veteran centre last week collected six points to take over first place with 14 points— four goals and 10 assists. Montreal Canadiens' Maurice Richard, who had led since the start of the season, is one point behind the Delisle, Sask., native with nine goals and four assists.

Ted Kennedy of Toronto is third with 11 points on three goals and eight assists. Grouped in fourth place with 10 points are Tod Sloan and Cal Gardner, both of Toronto, and Gorde Howe of Detroit.

The Maple Leafs, who have not lost a game since dropping their season opener, 2-1, to Chicago Black Hawks at Toronto, Oct. 14, stand first in league standings. They have won seven and tied three for 17 points, five more than Detroit Red Wings.

Change Places

Rookie Goalie Terry Sawchuk of Detroit displaced Jack Gelineau atop the net-minding department. Sawchuk, with one shutout to his credit, has allowed 16 goals in nine games for a 1.78 average.

Toronto's Turk Broda, with three shutouts to his credit, has a better average—1.62. He has miscued 13 times in 8 games, however. The team goal-tending average—basis for awarding the Vezina trophy—is 1.82. Al Rollins, who share goal duties with Broda has a 2.33 average.

Canadiens continued as the most-penalized team with 128 minutes. Fern Flaman of Boston is the penalty leader with 37 minutes.

OHA Decisions Said Cooked-up

GUELPH, Nov. 7—(CP)—Roy Mason, manager of Guelph Biltmores, charged in a statement Monday that the Ontario Hockey Association executive held meetings to hear "cooked-up decisions that have been made at the express direction of Maple Leaf Gardens."

His statement followed an OHA executive ruling cancelling a player deal between his club and Toronto St. Michael's College, both of the Junior A series.

Mason was supported by Arnold Somerville, Biltmores' secretary, who said the club carried out OHA instructions to the letter in the deal by which Guelph was to send two players and $500 in cash to St. Mike's for forward Willy Marshall.

The Biltmores ordered John Negladiuk and Ken Laufman to report to St. Mike's but the latter refused.

Somerville also charged that George Panter, OHA business manager, gave the executive only one side of the story at the recent meeting which cancelled the Guelph-St. Mike's deal.

He said the meeting decided the case in St. Mike's favor on the contents of a telegram sent to St. Mike's by Laufman. Panter, Somerville said, did not read a letter to the OHA stating his telegram had been dictated by Coach Bob Davidson of Toronto Marlboros.

Remember When—

After a long period of frustration, D-Day comes. The three friends leave for France. As members of the Guards Armoured Division, they join battle and emerge victors from their first engagement. Later, they are in the vanguard of the Allied advance, which gradually gathers speed until it becomes a race between two columns moving towards Brussels. The city is liberated amid scenes of wild enthusiasm, and the advance continues through Holland, until slowed down at Nijmejen and Eindhoven. The tanks are beaten by mud, and the infantry takes over.
David and Philip, granted 48 hours' leave, smuggle themselves aboard a plane bound for England.
.....At Christmas, the Guards are moved up to support the Americans as they deal with a break-through in the Ardennes. Just before leaving on a reconnaissance of the mountains with Philip and "Smoke", David learns that Jane is expecting a baby. Jack Miner's Sanctuary Again Welcomes Huge Flocks Of Migrating Geese From The North

By ALAN DONNELLY

KINGSVILLE, Nov. 7—(CP)—The geese that Jack Miner loved have come back again.

The great, grey squadrons from the north, led by wise old ganders who have known the way for years, have once again found the tiny pond-dotted oasis near here that was begun 46 years ago by the late Jack Miner.

Now at their migration peak, between 50,000 an 60,000 will have rested and fed this fall at the sanctuary he built for them. Here they are kept safe from hunters until the United States hunting season ends in mid-November, when they will continue their rush to winters grounds along the Gulf of Mexico.

Visitors at the sanctuary stand amazed at the sight of 8,000 wild geese blackening a five-acre field, and at the wild sound of whistling wings as the big birds swarm into the sky.

The phenomenon hasn't yet become commonplace to residents of this Essex county district, who knew Jack Miner and his work. That work is being continued by his three sons, Manley, Jasper and Ted.

Dreamed Of Sanctuary

Jack Miner, who died in 1944, dreamed of this year's giant migration when in 1904 he stopped hunting wild fowl, bought seven wild geese and put them, with their wings clipped, into a pond near his house. It was North America's first bird sanctuary.

He waited four years until the first flight of 11 geese came honking in. Since then the flocks have grown. Manley Miner reports a 30-per-cent increase in birds in the last two years.

1,500-Mile Flight

This year's geese, many raised last summer on Hudson Bay, are believed to have made a non-stop 1,500-mile hurdle from feeding marshes on James Bay.

Jasper, youngest of the three sons who feeds and bands the birds, expects to band about 2,500 this year. The birds, who come to Kingsville in the spring, follow the Atlantic flyway. Those southbound in the fall follow the Mississippi flyway.

The Canada geese, blue geese and snow geese need fattening in the spring on their way to Arctic nesting areas. "They have to get up there safe and fat so as to reproduce well," Jasper said.

The importance of the bird sanctuary is seen here in the fact that the geese following the Mississipi flyway—the most heavily hunted of four flyways they follow—are increasing.

Nest-Egg Supply

"The sanctuary acts as a nest-egg supply for the continent," Manley said. "We have banded 45,000 Canada geese since 1915 and more than 6,000 of them have been reported killed in the United States. Only six were killed west of the Mississippi. At least one-quarter of each group caught for banding has been banded before. Last year we found one banded 24 years previously."

The bands are unchanged from those devised by Jack Miner, a deeply religious man who saw the hand of providence guiding flights of birds. Each carries a verse of scripture. One of the several strapped to the legs of geese this year is the simple: "Have faith in God."

Sanctuary Veterans

There are some permanent boarders at the sanctuary—like four whistling swans. They are the survivors of nine swans rescued one winter by the late Red Hill from ice below Niagara Falls after they went over the catract.

No one knows how old the four swans are, but they have been at the sanctuary 26 years. They are given a special diet.

Conservation is carried on by the Jack Miner Foundation, established by the naturalist before his death. The foundation owns the ponds where the birds are fed, the Miner home and the community park. Grain for the migrants is grown on the 300 acres owned by the Miner brothers.

Costs $20,000

Directors of the foundation, which is headed by Manley Miner, spend approximately $20,000 a year. Three of every four dollars is raised by public contribution. A Dominion government grant covers the other quarter of the budget.

The foundation's current interest is to gain permanent endowment of the sanctuary through subscriptions from organizations and wealthy individuals.

The goal is still the one held by Jack Miner—the return of the great flocks of wildfowl that North America once knew. His son, Jasper, says:

"If hunters will just learn to be patient, if man will learn to conserve as well as kill, we'll have the great flights of geese again."

Liberals Meet This Week, Choose Leader

TORONTO, Nov. 7 — (CP) — Ontario Liberals, beaten in the last three provincial elections, meet this week to select a new leader who they hope will restore their party fortunes.

The party leadership convention is the third since Mitchell F. Hepburn caused an upheaval in Liberal ranks with his surprise resignation late in 1942.

Five men have announced they definitely will seek the post vacated by Farquhar Oliver when he resigned in September, 1949, after two years as leader. There are at least three other possible candidates.

The sure starters: John G. Brown, Kitchener accountant and member of the Ontario Legislature for Waterloo North; Campbell Calder, lawyer and Legislature member for London; H. Arnott Hicks, Hamilton business man who is a member of that city's board of control; John J. Sullivan, Hamilton lawyer; and Walter Thomson, lawyer and farmer, who represents Ontario constituency in the House of Commons.

Possibles are Harry Cassidy, Vancouver-born director of the School of Social Work at the University of Toronto; Charles W. Cox, member of the Legislature for Fort William and a former Ontario minister of lands and forests; Norman O. Hipel, of Preston, former provincial cabinet minister and former member of the Legislature for Waterloo South.

Two Favorites

Pre - convention speculation casts Mr. Brown and Mr. Thomson in the role of favorites. Mr. Brown is known to have influential support among federal cabinet ministers. Mr. Thomson, who has campaigned actively, also has support in federal circles. However, one party source emphasized that the race is still wide open, particularly if Mr. Hipel decides to run.

In a pre-convention gathering, the Young Liberals meet Wednesday, the day after the provincial Progressive Conservative Association winds up its two-day annual meeting. The convention starts at 10 a.m. Thursday. Nominations for the leadership are on Thursday afternoon and voting Friday afternoon. The convention also will consider a comprehensive policy statement.

When Mr. Hepburn resigned in 1942, he turned over to Gordon C. Conant, of Oshawa, now Master of the Ontario Supreme Court, the premiership he had held since 1934. Two cabinet ministers resigned in protest against the step —Mr. Oliver and Harry C. Nixon, who has been member of the Legislature for Brant since 1919.

IN GOOD HANDS — These are some of the 60,000-odd geese expected to rest over at the Jack Miner bird sanctuary at Kingsville, Ont. (Top). Here they are safe from hunters until the US hunting season ends in mid-November. Then they continue their trip to winter grounds along the Gulf of Mexico. Jasper Miner (Lower), youngest son of the late Jack Miner, holds one of the recently arrived geese. Following the work started by his father, he expects to band about 2,500 birds this year.

Ask Minister's Release To Run For Mayor

WINDSOR, Nov. 7—(CP)—The Board of Deacons of Temple Baptist Church Sunday asked for the release of the Rev. Harry Nobles from his duties as pastor of the church to allow him to enter the mayoralty contest in the Dec. 6 civil elections here.

A meeting of the congregation has been called for Wednesday night to vote on the board's action.

The board passed a resolution recommending leave of absence for Dr. Nobles and voicing support for his campaign.

Two men—Thomas Brophey and Frederick Croson—have already stated their intention of seeking the mayor's office. Mayor Arthur J. Reaume has not officially announced that he will run for a sixth two-year term.

Apsley News

Mrs. Don. Newberry, delegate to the WI Area Convention, Toronto, arrived home. Mrs. Norman Reddick, also a delegate, is visiting friends in Toronto. Mrs. A. Bott also attended the convention as delegate from Chandos branch, and Mrs. Victor Tanner attended as district delegate.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Reddick and Mrs. Robert Reddick were in Toronto this week.

HAULTAIN DEER HUNT

PETERBOROUGH EXAMINER

VOL. CI. No. 107 — TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 7, 1950

Charge Driver Of Truck In Fatal Crash

Driver of the truck involved in the accident which killed Gordon A. Ham on Highway 28, Oct. 25, Glen A. Anderson, 25, 4 McKellar St., was charged in police court today with reckless driving and careless driving.

He was remanded on $2,000 bail to November 16. T. J. Carley, KC, is defending Anderson.

The car which Ham, Ontario sales manager for the DeLaval Co. was driving south on Highway 28, met in collision with the three-quarter-ton pickup truck driven north by Anderson at the brow of a hill.

Ham was killed instantly when the whole front left corner of the car was smashed in. The front seats were torn out of their fixed positions.

Both drivers were alone in their vehicles and it is believed no one saw the accident.

George St. Stores Bought

Two George St. stores on the west side between Simcoe and Charlotte Sts. have been purchased from the Toronto Savings and Loan Co. The two stores were bought by the same company which purchased the corner property at George and Charlotte Sts. for the F. W. Woolworth Co.

Phenomenal Rise In Wool Prices To Hijack Suits

A "phenomenal" increase in the price of wool garments has been predicted by the manager of a Peterborough men's wear store.

He and other dealers intimated that $45 suits may in two months be selling for as much as $75. Nine dollar sweaters may jump to $14 and other garments almost double in price.

In another forecast, dealers said they could see the return of the rayon-wool mixture suit, and cheaper suits similar to some sold during the past war.

The reason, according to one merchant, was the old story of supply and demand. Stocks in Australia and New Zealand are low. Canadian and American herders are pasturing 32,000,000 less sheep than in pre-war years.

Russian Buying

Another merchant gave another part of the reason. In 1948 and 1949, Russian wool buyers were purchasing the complete Australian clip. They had little or no competition.

This year, with war talk running high, American buyers saw they would need the wool from Australia, and began to bid against Russia for the clip.

The Russian buyers were stubborn and the U.S. buyers were forced to pay an extraordinarily high price for the wool.

On the farm front, the short supply of wool is reflected in the heavy demand for breeding sheep in this country. J. W. Graham of the federal Department of Agriculture said he believed that the production of wool in Canada would be the lowest in 29 years.

District breeder Norman McConkey said recently he could have sold 1,000 ewes last month if he had wanted to.

Raw Wool Up, Scarce

Spokesman for a Peterborough raw wool buyer said that wool was now selling for 250 pence a pound—wool prices are always quoted in British pence—compared to 104 pence at this time last year. In 1933 wool sold at 30 pence a pound. And a pound will make not quite a yard of cloth.

"We've been consuming 10 per cent. more than we have produced," he said. "We have used up a stockpile of millions of pounds built up during the war. Australian sheepmen lost a lot of sheep in the flood there this year, and that cut down the Australian wool stock."

Since 1939, he said the price of raw wool has gone up 300 to 500 per cent. The increase of 146 pence over prices at this time in 1939 represents an increase of about 240 per cent.

Told of the comment by merchants that $45 suits may sell for $75, he said "I wouldn't be surprised if they said $100."

FRED HILLS

Hills Will Seek Re-election To Utilities

Fred Hills will be a candidate for re-election to the Utilities Commission, he informed the Examiner today.

"I have tried to represent the people in all sections of the city in getting done the new work we have had to take on since the last year of the war," Mr. Hills said. "Maybe they want me to carry on for another term, and we just have to leave the decisions to them."

Mr. Hills said he thought the public realized that the Utilities Commission had accomplished a great deal of new construction during the last six years.

"There are whole areas that had to be supplied with water mains and electricity.

"If there were times when some people thought we were not moving fast enough, I think they realized after all that there was a big surge of new work that had to be done in a hurry. I feel that it is a tribute to our employees that we were able to get so much done in the expansion of the city."

Mr. Hills said the Commission had to revamp the gas department, discard the old equipment and switch over to the use of propane gas. He recalled the time

They Didn't Know Who Was Driver; One Gets 10 Days

Joseph E. Paquette, RR 9, Peterborough, said he was just climbing out of the right front seat of the car when provincial police found him behind the wheel of his brother's car and charged him with being drunk in charge of a car, but Magistrate W. R. Philp, K.C., said the explanation was "somewhat fantastic."

He sentenced Paquette to 10 days in jail.

Provincial Constable Thomas Fitzpatrick testified he and constable Archibald Eady investigated an accident Oct. 7 about 9:15 p.m. They found a car wedged into a wire fence after it had plunged off the Chemong highway 215 feet back.

He said Paquette was sitting behind the wheel of the car ...ed by Paquette's brother K...n. He had to ask Paquette several times to get out of the car before he stirred and then he had trouble getting out.

Two men were in the back seat in "a fairly intoxicated condition." One was Paquette's brother and the other Jack Jones.

Paquette was drunk, said the officer. He was unsteady on his feet, smelled strongly of alcohol and his speech was thick.

The right door of the car was jammed up against a fence post. In the car were two pints of beer and scattered on the left side of the car five or six empty beer bottles.

Deer Hunters In Wet Snow Get 1st-Day Spoils To Show

By NICK NICKELS

Autumn's worst weather week-end, just past, which drove people indoors to huddle around fires did nothing to dampen the enthusiasm of deer hunters everywhere. The Great Trek from cities, towns and villages, east and west of Peterborough, started with a trickle of road traffic on Friday evening. There were cars, cars with trailers and trucks speeding north on Highway 28 through the night. Wet snow slanted into their headlights. On Saturday morning it turned to rain and still they came, all headed north.

Boarded-up hunting shacks that dot the wilderness country in the north half of the county presented a dismal picture on their arrival. The buildings were cold and damp, the mattresses clammy, the firewood deadfalls covered with ice. But the hunters made themselves comfortable and kennelled their dogs and hung their woolen clothing to steam over the cookstoves.

On Sunday the hunters examined the game runways and noted the evidence of deer tracks in the soft snow. There was target practice in camp to test rifle sights, some heavy meals were consumed and oil lamps were blown out early in the evening.

No hunters needed wakening on Monday morning. Long before daybreak and after a hot breakfast eaten in silence, they paired off for various watches with their hounds at their heels. The fairyland of ice-covered woods, swamps and beaver meadows held no charms for the deer hunters; in fact, the noise of water dripping and blobs of wet snow falling from evergreens set their nerves on edge. Each sound in the gray morning could be a deer on the move and the wet snow screen presented an additional camouflage for the game. "To shoot or not to shoot" was a decision that was hard to make.

At Eel's Creek

I went to the area west of the Eel's Creek Game Preserve early on Monday morning to have a look.

There were sounds of intermittent rifle fire to the west of the highway and the tonguing of hounds giving chase which indicated the presence of game.

I walked east to the creek boundary of the game sanctuary and the only living thing in sight after half an hour of wet tramping was a tan and white hound sniffing along a snow trail. It left bloody footmarks in the snow, the result of having cut its paw in the short crust. I turned back to the highway with the hound at my heels.

The sun was breaking through a high overcast, the trees dripped and the hunters came back to their camps, cold and weary. Some of them dragged disembowled deer carcasses along the trails staining the snow pink. Others carried them slung between them on a pole. They hung their trophies in the trees beside camp doorways.

First Day's Results

How had the opening day of the hunt gone?

Answers were varied in ratio to luck. The general opinion was that it was no better nor yet worse than the opening day of 1949. There was a great deal of game milling in the bush which experts estimate will remain there for two or three days before heading back for the game preserves.

I examined a total of ten deer in four camps and two car trunks and would estimate from that and subsequent reports from other districts that each group of five hunters took a deer on opening morning.

Conservation Officers Busy

Five overworked conservation officers find little time for sleep these days and there are many deputies to assist them. One of these deputies told me he checked all hunters he met for proper gun and dog licenses. He had no sooner finished speaking when two men came along. One of them had left his important papers at home —the deputy was not amused.

The Department game check at the junction of the Buckhorn Road at Burleigh had not been set up as of Monday noon. It was therefore imposible to do more than estimate Monday's deer count. Parked vehicles were at every turnout and gravel pit.

The Lane brothers party had three deer, the most in that area, but was topped by Clarence McIlmoyle's crowd south of South Bay on Stony Lake by a bear as well, shot by Rusty Crowe of Lakefield. Their large party composed of village hunters will be joined on Friday by Dr. B. P. Lash of Shelby, and Bill Stone and Glen West of Plymouth, all from Ohio.

DISCUSS CITY MANAGER

Hamilton city council is approaching with excess of circumspection a proposal to adopt city manager form of administration. Instead of asking the people to vote on that issue, the board of control is recommending to council appointment of a representative citizens' committee "to investigate the advisability of such a change and report back to the 1951 board."

No New Hotel Being Planned

"What about this brand new $1,000,000 hotel that was reported to be built on King St. in the near future?

"Well what about it? I don't know a thing about it," was Manager of the Chamber of Commerce Jim Fraser's reaction to the story that a new hotel is going to be built in Peterborough.

"There is no basis for the story at the present time," stated E. A. Outram, city clerk. "Whoever was responsible for it is only publishing gossip." Speaking metaphorically the city clerk went on to add that the plans for such a project have not been hatched, in fact the eggs haven't even been laid yet.

"Peterborough needs new hotels just as it needs new schools and other similar buildings, but at present no definite plans have been made in this regard," concluded the city clerk.

There are two parties that are interested in adding to the present hotel accommodation in Peterborough. One speculated site is on King St., but a second party is known to be negotiating for much more desirable property in the city.

However at present, no confirmation is forthcoming from any source that definite plans have been completed for the erection of a "one hundred room hotel complete with spacious dining-room, ballroom, sample rooms and private banquet halls."

In fact all official sources deny that definite plans have been made for the building of any hotel in the city.

Cut Natural Gas Export To Ontario

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7 (AP)—Panhandle Eastern Pipe Line Co. Monday cut from 27,650,000,000 to 18,250,000,000 cubic feet the natural gas it proposes to export to Ontario each year.

Panhandle filed with Federal Power Commission an amended application for authority to export the gas to Union Gas Company of Canada, Limited.

Union Gas operates in southwestern Ontario. The proposed daily delivery rate ranges from 25,000,000 to 67,000,000 cubic feet. The base price would be 27½ cents a thousand cubic feet.

In its original application, filed last March, Panhandle proposed to export an average of about 75,000,000 cubic feet a day.

Panhandle plans to deliver the gas through an existing pipeline under the Detroit River near Detroit.

The commission authorized construction of the pipeline in April, 1946. At that time it gave Panhandle authority to export up to 5,500,000,000 cubic feet of gas a year to Union, provided the needs of Panhandle's customers in the United States are met first.

The Panhandle export proposal is part of a consolidated proceeding now under way before the commission. Hearings are to resume here Dec. 5.

Believes Consumers Won't Have Cut-offs

TORONTO, Nov. 7 (CP)—M. J. McHenry, promotion director of the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission, said Monday indications now are that with the co-operation of consumers Ontario will get through the next few months without power cut-offs or restrictions.

He told a meeting of the Canadian Association of Consumers that industry is co-operating well and extension of daylight time in some centres had helped clear a doubtful situation.

Hydro also had benefited by 1,000,000 more kilowatt-hours per day from the federal government's approval of water diversion through the Welland Canal to the hydro plant at Decew Falls.

Gets Annulment

Accepting it as a bond between the native minorities of the two countries is E. P. Carlow, chief councillor of the Six Nations. Lillian Montour looks on approvingly.

Pearson Delays Giving Passport To Joseph Yuken

OTTAWA, Nov. 7 — (CP) — External Affairs Minister Pearson has under consideration the question of the issuance of a passport to Joseph Zuken, of Winnipeg, a delegate to the so-called "Peace Conference" openingf in Sheffield, England, Nov. 13.

This was disclosed Monday night by the External Affairs Department by way of comment on a Winnipeg dispatch quoting Mr. Zuken as saying his application for a passport was being subjected to "long unusual delay." He said he wired Mr. Pearson protesting the delay.

The department merely said: "We are aware that Mr. Zuken has sent a wire to the minister and the matter is under consideration by the minister."

Mr. Pearson now is in New York attending the current United Nations meeting.

To Be Tried

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont., Nov. 7 (CP).—Charles Burns of Wawa, Ont., will be tried Nov. 22 on charges of stealing electrical equipment valued at $4,000 and scrap metal said to be worth $660. His trial had been scheduled for Ontario Supreme Court Assizes now under way here but he recently chose trial before a judge without a jury. Wawa is about 170 miles north of here in Algoma district's Michipicoten area.

Legion's Poppy Day Receipts Decline Due To Bad Weather

In spite of the foul weather Saturday the Peterborough Branch of the Canadian Legion raised $1,726.88 on Poppy Day. Street sales were down nearly $400 and the day's returns were lower than last year when $2,200 was obtained.

The poppy drive in 1949 netted $3,507.12 with the sale of poppies and wreaths. The $1,726.88 does not include this year's sale of wreaths.

"If we had ordered a bad day, we couldn't have ordered a worse one," said Albert Mason, chairman of the poppy campaign.

On Friday afternoon a canvass of the city's factories and schools was made. The Ladies' Auxiliary took care of the school canvass in which PCVS contributed $54, Prince of Wales $31, Queen Mary $29.27, King George $20.06, and King Edward $14.60. Employees, mostly veterans of both wars, conducted the sale of poppies in the factories. The CGE raised $409.78, the Outboard Marine $62.47, and the Western Clock $61.45.

Besides donating their share Friday, the public school children tagged on Saturday.

In all, Mr. Mason said today, about 20,000 out of the 29,000 small poppies were sold, 2,500 out of the 5,000 large poppies and 600 out of the 1,000 car stickers. Others will be sold before Saturday when the Remembrance Day parade will be held.

The $1,726.88 raised Saturday will help swell the welfare fund of Branch 52. The fund is spent on veterans and their dependents who are financially up against it.

Mr. Mason said that Branch 52 appreciates the response from the factories, the schools, the taggers, the purchasers of wreaths and all those who have assisted in the campaign.

Returns to date are: from the factories, CGE $409.78; Outboard Marine 62.47; Western Clock $61.45; Brinton Carpet $18.75; Canada Packers $11.19; Dominion Woollens $30; from the schools, PCVS $54; Prince of Wales $31.18; King Edward $14.60; King George $20.06; Queen Alexandra $12.73; Queen Mary $29.27; Central $14.14; St. John's and Confederation $16; May's $4.15; Queen Elizabeth, St. Anne's and Park Hill $11.28; Grove $5.70; St. Peter's, St. Mary's $19.62; Immaculate Conception $2.25; St. John's $3.41; Sacred Heart $3.99; St. Alphnsus $3.74.

Christmas Trees Of Better Color

CRANBROOK, BC.— (CP). — Christmas trees from this area will be better color this year.

Harvest has started in the East Kootenays from where 700,000 trees were shipped in 1949 to markets in the United States and Eastern Canada.

Sharp frost in late September helped to set needles and improve color.

Trees are trimmed, baled and stacked until late November when they are loaded in railway carload lots for shipment by early December.

Typhoon On Way

MANILA, Nov. 7 (AP). — A typhoon with wind velocity of 95 miles an hour at its centre today was reported bearing toward the Philippines from the southeast. The weather bureau said the Pacific storm would hit Wednesday night or early Thursday.

Ban Communists In Canada Woman MP Asks

TORONTO, Nov. 7 (CP)—Mrs. Ellen Fairclough, member of parliament for Hamilton West, said Monday banning the Communist Party by law in Canada is necessary to guarantee peace.

Mrs. Fairclough, only woman member of parliament, addressed the women's section of Ontario Progressive Conservative Association in convention here. She told the 50 women delegates her ideas on how to guarantee peace are identical with party leader George Drew who last week called for the Communist Party ban.

She said she was commenting on a letter received Sunday which drew her attention to a "world peace congress" to be held at Sheffield, England. It asked her to comment how peace might be guaranteed.

Mrs. Fairclough and Mrs. Drew, who also spoke, said the delegates should assist in the political education of Canada's young people.

Mrs. Drew said Progressive Conservatives in Ontario had reason to be proud of a provincial government that had done and was doing a great job.

Premier Frost, in a talk, said the Ontario government is looking forward to "co-ordination with all levels of government in expanding facilities for scientific research" in the province's five universities.

Canadian Destroyers Return To Routine

A JAPANESE NAVAL BASE, Nov. 7—(CP)—Canadian destroyers, after engaging in bombardments and other actions, have reverted to more routine roles with the United Nations forces in the Korean theatre.

Two of the three destroyers—Cayuga and Athabaskan—have returned to port after long periods at sea, with little excitement to report.

The third vessel, Sioux, was still at sea with Commonwealth units off the west coast of Korea.

The Canadian ships' most recent tour of duty consisted largely in patrols and routine screening of larger fleet units.

Beer Drinking Record

MUNICH, Germany, Nov. 7—(Retuers). — The world beer drinking record has been unofficially handed to the United States by Bavarian brewers who reported American consumption has exceeded that of heavy-drinking Bavaria for the first time. The brewers said Bavarians had drunk only 70 quarts each a year against the average American consumption of 75. In 1913 Bavarians drank 300 quarts a man.

Texas Has Beautiful Women Look Bronzed, Vivacious

By JACK SCOTT

This one is from San Antonio, Texas, and will concern The Great American Bosom.

I don't want to appear too preoccupied with these subjects (I believe I made some mention of low decolletage in a piece the other day on television), but any commentator who professes to be writing Americana would be remiss in his duty if he failed to keep abreast of the times.

Texas is traditionally the home of beautiful women. The alert observer who strolls the sunbaked streets of Houston or San Antonio is bound to be impressed by the large number of sunbaked beauties. It wouldn't surprise me if Texas had the healthiest, most vitally-packed statuesque women in the world. Every other gal looks as bronzed and vivacious as a drum majorette and just as uninteresting.

This beauty, I feel, is splendid structurally, yet you almost never see a female who looks different or provocative. It is the beauty of the assembly-line late model automobile, the kind of mass-produced face and figure you see in "Miss America" newsreels where the participants hardly ever emerge as individuals, but are seen only as objects or possibly as attractive tennis partners.

The American woman's intense interest in following the whims of fashion has produced this carbon copy, sexless look. In England and, more particularly, in France the observer is bewitched by the occasional truly beautiful woman, a matter of not merely grooming and grace, but of true femininity. The difference is the difference between, let us say, Esther Williams and Valli, between Betty Grable and Bergman.

American women seem to have forfeited femininity for uniformity and in no department is this dramatized more than in the unholy things they are now doing with their chests.

The Equipment

In the earlier days of this development in women's figures it was a matter of cunning subterfuge. Many a middle-aged man, such as your correspondent, was bemused to notice what seemed an almost overnight physical change in the female population and inclined to put it down to the fact that he was getting old and perhaps ought to get himself a hobby. Then "falsies" became a national joke and a deep-rooted cynicism began to grow in the minds of the male public.

Today, at least in Texas, this situation has reached its most ridiculous extreme, just as the rumble seat bustle did in grandad's day. The simulated bust is no longer a sly beauty aid, but a national institution, a community chest. The bolstered armor-clad female is here, it would seem, to stay.

The extent to which this has progressed, as an industry, is alarming. In Houston, shop after shop displays the latest apparatus in its windows. Advertisements for brassieres have a language all their own and deal with stress and strain, adjustment and displacement. Every woman is her own engineer.

On view are a wide variety of harnesses and slings, complicated garments with flexible bone and steel, built in, patented stays to control sags and bulges for "suspended animation" foundations with such names as Hi-A, Perma-Lift, Yuth-Bust and awful-looking conical upholstery of foam rubber, lying there in the shop windows, guaranteed to make any woman look like a deformed fullback. One shop even features a night-gown with a built-in superstructure.

The tragedy of it is that the American women run in the pack. Even those creatures who might have lithesome, natural figures now appear to be wearing binoculars under their middies.

The net effect is a crippling blow to the feminine form, an altogether admirable pie of architecture when left alone. This simple fact women have stubbornly resisted through the ages in every part of the world.

Uga-Uga, the Ubangi girl whose desperate aim in life is to get a lower lip like a waffle iron, is a sister under the skin to Betty Co-ed, who strives for an upper torso like a pouter pigeon.

On Display

The plain fact is that the bosom in America has become an erotic symbol. Any malformed and reasonably attractive female may become a celebrity overnight with a freak bust measurement. The latest of these is one, Denise Darcel, a smart French girl who knows her merchandise.

I happened today to read an interview in the San Antonio Light with Miss Darcel (22-inch waist, 39 inches up there) in which she proclaimed, "Men who stare at women in low-cut gowns are uncultured. Generally, I don't mind showing myself off. After all, one doesn't want to be flatchested and men do like it. But the decolletage should show just a little of the beginning. It's more interesting that way."

Reminded me of the late Carol Landis, who also earned her notoriety this way. On one occasion, when Miss Landis was "acting" at a Chicago theatre, a gentleman in the audience broke into her dressing room and pursued her rapidly about the premises. There was a great hue and cry about this and the poor fellow got a year in jail.

The only sensible comment was made by a Chicago columnist whose name escapes me, who opined bluntly that it should have been Miss Landis who went to the pokey. Similarly, Miss Darcel is plainly abusing her woman's right to illogic when she protests at the over-attention of her audience. Freaks always get stared at.

Wm. Aitken Dies

TORONTO, Nov. 7 (CP) — William W. Aitken, 79, vice-president of the International Lithographers of America for 19 years, died Monday. He retired nine years ago. He came here in 1914 from Montreal where he had been a charter member of the local.

INTERNATIONAL TRIO — Britain's Defence Minister Emanuel Shinwell, and Holland's War Secretary W. Fockema-Andreae accompanied Defence Minister Claxton when he returned to Ottawa from Atlantic Treaty talks in Washington. The two visitors were formally greeted and spent four days in Canada. Here they stand each side of Mr. Claxton in front of Canada's National War Memorial. Mr. Shinwell is on the right.

Elect Q. Gwyn President Can. Exporters

OTTAWA, Nov. 7 — (CP) — Quentin J. Gwyn, of Montreal, was chosen president of the Canadian Exporters' Association Monday.

He succeeds Brigadier James A. Roberts, of Hamilton, president for the last year.

Mr. Gwyn and Brig. Roberts are members of the association's directorate, elected Monday at the annual convention. Officers are chosen by the directorate.

Mr. Gwyn, a native of Norwich, England, came to Canada in 1939 as director and sales manager of Fry-Cadbury, Ltd., Montreal. He joined the House of Seagram in 1946 and is its assistant director of export.

Charles S. Leckie, Toronto; James Milner, Montreal; and Hazen Russell, St. John's, Nfld., were chosen vice-presidents, and Howard S. Griffen, Toronto, honorary treasurer.

Crop Larger Than Expected

OTTAWA, Nov. 7 (CP). — Though Canada's apple crop is bigger than previously anticipated, it still is below last year's harvest.

The Bureau of Statistics said Monday that a mid-October estimate of the crop places it at 15,758,000 bushels, about four per cent higher than September expectations, but 13 per cent below last year's 18,151,000.

The upward revision over September resulted from improved sizing in Nova Scotia, Quebec and Ontario. The estimate for New Brunswick and British Columbia was unchanged.

In a general review of the Canadian fruit harvest, the Bureau said the pear crop in Ontario also is better than expected. The all-Canada estimate in October rose to 753,000 bushels, compared with an estimated 716,000 in September. Last year's crop amounted to 1,000,000.

A minor revision in the Ontario grape crop estimate brings the Canadian total to 90,315,000 pounds, less than one per cent below the September estimate. The crop this season is of record proportions and is 76 per cent larger than the 51,194,000 pounds a year ago, the Bureau said.

The peach crop is estimated at 1,151,000 bushels, compared with last year's 2,011,000; plums and prunes, 521,000 bushels, against 827,000; cherries 324,000 bushels against 491,000; strawberries 22,467,000 quarts, compared with 26,251,000; raspberries 11,021,000 quarts against 10,931,000 and loganberries 866,000 pounds against 877,000.

Woman Who Lost Two Sons Represents Mothers Nov. 11

By KAY REX

OTTAWA, Nov. 7—(CP)—A little woman with gentle eyes and softly greying hair next Saturday will pause with bowed head before Canada's National War Memorial.

In her hands she will hold a wreath of poppies and she will be remembering two "grand, good" boys who were "as different as night from day".

Ronald and Harold Beasley both died with the RCAF in the last war. Their mother, Mrs. Susan Beasley, will place the wreath for all those Canadian mothers who lost sons in the First and Second World Wars.

Slowly, as instructed, she will count to 10 before stepping forward to place the token at the foot of the memorial.

That's what Col. C. C. Fox of the Pensions Board told her to do the day he visited her Ottawa South apartment. He came with the news that Mrs. Beasley had been chosen to represent Canadian Motherhood at the Remembrance Day services Nov. 11.

All A Puzzle

When he first telephoned, she didn't know who he was or what it was all about.

"I kept wondering if he might be someone who had been with Ronald overseas".

Ronald was her youngest. He was 24 and a flying oficer when he was killed Christmas Eve six years ago at Arnheim, Holland. There's a framed snapshot of his overseas grave in the family dining-room and above it is a picture of him in his flying-suit. The latter is hung with a popcorn necklace such as youngsters make in kindergarten.

Six-year-old Lynn, Ronald's daughter, made the necklace for her grandma.

Ronald was the serious type. Harold, though, was different. He was 30 when he was killed six months before Ronald in a flying accident at Mountain View, Ont.

"Harold was more light-hearted —wasn't he, dad?" Mrs. Beasley turned toward her husband.

A great proud smile appeared on the face of John Beasley, a veteran's affairs department employee who lost a leg in the First World War.

"They were different," he said, " . as different as night from day".

Junior League Holds Toy Shower

The Catholic Junior League met Monday evening in St. Mary's school with president, Miss Rita Young presiding. Each member brought a child's top which will be sent to the northern parishes of Kearney and Brit in time for Christmas distribution.

Mrs. E. Collis reported a large number of paid members and Mrs. W. Gannon, convener of study clubs reported that study clubs were well organized and that there is room for a few more members.

The social convener, Miss Gladys Costello announced that the annual Christmas dinner will be held at the Empress Hotel on December 13. At this dinner the draw for the Christmas basket on which members are now selling tickets, will take place.

Miss Young announced that Miss Gladys Costello has been elected Diocesan Treasurer of the Catholic Women's League.

Miss Collis was in charge of the delightful program which consisted of two piano solos "Mouvement" by Poulenec and "Toccotta" by Paradies and two vocal solos by Mr. Robert Baldwin, "Trees" and "The Rose of Tralee," accompanied by Mrs. Robert Aman.

Refreshments were served by Misses Genevieve Murray and Phyllis Perdue and their committee.

Home and School Association News

CENTRAL SCHOOL

Fathers were much in evidence Monday evening at the Collegiate gymnasium where the annual Fathers' Night meeting of Central Home and School Association was held. A committee of fathers, under the convenership of Mr. S. J. Rowe, arranged the program. Mr. H. Langan who was introduced by principal Mr. D. T. Crawford, was chairman.

An orchestra directed by Mrs. Eveline Foster opened with two fine selections. This was followed by two vocal duets by Misses Eggleton and Vanderwater, accompanied by Mr. Q. McKinney.

Mr. G. Wilson Craw, representing the Board of Education, spoke on the proposed new south-end collegiate giving much valuable information on the need for such accommodation.

Community singing led by Mr. S. Haynes, was enjoyed with Mrs. Foster at the piano.

The Rev. A. A. Mathews was guest speaker of the evening, his subject being a "Father's Responsibility". Mr. Mathews spoke of the many new problems facing parents in the world of today but stressed the fact that if home is to be a happy, congenial and creative place there must be a mutual, Christian understanding between both parents as partners in connection with duties and responsibilities. Mr. Mathews was introduced by Mr. L. Bird and appreciation of the audience to the speaker and others taking part was expressed by Mr. W. R. Philp.

Mrs. S. Malsch, president, welcomed the guests and presided for business.

Attendance prizes were won by Miss M. Brock's and Mr. Crown's class-rooms.

A selection by the orchestra concluded the program after which refreshments were served by Mr. F. Earle and his committee.

QUEEN ALEXANDRA SCHOOL

At the citizenship meeting of Queen Alexandra Home and School Association Monday evening the speaker was Mrs. Paige Rowell, member of the Board of Education, who told of the need for a new collegiate in Peterborough. Dr. Russell Morgan supported her in answering questions from the floor.

Those attending the meeting were receeived by Mrs. A. Bacon and Mrs. C. Jackson and vice-principal Mr. R. K. McKee. After speaking words of welcome the president, Mrs. P. Dallin, congratulated Mr. McKee on obtaining his Bachelor of Arts degree, recently. The Home and School creed was read by Mrs. B. Boucher.

Mrs. C. G. Law, parent education convener, directed attention to a series of ten lectures on family relations to be given soon at the Public Library. Radio convener Mrs. Dawson then brought attention to pertinent radio programs.

The senior pupils' attendance prize was won by Mr. McKee's room and the juniors' by Miss I Connolly's room.

Grade seven pupils contributed to the program. Beverley Bacon and Sharon Shaw with piano duets aid Gary Bennett with selections on the harmonica. A sing song was led by Mrs. A. Spenceley and Mrs. A. Black was the pianist.

Two past presidents of the Association were noted in the audience, Mrs. Richard Parnall and Mrs. H. G. Walker, and were given an ovation in appreciation of their continuing interest.

It was announced that paid-up membership now stands at 94.

Mrs. E. Simmons and her assistants of the social committee served tea after the meeting.

Lecture Series Ends for Nurses

The last in a series of lectures sponsored by the educational program of the Community Nursing Registry was held Monday evening at the Civic Hospital residence.

Guest speaker was Miss Edith Fenton who is associate secretary-treasurer of the Registered Nurses' Association of Ontario. Miss Fenton gave a very comprehensive talk on matters pertaining to RNAO, particularly in reference to the increase in fees for membership.

A showing of uniforms designed especially for registered nurses and available only through the Registry was given by Mrs. M. Pringle.

These lectures of the educational program are sponsored annually by the Registry and have been largely attended with much interest shown.

Popular Customs Seem to Be Outdated in Western Poll

WINNIPEG—(CP)—Emily Post and Winnipeg don't exactly coincide when it comes to courtesy.

Jerry A. Brodie, a fourth-year student at the University of Manitoba, took an informal public-opinion poll as part of psychology course.

He found a big change in what has been accepted as "good manners".

Five questions were put to a cross-section of Winnipeg residents, ranging in age from 20 to 60 years. Here are the questions and the results:

Question 1—Excepting elderly or pregnant women, do you think that men on a crowded street car or bus should offer their seats to women who are standing?

Answers	Yes	No
Men	36.6%	63.4%
Women	48.3%	51.7%
Both	42.5%	57.5%

Question 2—Do you think a man should remove his hat on entering a public building?

Answers	Yes	No
Men	20 %	80 %
Women	43.3%	56.7%
Both	31.6%	68.4%

Question 3—Should men rise from their seats to greet a woman as she enters the room in which they are seated:

Answers	Yes	No
Men	46.6%	53.4%
Women	56.6%	43.4%
Both	51.6%	48.4%

Question 4—When a man and a woman walk along a street together, do you think that the man should walk on the side of the walk which is closest to the curb?

Answers	Yes	No
Men	50 %	50 %
Women	56.6%	43.4%
Both	53.3%	46.7%

Question 5—Should men open doors for women?

Answers	Yes	No
Men	71.6%	28.4%
Women	61.6%	38.4%
Both	66.6%	33.4%

Averaging the answers to the five questions and posing a general question, Mr. Brodie says, you something like this:

Do you believe social convention should still be carried out?

Answers	Yes	No
Men	45 %	55 %
Women	53.3%	46.7%
Both	49.2%	50.8%

He says a popular reason for not believing in the conventions was that: "They are all outdated and, although they served their purpose when they were first instituted, they now are as dead as those who originated them."

And another: "Women are constantly demanding equal rights with men. They should learn to do things for themselves and not expect special consideration since they don't any longer consider themselves the weaker sex."

FAB MAKES IT EASY!
My Washing Comes Out White As New
With FAB it's All So Easy
No Scrub, No Soak, No Boil, No Bleach,
FAB MAKES IT EASY!

NO SOAKING WITH FAB—No soaking saves work! Fab's Super-Wetting Action loosens dirt faster and cleans more thoroughly! Makes soaking unnecessary.

NO BLEACHING WITH FAB—No bleaching saves work! Fab contains a new ingredient that leaves your wash pure white without bleaching.

NO SCUM WITH FAB—No scum saves work! No soapy scum in washer or dishpan because Fab isn't a soap. So you needn't spend time rinsing scum from clothes and dishes.

FAB makes clothes White-dishes Sparkle!
Try Fab for your family wash. Fab makes clothes white—dishes sparkle—because it leaves no soap scum.
Try Fab for washing your dishes, too. See how they sparkle . . . how clean they are!
FAB—SAVES TIME, WORK, HANDS, HOT WATER

FAB
MAKES CLOTHES WHITE—DISHES SPARKLE!

Do you use hard water or soft water? It doesn't matter. Don't worry about it. In any water, Fab cannot form soap scum or soap film in either your dishpan or washing machine.

A hearty dish to save on costly meat!

CHATEAU RED RICE

This recipe's a quickie . . . with smooth 'n mellow Chateau Cheese adding just the right zip!

4 cups cooked rice
4 hard-cooked eggs
¼ lb. Chateau Cheese
1 can condensed tomato soup
4 strips broiled side bacon

Have ready rice and hard-cooked eggs. Cut Chateau in strips and melt in double boiler. (Chateau Cheese melts as smoothly as it spreads and slices.) Add tomato soup and blend well. Heat through. Pour over 4 individual servings of rice and sliced hard-cooked egg. Garnish with bacon and serve hot. Here's a main dish packed with food value for the whole family. Economical too!

Your choice to nip and nibble

Try to resist temptation (you can't) when you've savoured any of these Borden favourites: Baumert Cream Cheese, Old Vintage, roquefort-type Canabec, Borden's 6 Cheese Spreads in glasses.

The distinctive flavor of each of Borden's many fine cheeses makes it traditional for cheese-lovers to say "Borden's Cheese, if you please."

DOROTHY DIX

Should Girl Give Up Man Who Can't Handle Money?

DEAR MISS DIX: I am engaged to a young man whom I love very dearly. We agreed to save our money in separate accounts so as to be able to furnish our home when we are married. I saved mine, but the other day he told me that he had saved nothing, that his money had just all gone through mismanagement. He admits that he is no manager and has offered to give me full control of the money he earns after we are married. What shall I do—go on with the marriage and make up as best I can for the money he should have saved, and didn't, toward establishing a home, or break off with my fiance?

ANXIOUS.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: You can't put a cash value on love and break off your engagement for no other reason than that you fiance has holes in his pockets. You would always regret it if you did, though I'll admit that there are few faults that a man can have that are more aggravating to his wife than just to be wasteful with his money.

Is He Sincere?

So you are wise to consider the matter of marrying a spend-thrift very seriously, and your decision should depend largely upon your opinion of how sincere he is about letting you manage the family finances after marriage. If he is really and truly going to turn over his pay envelope to you, well and good, but if his promise to make you secretary of the home treasury i. just campaign promise, then not so well and good. You will spend the balance of your life standing off the butcher and the baker and wrestling with bill collectors and wondering where the next month's rent is coming from, and that is not a pleasant prospect for any woman to look forward to.

Curiously enough the ability to make money and the ability to spend it wisely or save it are not the same talent, and many a man who is a good money earner is totally incapable of caring for what he makes. Sometimes he is a spender and wastes it in buying foolishness. Sometimes he is an easy mark for every grafter and deadbeat who comes his way. Sometimes it just slips through his fingers without his ever knowing where it went.

Generosity, impulsiveness, warm-heartedness, optimism, the very qualities that make a man a waster also make him lovable. But they do not make him a desirable husband, because in the end it is the wife and the children who have to pay for the husband's and father's lack of thrift.

DEAR MISS DIX: I should be greatly interested in knowing your reaction to a gum-chewing, gum-popping young woman who works in a public office where many others have to work, and where many callers are required to sit in an anteroom where the acoustics permit the gum-chewing to be heard with disturbing clarity. The young lady, whose voice has a rasping quality that carries it to the far ends of the office, also burst into song between the fits of gum-popping. Am I correct in believing that a public office should be conducted with dignity, and that gum-chewing and gum-popping and singing should be confined to the home where one is surrounded by forgiving friends? My idea of gum-chewing, is that one should lock all the doors of one's private room and then crawl under the bed or lock oneself in the closet and hide behind the clothes, then chew diligently if desired.

K. W.

ANSWER: And me, too, brother. I think that gum-chewing and popping should be a secret vice, conducted in strict privacy, and that a public office is no suitable place in which to indulge in an orgy of either clamping the jaws or exercising the vocal organs.

Considering that most of us spend a considerable portion of our time waiting around in doctors 'offices, dentists' offices, the outer offices of men who are always in conference and public offices generally, it does seem to me that the long-drawn-out torture could be lessened by instituting a few reforms.

For one thing, the gum-popper and the singer could be silenced. For another, the reading matter, with which one is supposed to solace one's sufferings could be brought up within a year of date.

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a man 38 years old. Have been going with a girl for three years. Am not in love with her and never will be. No engagement, no marriage promises, nothing. But every time I speak of breaking off she weeps. This arouses my sympathy and I stick, but I am not happy. There is nothing the matter with this girl except that I don't care for her and we are not suited to each other. What would you suggest

N. L. M.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: I would suggest that you flee while the going is good. Otherwise this girl will get you. Before you know it you will find yourself tied down for life to a woman whom you will hate more and more as you realize how she has outwitted you and taken you in.

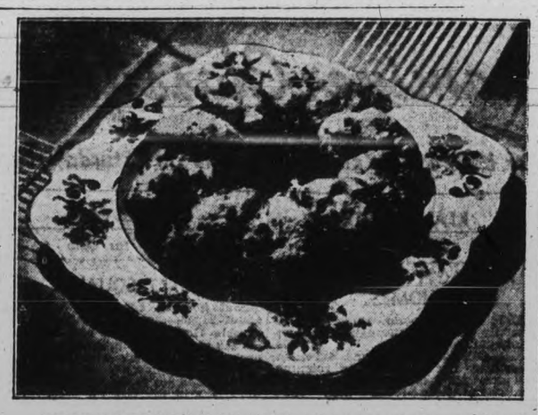
Millbrook News

Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Graham have sold their grocery business in Millbrook and will be moving in a short time to Colborne. Glenna-Marie has already gone to Colborne where she started school on Monday.

Miss Margaret Hutchinson, Agincourt, is spending a few days with Mrs. T. Wideman.

Russell Kennedy and Don Spicer spent the week-end in Kingston.

Miss Anne Stinson, nurse-in-training at Ottawa Civic Hospital, is home for a few days' holiday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Stinson.



Edward Hewitt, Galt, spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Ingham.

What's Right

It is necessary for you to telephone a person at an hour you suspect is inconvenient for him.

WRONG: Don't apologize for the disturbance or explain why it was necessary for you to call him at that particular time.

RIGHT: Apologize for calling at an inconvenient time.

DROP COOKIES MADE with honey instead of sugar have a delicate texture and unusual flavor and are a real convenience to have on hand for an emergency.

COOKBOOK OF THE WEEK

New Recipe Adds Honey To Chocolate Chip Cookies

Chocolate chip cookies are always a favorite, but here is an especially tasty variation of them taken from the Cookie Book, seventeenth cookbook in the Culinary Arts Institute series of 24 cookbooks being released to readers of the Examiner, a book-a-week.

Honey Chocolate Chip Cookies

1 cup cake flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
½ cup shortening
½ cup honey
1 egg
½ teaspoon vanilla
¼ cup chopped nuts
½ cup semi-sweet chocolate pieces.

Sift flour, baking powder and salt together. Cream shortening and honey; beat in egg; add vanilla and sifted dry ingredients. Fold in nuts and chocolate pieces. Drop from teaspoon onto greased cookie sheet. Bake in moderate oven (375° F.) 10 to 12 minutes. Makes about 3 dozen cookies.

The Cookie Book, like the other books in the series, is full of mouthwatering photographic illustrations that make you feel you just have to experiment with all the tempting recipes. And there is a recipe to fit every taste and every convenience, whether you are a novice or an experienced cook, whether you want to whip up something quickly or whether you want to work over a box of fancy gift cookies.

It is easy to obtain your copy of the Cookie Book. All you need do is clip a Cookbook Coupon from page 2 of any issue of this newspaper and present it with 25c to the Examiner Office, your Carrie Boy, or any of Braund's Home Food Markets. By mail send 30c to the Cookbook Department, Peterborough Examiner.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

When, Where, How to Use The More Common Herbs

Excerpt from letter from Mrs. J. H. H.:

(The subject of this paragraph is herbs and because, since I wrote to you about herbs last month, I have been experimenting with them in other dishes, I would like anyone who is interested in this intriguing branch of cookery to clip today's notes.)

"...I have become interested in the use of herbs but am not certain about when to use which. I was unable to get many of them so when I came across articles on them I didn't cut them out. However I have managed to acquire many of them now and would appreciate any information on them..." (Mrs. J. H. H.)

Answer to Mrs. J. H. H.

This is such a big subject I think I can help you most by making a skeleton list of herbs with the foods they supplement most appropriately.

Basil: Use with tomato, potato soup, spaghetti, baked eggs, venison.

Celery—leaves: stalks, seeds: except for such things as lemon pie I cannot think of anything it is not good with.

Dill: Besides pickles—use in cottage cheese, mashed potatoes, tossed vegetable salad.

Juniper: Use sparingly with lamb, duck, geese and in stews.

Marjoram: One of the universally liked herbs. Pound this into veal cutlets, rub into surface of beef roast; put in your hash, meat pies, scalloped potatoes, spinach, cheese dishes, omelettes, and in any salad.

Oregano: Particularly suitable to spaghetti dishes, although some people think it is a twin to veal. It is also used in meats and stews.

Rosemary: A strong herb—use lightly. A very little is good with fried chicken, or in baking powder biscuit dough for meat pies or in dumplings on beef or veal or rabbit stew.

Sage: As you know this herb is very much overused. The very fact that it has become the standard seasoning for sausages and most homemade stuffing for chicken condemns it. I try not to use it—but will admit it is good in some bean dishes and in scalloped tomatoes with cheese topping.

Savory: Perfect in pea or bean or lentil soup. Good also in meat balls, croquettes and egg dishes such as scrambled or casserole of hard cooked eggs in cream sauce.

Tarragon: If you want to emulate the French use this herb. You will pay a fortune for tarragon vinegar in some stores and may make a very good substitute by putting tarragon in your own spirit vinegar. Good in mayonnaise, and in most sauces—especially fish sauces. Both beets and spinach can be made popular with the most finicky vegetable eaters by the addition of tarragon to them. Good in vegetable aspic and in devilled eggs or egg salad.

Thyme: Manhattan Clam Chowder needs it. Good with carrots, peas, onions and eggplant. Try it in all your stews—in fact try it in almost everything and make up your mind about it for it is versatile and popular.

If our readers know of other herbs uses I would be grateful if they would let me know them.

6—In Memoriams

HAMLIN—In loving memory of a dear wife and mother, Lenna, who passed away November 7, 1946.
Those whom we love go out of sight,
But never out of mind,
They are cherished in the heart
Of those they leave behind . . .
—Always remembered by husband and family.

MOORE—In loving memory of our father, James Henry Moore, who passed away November 8th, 1949.
One year has passed, dear father,
Since you were called away,
How well do we remember
That sad and weary day.
You suffered much, you murmured not,
We watched you day by day,
Down here we mourn, but not in vain,
For up in heaven we will meet again.
—Sadly missed by son Wray and daughter-in-law Barbara.

BY-LAW NUMBER 1058

A BY-LAW TO PROVIDE FOR TAKING THE VOTES OF THE VOTERS UPON A PROPOSED MONEY BYLAW ENTITLED "A BY-LAW AUTHORIZING THE BORROWING OF THREE HUNDRED AND FIFTY-TWO THOUSAND DOLLARS UPON DEBENTURES FOR THE CONSTRUCTION BY THE CORPORATION OF THE VILLAGE OF LAKEFIELD WATERWORKS, SEWERS AND SEWAGE DISPOSAL SYSTEM."

WHEREAS a proposed Money By-law of the Corporation of the Village of Lakefield entitled "A BY-LAW AUTHORIZING THE BORROWING OF THREE HUNDRED AND FIFTY-TWO THOUSAND DOLLARS UPON DEBENTURES FOR THE CONSTRUCTION BY THE CORPORATION OF THE VILLAGE OF LAKEFIELD OF WATERWORKS, SEWERS AND SEWAGE DISPOSAL SYSTEM" was provisionally passed by the Council of the said Corporation on the 31st Day of October, 1950, and it is deemed expedient to submit the same to a vote of the Electors entitled to Vote on Money By-laws.

THEREFORE THE COUNCIL OF THE CORPORATION OF THE VILLAGE OF LAKEFIELD ENACTS AS FOLLOWS:

1. The Votes of the Electors of the Corporation entitled to Vote on Money By-laws shall be taken upon the said proposed Money By-law between the hours of Eleven o'clock in the Forenon and Seven o'clock in the Afternon, Eastern Standard Time, on THURSDAY, THE 30TH DAY OF NOVEMBER, 1950.

2. The Electors residing in Polling Sub-Division Number One comprising all that part of the Village of Lakefield situate to the West of the Otonahee River, and also that portion on the South side of Reid and West of Queen Street and that portion South of Albert Street extended to the Easterly limit of the said Village of Lakefield shall Vote in the Council Chamber; the Electors residing in Polling Sub-Division Number Two comprising all that portion of the Village of Lakefield not included in Polling Sub-Division Number One lying North of Albert Street, East of Queen Street and North of Reid Street shall Vote in the Clerk's Office; both of which Polling places are situate in the Memorial Hall.

3. Fred Moon is hereby appointed Deputy Returning Officer for Polling Sub-Division Number One and Wilfred Remnant is hereby appointed Deputy Returning Officer for Polling Sub-Division Number Two.

4. On THURSDAY THE 23RD DAY OF OCTOBER, at the Hour of Eight o'clock in the Afternoon, Eastern Standard Time, the Reeve shall attend at the Memorial Hall in the Village of Lakefield for the purpose of appointing and if requested so to do, shall appoint by writing signed by him, Two Persons to attend at each Polling place, One Person on behalf of the Persons interested in and opposing the proposed By-law.

5. On the 30TH DAY OF NOVEMBER 1950 at the Hour of Nine o'clock in the Afternoon, Eastern Standard Time, at the Office of the Village Clerk at the Memorial Hall in the said Village, the Clerk shall attend and sum up the Votes given for and against the proposed By-law.

CORPORATION OF THE VILLAGE OF LAKEFIELD

BY-LAW NO. 1057

A BY-LAW Authorizing the Borrowing of $352,000.00 Upon Debentures for the Construction by the Corporation of the Village of Lakefield of Water Works, Sewers and Sewage Disposal Systems.

WHEREAS it is expedient to Borrow for the Construction by the Corporation of the Village of Lakefield of Water Works Sewers, and Sewage Disposal Systems, a sum not exceeding $352,000.00 upon the Credit of the Corporation, to issue Debentures thereof bearing interest at the rate of not more than 3½ per centum per annum.

AND WHEREAS the amount of the whole rateable property in the Village of Lakefield according to the last revised roll thereof is $826,483.14.

AND WHEREAS the Corporation has an existing Debenture debt of $23,360.00 principal and $3,360.00 interest.

AND WHEREAS application will be made to the Ontario Municipal Board for approval of this and all other requisite By-laws upon the final passing thereof.

AND WHEREAS the approval of the Department of Health has been obtained as provided by the Statutes in that behalf.

THEREFORE, THE COUNCIL OF THE CORPORATION OF THE VILLAGE OF LAKEFIELD ENACTS AS FOLLOWS:

1. For the purpose aforesaid the Corporation shall borrow upon the credit of the Corporation a sum not exceeding $352,000.00 and shall issue Debentures therefore in sums of nt less than $100.00 each. Each Debenture shall bear interest at a rate of not more than Four per centum per annum, payable semi-annually and shall have coupons attached thereto for the payment of such interest.

2. All the Debentures shall bear the same date, shall be issued at one time and within two years after the day of which this By-law is passed, may bear any date within such two years and shall be payable in annual instalments during the period of twenty years next after the date of issue thereof.

3. The Debentures shall be payable as to both principal and interest in lawful money of Canada at the Office of the Treasurer of the Village of Lakefield.

4. The said Debentures shall be sealed with the Seal of the Corporation and signed by the Reeve and Treasurer thereof and the said interest coupons shall be signed by the said Treasurer.

5. In each year in which an instalment of principal of the said debt and interest become due, the Corporation shall levy and raise the sum of $24,767.10 for a twenty year Debenture, but the said sum may be varied to accommodate a rate of interest lower than Three and One-half per centum per annum and to admit of each annual instalment of principal to be for an even $100.00, $500.00 or $1,000.00 or multiple thereof, and such sum shall be levied and raised by a special rate sufficient therefore, over and above all other rates, upon all the rateable property in the Municipality.

6. The said Debentures may contain a clause providing for the registration thereof pursuant to Section 336 of The Municipal Act.

7. Pending the sale of the said Debentures, the Reeve and the Treasurer may raise for the purpose aforesaid by way of loan on such Debentures any sum or sums of money not exceeding in all the sum hereby authorized to be borrowed and may hypothecate such Debentures for such loan.

8. Subject to the provision of Sub-Section 15 of Section 305 of The Municipal Act the said Debentures shall be redeemable at the option of the Corporation of the Village of Lakefield on any day upon which an instalment of interest thereon becomes due and payable in any year during the currency of the said Debentures. In case the Debentures are so redeemed the place of payment for the said Debentures shall be at the Office of the Treasurer of the Corporation. The value at which the said Debentures may be redeemed shall be the principal sum thereof together with accrued interest thereon.

Read a First and Second Time this 31st Day of October A.D. 1950.

WILLIAM C. GRANT, Reeve.
HARRY T. HILL, Treasurer.

NOTICE

WHEREAS the Separate Schools Act, R.S.O. Chapter 362, Section 76 (1) authorizes the Board of the Separate School to pass By-laws for Borrowing Money for the purpose of Paying for School Sites and School Buildings when authorized by By-law;

AND WHEREAS it is deemed necessary and expedient to Borrow $70,000.00 for the purpose of making an Addition to an existing School Building;

NOW THEREFORE be it enacted and it is hereby enacted as a By-law of the Board of Trustees of the Roman Catholic Separate School Board of the City of Peterborough that the said Board may issue Debentures for the sum of $70,000.00, and pledge all or any of the Real and Personal Property Rights and Powers of the Board to secure such Debentures and to pledge or sell such Debentures for such sum and at such prices as may be deemed expedient or necessary.

PASSED by the Board of Trustees of the Roman Catholic Separate School Board of the City of Peterborough, this Third Day of October, 1950.

They Didn't Know

Constable Fitzpatrick said he asked Paquette who was driving the car. The answer was "I don't know."

Constable Eady said the ignition keys of the car was turned on. He said Paquette was "not far from being intoxicated."

In Ditch Earlier

Kevin Paquette said that earlier in the evening Jones had been driving and had run into a ditch on a township road between Mount Pleasant and Omemee. After he drove the car out of the BLASE SAILOR — Blackie the cat doesn't seem very excited about being signed on in Montreal as the seventh member of the motor yacht Curlew, bound for the Bahamas this winter. Blackie is a veteran of the Arctic supply ship Regina Polaris; while in the far north, his favorite hangout was the crow's nest. Now Blackie will get a southern cruise for a change. He is shown being "signed on" by Steward Ross Lachapelle and Capt. H. St. Pierre of the Curlew. For this trip, Blackie has been renamed Sam. The Regina Polaris crew gave up their mascot because they felt it wasn't fair for an old salt like Blackie to spend the winter ashore.

Keen Soldier At 90 Years Age

OTTAWA (CP).—Maj.-Gen. A. B. Perry, a pioneer of the RCMP, is still a keen soldier.

Despite his 90 years—he was born in 1860—General Perry follows the war in Korea daily with the aid of his maps, and retains his interest in current events at home.

General Perry is one of the original Yukon "Sourdoughs." He was in charge of the then Northwest Mounted Police detachment as superintendent of the territory during the wild days of "Dan McGrew" and other gold-rush characters.

He also is one of the few surviving members of the Riel Rebellion, having taken a force from Calgary to Edmonton to join the right against the resurgents.

The general attended this year's annual re-union celebrations at the Royal Military College at Kingston. As the last of the "Old Eighteen"—the original entry class at RMC—he took the salute on the march past of the Old Boys' Division and joined in the dinners, church parade and other social functions.

Won Gold Sword

Among the firsts he is able to recall is his winning of the first Governor-General's gold sword at RMC and his duties as first Battalion Sergeant-Major of the College.

He graduated from RMC in 1880 and spent three years with the Royal Engineers in England before he joined the Northwest Mounted as an inspector in 1883.

During the Boer War he was named Commissioner of the Force at Regina and in 1920 was responsible for the amalgamation of the old Dominion Police Force into the Northwest Mounted, which was soon given the title Royal. The name of the force was later changed to its present form.

On his retirement in 1922 he was given the honorary military title of Major-General, which was his equivalent rank in the RCMP.

HERO'S GRAVE — This lonely grave near the Ethiopia-Eritrea border is the resting place of Canada's first Victoria Cross winner, Col. Alexander Robert Dunn. Col. Dunn won the medal as a lieutenant with the 11th Hussars in the Charge of the Light Brigade at Balaklava in the Crimean War, Oct. 25, 1854. Born in Toronto, where he was educated at Upper Canada College, Col. Dunn was killed in a hunting trip after a punitive expedition to Ethiopia in 1864. The above photo was taken by Major Stuart Nesbitt of Toronto.

Sale Of Bonds Increased 10%

OTTAWA, Nov. 7 (CP) — Canadian workers, buying Canadian workers, buying Canada savings bonds on the payroll plan, have driven sales to new heights.

The Bank of Canada today reported that 569,942 Canadian employees purchased $133,529,000 worth of bonds under the payroll plan up to last Friday night.

This represents an increase of about 10 per cent over last year's employee sales at the corresponding stage in the campaign, and last year's record was itself 20 per cent higher than the 1948 final payroll sales.

General sales for the first 17 days stand at $66,988,250, giving a combined total with payroll sales of $200,517,250.

Ontario region has taken the lead with a record $61,434,550 after finishing last week's drive in fourth position. Quebec and the Prairies follow closely with 103.6 per cent and 102.2 per cent of last year's sales, respectively. British Columbia and the Maritimes, with many firms still to complete canvassing, have almost reached their 1949 mark, the bank said.

Wasn't Santa

EPSOM, Surrey, England — (CP)— Residents were mystified when a parachute carrying a large metal ball labelled "Merry Xmas" floated from the sky to land near the Epsom Downs reccourse. The air ministry said it knew nothing about it.

Headache Relief

GLASGOW (CP)— A Scottish firm has shipped 1,000,000 headache powders to Canada after receiving inquiries from Scots in the dominion. A member of the company said Scots prefer powders while Canadian and Americans prefer pills.

Pet Aversion

WELLINGTON, N.Z. —(CP)— Brown bread causes more domestic upsets than anything else, asserts M. Moohan, member of the New Zealand parliament. He told the House of Representatives: "If you want to make a success of this diet business don't go peddling the story that people won't keep well unless they eat brown bread. I detest it."

Drunken Rage Costs Ennismore Man $93.20

A drunken rage in which he broke three windows of a car with a beer bottle cost James Kelly, Ennismore township, a $40 fine and $17.50 court costs in police court today. He also agreed to pay $35.70 to fix the windows.

Provincial Constable David Coffey testified he was called to the Ennismore home of Melvin Tripp Oct. 28. There he found three windows of Tripp's car broken. Tripp told him he had been involved in a scrap with Kelly and had come to phone police.

While he was gone to phone, his wife saw Kelly smash the windows with a beer bottle.

Constable Coffey said Kelly had been drinking heavily and Tripp and his wife had also been drinking.

"This is a serious charge," Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC, told Kelly. "Two years in prison can be given on this charge."

Canada May Form New Third Battalion

OTTAWA, Nov. 7 — (CP) — Canada may form a new third battalion of the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry for its army special force, it was learned today. It would replace the second battalion which is going to Korea.

The new battalion would be formed from the reinforcement pool for the 11,000-man force and would bringe the force back to the full status of a brigade. There are two other battalions in it, the second battalions of the Royal Canadian Regiment and the Royal 22nd Regiment.

Creation of a new third battalion would allow the brigade to train as a full formation at its training base at Fort Lewis, Wash.

HASTINGS, Nov. 7 (ENS) — The Hastings, Catholic Women's League held its November meeting in the Parish Hall.

Plans were made for the dance to be held in the Town Hall, Friday, Nov. 24th.

Frances Lynch gave her prize Oratorical speech entitled the Federal Bureau of Investigation known as F.B.I. Lunch was served and the President Mrs. H. Kerr moved a vote of thanks to ladies who were responsible for the lunch.

Mencken Improving

BALTIMORE, Nov. 7 (AP). — H. L. Mencken has recovered to the point where he can have an occasional drink of beer and is demanding that his doctors allow him to smoke. The 70-year-old author, critic and newspaper man is still in the Johns Hopkins Hospital, where he was admitted last Oct. 12 after a severe heart attack.

U.S. To Investigate All Alien Students

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7 (AP) — The United States Immigration Service is preparing to check up on alien students here on temporary permits to study in American schools.

The check is required under the new Internal Security Act, which excludes from the United States foreigners who are or have been affiliated with totalitarian parties. The screening process is already under way at ports of entry.

In the foreign student group, numbering more than 25,000, are a good percentage of persons from countries under totalitarian rule.

Board Divided

HAMILTON, Nov. 7 (CP) — The board of arbitration hearing a request by Hamilton area milk producers for a fluid milk price increased failed Monday to agree on an award. The producers asked for an increase of 30 cents a hundredweight. The board is headed by Judge H. E. Fuller of Welland county who is expected to make a decision by the end of the week.

Junior Farmers

TORONTO —(CP)— More than 100 members of the Canadian Council on Boys' and Girls' Clubs are arriving in Toronto Nov. 12 for the 20th annual national club week. The meeting coincides with the Royal Agricultural Winter Fair.

Judge Blames Sister

TORONTO, Nov. 7 (CP)—Mrs. Olga Newman, 29, was sentenced to seven days for bigamy Monday but the sentence was dated from the day of her conviction seven days ago.

In a written judgment, Magistrate Hand said he believed Mrs. Newman had been the victim of malice at the hands of a younger sister and the two men she married.

The magistrate said he noticed during the trial that Mrs. Newman's sister sat between the two men and between smiles engaged in a number of whispering conversations with both.

Mrs. Newman had said she had no choice in leaving Ernest Weir because "my sister wanted him and he kept on beating me up."

She married Percy Edwin Newman in Sault Ste. Marie in 1940, and went through a form of marriage with Weir in Toronto in 1947, believing her husband was dead.

Provincial Policeman David Hamilton Dies

MOUNT FOREST, Nov. 7 — (CP) — David Hamilton, 53, for the past year in charge of No. Six District Headquarters of the Ontario Provincial Police here, died suddenly at his home here today.

He had been in good health up to last weekend when he complained of feeling ill.

Prior to coming here he had been stationed at detachments at Barrie, Cochrane, Fort William and Fort Frances.

His early boyhood years were spent in Port Arthur and during the First World War went overseas with a regiment from the Lakehead.

Besides his widow, he is survived by a son, Ian, of Mount Forest, and a daughter Betty in Toronto.

Drew Visits U.K.

OTTAWA, Nov. 7 (CP) — George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, left Montreal by plane Monday night for the United Kingdom. Main purpose of the trip is to fulfill a speaking engagement. Mr. Drew will address the Canada Club in London Wednesday. He will remain overseas about a week.

Hayward Wants Chance Prove Talents

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 7 (AP).—Louis Hayward was again swashing buckles this week. Hayward is a leading exponent of the noble craft that reaches back to the days of the first Douglas Fairbanks.

"It's quite profitable," commented the actor, "especially since I get a percentage of the profits with each picture. That not only provides some nice money here, but in frozen money overseas. I can go over to Italy and England and spent it on vacations."

But despite the financial advantage, Hayward would like to get away from swashbuckling. And he thinks a guy named Shakespeare might help him.

Shakespeare

"After I finish another picture," he said, "I'm going to New York to see if I can play some Shakespeare with the group that Margaret Webster and Maurice Evans have. Of course, I might end up in a swashbuckling role, but at least I might be able to convince Hollywood I can act."

Actually, Hayward came from Britain in 1934 as a dramatic actor. A protege of Noel Coward, he was picked by Alfred Lunt and Lynn Fontaine to appear with them in "Point Valaine" in New York. His dramatic ability was acclaimed by the critics. Hollywood nabbed him.

"The swashbuckling came about by chance," he said. "I had done a picture called 'The Duke of West Point' with Joan Fontaine. The producer, Edward Small, kept me on for 'The Man In The Iron Mask.' It was a big hit and I've been doing mostly swashbuckling ever since."

Capsule Review

"Breakthrough" offers nothing particularly new in war pictures, but nevertheless manages to be absorbing drama. Like the successful war films of last year, it concerns the work of a small unit in battle (this time the Normandy invasion). The story pretty much follows the formula, but is lifted out of the ordinary by (1) clever use of combat shots, (2) a credible cast headed by Frank Lovejoy, John Agar and David Brian.

Rotary Hears Two Young Local Artists

Guest speakers at Rotary Monday were two of the younger city artists—Meredith Miller and Kai Dinesen. Mr. Miller makes costume jewellery and Mr. Dinesen is a painter.

Jewellery is the most concentrated form of value in the world, said Mr. Miller, mostly because the precious stones and gems are so expensive, but partly because the workmen are highly paid, receiving from $300 to $500 a week.

He spoke of a New York jeweller, who has an emerald necklace for sale for $1,000,000, and of one of the largest single sales of jewellery in the world—a pearl necklace for nearly $1,500,000.

Mr. Dinesen, who said he worked as a cartoonist, poster painter, garbage-can painter and war artist, said that the life of an artist is one long glorious pursuit of money to buy time to study in.

He said it was also a life of hope and taking chances. During the war, he joined the RCAF as air crew, and after acting as cartoonist on a bombing and gunnery school newspaper, re-mustered as a war artist.

Both Mr. Miller and Mr. Dinesen went through Peterborough schools.

They were introduced by Grant Miller and thanked by the Rev. Ivan Morgan.

Developing Modern Homes

TORONTO, Nov. 7 — (CP) — More than 15 projects for accommodation of elderly persons are included in Ontario's current expansion program for its homes for the aged, Welfare Minister Goodfellow of Ontario said Monday night.

"New accommodation for more than 2,000 aged persons is being provided by construction of new homes for the aged or by enlargement of existing homes," he said in an address prepared for delivery in a free-time "Provincial Affairs" broadcast over a CBC Ontario network. "This program is resulting in provision of modern, comfortable housing for aged people, often in localities where in the past there have been no adequate facilities."

Such a home, providing for care of 126 elderly persons, recently was opened at Sault Ste. Marie.

"Our concept of new homes stresses the segregation of the various types of persons receiving care. These modern homes for the aged are designed to give every attention to people requiring accommodation and we believe that this program will remove that stigma which has been commonly attached to persons formerly residing in homes for the aged. We are satisfied that this program will greatly relieve hospitals of chronic cases.

"In many places—for example Hastings county, Halton county, Grey county, Rainy River district and elsewhere—new homes are being established. This is possible because of the local recognition of what is required, along with determination to meet the need, and because of our new plan of generous financial aid from the province—50 per cent of capital and maintenance costs."

Won't Have Rifle Pits Expel UK Vice-Consul

LONDON, Nov. 7—(AP)—The Foreign Office said Monday expulsion of a British Vice-Consul from Mukden followed his refusal to allow construction of "rifle pits" in the Consulate grounds.

Peiping radio announced Saturday, the Briton, Leve Steventon, had been order to quit China because he obstructed Chinese security officials from building "an air raid shelter" at the Consulate.

The impression among Diplomatic officials here is that the Chinese Reds are preparing their whole Manchurian frontier area for military activity and that they would prefer not to have western officials watching them.

Mukden is about 130 miles from the Korean frontier.

LONDON —(CP)— In an experiment here an usherette in a movie theatre wore a pedometer on her leg for 12 months. Now it's been checked and shows that she walked 904 miles in the year, showing patrons to their seats.

Gordon Hunt Named To Lakefield Board

Attendance at Lakefield High School during October was 96.6 per cent, the report of the principal, R. E. Sutton, told the High School Board at its regular meeting.

Usual $150 grants for the school library and physical training were asked for and granted on a motion by trustees Ernie Pearson and Clayton Fitzgerald.

Gordon Hunt of Lakehurst, new trustee representing Harvey township, was introduced to the meeting. Mr. Hunt replaces Max Wilson.

It was also moved by trustees pearson and Fitzgerald that $100 be paid the rink committee for future use of the rink by high school pupils.

Friendly Porcupine

SASKATOON (CP)— Farmer S. V. Svoboda is looking for a prickly friend. A porcupine which for years wandered around his farm yard has disappeared. He fears it was killed by a coyote.

Building the home for Wear-Ever 1912

1950 is the fiftieth anniversary of the Wear-Ever line in Canada.

These aluminum cooking utensils were introduced here at the beginning of the century. Their popularity grew so rapidly that, by 1912, a new factory was needed to supply the demand. This was built in Toronto. It was the first plant in Canada to make aluminum articles—and this was only a dozen years after the first Canadian smelter had started making aluminum ingots at Shawinigan Falls.

Today Alcan has twelve plants, all of them engaged in the aluminum industry, while more than 1000 independent companies across Canada shape the metal into all sorts of useful forms—from kettles to freight cars.

Democrats Margin Slim As US Congress Elected

CITY REBUILDS—Reconstruction of the St. Lawrence southshore city of Rimouski, which was almost wiped out by a disastrous fire last May, is progressing rapidly. The new buildings, as this photo shows, are modern steel, brick and stone structures being built on the ashes and ruins of the fire-ravaged city. Most of the burned buildings were of wooden construction. Federal and provincial relief grants and a coast-to-coast public appeal speeded up the giant rebuilding job, now more than three-quarters completed.

US-Canada Pool Scarce Goods For Defence

OTTAWA, Nov. 8 (CP)—The broad, general principle of "equality of sacrifice" which guides Canada-United States joint economic planning for defence has been extended specially to the field of scarce materials. Under an agreement announced simultaneously Tuesday night in Ottawa and Washington, the United States agrees to include Canadian defence producers in its compulsory priorities structure.

Canada, in its turn, agrees to include United States defence producers in its voluntary system directed by strategic industries in consultation with the Trade Department.

Though there has been no great difficulty in United States industries obtaining Canadian raw materials, Canada has seen her much-needed supplies of American steel cut by about 20 per cent. from a normal annual supply of about 1,000,000 tons to less than 800,000.

By becoming incorporated into the U.S. priorities system, Canadian defence manufacturers will have the same chance of getting U.S. steel as would any American defence producer.

Keep Voluntary System

A forward step in development of the Oct. 26 joint industrial mobilization pact, the new agreement will not mean that Canada will change her present voluntary priority system to a more-formal one.

In the United States, Canada's defence orders will have the benefit of the formal U.S. system of priority ratings extended by the national production authority.

In Canada, the priorities administration will be vested in the trade department. The department's projects section, under A. F. Cunningham, will take charge. This section will be expanded as the administration job increases.

The priorities system extends, of course, only over the field of defence production. It does not mean that Canadian builders of houses, for example, will be able to get the same rating as those in the U.S.

All-Canadian Jet Fighter A Plane of Many Talents

OTTAWA, Nov. 8—(CP)—Canada's defence department is beginning to think its big, black jet fighter, the Canuck, is shaping up as a five-way threat and possibly the most versatile combat plane developed since the war. It was designed as a long-range, all-weather interceptor fighter, an unusually-powerful two-engined, two-seater plane which could roam across the northern wilderness and strike back at any enemy bombers its radar picked up.

Now, defence officials say, tests are showing its qualifications for these other potential roles, including a surprising one that would take it to sea:

1. Work with the fleet air arm aboard aircraft carriers.
2. Tactical support for ground forces.
3. Long-range reconnaissance.
4. Bombing.

Very Versatile

The prospective range of versatility, reminiscent of the Second World War's Mosquito, has already spread its fame well beyond Canada's borders and raised the possibility that it will be one of this country's major contributions to the Atlantic Pact.

Still not mated with its own Canadian-designed engine, the Orenda, and seldom if ever turned really loose, it has been officially reported as making 638 miles an hour—and capable of plenty more than that.

Officials say the United States and a number of European countries are interested in it, but a variety of complications, including dollar shortages, has so far prevented any arrangements to sent it abroad.

There still are only two prototypes of the planes in existence and a lot of work remains, but the A. V. Roe plant at Malton, has swung into production on orders for the RCAF running into many millions of dollars.

Star Attraction

In the present visits by European defence ministers and military officials, the CF-100 Canuck is one of the star attractions. At Montreal Monday it put on one of its shows of ability to travel fast as well as unusually slow, to manoeuvre, to climb and, above all, to get up into the air with remarkable swiftness.

It is this short takeoff which may in time make it a carrier plane. Its ability to get down to speeds around 150 raises tactical support possibilities. It is big enough—it dwarfs is sister fighter, the F-86—to take a considerable bomb load. It can stay up such a long time that a reconnaissance role beckons too.

Tibet Capital To Fall Soon

KALIMPONG, Northern India, Nov. 8 (Reuters)—The Chinese-led "Peoples' Army," rolling across Tibet in a three-pronged drive on Lhasa, today was expected to reach the Tibetan capital almost hourly.

Reports reaching here today from Lhasa said the pro-Chinese Lamas who took over the government of Tibet this week have ordered the people of Lhasa not to resist the onrushing Communist troops.

The nearest column was last reported 45 miles away when it passed Phondo Dzong yesterday. The Chinese-led armies are believed to be made up now largely of Tibetans picked up along the way.

The pro-Chinese interim cabinet in Lhasa has ordered the garrison in the city to maintain law and order pending the arrival of the Chinese, reports said.

Meteor's Course North In Quebec

OTTAWA, Nov. 8 (CP)—Dr. P. M. Millman, astrophysicist of the dominion observatory, said today the meteor which flashed across eastern Canadian skies last Thursday night may have been following a course north of Montreal.

He told reporters he hesitated to make any final conclusions, but reports he has received indicate the phenomenon may have been centred north of that city.

"Unfortunately," he added, "I have received practically no letters from Montreal itself, which would be valuable in making a determination."

But other meteor mail, the scientist said, has poured into his office from as far east as Nova Scotia and as far west as the Sault Ste. Marie area of Ontario. The letters contained many useful reports.

He said he doubted that the meteor ever would be found.

600 Planes Blast Border City

China-Aid Centre Hard Hit, Red Jet Shot Down

SEOUL, Nov. 8—(AP)—Six hundred Allied planes today blasted North Korea all along the Manchurian border to block off Red reinforcements from Communist China.

But air observers reported "very heavy traffic" rolling across Manchuria toward the Yalu River boundary. They also spotted an estimated 700 vehicles already south of the river in North Korea.

As the United Nations air arm mounted one of the largest raids of the Korean war, reinforcements arrived on the Korean east coast. Elements of the United States 3rd Division landed at the port of Wonsan.

On the ground, UN troops pushed forward on all fronts. The unexplained Communist withdrawal continued.

Impose Blackout

Intelligence officers at Gen. MacArthur's Tokyo headquarters clamped a surprise news blackout on developments between Communist battle lines and the Manchurian border. They said the clamp-down would be temporary.

They declined to answer questions about the Reds' ultimate intentions — whether the Communists presumably are planning an attack, trying to consolidate present lines, or preparing a series of delaying actions.

In a historic sidelight to the air war, jet met jet in a fight to the death for the first time. The battle occurred over the North Korean border city of Sinuiji, a key target for the 600-plane assault.

An American F-80 Shooting Star jet shot down a Russian-made MIG-15 jet fighter while the planes sped at better than 600 miles an hour. Another Red jet was damaged but escaped to Manchuria.

Pilots said the Red jets tried to lure them across the border over Manchuria — a new tactic. UN planes have been ordered to stay clear of Chinese territory.

Hit Sinuiju

In the big raid, 80 US B-29 Superforts dumped 640 tons of bombs on Sinuiju, concentration point for Chinese Red supplies and site of an airfield used by Red jets in attacks on US aircraft.

B-26 light bombers, fighter-bombers and fighters took part in the massive assault against cities, towns, villages, bridges and troop concentrations along the Korean side of the border almost to Siberia.

A US Air Force spokesman said Sinuiju, a city of 100,000, was "pretty well taken care of" by 85,000 incendiary bombs.

Nine of the B-29s carried 80 demolition bombs— 1,000-pounders —which were dropped on twin bridges spanning the Yalu between Manchuria and Korea at Sinuiju.

Guides Reach Plane

CHAMONIX, France, Nov. 8—(Reuters)—Four French Alpine guides today reached the wreck of an Indian Constellation airliner just below the summit of 15,781-foot Mont Blanc where it crashed with 48 persons aboard Friday. There was no hope here that the guides might have found someone alive in the Air-India Constellation because it was thought no one could survive five nights in temperatures about 58 degrees below zero.

Demand UN Order Mao Recall Chinese

LAKE SUCCESS, Nov. 8 (AP).—The United States charged the Chinese Communists with direct military intervention in Korea, and urged the United Nations Security Council to require the Mao Tze-tung regime to withdraw its forces.

Warren R. Austin, chief American delegate, told the council there are indications that 30,000 Chinese Communist troops are in Korea and that the number is increasing. He said the United Nations should assist in settling any problems relating to Korea's northern frontier. Then he added:

"But in offering assurance, the Security Council must also see to it that the authorities in Peiping are under no illusion that their conduct is condoned by the United Nations or that the organized world community can accept this thinly disguised invasion of Korea.

Grave Danger

"The Chinese Communists have imposed a grave danger upon the world—the danger that the present conflict may not be limited to the Korean area. The United States on its own behalf and in the exercise of the responsibilities of the unified command has made every effort to do the same. We have sought publicly to reassure the Chinese Communist regime that neither the United States nor the forces of the United Nations operating in Korea represent any threat to the territorial integrity or security of the legitimate interests of states which border on Korea.

"This council is the guardian of international peace and security and must require the Chinese Communist regime to withdraw its forces from Korea and to refrain from further unlawful assistance, direct or indirect, to the North Korean aggressor."

The Security Council met today to take up a report from Gen. MacArthur telling of Communist Chinese intervention.

Ignore Russians

The council brushed aside a Russian effort to keep the council from discussing the MacArthur report—on the ground it was biased and had no legal standing. Then Russian delegate Jakob A. Malik insisted the council must seat a representative of the Peiping Communists at the council table.

Malik said the council resolution making MacArthur U.N. commander was illegal, and that MacArthur's report of Chinese intervention was unreliable since it "comes from the leader of the American interventionist forces in Korea."

L. B. Pearson, Canada's External Affairs Minister, said the Dominion is more inclined to trust to the judgment and charter of the U.N. than a set of rigid de-

Yuzwa Jury Hears Story Of Scuffle

Two New Witnesses Appearing In Lindsay Trial

LINDSAY, Nov. 8 (By Staff Reporter) — William Yuzwa, 32-year-old Hamilton salesman charged last November with the murder of Jack Loucks of Lindsay, on Tuesday, heard the Crown's chief witness tell the jury of a scuffle he is alleged to have had with Loucks.

At least two new witnesses Herbert J. Hardy and Joe Kearns both of Lindsay, are appearing at this second trial.

Yuzwa was arrested November 18 at a police roadblock on the outskirts of Peterborough on the Lindsay highway. With him were the three Zahodnik brothers. All four were charged with murder after the fatal stabbing of Loucks and the wounding of three other men.

The three brothers were not committed for trial and last February Yuzwa faced the murder charge alone. After deliberating for nearly seven hours the jury was unable to agree and the case was set over to the present assizes by Mr. Justice Urquhart.

Once again Yuzwa heard Wesley Aldred, 38, a Lindsay laborer, tell of an argument between Yuzwa and Loucks as Yuzwa sat in a panel truck parked in front of the Big 20 Cafe on Kent St.

Argument Obscure

Just how the argument started that led to the slaying and the three other stabbings is still obscure.

Aldred said he saw Joe Kearns —the man whom Justice Urquhart intimated should have been called for the first trial—yelling at Yuzwa who was sitting in the parked panel truck.

"Why don't you come out and fight?" Kearns is reported to have said.

Loucks was then observed to get into the argument when he walked over to the truck, grabbed the doorhandle and called to some companions: "What do you want boys?"

Yuzwa answered: "I own this truck and you fellows keep away from it."

The witness added that he saw Yuzwa take a backhand swipe at Loucks and heard "two cracks," but there was no blood on Loucks face when he walked away.

Aldred's most important testimony was when he described how Yuzwa got out of the truck and spoke to three men—presumably the Zahodniks. With one of them, Yuzwa started west up the street, Aldred declared. The other man, identified by a fawn coat, walked on the inside and Yuzwa was next the curb.

First, Aldred said, he saw Floyd Smith, a 27-year-old truckdriver standing just west of the Big 20. The pair confronted Smith, and the next thing Aldred saw was

Filchock With Colts

BALTIMORE, Md., Nov. 8—(AP)—Frank Filchock, of Montreal Alouettes, a four-year exile from United States football for failure to report a bribe offer, today signed a contract to again play pro football in the U.S. with Baltimore Colts. The National football team signed the 33-year-old backfield player today. Filchock may play Sunday with the Colts against Pittsburgh Steelers.

Mounties Seize $130,000 Bogus Money

TORONTO, Nov. 8 —(CP)—Mounties said today that $130,000 in counterfeit Canadian currency was seized in a raid here Tuesday night. No arrests were made.

M. F. E. Anthony, RCMP superintendent, said it is believed another $20,000 in bogus money still is incirculation.

He said the money probably was made in Buffalo, N.Y.

United States treasury department agents had broken up a counterfeit ring there recently and a number of persons were convicted.

It was believed the money seized Tuesday night was cashed here some time ago.

Although the RCMP declined to disclose details of the raid, it was believed the money was seized in an empty building.

$20,000 Still Circulating

Police warned banks and storekeepers to be on the watch for the $20,000 still in circulation, because it was felt there would be an attempt to get rid of it quickly.

In Buffalo last July three men were sentenced to jail and two put on probation in connection with what was described as a $1,000,000 counterfeit money scheme.

Bernard Neuner, 30, Buffalo lithographer who made the plates, and Matthew Zdolinski of Depew, N.Y., who printed the money, each was sentenced to five years. They pleaded guilty to charges of conspiracy and manufacturing counterfeit money.

Carman F. Sicurella, 29, was sentenced to four years for passing counterfeit money.

Republicans Record Huge Gains

Severe Set-Back For Truman, Many Leaders Out

NEW YORK, Nov. 8—(CP) —The Democratic party survived stunning defeats in a half-dozen key states to retain control of Congress in Tuesday's United States general election.

The Republican surge may hamper President Truman's "Fair Deal" program and affect American foreign policy. The Democrats squeezed through with control of the Senate and House of Representatives.

The Senate will line up in January with 49 Democrats and 47 Republicans. At noon EST the Democrats clinched control of the 435-seat House of Representatives by winning their 223rd seat.

The Democrats technically had won the election. But the margin of victory was so narrow, and the Republican gains were so sweeping, that the election result clearly was a Democratic set-back.

At 12:45 this was the standing of the new, 82nd Congress:

Senate: Democrats retained control of the 96-seat chamber 49-47.

House of Representatives: (435 seats) Democrats elected 223, Republicans elected 188. Undecided, 20.

Gain Five Seats

The Republicans recorded a net gain of five seats in the Senate—they needed seven to win control. The Republicans picked up seats in Idaho, Illinois, Maryland, Pennsylvania, Utah and California, where administration stalwarts went down to defeat. They lost in Missouri where Forrest Donnell was beaten.

Returns early today gave Representative Richard M. Nixon, Republican, a senatorial victory over Representative Helen Gahagan Douglas, Democrat who was praised by President Truman for her support of his foreign policies. Nixon had attacked her as supporting left-wingers.

Hold Police Inquiry At Cornwall Hdqts.

CORNWALL, Nov. 8—(CP)—Deputy Commissioner Arthur Moss of the Ontario Provincial Police Headquarters said today he is conducting an investigation into "departmental matters" affecting No. 11 district with headquarters in Cornwall.

The district comprises Stormont, Dundas, Glengarry, Prescott, Russell and Carleton counties.

The deputy commissioner said no member of the district force has been charged with a breach of discipline.

Assisting in the probe is Staff Inspector F. B. Creasy, of Toronto.

Greene's Mother Dies In Toronto

TORONTO, Nov. 8—(CP) — Mrs. Agnes Ryan Greene, 60, mother of a Toronto man who disappeared under mysterious circumstances three months ago, died following a seizure in a theatre lobby. Relatives said the disappearance Aug. 8 of her only son, school teacher Alfred Greene, was a "great shock" to her.

Greene vanished at the same time as Mrs. Beatrice Reason, four-times-married brunette who was a former pupil in his night-school English class. His blood-stained automobile was found in Rosedale ravine here with its keys still in the ignition. Police, who checked on a theory that the couple had gone to Mrs. Reason's native Australia, now believe Green and the woman are in the United States.

Dewey Elected For Third Term

NEW YORK, Nov. 8 —(CP)— Governor Thomas E. Dewey Tuesday won his third term as governor of New York in a smashing election victory that re-established him as a power to be reckoned with when the Republicans choose a 1952 Presidential candidate.

The rout of New York State Democrats was virtually complete except for the re-election of Senator Herbert H. Lehman, the 72-year-old veteran campaigner who rode to victory on the Democrat-Liberal ticket.

More than 5,250,000 persons voted—a record for an election in a non-presidential year. There were 6,443,512 registered and eligible to vote in the state.

Dewey defeated Representative Walter A. Lynch, 56-year-old Democratic-Liberal candidate, by a plurality of about 500,000 votes.

Manitoba Spring Flood Cost $23 Million—Premier

WINNIPEG, Nov. 8 (CP). — Premier Campbell Tuesday night estimated the cost of Manitoba's spring flood crisis at $23,000,000, and said he believes the federal government will "substantially increase" its $12,500,000 rehabilitation contribution.

The premier gave the estimate to a special session of the Legislature, called to pass judgment on the provincial government's handling of the crisis last spring.

The opposition accused the government of "steamroller" tactics. Progressive Conservative, formerly linked in a coalition government with Liberal Progressives and now official opposition, lined up with CCF speakers in asserting the premier used "undemocratic" procedure.

Government spokesman, led by Premier Campbell, said the opposition was exaggerating its case and seeking "ulterior motives."

Mr. Campbell said that when he presents the budget speech later in the session he will provide the House with a detailed account for the money spent and how much more will be needed.

"For the time being, I am able to report the most recent and reliable flood cost estimate which sets the costs the province will bear, in whole or in part, at $23,000,000," Premier Campbell said.

Major item in the premier's estimate was $12,000,000 to the Red River Valley Board towards the flooded homes and premises of private individuals.

No Sign Of Life Near Wreckage

BUTTE, Mont., Nov. 8 (AP).—Butte police chief Bert J. Riley said at 9 a.m. today that a "helicopter is circling the wreckage" of a Northwest Airlines plane missing with 22 persons aboard in the mountains east of here.

Riley said the plane is over Nine-Mile Canyon, which cuts up the main range of the Continental Divide near Homestake. He said there "was no sign of life."

The big airliner with 18 passengers and a crew of four disappeared Tuesday in a blizzard shortly after it left Helena, Mont., headed for Butte. It was bound from Chicago to Seattle.

Several residents in the dense, mountainous country reported hearing a "terrific explosion."

Cold Winter Weather Strikes Prairies

WINNIPEG, Nov. 8—(CP) — Bitter north winds spilling out of the Yukon today brought winter weather to the prairies.

Snow was general. It ranged from a light covering in Winnipeg to almost three inches in the Brandon and Yorkton areas.

Winds reached a velocity of 20 miles an hour and promised to keep temperatures below freezing throughout the day.

Princess Pat Troops Begin First Leg of Korean Trip

TORONTO, Nov. 8 (CP)—On the first leg of the journey to Korea, 260 Ontario members of the second battalion of the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry left here by train early today. They are due to sail for Korea late this month.

The train is returning the men to the Pats' base at Wainwright, Alta., after an embarkation leave.

Tears and gaiety mingled in the station concourse as the soldiers said farewell to parents, wives and sweethearts.

Mrs. R. H. Ackland of Spring Valley, near Ancaster, wept on parting from her 20-year-old son, Herbert.

Pte. William Allard, 20, of Ajax, near Oshawa, left behind the pretty girl he married 18 months ago and their eight-month-old son, Billy. He told a reporter:

"Sure I feel bad about leaving them. But it's better to fight the Russians over there than over here."

Pte. E. R. Adye, 22-year-old son of Rev. E. R. Adye and Mrs. Adye of Collingwood, said he was "really glad to be in it." Pte. Jim Rowan, 21, of Hamilton, asserted that he is "not worried a bit."

Cpl. Tom Nuttycombe, Second World War veteran, said goodbye to his wife and child in the privacy of their Brantford home.

"It's better that way," he said. "It's not so sad."

Major C. V. Lillie, M.C., of Hamilton, officer in charge of the troop train, said the men are "keen and fit and ready for anything." He added: "We've been training seven days and four nights a week. The morale of the men is terrific. I haven't seen anything like it in a long time."

Happily Wed 52 Years Couple Die Together

HAMILTON, Nov. 8 (CP) — Fifty-seven years of happily married life ended almost simultaneously Tuesday night for Mr. and Mrs. William Wesley Louks, of Hamilton.

In failing health for the last six months, Mr. Louks died late at night and the shock proved too much for his devoted wife, who died minutes later. Mr. Louks was in his 84th year. Mrs. Louks was 73.

Residents of Hamilton for the last 50 years, the couple belonged to Erskine Presbyterian Church. Mr. Louks was formerly a painter by trade and an employee of the city works department for about 30 years, retiring in 1937. He was born in Windham Centre, Ont.

2 Women, Child Escape Burning Home

NESTLETON, Nov. 8 —Two women and a two-year-old baby escaped from their flaming home here Tuesday unable to save anything but the nightclothes they were wearing.

At this hamlet on Highway No. 7A, 22 miles north of Bowmanville, every able-bodied man joined a bucket brigade in futile attempts to save Leal's general store and the apartment attached to it.

Mrs. Ada Leal, the proprietress and her daughter Mrs. Ila Howe and Sharon Leal, 2, were taken in by a neighbor, Mrs. Olive Brown. Mr. Leal is aboard a lake ship.

Unofficial estimates of the loss ran as high as $25,000. The complete store stock, house furnishings and personal belongings were lost in the blaze. Volunteer firemen from Nestleton and from Port Perry, nine miles away, broke down the walls of the L-shaped structure as a safety precaution.

Save Second House

About 30 men poured buckets of water on the home of Elmer Nesbitt, next door, and saved it from all but a minor scorching and three windows cracked by heat. Neighbors credited the Port Perry switchboard operator with calling out volunteers shortly after the blaze was discovered about 3 a.m.

Mrs. Howe said Tuesday night it was only by sheer luck she and her mother awakened to find smoke seeping through their room. They swept up Sharon from her crib and ran outside as flames began roaring through the house. Somehow, Mrs. Howe said Sharon's pet kitten managed to get out of the blazing building.

Draw With Victoria

MELBOURNE, Australia, Nov. 8 (Reuters)—The English touring cricket team drew with Victoria State today after Victoria had taken a first-innings lead.

At the close of play after tea—when rain stopped play — the tourists were 54 runs ahead with six second innings wickets in hand.

Scores were: England, first innings 306 for nine declared; Victoria, first innings 331; England, second innings 79 for four.

Deer Hunters Found In Game Preserve

Six deer hunters were charged in police court today with being on the Peterborough Crown Game Preserve Tuesday with rifles.

All six pleaded not guilty. They were Joseph Cosgrove, 42, Havelock; Douglas Forsyth, 21, Havelock; Osborne Seabrook, 40, Havelock; Doug Hill, 28, Havelock; John W. Davidson, 23, Belleville; and Harry Peake, 22, Campbellford.

Evidence of three game wardens was presented against Cosgrove before the noon recess. His case is being used as a test case for the episode.

At Methuen Fire Tower

Game Overseer Ray Simpson testified he and Game Overseer Dougal I. McEachern were at the Methuen township fire tower on a high pinnacle of rock outside the preserve. About two miles away in the game park, they saw two hunters.

They intercepted them. While talking to them, they saw a third man a short distance east and soon a fourth, Cosgrove, another 200 yards east.

He said the east boundary was marked by metal signs on trees at infrequent intervals. About every quarter of a mile were stone surveyors' pyramids with brass plates giving directions at their bases.

Two years ago he said he helped put the posters on the trees, about every 60 rods, but since then some of them had been torn down.

The boundary was also marked by a swath six or seven feet wide cut through the bush, but in years since it was cut, second growth had filled it in to some extent.

However he said any hunter could find the boundary with little trouble if he were looking for it. Under cross questioning by W. J. Arthur Fair K.C., representing four of the men, officer Simpson said that it was possible for a hunter to wander across the boundary without realizing it.

Officer McEachern, who was in the area for the first time this week said he had no difficulty in finding and recognizing the boundary.

The officers said the men protested that they were not in the game preserve. They showed them the marked boundary.

"That's what they all say," said McEachern.

Officer Robert H. Trotter testified the men were approximately five miles north of the south boundary, the direction their tracks indicated, from which the men had travelled. Anyone looking for the boundary could see it, he said. He added there were many guides in the district for hunters unfamiliar with the country.

With Cosgrove in his party were Forsyth, Seabrook and Hill.

Their defence was scheduled to be heard in the afternoon session.

Report Prices Firm On Toronto Exchange

TORONTO, Nov. 8 (CP). — Prices firmed from early strong gains as the session progressed on the Toronto Stock Exchange today.

Industrials climbed steadily with papers and steels leading. Abitibi, Powell River, Consolidated and International Paper all jumped with gains over $1. Algoma and Page-Hersey both added over a point to pace a wide list of steels higher.

Base metals traded over a very broad front for strong gains. Consolidated Smelters, International Nickel, Quemont and Waite Amulet with gains ranging to $1 were a few of the many ahead.

Western oils advances were up to 25 cents with about five gains for every loss. Key issues ahead were General Petroleum, Pacific Petroleum and Home Oil.

Golds were ahead in slightly quieter dealings than the rest of the board. Senior producers, including Dome and Kerr Addison, gained up to 50 cents. In junior golds many of the more speculative issues traded for penny gains.

Yuzwa Jury

blood streaming down Smith's face.

Saw No Movement

Questioned by Justice W. F. Spence, presiding at the second trial, Aldred told the court that he had seen no movement on the part of Yuzwa when Smith received his scalp wound that required several stitches to close.

Then the pair turned toward Loucks who was standing on the sidewalk further west.

"They came up in front of Loucks," Aldred said. "I saw the backs of Yuzwa's arms go forward," Aldred said. "Loucks grabbed his mouth with his left hand. He staggered and threw blood on the sidewalk."

As Loucks put his hand to his mouth Aldred said he saw Yuzwa reach out with his right arm and spin the bleeding and fatally-injured man by the left shoulder.

"Loucks headed west about 50 feet up the sidewalk and then into the road. Whenever he took his hand away from his mouth there was a stream of blood."

B. J. Spencer Pitt, counsel for Yuzwa, cross-examined Aldred meticulously on this point.

Didn't See Weapon

The witness said he saw only the forward movement of the elbows as Yuzwa's back was toward him. He did not see Yuzwa's hands and was unable to say if the accused was carrying a weapon.

Herbert J. Hardy, a Lindsay tobacconist, was the first of the Crown's witnesses that was called for this second trial but did not appear at the first.

Together with three other Lindsay men—Roy Armstrong, Don Hood and Stanley Braunton—he had got into the Armstrong car to go home, sometime between 12 and 12.30 a.m.

Saw Crowd

He said he saw 10 or 12 people milling around in front of the Big 20.

"There seemed to be a bit of an argument but I couldn't hear what was being said," Hardy declared.

Man Retreats

Hardy said he saw a man in a dark overcoat and no headgear walk in an easterly direction toward the group. Then he saw an arm from an unidentified member of the group lash out and strike the newcomer a blow on the right side of the head. The man who was struck — and who he could not identify as Loucks—retreated in the direction he come, walking backwards.

Hardy's companion, Armstrong observed: "It's just another street brawl. Let's get out of it."

They went home and were unaware that a murder was committed until the next day.

Loucks, a former Peterborough resident and father of three children, was stabbed a deep wound just underneath the right ear. He is believed to have died within a few minutes of receiving the blow after the fight on Kent St.

Treated For Wounds

The other three men who were treated in Lindsay hospital for stab wounds were Floyd Smith, 27, Hagersville truck driver, a scalp cut requiring several stitches; Sidney Risley, 50, a 12-stitch wound just below the elbow; and Thornton Olver, 37, a two-stitch scalp wound and a badly-cut nose. Risley and Olver are both Lindsay residents.

Both the Crown and defence counsel agreed with Justice Spence that a night session should be held from 7.30 to 10 p.m. to speed up the pace of the trial. W. B. Common of the Attorney General's department is conducting the Crown's case this time, assisted by Crown Attorney Lorne W. Jordan.

Floyd Smith, the truck driver repeated his testimony of the first trial. He was standing just west of the Big 20 and had observed the argument between Loucks and Yuzwa as Yuzwa sat in the truck.

Suddenly he was struck a blow on the head by an unidentified man in front of him.

"I was hit on the head but didn't know who did it . . . I went down and the next thing I knew I was behind the bus out on the road."

He said he had heard Yuzwa curse at Loucks before that and Loucks had replied "Come out and fight like a man."

Change In Testimony

W. B. Common of the Attorney General's department, queried Smith on a change in testimony. At the preliminary hearing Smith said one of the group of men in the group that struck him was Yuzwa—identified by his green jacket.

But at this second trial Smith said the last time he saw Yuzwa and Loucks was when they were arguing at the truck.

Nicked On Elbow

At the night session Risley said that, while standing in a doorway, he was nicked on the elbow by a sharp instrument in the hands of a man he could not identify. He said he set out for home at once, passing a man lying in a pool of blood.

Oliver said he was watching men arguing on the street when he was slashed.

"Someone struck at me. I did not see him and I cannot recognize him."

Lionel Tracy, Lindsay contractor, one of the Crown's chief witnesses, was scheduled to be called today as was Joe Kearns.

WEAKENED WALL OF WILSON'S GARAGE, Cobourg, gave way on Monday taking three-quarters of the roof with it. One roof beam fell on a car within and prevented the roof from complete collapse and allowed three of the mechanics to escape without injury.

Moch Confers With St. Laurent

OTTAWA, Nov. 8 — (CP) — German rearmament and Chinese intervention in Korea have raised vital questions in the capital in the midst of a wave of official comings and goings.

Defence Minister Moch, spokesman for French resistance to Atlantic pact majority plan to integrate German manpower in Western European defences, flew in from Washington at noon Tuesday for a four-day visit.

A few hours later he was in conference with Prime Minister St Laurent and later still with Mr St. Laurent and other members of the cabinet defence committee.

Republican's Record

In Washington, Democrat Senator Warren G. Magnuson defeated Republican Walter Williams by a wide margin in the last Senate seat to report.

The adverse turn of the Korean war, opposition to the President's domestic program, criticism of his foreign-policy decisions and reaction to Communists-in-government charges were variously credited with bringing the Republican victories.

Smashing Wins

Republicans won smashing individual victories in a sweep that knocked Senators Scott W. Lucas of Illinois, the Democratic leader, and Francis J. Meyers of Pennsylvania, his assistant, out of office.

The same surge carried Senators Millard E. Tydings of Maryland and Elbert Thomas of Utah down to defeat.

All four Senators were staunch defenders of President Truman. Their defeats prompted Harold E. Stassen, a potential 1952 Republican presidential candidate, to suggest that the Secretary of State, Dean Acheson, had received a "vote of no confidence" and ought to resign.

The fifth Senate Democratic seat to go to the Republicans was that previously held in Idaho by Senator Glen Taylor.

The voting trend that bowled over veteran Democrats returned to office Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio, often called "Mr. Republican," and his Republican leadership colleague, Senator George Milliken of Colorado. Taft heads the party's senate policy committee and Milliken is chairman of the conference of all Republican Senators.

Governor Thomas E. Dewey of New York rode the tide into a third term. Other New York results followed forecasts with Democrat-Liberal Senator Herbert H. Lehman winning re-election and Vincent Impellitteri, an Independent, beating his Democratic and Republican opponents for Mayor of New York City.

Mrs. James Jackson

Mrs. James Jackson, 82, of 531 Bolivar St., died on Tuesday following a lengthy illness. She was born in Peterborough, Annie, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Moore, and has lived in the city a lifetime. Her husband, James Jackson, predeceased her about ten years ago.

She leaves three daughters, Mrs. H. A. Cranfield (Pearl) of Peterborough, Miss Hazel Jackson and Mrs. G. James (Ruby), of Perth and three sons, Walter A. of Peterborough, William E. of Toronto and Edward J. Jackson of Detroit. Mrs. Jackson was a member of Knox United Church.

Funeral service will be held on Friday at 2 p.m., at the Nisbett Funeral Home. The Rev. H. G. Douglas, assisted by the Rev. V. E. R. Zufelt, will officiate and burial will be at Little Lake cemetery.

Refused Passports

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8 (AP) — The State Department said Tuesday night that passports have been refused to Author Howard Fast and "some" of the other Americans who had planned to attend the "Second World Peace Conference" in Sheffield, England.

Use 2 Mobile Units To Treat Arthritis

TORONTO, Nov. 8 (CP) — Two mobile physiotherapy units for treatment of arthritis were presented today by Ontario Health Minister Phillips to the Canadian Arthritis and Rheumatism Society.

The first in the province, they will be put into operation at Ottawa and Kingston. The society hopes soon to add a third unit for Toronto.

The units, staffed by specially trained physiotherapists, will transport equipment needed for patients unable to leave their home.

British Columbia has 10 of the society's travelling units, Saskatchewan, one.

WELLINGTON, N. Z., Nov. 8 (Reuters).—Peter Fraser, former Prime Minister of New Zealand, had a relapse during the night. He had been recovering steadily from a severe illness. A medical bulletin issued today said the relapse had set Fraser back "a good deal" but there now was a definite improvemen

James Curran 85 Years Resident, Dies

James Curran, 229 Lake St., a retired employee of Peterborough Utilities Commission, died this morning in hospital after a long illness. He was born at Clifden, Galway county, Ireland, 90 years ago, and was only five years old when he came to Peterborough with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Curran.

Mr. Curran was a personal link with the old days of Peterborough when the first water service in the community was built and operated by a private company. He started to work as laborer in 1886 with the Peterborough Waterworks Company. In his later years with the Utilities Commission he was hydrant inspector, and was superannuated on pension in 1940.

When the Quarter Century Club of the Utilities' employees was organized, Mr. Curran was prevented from attending the dinner by infirmity accompanying his age. It may be told now that two servings of the dinner were taken to his home for Mr. Curran and his wife, together with the Commission's cheque for $25 to each member of the Club and also the Club's membership button.

Because Mrs. Curran has been blind for some years and his own vision had seriously deteriorated, the Commission and its management were continuously interested in their well being. It has been a practice of one of the members of the headquarters staff to call daily at their home to assist them in any practical way possible and generally to see that they were receiving good care.

Mr. Curran was one of the oldest residents of the south end of the city, and a member of the Church of the Sacred Heart.

He leaves his wife who was Mary Fitzpatrick, and brother, Thomas Curran of Louisiana. The funeral will be Friday at 8.45 a.m. from the Lane funeral home, 243 Hunter St., to the church of the Sacred Heart, and thence to St. Peter's Cemetery.

BRAKE SEIZES UP

An emergency brake that seized up shortly after 11.30 p.m. Tuesday caused considerable smoke and brought firemen to the vehicle, parked in front of 588 Water St. A chemical extinguisher was used to put out the fire. The car was owned by J. A Clarke.

North Star Ends Tokyo Flight With Bad Engine

By DAVE McINTOSH.

TOKYO, Nov. 8 (CP).—Another flight has been completed by North Star No. 7 of the RCAF in the Korean airlift.

With one engine running rough, the plane landed at Tokyo's Haneda airfield to complete a tiring, hazardous mission.

Weary from their long vigil at the controls and from lack of sleep, the crew piled into a transport and headed for a downtown hotel.

The plane made landfall on Japan at Miyako, some 250 miles north of Tokyo and near the rugged inlets where the Japs used to hide their warships during the war.

Miles before the coast was reached, the IFF was switched on. IFF stands for Information, Friend or Foe. A gadget transmits a constant signal identifying the plane as friendly. If the device is not working, fighters immediately come up to look the plane over.

Different Scenery

Once over the coast, the plane turned south to fly down a long corridor to Haneda, which sits on the edge of Tokyo Bay.

A crazy-quilt of fields and rice paddies flowed beneath. Far off to starboard one could see white-capped peaks at the other side of the island. Rising out of the mist south of Tokyo was the 18,000-foot volcano Fuji-San.

While pilot Doc Payne of Toronto continued to worry about the bad engine radio officer Ted Orr tuned in Moscow radio and the crew listened for a while to a report in English on a mammoth Russian grain crop.

As Tokyo came nearer, each crew member knocked off in turn for a few minutes to wash and shave in cold water, which had been brought aboard in a big milk can.

As the plane touched down, it swept by a bombed-out aircraft plant. There are a good many war gashes in Tokyo but the city is so vast they are barely noticeable.

The crew reported in to operations just as another was getting ready for the return flight. They exchanged bits of information and gossip, and ended with "see you in McChord."

It's a 12-mile drive from the airfield to the downtown area.

The officer members of the air crews live in the Marunouchi Hotel, a few blocks from Gen. MacArthur's headquarters. The hotel is run by the Australians for Commonwealth forces. The other air crew members stay at another Australian hostel, where

Emotional Needs Of Child Subject Of Forsyth Talk

HAVELOCK, Nov. 8 (ENS). — Charles B. Forsyth, general secretary of the Peterborough YMCA was guest speaker at the meeting of the Havelock Home and School Association Monday evening, speaking on the emotional needs of youth.

When a child needs something physical, we do something about it Mr. Forsyth said, but two often there is nothing done about his emotional requirements. The first need of the child was affection—the feeling of being wanted. Many times it happens that children with good homes where every material need is supplied have the feeling they are not wanted.

Even In Institutions

Even in an artificial setting like an institution there should be some substitute for love. But too often through shortages of staff this is impossible, he said.

Sometimes a child formed a defeatist attitude through rebuffs handed him by parents because their school standing was not as high as another member of their family; the second need of the child is the sense of belonging.

Child Needs Approval

In closing he spoke on the needs of social approval and self-esteem.

Mrs. B. Jewell tendered Mr. Forsyth a vote of thanks.

Community singing was enjoyed with Mrs. R. Backus at the piano. The attendance shield and prize of $1 was won by Miss Dolan's room.

A social half hour was enjoyed at the close of the meeting with the serving of refreshments.

Santa Claus Parade Slated For Cobourg

COBOURG, Nov. 8 — (ENS)— Cobourg has had Christmas trees in the past, usually erected in front of the town hall, but the town has never had a Santa Claus parade. This year, as a result of a decision reached by local merchants, a Santa Claus parade will be staged November 20, to usher in the Christmas season.

It is something new for Cobourg and merchants hope it will be on a scale which will make it one of the big events of the year.

There will be a Diesel train (Santa's mobile home) 50 feet long and Mrs. Santa will be sitting on the observation platform costumed in a beautiful colonial gown.

Also in the procession will be a monkey band truck 20 feet long. The Old Lady in the Shoe will be there, aboard a 20-foot trailer. The Big Bad Wolf will follow and next in line will be Rudolph the red-nosed reindeer on a float 48 feet long, with a band on board. There will be an elephant band, animated and with sound, followed by a candy train, and other floats such as Mother Goose, King Cole, and Cinderella. The highlight will be old Santa himself on a 50-foot truck and trailer.

Save Fishing Crew

BOSTON, Nov. 8 (AP) — The fishing vessel Curlew sank today in Gloucester Harbor, but all her crew were saved by another ship. The ship went down about 100 feet off Ten Pound Island in Gloucester Harbor. The crew was picked up by the fisherman Captain Drum. Cause of the sinking was not known.

Honey Marketing Board Of Saskatchewan

A curious situation has grown up around the sale of honey in Saskatchewan. The C.C.F. government there has decreed that honey must henceforth be sold under the terms of the Natural Products Marketing Act of 1945; the actual sale of honey will be controlled by a subsidiary Honey Producers' Marketing Board. This board has just come into being and its method of operation is interesting.

• • •

It has made a regulation that retailers must buy honey from Saskatchewan beekeepers at a price fixed by itself; it has also made a rule that no honey purchased outside Saskatchewan may be sold for less than the retail price of Saskatchewan honey. The prices for honey in Saskatchewan, in fact, are fixed by a board which is created solely to protect the Saskatchewan bee-keepers, and it is to be expected that they will set their price somewhere above what honey would fetch on a free market.

• • •

The oddity in this regulation is that if Saskatchewan retailers can buy honey outside the province for less than they are compelled to pay to local bee-keepers, they will also be compelled, by the rules of the Saskatchewan Honey Producers' Marketing Board, to make a higher profit than would otherwise be the case. This is an odd effect for C.C.F. legislation to have. However, we do not suppose the retailers will mind. After all, nobody suffers but the consumer.

• • •

Nobody suffers but the consumer—and the Dominion of Canada. There is a trend at present to split this country up into ten tinpot states, with regulations restraining trade snarling up the affairs of all of them. The weakening and divisive effect of such legislation upon the country as a whole cannot be over-emphasized. But the Supreme Court of Canada, interpreting the B.N.A. act, will have to decide how far such restraint of trade may go; our guess is that it cannot be justified in law any more than it can be justified in common sense.

The Vanishing Report Card

Deer Park School, in Toronto, is trying the experiment of doing without report cards for its pupils. Such a move is in the trend of education in Ontario today; all sorts of things are being done to lessen the bugaboos of school. In announcing this innovation the inspector of schools for North Toronto, Dr. T. W. Martin, said: "Marks had become so traditional they were accepted as something very valuable. Actually, how well a pupil did on an examination depended on such things as the state of mind of the teacher when setting the examination, or when marking the paper, or the mood or physical condition of the child."

With all due respect to Dr. Martin, we do not think that this is true. Teachers are influenced by the considerations he names, but teachers also know their pupils, and they use their knowledge when marking examinations and report cards. They know when a child has not come up to its usual standard, and they know when a child is out of sorts. Half the skill of teachers lies in their ability to make due allowances for intangible factors.

At Deer Park, the report cards are giving place to "parent-teacher conferences". This sounds like time-wasting. A teacher can say what she has to say on a report card in a few words; if she can get out of a parent-teacher conference under fifteen minutes, she is a genius. It sounds as though they were turning back the clock at Deer Park; the laborious personal meeting has supplanted the simple note.

The new system, we read, will prevent children from living in dread of what the report will say, and the results at home. But as the Brantford Expositor shrewdly points out, the pampered child will discover that "the workaday sphere is composed of one tough examination and report card after another, though these repulsive instruments are called by other names." It is, indeed, a curious country we live in, where a child is set free from care so far as possible, only to grow up into a world where reports, checks, government snoops, fingerprintings, Paul Prys from Ottawa and Gallup pollsters will keep him jumping most of his adult life.

Canadians In Korea

Advance troops—clerks, drivers, cooks and tradesmen—of the Canadian contingent being sent to Korea have arrived, some 350 of them. About a thousand others are scheduled to follow, comprising the second battalion and supporting arms of the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, famed regiment of the two world wars. The advance party was greeted, so we are told, by "a few natives waving homemade Canadian flags". What these might be and how they came to be made, we can only guess. They were also greeted by military bands playing swing tunes; and of course by several Canadian liaison officers.

Thus Canada is making her Korean gesture; is fielding troops there as an earnest of her intention to stand shoulder to shoulder with other U.N. nations in this matter of Korea. Other Canadian servicemen have been in the area for months; men of the Air Force and the Navy.

Once the second battalion of P.P.C.L.I. is in Korea, the Canadian Special Force can be turned to full winter training in the United States, in preparation for spheres of duty other than Korea. We mentioned in these columns last week the desirability of keeping the Special Force brigade intact for these other duties. That was before we knew that one complete battalion and not just a handful of troops, was being detached for Korea. Now it is learned that a Third Battalion, P.P.C.L.I. will be formed out of the ample reserve of men which the 11,000 men recruited to the Special Brigade Force provide. Thus the brigade group will still be able to function on its three infantry legs, as Canadian military establishment provides.

A Note Of Optimism

We are all very gloomy these days and the newspapers, along with the magazines, the politicians and the social science experts, must take their share of the blame. We have plenty to worry about, it is true, but the age in which we live must not always be shown in shades of gray and black.

This reflection strikes us as a result of a report which we have just read which bewails the fact that 70,000,000 people in the Western Hemisphere are illiterate. It is a pity, of course, that they are not all able to get an education of some sort, but we suggest that illiteracy is a good deal less common than it was a century ago, when compulsory education was just beginning. We have a long way to go, but we have made substantial progress, all the same.

There are many dire warnings uttered every year that those of us who can read and write often read and write shoddy stuff. True, but there must be some people reading all those popular reprints of the classics, or the publishers would not go on printing them. And although our popular writing—newspaper writing included—is often poor stuff, journalism is far more concerned with accuracy and truth than it was, for instance, when Charles Dickens was a parliamentary reporter, or when Dr. Johnson used to fake reports of Commons debates so that the Whig dogs should not have the best of it.

We are rarely free from the groans of those who complain of popular radio programs; such trashy music, they exclaim, must rot the taste of those who hear it. If that is so, we ask, why is it that there are more musically literate people today than ever before in history, and why have we the best symphony orchestras ever heard on this earth—orchestras which would have made Bach and Beethoven weep for joy?

In the sphere of politics we are witnesses, admittedly, of some pretty rough stuff. We are also witnesses of the world's second attempt to work out international arguments on the basis of reason.

We do not wish to pose as a Pollyanna newspaper. We do not believe that progress is either inevitable or rapid. But progress there is, on the material level, in just about any sphere you care to mention.

Progress on the spiritual level—ah, there you put your finger on a greater problem. But even there we think that there are signs of light ahead. In an age of many worries we must beware of indulging in gloom for its own sake.

NOTE AND COMMENT

The Toronto Telegram publishes an interesting note on how to remove bloodstains. But who could want such information in Toronto the Good?

A psychologist asserts that someone born left-handed can never become fully right-handed. But it is observable that a girl who has just received her engagement ring tends to become left-handed for a few weeks.

Scientists predict that soon "smellovision" will be added to television. You mean we have to have it, with those comedians working so hard under those hot lights? And what about the animal acts? Not in our boudoir, thank you.

ON THE MARGIN:

The Indomitable Fraser

THE FRASER (Rivers of America Series): by Bruce Hutchison. Clarke, Irwin and Company Limited.

THIS book, published only last Thursday, is one in a series of the rivers of the North American continent under the general editorship of two prominent Americans, Hervy Allen and Carl Carmer. Some fifty books have already been published in the series. "The Mackenzie" by Leslie Roberts and "The Saskatchewan", the only Canadian rivers dealt with until the Fraser, have already been reviewed in these columns.

Bruce Hutchison, associate editor of the Winnipeg Free Press, a journalist and man of several literary parts, was born in Prescott but reared in Victoria, where he now lives, fulfilling his associate editor's duties for the Winnipeg Free Press by remote control. He knows B.C. intimately, and because of this and his versatile, informed pen, he is peculiarly qualified to give an authentic, vivid character sketch of the Fraser river before which "No man stands without sensing the precarious hold of his species upon the earth .... In this grisly trench, bored out of solid rock through unimaginable time by the scour of brown water, the long history of lifeless matter, the pitifully brief record of life, the mere moment of man's existence, are suddenly legible."

❖ ❖ ❖

The Fraser has the shape of an elongated S, rising from the mountains of the Yellowhead, running north to Prince George, thence south seeking a way through the massive Coastal Range until at Hope it turns west on the final tail of the S to empty into the Pacific at Vancouver.

❖ ❖ ❖

"The journey has been long and laborious. The Fraser has travelled nearly a thousand miles. It has drained two mountain ranges, and 91,000 square miles of land, more than the area of many great nations, nearly twice the entire space of New York State.... It has laid the alluvial site and by its commerce has built the world port of Vancouver. Its power has lighted this city and propelled most of Canada's industry west of the Rockies. Its waters have irrigated a hundred thousand acres. Its silt has provided some of the most fertile farm land in the world. It has altered ....the course of man's life in America. Even on the sea it has left its indelible mark, a gout of brown smeared for miles across the green salt waters, as if the Fraser were loath to die."

❖ ❖ ❖

The author tells the thrilling tale of its discovery—so vividly, that the hair stands on end. Incidentally, it was not Drake in 1579, or the Greek navigator Juan de Fuca in the service of the Spaniards, or the Dane Vitus Bering in the service of Peter the Great of Russia, or James Cook who in 1778 passed Fuca's straits, who discovered the mouth of the Fraser. A foregotten Spaniard named Narvaez with a crew of thirty miserable Mexican peons noted its silt in 1792 and postulated the existence of the river which might be the great river across the American continental barrier to the riches of the East. Mackenzie used its upper reaches in his triumphant voyage of discovery for his westward passage through the mountains in the summer of 1793.

❖ ❖ ❖

After Mackenzie came another Scot, (born in Vermont!), Simon Fraser, also in the employ of the North West Company, in 1808, the first white man to navigate the river's course. How recently it was: only 142 years ago. And how much has occurred in his wake to prove this great river one of the basic political and economic facts of the continent, though not really, as the writer in his enthusiasm for his subject suggests, parallel with the St. Lawrence in significance. He says: "The political and economic pattern of the New World is bisected by these two rivers". By the St. Lawrence, yes; but Mr. Hitchison, overpowered by the mighty Fraser, does scant justice to the neighboufing Columbia, and omits the Saskatchewan.

❖ ❖ ❖

Apart from its history, and mingled with it, the writer chiefly concerns himself with the economic and political force of the Fraser, and ranges widely over British Columbia, its development, and Canada's 19th and 20th century burgeoning, with the Fraser as his axis. It is a wonderful tale of explorers, gold-panners, pioneer traders on the Cariboo Road beside the Fraser, vivid and vigorous personalities, railway building and valley farming, fishing and fortunes gained and lost.

❖ ❖ ❖

The theme is as magnificent as the river. It is based on scholarly research, much of it done by an associate, Christine Fox of the Provincial Library at Victoria. It has a biography and index. It is well-printed, bound and illustrated. And the river and its story are interpreted by a writer who knows the tools of his craft, has a passion for his theme born of intimate acquaintance with the river, and imaginative understanding disciplined by ripe knowledge of Canada, past and present.

❖ ❖ ❖

The only regret is that the book is somewhat expensive ($4.50). But it should be afforded by any Canadian in the East who having travelled the Fraser canyon by train or car (most who have gone west have had the spectacular experience), wants its lure tenfold; and by Easterners who would present Western friends with a tribute to their own mighty resources and splendid new story.

Canada is coming of age through such books as Bruce Hutchison's "The Fraser".

Cup Of Tea

(Stratford Beacon-Herald)

Many English writers have gone into ecstasies over the glories of a cup of English-made tea: It was Cowper who called it "the cup that cheers, but not inebriates," and Colley Cibber apostrophized it thus: "Tea! Thou soft, thou sober, sage and venerable liquid—thou female tongue—running, smile-smoothing, heart-opening, wing-tipping cordial to whose glorious insipidity I owe the happiest moments of my life, let me fall prostrate."

Letters To The Editor

ANGLICANS AND CATHOLIC DOGMA

Sir: Our dear non-Catholic friends, chiefly Anglicans, are disturbed about what Catholics are doing. Well just remember that there were no non-Catholics until dear old Henry VIII was peeved with the Pope because he would not allow him to put away his wife and get another — a younger and prettier wife.

So King Henry left the Catholic church and founded a new religion. Your forefathers were glad to grab it and follow in his footsteps, so please keep on doing it and leave us Catholics alone. We do not bother you and we are very happy in our religion and there will always be Catholics and Protestants. So do not worry your poor brains about our new dogma as we are liable to spring another on you any old time. But we know what we are doing and we are quite sure our dear Lord approves of any honour we can give His blessed Mother.

NON-DISTURBER.

NOT A VOICE IN THE WILDERNESS

Sir: I enclose herewith a newspaper clipping Sept. 26th, 1950, "Toronto Daily Star" which includes a resume, I presume, of an editorial from "The Peterborough Examiner." This editorial is one of the sanest articles I've seen in printer's ink, on conditions as they exist in the world today; particularly in relation to our attitude toward Russia.

It would seem that the individual today, has very little opportunity in formulating the policies, or shaping the attitude say, of Canada and her relationship with Russia or Korea. Men like Brooke Claxton seem to do as they like, in these matters, of course with the approval of the powers that be, in Ottawa, and the above approval may not be the wish of the majority of the people of the land. So while at times when you write an editorial "Warmongering in N. America", to you it may be like "a voice crying in the wilderness"—yet it has reached me in this remote corner of the city of Toronto and I am in full agreement with what you say.

It seems to me that we are in the midst of a great crisis, which will be the decisive step either towards a third world war or towards fundamental social changes, and your "Examiner" can do much to prevent this third world conflagration; which if it does come will cost this continent millions, yea tens of millions of lives and the destruction of millions of homes. And after that what? Has any one nation ever won a modern war? Have we forgotten the 22 million dead from War No. 2?

However I must not take too much of your valuable time. Please keep up the good work of "Peace on Earth, Goodwill Toward Men", through the medium of your valuable paper the Examiner.

Best wishes,

Sincerely,

FRED. C. COPP.

125 Durant Ave., Toronto 6.

SEVERE WINTERS

An elderly woman bought a cottage on the American-Canadian border. Both governments sent surveyors to find out which country she was in. One surveyor finally said, "I'm positive that your cottage is on the American side by three inches."

"I'm so glad," replied the woman. "I've heard that the winters in Canada are so severe."

How Time Flies

NOVEMBER

1920 The city council approves the seven-cent street car fares for Peterborough.

The death occurs here of Miss Eileen Fair, only child of Robert Fair.

The city will ask for power to extend the time of paying the bridge debentures to 40 years.

1930 Inspector A. Mowat and several local teachers are in Windsor checking on the new type of rotary school in operation there.

Thomas Laughlin, a retired farmer here, dies in his 92nd year.

Bible Message

(From The Authorized Version)

Every good gift and every perfect gift is from above, and cometh down from the Father of lights, with whom is no variableness, neither shadow of turning. Of his own will begat he us with the word of truth, that we should be a kind of first-fruits of his creatures....

Wherefore lay apart all filthiness and superfluity of naughtiness, and receive with meekness the engrafted word, which is able to save your souls. (James 1: 17, 18, 21.)

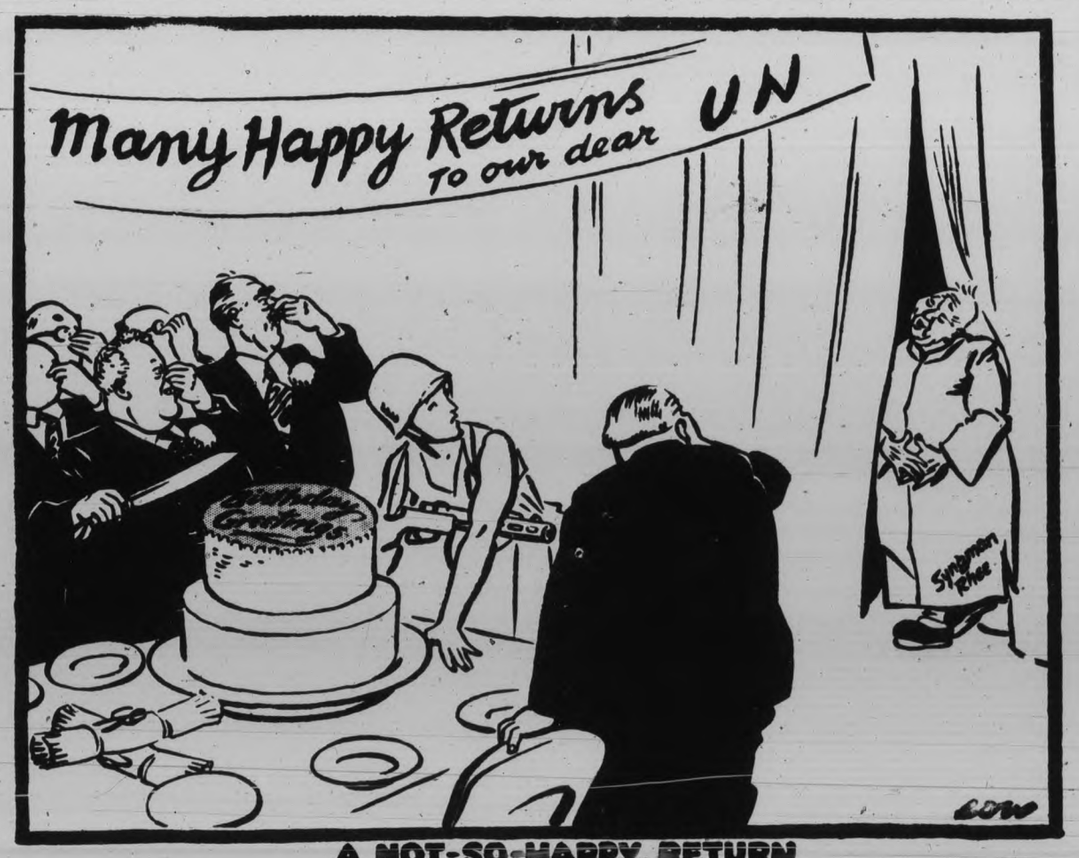
Bear ye one another's burdens, and so fulfil the law of Christ. For if a man think himself to be something, when he is nothing, he deceiveth himself. But let every man prove his own work, and then shall he have rejoicing in himself alone, and not in another.

But God forbid that I should glory, save in the cross of our Lord Jesus Christ, by whom the world is crucified unto me, and I unto the world. For in Christ Jesus neither circumcision availeth anything, no uncircumcision, but a new creature. And as many as walk according to this rule, peace be on them, and mercy and upon the Israel of God. (Gal. 6: 2-4, 14, 16.)

A Preventive Measure

(Christian Science Monitor)

Do the words on the other fellow's lips get into your hair? Do you see red when you read? Are you afraid to use big words lest an extra syllable or two slip in between breaths?



No, we're not writing one of those advertisements on how to speak correctly though educated. We're just getting ready to present the results of an inquiry prompted by numerous objections to the word "preventative" from subscribers who feel it ought to be "preventive."

The secretary took the question to our word expert, and the word expert handed down this decision:

"No doubt 'preventive' is the better form; but, just the same, 'preventative' has been in long use and has been countenanced by good writers.

"You may insist that 'preventive' is derivately correct, whereas 'preventative' represents an unwarrantable lengthening. In fine, you may denounce it as an artificial coinage built on mere analogy with Latin first conjugation stems. You may classically clinch your argument, showing that 'preventive' is the proper formation, being built on the third-fourth conjugation stem of venire, 'to come.' But, Miss Wilson, why be so particular? Or, rather, be particular and use the form that is in rhythm with your individuality; in other words, the one you prefer, and let 'come' what will."

We thought that what was sauce for the perplexed editor might be sauce for the perplexed reader. To say more would be to splash the gilt around unpardonably.

For Bad Winter Cough, Mix This Syrup Yourself

If you want a splendid cough medicine, mix it at home. It costs very little, yet the way it takes hold of distressing coughs, giving quick relief, is astonishing.

Any druggist can supply you with a 2½ ounce bottle of Pinex. Pour this into a 16 ounce bottle and fill up with granulated sugar syrup to make 16 ounces. To make syrup, use 2 cups of sugar and one cup of water and stir a few moments until dissolved. No cooking needed. (Or you can use corn syrup or liquid honey, instead of sugar syrup.) It's no trouble at all and gives you four times as much cough medicine for your money—a family supply. Keeps perfectly and tastes fine.

It is surprising how quickly this loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes, and helps to clear the air passages.

Pinex is a special compound of proven ingredients, in concentrated form, a very reliable soothing agent for winter coughs. Money refunded if not pleased in every way.

Saint John To San Antonio Teensy The Fly Makes Trip

By JACK SCOTT

Teensy the Fly came into our life in the city of Saint John, New Brunswick, and departed in the city of San Antonio, Texas, and while the whole thing is a little fey, I think I will tell you about it. It will be cheaper that way than telling it to a psychiatrist.

One warm evening about a month ago in Saint John I was sitting at my typewriter trying to concentrate on an idea. My daughter, Judy, who is 10, was sitting across the table from me. She had been doing her studying. I was absorbed in my own thoughts and so it took a few moments to realize what was happening. A fly—a common housefly—would light on her index finger, pause there a moment, arc away in a circle about the room and return once more to its roost.

Judy caught my eye and said, "This is Teensy. I put sugar on my finger and he comes to me. I'm making him a sort of pet."

I snorted and turned my attention back to my work. But I kept one furtive eye on the performance. The fly was obviously taking a single grain of sugar on each of its landings, eating it in flight and returning for more. Once it landed, upside down, on the ceiling. Judy raised her finger higher. The fly accepted the invitation and flew back to her finger.

I shrugged and buried my nose in my work.

"He's been doing this for two days now," Judy said, as if it just occurred to her that I might be interested. "I made him a little box of cotton batten."

"Really," I said sarcastically. "And I suppose Teensy tucks himself in every night."

"Oh, no," Judy said. "That's just make-believe."

Too Cold

I thought no more about this until we were driving up to the customs house on the border between New Brunswick and Maine. Judy giggled and said, "I wonder if we should declare Teensy? After all, he's a Canadian fly."

My wife looked at us in astonishment. I explained what it was all about. "Flies come up and take sugar from her finger," I said. "Judy is pretending it's just one fly."

"Oh, it is one fly," Judy said. "I can tell Teensy from the others now."

We spoke crossly to her and forgot it, but that night the performance went on again. There were a half dozen flies in the room. Only one ventured to the sugar on the finger. I noticed that the fly now flew across to our large wall map to do its eating. It invariably landed in the region of the southern states. When Judy had gone to bed I put sugar on my finger and went from fly to fly offering it. None accepted.

It was a week or ten days later. The weather in Maine had turned sharply cold. Judy came to me one night and asked if she might have a drop or two from a bottle of rum in the refrigerator.

"Teensy is very sick," she said. "He's been in his box all day. I think he's dying from the cold weather."

"She brought out the box with cotton batten in it. A house fly sat on the box, rubbing its front legs together, but making no attempt to escape.

I put a little Bacardi in a saucer. Judy put Teensy—or, rather, this fly—beside it. The fly made no move to the liquid, which prompted me to observe that maybe it would like a little Coke with it.

Judy put the saucer up above the stove. An hour later the fly was droning about the room with what seemed to me a real bun on. It zoomed up to Judy's finger when she offered him "dinner."

I decided I needed a little Bacardi, myself.

And Farewell

As we progressed south and the climate became warmer I kept getting periodic reports on Teensy. On odd nights he would go through his act. The higher temperatures had apparently completely revived him. I recalled, aloud, how earlier the fly had seemed to be studying the map of the southern states. My wife gave me a long, slow look.

Then Judy seem to forget the fly and it was not until the other night here in San Antonio that I looked up from my work to see that she was once more going through the feeding routine.

It was a very warm night. Several times Teensy flew to the open door as if undecided about his route. A few San Antonio flies were hanging around. It was sure enough fly country and fly weather.

Finally Teensy seemed to have made up his mind. He took his last speck of sugar and flew out the door. Judy waited a long time with her finger in the air, but he never returned.

"He'll be happy down here," Judy said and giggled. I giggled too.

"If he'd stayed around I might have taught him some tricks," July said.

"Oh, well," I said. "There are always other flies."

Paralyzed Woman Pulled From Car

WINDSOR, Nov. 8 — (CP) — City police rescued a partially-paralyzed 70-year-old woman from a car hanging over a 10-foot ditch Monday night.

Nelson Osgoode, husband of the woman, said his car slid off the road on a curve. Police found it with the back wheels on the edge of the Dee Ditch, ready to topple over.

Constables Chester Ostopovich and George Lishanko told Mr. Osgoode to keep his foot on the brake while they reached down to take Mrs. Osgoode from the car. A wrecking truck pulled the car back before it slid into the ditch.

Sweden Aiming

STOCKHOLM (CP)— Swedish government orders for war material totalled about $250,000,000 at the start of the current fiscal year but deliveries in the previous 12 months totalled only $50,000,000. Shipments now are being speeded up especially for anti-tank weapons and munitions.

Cobourg Legion Attend Church

ROSENEATH, Nov. 8 (ENS)— The annual Remembrance Day service was held at Alderville United Church on Sunday afternoon. Rev. J. N. Lovelace, pastor of the church, was in charge of the service. Approximately one hundred members of Cobourg Legion attended the service in a body. The Cobourg bugle band was also in attendance.

Rev. A. E. Larke, Gores Landing, was the special speaker. Dr. F. G. Robertson, MP for Northumberland county was present and paid tribute to the heroic men from Alderville who offered their lives in World Wars I and II.

A mixed choir with Mrs. Norman Marsden at the organ were in charge of the service of song and contributed an anthem, "With Banners Waving." Mr. Ted Cutsworth of Cold Springs contributed a solo "Abide With Me."

Following the church service the Legion marched to the cenotaph led by the band. Wreaths were placed by Mrs. Minnie Beaver for the Province of Ontario; Mrs. Ernest Crowe in memory of her nephew Wilburn Chuff; Mrs. Alfred Simpson in memory of Sampson and Pat Comego; Wm. Stevenson in memory of his father Wm. Stevenson Sr.; Alfred Simpson in memory of his brother Archie Simpson; Stewart Comego in memory of his father, Peter Comego; Mrs. Moses Smoke Jr., in memory of her brother Robert Tobico.

Following the trooping of the colors, Last Post and Reveille were sounded by the bugler.

Chairs Thrown In Top Bout Of Pro Wrestling Program

Chairs were thrown by infuriated wrestling fans at the windup of the main bout at the Brock Arena last night, as Yukon Eric and the Masked Marvel fought furiously among the crowd to a draw—both being counted out of the ring by Referee Bunny Dunlop. Police had to break up the free-for-all which started between the opposing matmen, with the Mask's hooded manager adding to it, and spilling over into the excited customers. There was a big and noisy crowd on hand.

The rougher Marvel, weighing 242 pounds, proved too wily for the 276-pound Alaskan to win the first fall in 12 minutes. He picked his huge opponent up twice with crotch-holds and then employed the knee back-breaker to pin him. Eric was much stronger and a clean grappler but he was slow, while the Mask was fast, tricky and villainous. He pulled hair, used his fists and worked the choke holds to keep the referee busy yanking him off illegal grips. It was an unpopular fall.

Yukon Eric, wrestling in bare feet and dungarees, took the second fall in 10 minutes with his "Kodiac Krunch"—a shoulder back-breaker. He first softened the rough Mask up with a few terrific slugs and two hard slams. He was still slow boring in but had the power, while the harassed Marvel ran frequently to his corner to get quick advice from his masked manager. The latter was kicked over once by Eric who got peeved at being man-handled and who at times nearly yanked the covering off the Marvel's head. The crowd gave him a big hand at the fall.

They were both counted out of the ring in about seven minutes of the third round. The Mask started it off rough again but found an irritated Eric ready to bore in and repay him in kind. He slapped the Marvel around and then got him in position for the fall. Eric had the Mask hoisted for another deadly shoulder back-breaker when the latter's manager jumped into the ring and swung a fist at Yukon's midriff. He tumbled to the floor, rolled over and flipped the Mask out of the ring and jumped out after him. It was "hey rube" then as everyone scrambled to his feet and Eric pounded the Mask hard. The ref counted away and Yukon didn't get back in time. The fans swarmed around and several chairs were thrown, with the Mask throwing one back into the crowd. Police finally escorted them out, with another chair thrown at the masked manager en route.

Pat Was Tops

Though scaling but 228 to Hi Lee's 290, Pat Flanagan put up a great show in a sizzling semi-final which almost stole the whole mat show. It was called a draw in the 30 minutes time-limit but Pat was the aggressor most of the way and rated a win on points. Only at the start did rough and big Lee, with his gutteral growl and shaggy mane, look better. He played it tough and bothered Pat for a time, but Flanagan served up a barrel of holds in fast fashion later to take the play away from the tall Texan. Each in turn was in and out of the ring, with everything going, and the referee busy as dogs on the deer hunt. It was one of the hottest semi-finals seen here in years and kept the crowd roaring. Pat punished the big fellow plenty for a spell with a nasty toe-hold and he had him squirming in a reverse leg full nelson when the gong broke it up.

Bobby Nelson, at 230, won the prelim in 19 minutes when referee Dunlop disqualified hard-bitten O'Connor for refusing to let popular Bob back in the ring after throwing him out. The ref, who seemed to have a feud with the tough Irisher throughout, held Dan after the bell and Nelson got in a few whacks at him as the big crowd cheered heartily. Dunlop smacked Dan after being knocked down, and Dan used his taped hand frequently in a rough showing. Once Bun was giving O'Connor a fast count with Bobby on top but Dan pulled hair in time to save himself. Another time Dunlop tripped O'Connor after Dan tried to smear the ref. It was a hot session throughout and the crowd enjoyed it thoroughly. The whole card was exciting.

Say Bentley Plays Best When Off Color

By The Canadian Press

As a hockey player, Max Bentley has a reputation for being at his best when he feels off color.

Toronto's dipsy-doodle centre from Delisle, Sask., must indeed be feeling poorly this season, for he's at the top of the heap in the National Hockey League's individual scoring race.

The perch isn't new to the 30-year-old Maple Leaf star—he led the league race in 1946-47. But in recent years he hasn't been up as high among the scorers as he used to be a few seasons back. He wasn't in the top 10 last season.

Max credits his line mates—plus a potent Leafs' power play—with improving his scoring status this year. He says that Joe Klukay of Sault Ste. Marie, and Danny Lewicki, from the Lakehead, form the second best line he's ever played with.

Still tops in Max's book over a period of 11 years in the NHL is the line he centred with Chicago Black Hawks before he was traded to Toronto in the 1947-48 season. His wings there were his brother Doug and Bill Mosienko.

Doing All Right

If you've been wondering whatever became of the Leafs' William (Wild Bill) Ezinicki, he's doing all right with Toronto's Pittsburgh farm club in the American League.

Asked Tuesday about rumors that Ezinicki is on the trading block, Conny Smythe, Leafs' general manager, said that if Bill is good enough to play in the NHL that's where he'll play. "If I haven't a place for him, we'll find some club that has."

Ezinicki, who reported late this season on the grounds he wasn't in shape, was sent to Pittsburgh to get into form. He was told he'd be given a chance to move up again once he got into shape.

"But" asked Smythe, "where could I put him on my club today?"

Curling News

By HERB MARTIN

Here is the curling program for the balance of this week: tonight, open night; Thursday evening, for new curlers; Friday evening, open night; Saturday afternoon at 2.00 p.m., men's bonspiel. Draw from the board. Saturday evening, practice for the mixed curlers.

It is quite likely that we will print the schedule draw for Monday and Tuesday.

Esks went on to win the first of the three-game series 17-16. Edmonton ball carrier, left rear, is halted by Ian Gibb, 33, and another unidentified Bomber. That's Tom Casey, 32, rocketing through the air, upper right. They play again Saturday at Winnipeg.

Cobourg To Have Stronger Club

COBOURG, Nov. 8.—The earliest opening in the history of Cobourg hockey will take place Friday night when a THL team, the Danforth Combines, come here to meet the Cobourg intermediate "A" Pavs. This is the curtain-raiser to the schedule which will begin a week later, it is believed.

The locals worked out every night for the past week and on Sunday, and appear to have a better and faster club than last year's finalists lined up. In goal they have a classy young import. Last year with Bowmanville, in Paul Rowe. Most of the defense will be back, including Cooper and Buchanan. Fred McMilland looks to be sure of a place on the rearguard in his first intermediate score.

The first string line will consist of Bus Cane, Joe Baker and Cliff Maundrell, playing coach of the club. Second line will be built around Pete Ferguson, former U. of T. senior star, with Hessin and Gordon as his linemates. Third string will be Wilcox, Harry Cane and George Campbell with one or two others trying to make the grade.

Sawyer Selected Manager Of Year

By JOE REICHLER.

NEW YORK, Nov. 8 (AP). — Affable Eddie Sawyer, a former college professor who never played an inning in the big leagues, today was voted baseball's "manager of the year" in a country-wide poll conducted by The Associated Press.

The bald, ever-smiling Sawyer, who last season led Philadelphia Phillies to their first pennant in 35 years, edged out Casey Stengel of the world champion New York Yankees in a close battle.

Sawyer was named on 164 of the 381 ballots cast by sports writers and broadcasters. Stengel, who won the honor in 1949, received 134 votes to finish a close second.

Four other field leaders received recognition. Red Rolfe, who did a brilliant job in bringing the Detroit Tigers home second to the Yankees in the American League, was third with 51 votes. Leo Durocher's feat in directing the New York Giants to third place in the National League won him fourth place with 23 votes. Steve O'Neill, who replaced Joe McCarthy in June with Boston Red Sox, got five votes. Bucky Harris of Washington Senators received four.

Sawyer, often referred to as the Phillies' "secret weapon," leaped into prominence practically overnight. His appointment from Toronto Maple Leafs in the middle of the 1948 season to succeed Ben Chapman as manager of the Phils created a stir among baseball men and baseball fans everywhere. Few persons had ever heard of him.

"Who is Sawyer?" the fans asked. Today they know. They know that the one-time Ithaca College biology teacher is a sound manager who owns the respect of every one of his players.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

The big athletic attraction tonight is the OHA senior "B" scheduled fixture at 8.30 in Civic Arena. It's Belleville Redmen vs. the local Eagles, and the latter can hop back into a top-place tie with Petes by a win. Jack Keays, son of a former provincial cop, polices the nets for Redmen, with Joe Nolan and Tommy Schreider on defence. Lou Schmidt and Doug Free are alternates. Forwards include: Mulvihill, Wardhaugh, McDonald, Gobeil, Jones, Day, Green and the Goyers, including huge Vern. Mick Magee will have his full team of scrappy speedsters out there including Andy Milne, Vern Smith and Lally Lalonde, newcomers this season. A fine bunch of hustlers, and it should be a dandy duel before a big puck crowd.

* * * * * *

A week from tonight sees Belleville Rockets open the junior "B" season here 'gainst Oddfellows. Jerry Desjardins and Ross Mason are with Rockets and local fans will remember them well with the IOOF-ers last semester. They have another import named Chief Henhawke, who will be swooping down ala Sioux style, one supposes, and tossing a mean tomahawk. Or will the Links be tossing a Henhawke? A number of other imports, to, we hear, on the Quinte lineup and it promises to be a large and lusty season when these young gamesters tie into each other. They don't act coy or chummy in junior hockey, nossuh!

PCVS, Rah, Rah, Rah!

The same is true of high school football, and one rather looks for rugged action when it comes up COSSA semi-finals. The PCVS seniors and juniors joust at the Oval here with two Quinte crews Saturday to conclude the semi-final series. Both Peterborough Collegiate teams have hefty leads and should down the Belleville boys and go into the finals. But there might be plenty of hot action ere the minute flag goes up in the fourth quarter of each game this week-end. 'Scout No. 6½ at C. S. Browne's knowledge shop advises that the fair cheer leaders are in excellent voice after recent intensive training. A big time promised.

Jim Laidlaw had better nail his Brock Arena chairs to the floor. A number of 'em were hurled last eve by angry mat fans at the Masked Marvel and his hooded manager following a drawn main bout betwixt the Mask and Yukon Eric. Police had to escort 'em to safety. A hot finish to a lively card, big Eric pounding the Mask plenty but out of the ring at the final count. The wily masked one gave the powerful lumberjack a rough time of it but was taking a real beating at the last. The big crowd also enjoyed the sizzling semi-final in which speedy and tricky Pat Flanagan more than held his own against shaggy-maned Hi Lee, though it was ruled a draw. Bobby Nelson and Referee Bun Dunlop took the prelim over Dan O'Connor.

Lakefield Going "A"

Lakefield will ice an OHA intermediate "A" team this winter in a grouping with Lindsay, Port Hope, Cobourg and Bowmanville. The setup was lined up last night by Frank Buckland. If the OHA permits, play will open in Cobourg and in Lindsay on Nov. 17, one week from this Friday. Schedule should be ready within a week. The Lakefield officials are trying to arrange early "home" games in one of the rinks with artificial ice until such time as natural ice is available in their own arena. They decided to step up to the "A" rating this semester instead of remaining in the "B" category and perhaps having to wait around at schedule's end for a playoff opponent. Sounds like a good group.

Trent Valley puck loop is enlarging to take in seven or eight teams. Belleville and Trenton have been added to the Frankford-Bata Combines, Brighton, Campbellford, Norwood and the champion Marmora squad. Room for one more yet. Art Duncan is back as prexy, with Huck McCarthy of Campbellford first vice-president, Bill Regan of Marmora second, Ron Webb of Norwood third, and Herb Rankin of Frankford secretary-treasurer. Belleville will be made up of those failing to make the OHA teams and is expected to play "home" games in Brighton. TVL-ers await natural ice and will hardly get started till after Christmas, we imagine.

Big Walt Dropo Voted Rookie Of Year

By JACK HAND.

NEW YORK, Nov. 8 (AP). — Big Walt Dropo, Boston Red Sox first-baseman, has been voted rookie of the year for 1950 in the American League.

Dropo outdistanced the opposition with 15 votes from the 24-man committee of the Baseball Writers' Association. Ed (Whitey) Ford, New York Yankee southpaw pitcher, was second with six. Chico Carrasquel, Chicago White Sox shortstop sensation, was third with two votes. One writer failed to vote.

Boston recalled Dropo from Louisville in early season when Billy Goodman was injured. The hulking 27-year-old giant, who had flopped in a 1949 trial, came through in terrific fashion.

Dropo started hitting in sensational style and never stopped. His long-distance power earned him the fans' vote as first-base starter on the league all-star team in July.

Playing 136 games for the Red Sox, Dropo collected 180 hits for a .323 average. He slammed 34 home runs and tied team-mate Vern Stephens for the league lead with 144 runs batted in.

Ford, the baby-face Yankee lefthander woh has been accepted by the army, came up in July from the Kansas City farm. He flashed to nine straight wins before he lost on relief in the final week of the season.

The youngster, then 21, pitched and won the final game of the world series from the Phillies. Only an error by Gene Woodling kept him from going the route.

Here And There In Sports . . .

By The Canadian Press

The scramble for tickets to next Saturday's series opener of the Big Four football final in Hamilton between the Tiger-Cats and Toronto Argonauts is almost as hot as the annual battle for Grey Cup duckets.

Officials of the Hamilton club Tuesday night told would-be customers they were sorry but the park was sold out. Only tickets remaining are those reserved for season-ticket holders, an allotment reserved for Toronto fans and some rush seats.

However, the club said it is trying to have additional bleachers built for the game.

Toronto Maple Leafs of the International Baseball League have announced the signing of Joe Becker as manager for 1951. Becker, 41, manager of Jersey City Giants in 1949 and 1950, was named all-star manager of the Triple-A League the last two years. He is a former catcher with Montreal, Baltimore and Jersey City.

The Kitchener Sports Association has authorized its hockey committee to complete a deal with Montreal Canadiens whereby the National Hockey League club would sponsor a junior A hockey team in Kitchener.

Under the agreement, Canadiens will operate a new junior A team when Kitchener's memorial auditorium is available, and will give player and financial aid to the junior squad.

The Indianapolis Capitals of the American Hockey League have announced a swap of goalies with Omaha of the United States Hockey League. Cap manager Dick Miller said Sugar Jim Henry of Winnipeg, 30-year-old veteran of National and American League hockey since 1941, will replace Bill Brennan, 24, rookie who gained honors at Omaha last season as best goalie in the U. S. league.

Montreal's Notre Dame de Grace Maple Leafs Tuesday night defeated Verdun Shamrocks 36-6 in a sudden death playoff game at Montreal for the Quebec Rugby Football Union junior title. The Maple Leafs now play Hamilton Tiger-Cats for the eastern Canada junior title in Montreal Saturday.

Cardinals In Front

Cardinals showed the way in scoring for teams this week in the Girls' City Bowling League at Duffus. They had high pinnage of 2963 and top single for squads with a 1039 effort. The individual three was taken with a 626 by M. Barringer, and she also led in lasses' singletons with a 254 chore. P. Guppy hit 532 to take the blind score of 533 for the evening.

Cardinals blanked Outboard Marines with their top trundling, while Arcos applied the whitewash to Collis for a 3-0 win. Dickson's took Aces 2-1 as Towne Togs won by a similar count against the Sevenaires, and Curtin's took a 2-1 verdict against the Brintons in fairly keen competition.

Marlies' Overtime Goals Whip Flying Dutchmen 7-5

By The Canadian Press

Toronto Marlboros can thank a crafty veteran and an up-and-coming youngster for their scanty two-point lead in the Ontario Hockey Association major series.

Overtime goals by veteran Bus Wycherley and young Bobby Hassard gave Dukes a 7-5 win Tuesday night over Kitchener-Waterloo Flying Dutchmen. That left Toronto in first place with eight points, two more than Toronto St. Michael's.

St. Mikes meet Hamilton Tigers in Hamilton tonight. Tigers and Dutchmen are tied for the cellar with four points each.

In the OHA Junior A series, St. Catharines Teepees blanked Guelph Biltmores 4-0 and moved into first place in the 10-team junior circuit. It was the Teepees' fourth win in their last five starts.

See-Saw Battle

The senior game was a ding-dong battle that saw Dutchmen shoot into an early 2-0 lead behind goals by Dinny Flannagan and Mickey Roth. Red Johnson, Jack MacKenzie and Al Buchanan then fired in three straight to give Dukes a 3-2 lead by the end of the first period.

MacKenzie scored the lone goal of the second frame, but Dutchmen opened up in the third and Billy Flick scored two rapid-fire goals to knot the count. Bob Wrightsell for Dutchmen and Al Buchanan for Dukes counted before regulation time ended, and Wycherley and Hassard put the game in the bag.

Shutout goaltending by Don Simmons and a two-goal burst by Captain Wayne Brown gave St. Catharines their victory in the only junior game of the night.

Hold Wide Edge

Teepees held a wide edge over Biltmores, and gave goalie Cliff Hicks a hot time. Hicks handled 41 shots, Simmons 24.

St. Kitts moved into the lead in the first period when Al Teal scored unassisted. Brown took a Teal pass to bang in the only goal of the middle period. A solo effort by Brown and a three-way ganging attack finished off by Buddy Boone produced the final two goals.

Teepees were playing under Coach Leroy Goldsworthy of the parent Buffalo Bisons of the American Hockey League. Regular Coach Rudy Pilous is under 10-game suspension for yanking his team from the ice in protest against a referee's decision.

New Trial Begins At Picton For Fosbraey

PICTON, Nov. 8 (CP)—Mrs. Beatrice Hilditch said Tuesday she and other Crown witnesses at the second murder trial of James Fosbraey read over statements they made at earlier hearings while waiting to testify.

Under cross-examination from defence counsel R. D. Nourse, Mrs. Hilditch admitted that copies of previous testimony had been handed Crown witnesses, but she said she "didn't know" who had distributed them.

Earlier, Mr. Justice R. W. Treleaven had ruled inadmissible as prejudicial to the accused certain Crown exhibits.

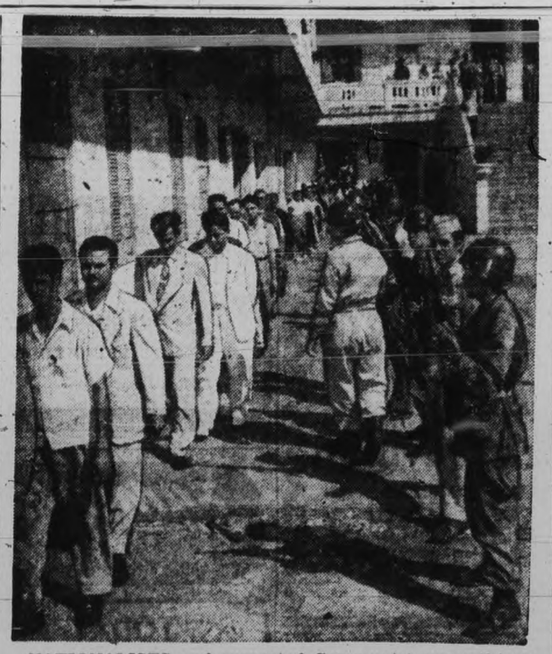
Barred as exhibits were a hunting knife, blood-stained clothing and police photographs taken at the scene of the slaying in Napanee a year ago. Fosbraey was charged in the knife-slaying of his wife Nov. 28, 1949.

Fosbraey, a former member of the Royal Air Force, pleaded innocent at the opening of his second trial Monday, when a jury of 10 farmers, a baker and a taxi driver was chosen.

At the first trial, held in Napanee, Fosbraey was sentenced to be hanged Sept. 21. He won an appeal and a change of venue.

Defence counsel R. D. Nourse admitted to the jury that Fosbraey had stabbed his wife "at least four times." Mr. Justice Treleaven ruled that "any evidence which is merely confirmatory of the admission is not necessary; nor is it properly admissible if there is any possibility of its operating on the minds of the jury to the prejudice of the accused."

Passionately In Love



Phillip Gardner, Napanee Salcation Army Officer, testified he interviewed both Mr. and Mrs. Fosbraey the day of the slaying, knew of their estrangement and got the impression that Fosbraey "was passionately in love with Mrs. Fosbraey."

Fosbraey married her in Kingston in 1944 while training with the RAF.

Fosbraey's father-in-law, John Curran, told the court Fosbraey took Stanislaw Steinbach home for supper several times and later accused his wife of adultery with Steinbach.

He said he had never heard a row of any kind in the Fosbraey home adjoining his until after Steinbach had been introduced to Mrs. Fosbraey.

Mrs. Hilditch testified that Fosbraey had several times accused his wife of having an affair with "the Pole."

NATIONALISTS and suspected Communist sympathizers march past armed National Guardsmen in San Juan, Puerto Rico, on the way to interrogation session following the abortive Nationalist revolt earlier in the week. Several hundred persons were taken into custody in the roundup, registration of new voters for balloting on new territorial constitution opened Nov. 5, with women registering for the first time for popular elections.

Ontario Industries Needing 15,400 Workers Frost Reports

TORONTO, Nov. 8 — (CP). — The Progressive Conservatives move out of Toronto today and the Liberals take over.

The Progressive Conservatives, ruling party in Ontario politics, with 53 of the 90 seats in the Provincial Legislature, wound up their annual meeting Tuesday with a speech from Premier Frost, who said that Ontario needs both skilled and unskilled workers to meet the growing industrial demands of the province.

The vanguard of some 900 delegates began arriving today for the Ontario Liberal Leadership convention which opens Thursday and winds up Friday afternoon with the selection of a new Leader to succeed Farquhar Oliver.

Mr. Oliver, who announced more than a year ago that he wanted to retire after two years at the Party helm, has continued as House Leader of the Legislature's 13 Liberals.

Sense of Urgency

A sense of urgency gripped the early arrivals among the Liberals who feel there is a possibility of of a provincial general election in 1951—two years before the government's term of office ends.

However, Mr. Frost said in an interview Tuesday that "I have never given a thought to calling an election."

Mr. Frost's speech was, in a sense, a report on his stewardship since he took over as Leader following the resignation of George Drew to take up the party's national leadership post.

The Premier said the government has requests from specific industries for 15,400 workers and that the Hydro-Electric Power Commission of Ontario will need an additional 2,000 men within the next 18 months.

The workers might have to be brought in from Britain, Mr. Frost suggested. His government had already made its needs known to federal authorities and further particulars would be given at a forthcoming conference at Ottawa.

After the war, Ontario embarked on an air immigration scheme under which Britons by the thousands were brought to the province.

Mr. Frost spoke of the government's record in providing housing, expanding power production, improving forestry practice, building new schools and improving old ones, constructing highways and encouraging industrial production.

Five Starters

As for the Liberals, five men are certain starters in the leadership race: John G. Brown of Kitchener, member of the Legislature for Waterloo South; Campbell Calder, member of the Legislature for London; Arnott Hicks and John J. Sullivan, both of Hamilton; Walter Thomson, a lawyer who has a farm near Oshawa and represents Ontario constituency in the House of Commons.

It appears highly probable that Norman O. Hipel of Preston will yield to pressure from some sections of the party and become a candidate. He is a former cabinet minister and a former president of the Liberal Association. Harry Cassidy, director of the school of social work at the University of Toronto, and Charles W. Cox, legislature member for Fort William, are possible candidates.

In addition to choosing a leader, the Liberals will consider a statement of aims and policies of the party in Ontario and will hear an address by Hon. C. D. Howe, federal minister of trade and commerce.

Farm Forum Meets

LILY LAKE, Nov. 8 (ENS). — A farm forum was organized for the first time when a meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Wm. Steinkrauss. Milton Clark and Lorne Reynolds of Central Smith assisted in the organizing.

Mrs. Wm. Steinkrauss is to be the leader for the next month and Mrs. Ken Darling the secretary. Clarence Hancock is the permanent secretary and Mrs. Everett Tully the chairman.

Didn't Hesitate, Dr. Got His Buck

CAMPBELLFORD, Nov. 8 — (ENS)—The first deer to come to Campbellford was brought in Monday by Dr. Ross Richardson, Campbellford dentist. The buck, which weighted 187 pounds dressed, was shot a few miles north of Havelock, but Dr. Richardson didn't care to divulge his "spot".

The doctor, together with his wife, left early in the morning for the hunting camp, and were back about 9 a.m. with the deer. Mrs. Richardson, who was also hunting, was going to shoot the deer, but wanted her husband to have first shot. "Rather than stand there and argue who was going to shoot it", said Dr. Richardson, "I dropped him easily, as he was standing in the open, not too far away."

Johnson Plans Aid Canadians

TORONTO, Nov. 8 — (CP) — Edward Johnson, the one-time Guelph choir boy who later became general manager of the Metropolitan Opera Association, arrived here Tuesday for Thursday's graduation exercises at the Royal Conservatory of Music.

Dr. Johnson, chairman of the Conservatory board of directors, recently retired from managership of the "Met" in New York City. He said he intends to look for talent and help young musicians stay in Canada.

"You don't have to leave Canada to gain prestige," the 72-year-old former romantic tenor said. Canadians "have done very well indeed" in the world of music.

The Conservatory is endeavouring "to keep young Canadians here in Canada by developing a public response; we hope to create a demand for music in Canada, and with this will come funds and salaries equivalent to those in other countries."

Week's Remand In Shooting

SOUTH PORCUPINE, Nov. 8 (CP).—Coleman Ferrigan, 21-year-old South Porcupine resident charged with murder in the Hallowe'en night shooting of William Helmer, 33, was remanded one week for preliminary hearing when he appeared in court Tuesday.

Helmer was killed when struck in the heart with a slug from a .22 calibre rifle as he attempted to end a dispute outside a South Porcupine restaurant.

Five children of Helmer, a widower, were left orphans by the shooting.

Woman Bags Deer First Day Of Hunt

APSLEY, Nov. 8 —(ENS)— To Mrs. Art Earnshaw goes the honor of shooting a deer on the opening day of the hunting season. The large buck was brought down by Mrs. Earnshaw while hunting with her husband north of their home on Highway 28 two miles south of Apsley.

Expect Legion Ask Conscription

OTTAWA, Nov. 8—(CP)—An authoritative call for conscription will be placed on the government's doorstep this week.

It is expected to come in presentation of the Canadian Legion's annual brief to the cabinet Friday.

The Legion's executive council opens a four-day meeting here Wednesday under the new Dominion president, Group Capt. Alf Watts, of Vancouver.

Legion headquarters said the meeting will discuss the defence of Canada, pensions, veterans' allowances and the welfare of war widows and orphans.

There was no mention of conscription but the recent national convention in Winnipeg called for "total preparedness," including peacetime conscription of manpower, and that message is expected to be relayed to the cabinet Friday.

Search Sydenham For Escaped Prisoner

SYDENHAM, Nov. 8 —(CP)— A hunt for Allan Francis, 25, who escaped from Kingston penitentiary, centred Monday night in this area 15 miles northwest of Kingston.

Oscar Fillion, storekeeper, told police a man answering Francis' description bought a pair of laces at his store. Francis escaped Saturday night.

Police and penitentiary guards organized a posse in which residents of the area joined. Two of the searchers think they had Francis in the beam of a flashlight but lost him in dense underbrush.

A hockey game scheduled for Monday night had to be cancelled. Most of the players and potential spectators were taking part in the hunt.

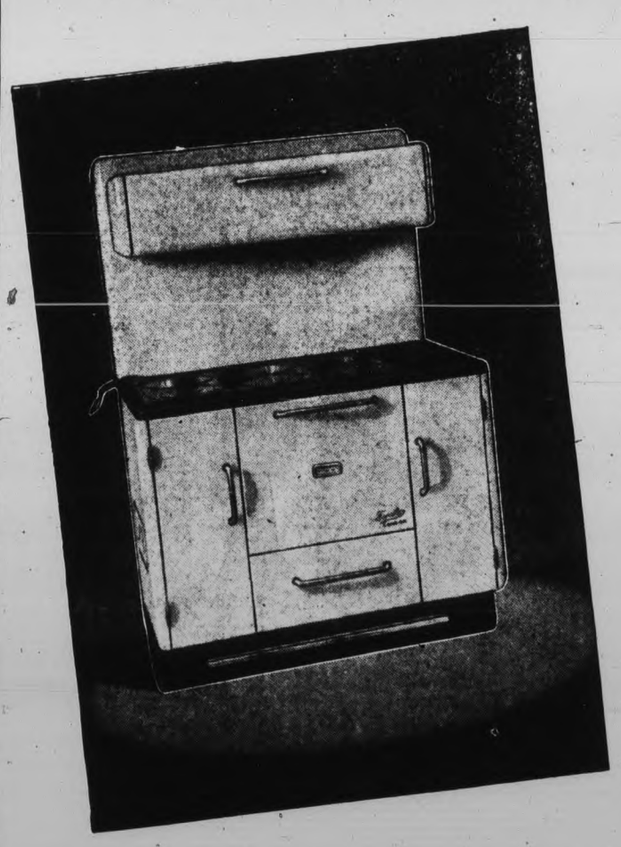
Ask Britain Buy More In Canada

OTTAWA, Nov. 8 — (CP) — Canadian exporters Tuesday got a picture of a much-recovered Britain and heard a frank declaration that she will be asked to buy more Canadian goods.

In a luncheon address to the Canadian Exporters' Association, Sir Alexander Clutterbuck, High Commissioner to Canada, stated that as Britain's earnings have risen, increased purchases from Canada have already been set in motion. But he said also that Britain's dollar reserves must be built further before they are adequate.

Trade Minister Howe, responding to Sir Alexander's address declared that with Anglo-Canadian trade now in virtual balance it is reasonable to expect that it will expand in both directions.

"I think the United Kingdom can sell more in Canada but we are also going to insist that she buy more in Canada," he said.



"Our efforts in helping Britain expand her sales here entitle us to make this as a firm demand rather than a light request."

Search For Cat For Movie Role

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 8 (AP)—Cats, cats, cats. Paramount is swarming with them—the four-legged kind.

The invasion is due to a future movie called "Rhubarb," as any student of contemporary literature knows, that is the H. Allen Smith novel about a cat who inherits a major league baseball team.

Naturally, such a role calls for a cat of histrionic ability. Not any old cat will do. And so the studio is putting on a talent search which the publicity department hopes will be a feline version of the hunt for Scarlett O'Hara.

Producers William Perlberg and George Seaton and director Arthur Lubin explained what they were looking for.

"Rhubarb must be a typical alley cat—large and striped," said Lubin. "He has to be a good fighter and a great lover It would help if he has a broken tail, but that's not essential."

Cats are Dumb

Lubin is the man who directed Francis, the talking mule. He expects more trouble with Rhubarb, even though the cat doesn't have to talk or do anything else unfeline. "What's so difficult about cats?" I asked innocently.

"They're too dumb," volunteered Perlberg.

"Dumb—or independent?" I asked.

"Dumb," agreed Seaton. "Almost any other animal is easier to direct. We have people who come in and say their cats can do tricks — but only in their own living rooms!"

Interview 100 Cats

The movie makers said the usual film animal trainers were unable to supply a suitable Rhubarb. Hence the search. About 100 cats have been interviewed at the studio already and more are prowling in day by day.

Capsule review: "Mad Wednesday" is pretty mad, all right. It's the story of a mousey bookkeeper who gets fired from his job and goes on a binge. This may have been riotous when originally made four years ago, and indeed shows flashes of rare comedy. But a cruel cutting job and a phony ending do the picture harm. Harold Lloyd displays his wonderful comedy sense. But I wish, as he did, that he had done less talking and more action.

UK Politician's Greatest Defeat When Newfoundland A Province

By ALAN HARVEY

LONDON, Nov. 8—(CP)—Among all the rebuffs and triumphs Sir Alan Herbert experienced in the British House of Commons, none seems more fascinating in retrospect than his long and losing battle to prevent Newfoundland from becoming a Province of Canada.

From the day he entered parliament in 1935 "painfully pregnant" with bills, until he bowed out 14 years later, there were many memorable moments, including the passage of marriage reforms he pioneered as a private member. But Newfoundland stood alone, his most unhappy problem and his most severe defeat.

"If we are ever dug up," he writes now in a characteristic passage, "I am sure that Newfoundland will be found written large on my poor secretary's heart—and on my liver."

The reference occurs in the "Independent Member," a newly-published book of personal and parliamentary reminiscence by the 60-year-old humor writer who has filled columns in Punch and in Hansard, provided the music for west end plays, written more than 40 books, served in two world wars and who claims to be the only man of letters to have swum the Thames from Waterloo to Westminster.

Sprightly Battles

Sir Alan—better known as A. P. Herbert—also carried on some sprightly battles in the correspondence columns of the Times and the Daily Telegraph, succeeding once in silencing the late George Bernard Shaw; buoyed Britain's spirits in the blitz days with hard-hitting light verse; paid flying visits to the battle headquarters of his friend Field Marshal Montgomery; composed rhyming parliamentary bills and one which ended:

"This act shall apply to Northern Ireland. Why the hell not?"

Unscathed

Throughout the Second World War, as petty officer in command of a Thames river patrol boat—"I felt my old river could not survive a war without me"—he watched the bombs and the rockets and the doodle bugs, flinging himself to the deck a thousand times with the startled cry: "By-election!". But Sir Alan escaped unscathed, and no by-election was needed in the Oxford University seat he represented.

Maiden speeches are supposed to be mild and mellow, but Sir Alan, ignoring all advice, "went mad and orated into action on the second day." He never let up. As Independent member for Oxford, with clergymen and highly-respectable dons chief among his constituents, he caused a stir by crusing under three main heads—divorce, drink and betting.

Charming Place

The Newfoundland episode started in 1943 when Sir Alan visited what was then Britain's "oldest baby" as a member of parliamentary commission. He wrote these notes of the people he met:

"What charming folk these Newfoundlanders are! In all these dreary days I have not heard a word of wrath or seen a sign of fear . . they are the best-tempered, best-mannered people walking."

Confederation with Canada came, despite everything, in April, 1949, but Sir Alan still says "a dominion was murdered" on that date. His claim is that Newfoundlanders were not given a chance to settle their future in their own parliament.

Sir Alan's reputation as a humorist will always overshadow his efforts as a legislator. But anyone who has seen him in action, or who reads his speeches in the "Independent Member," will regret that the university franchise no longer operates.

Seeks To Assist Women Teachers

A two-day visit to help women teachers of the city in curriculum planning will be made November 13-14 by Miss Gertrude Bergey of London.

The visit is sponsored by the Federation of Women Teachers' Association of Ontario. Purpose of the visit is to help women teachers solve problems confronting them in the new curriculum.

Miss Bergey, a graduate of the University of Western Ontario, is convener of research for the teachers' association and has been given leave of absence by the London (Ont.) board of education to direct curriculum building.

Say Street Meetings Been Discontinued

MONTREAL, Nov. 8 —(CP)—Open-air street meetings by regular Baptists which, in the last year or so have caused numerous arrests of evangelists in the northwestern Quebec town of Val d'Or on charges of obstructing traffic, have been discontinued, it was indicated here Tuesday.

The Rev. J. R. Armstrong, secretary-treasurer of the Union of Regular Baptists of Ontario and Quebec, said that the second consecutive weekend had passed in the northwestern Quebec mining town without a street meeting.

A heavy fall of snow blanketed Val d'Or streets Saturday night and this factor, combined with the shortage of evangelists, prevented the holding of a meeting.

"It is quite probable," he said, "that no further street meetings will be held at Val d'Or until next year."

50 Ships Delayed By Lock Gate Trouble

MONTREAL, Nov. 8—(CP)—Some 50 ships were held up Tuesday night through a break in a 12-foot sill in St. Gabriel Locks of the Lachine Canal. The break caused water to leak through the lock gates.

Department of Transport engineers said they expect to have normal ship traffic moving today. About 20 ships are waiting to move into Montreal Harbor and another 30 are waiting to start their up-bound trip.

Medico Scientist Of Queen's On Arctic Sites

Vivid glimpses into the life and environment of the people of Canada's Arctic regions were given to the Queen's Alumni of the district at their annual branch meeting Tuesday evening by Dr. Malcolm Brown, M. D., Ph.D., (Oxon), etc., Associate Professor of Medicine at Queen's University. The dinner meeting was held at the Kawartha Country Club.

Dr. Brown, one of Canada's brilliant younger medical scientists, based his illustrated talk on personal observations of the Eastern Arctic during three summers when he headed the Arctic Circle and at Igloolik, on the northern tip of Melville Peninsula, 550 miles north of Southhampton Island where there are three months of almost complete darkness.

The expeditions, financied in part by the Defence Research Department of the Government of Canada were undertaken to study the acclimatization of humans to severe cold, and to analyze and report on the medical pronouncements to make on their findings; these will come later before the proper learned society when the studies are further developed.

Illustrated Movies.

His coloured movies and remarks were illustrative of the general habitat and character of the people, and gave his audience an intimate glimpse into that part of Canada which is beyond the ice curtain.

The Eskimo inhabitants of Southampton Island have had many decades of contact, for good or bad, with their white fellow-citizens. Alarm clocks beside primitive seal-oil stoves. Eskimo fishermen harpooning the northern seas for walrus ivory tusks at 40 cents a pound.

"Perma-frost, in mid-summer only 16-18 inches below the surface. Eskimo dances (like square dances) learned from French whalers two centuries ago, and today calling-out is still done in French by the Eskimo, in the half-light of the midnight Arctic sun.

Eating raw seal meat by taking the whole gob up to the mouth and cutting off at the lips what cannot be taken in a mouthful. Children big enough to stand up to their squatting mothers still being breast-fed. In the far north of Igloolik a stone-age culture with graftings of trading-post trappings including Pablum. Igloolik, where ships and planes can count on only three summer weeks to be able to enter and leave because of the ice.

Awesome Beauty.

The plenty and variety of wild flowers, some of which the natives eat. (Samples of these are being tested for their vitamin content). The splendid awesome beauty of Arctic Bay. Such glimpses as these were given by Dr. Brown in his talk and pictures. There were incidental interpolations of peculiar interest to the numerous doctors present.

Dr. Brown was introduced by Dr. R. A. Kelly, Peterborough's Medical Officer of Health, a classmate of Dr. Brown when he was an undergraduate at Queen's. The Rev. Dr. D. Bruce Gordon presided. T. J. Carley, K. C., brought greetings from the alumni of the University of Toronto, and J. A. Arnott from the McMaster Alumni Association.

REGARDEZ LES HORLOGES, not, the young lady, was the photographer's plea to part of a group of 18 members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce of Beauharnois, P.Q., who visited the Western Clock Company this morning. Peggy McKinney in the dialing division explains her work to, Left to Right, Laurent Gagnier, Edouard Boyer, Parfait Tessier, Georges Girard and Andre Boyer. Plan Building Course For Veterans

A home building course for veterans will start Tuesday night at PCVS, at the request of the Department of Veterans' Affairs. The course has been added to the night school program.

Already 15 veterans have applied for the class which will be all theory with no handwork. J. Leo McColl, rural industrial arts teacher, will direct the course and he will be assisted by the D.V.A. representative, W. T. Theobald of Lindsay.

The first lecture will include the D.V.A. agreement, the method of payment and the security deposit. The second will include the Veterans' Land Act standards and specifications. Other lectures will be held on choosing the site, the excavation and the erection of the home.

Special lectures will be held on plumbing, discussing the arrangements of fixtures and septic tanks, electrical arrangements, such as the location of switches, and heating, including the costs, types and advantages of the various systems.

Funeral For Minister Held At Grace Church

Funeral service for the Rev. J. Roland Bick of Scugog Island, who died Saturday, was held Tuesday at Grace United Church, Scugog Island.

Rev. Bick was the supply minister at Grace United Church for two years. He has served at pastor of many of the parishes in the district.

He leaves his widow, the former M. Elsa McCartney, three sisters, Mrs. Gayton Kimble of Bobcaygeon, Mrs. Leslie Anderson of Bowmanville and Mrs. Ross Williamson of Peterborough and one brother, Samuel, of Bobcaygeon.

The service was conducted by the Rev. M. C. Fisher of Brooklyn, chairman of the Oshawa Presbytery. He was assisted by the Rev. S. Littlewood of Bobcaygean, the Rev. W. Smith of Port Perry, the Rev. Mellon of Oshawa and the Rev. George Telford of Oshawa.

The pallbearers were officials of Grace United Church, Robert Tetlow, Robert Prentice, Anson Jerrow, Laverne Martyn, C. L. Fralick and Donald Crozier. The flower bearers were members of the Orange Order.

Burial was in Bobcaygeon Cemetery where graveside service was conducted.

JAMES RYNARD QUACKENBUSH

James Rynard Quackenbush of the 12th Concession, Rawdon Township died Tuesday at his late residence in his 76th year. He was the son of the late Peter Quackenbush and Harriet M. Neal.

He leaves one brother, Thomas of Marmora; three sisters, Mrs. Allen McInroy (Emma) of Oshawa, Mrs. Pearl Walker of Fairview, Alberta and Mrs. Hannah Radcliffe at home and 29 nephews.

The funeral will be held Friday at Springbrook United Church at 2 p.m. with members of the Loyal Orange Order, No. 442 in attendance. Burial will be in Mt. Nebo Cemetery.

Kenneth Graham Quits Board

Kenneth Graham, formerly chief inspector of the Ontario Liquor License Board, has tendered his resignation to the chairman. On Monday this week, it is reported from Toronto, he began duty as a member of the public relations department of the Labatt organization.

Mr. Graham is in New York attending a meeting of the American Hotel Association.

Officials of the Ontario Liquor Board said that in so far as they were concerned, Mr. Graham was "on holidays," having accrued time coming to him.

Mr. Graham is formerly of Peterborough, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Graham.

Lakefield Votes Nov. 30 On Waterworks

Lakefield voters will decide November 30 on whether they want a $352,000 waterworks. The present money bylaw is a modification of the one submitted to and approved by the voters in 1946.

The 1946 project, which called for borrowing $304,000, was halted when contractors seemed disinclined to take on the work. Rising costs were also a factor.

This year's money bylaw calls for $352,000 to be borrowed, repayable in 20 years at 3½ per cent interest.

This year's plans call for a sewage disposal plant, a pumping station, chlorination of water, a water storage tank, and full installation of sewers and water mains.

The 1946 plan covered the whole village, but 1950's plan calls for installation of mains and sewers in the area east of the river, and bounded on the east by the CNR tracks.

Additional Mains

There will be some additional installation on the west bank of the river and almost all of the village south of the highway will be covered. Provisions have also been made to take water into the Oxford St. area for fire protection.

Main difference between the 1946 and 1950 plans is the exclusion of a filtration plant. The earlier bylaw called for one, but this year's does not.

One reason for the reduction in service offered in the new bylaw is that the Municipal Board is unprepared to approve a system for the whole village at the present, Reeve W. C. Grant said today.

The filtration plant will be held for a future bylaw.

PROOF OF SADIST'S WORK is the above photo of the young calf owned by Elmer Roseborough of R.R. 3, Lakefield, who found it in his barn recently with both ears cut off close to its skull. The animal is under care of Dr. D. C. Smith and Humane Society Inspector Gerald Dunford.

Outlook Dark For Millers As Exports Down

The outlook for the Canadian flour milling industry is very poor, Reg Faryon, president of the Quaker Oats Co. of Canada, said today.

Export markets have been lost since the war, and "domestic prices are so low they're unprofitable." The only solution, he said, would be a large increase in the price of domestic products.

Eighty-five per cent of the Quaker's production went for exports, he said, and today there is only a trickle of flour exports leaving Canada.

Cut Imports

South Africa, India, Palestine, and other sterling countries have cut off imports from Canada. Their shortages of dollars have forced them to deal with other nations in the sterling bloc. Britain recently concluded a huge grain deal with Russia, to be paid for in pounds.

"The export market is down, and will probably go down farther," said Mr. Faryon.

The Canadian consumer has been subsidized by the export previously done by Canadian millers. Soon, the consumer will have to pay much higher prices for flour and flour products.

Lower Than Wheat

In recent years, he said, flour has been sold for less than the price of wheat, and in the past year has often brought only 20 to 25 cents more than the price of wheat. Out of that 25 cents the cost of milling, labor, packaging and transportation had to be paid.

Another reason for the spot the millers are on is the fact that Canada's milling capacity is much greater than the ability of the country to consume, said Mr. Faryon. The milling industry was built on the export trade.

Mr. Faryon predicted that some Canadian mills might have to close. Some, though they did millions of dollars in business last year, showed little or no profit. Generally, profits last year in the milling business were less than one per cent.

During the war, flour and flour product prices were pegged, and though they have increased since, they have not yet caught up with rising costs.

Pt. Hope To Vote On Sunday Sport

Port Hope town council has unanimously agreed to put the question of Sunday sports before the people at the municipal elections in December. Port Hopers will be asked to vote yes or no on the question: "Are you in favor of public games and sports on the Lord's Day, to be regulated by municipal law under the authority of the Lord's Day (Ontario) Act of 1950?"

The town clerk, Arthur Mark, was recently presented with a petition suffixed by 500 signatures asking for Sunday sports in Port Hope. The petition represented more than 10 per cent of the Port Hope voters, the minimum percentage required under the Ontario law before the council could be required to submit the question to a vote.

Faced with no alternative, the council held only a brief discussion in the chamber before the vote was taken. Questions were asked regarding the certification of the 500-name petition, commercialized sports and the effect on the town's park workmen.

Opposition Voiced

Opposition to the Sunday sports issue was voiced by Councillor John Whetstone. He asked if the people who signed the petition knew that some members of the ball club were not in favor of Sunday games. He reminded the council that parks men will have to work at the park on Sundays.

"And on the biblical side", said the councillor, "it says in the Ten Commandments—and they still hold—that six days shalt thou labor and the seventh shalt thou rest. Do we want to steal the seventh day from the Lord?"

He closed his argument saying that he understood that 90 per cent of the names in the petition were those of factory men.

"They're asking for a 40-hour week and yet they're wanting the men at the park to work Sundays. I don't think that's altogether fair".

Wants Pipeline

CHURCHILL, Man. —(CP)— I. H. Smith, Churchill business man, says it may sound like a pipe dream but an oil pipe-line should be built to this Hudson Bay port. He said such a line would be invaluable in supplying northern military establishments and shipping.

MISS MARY A. O'CONNELL, who for more than 40 years taught in the schools of Peterborough, died at her home on Armour Road on Tuesday.

Mary O'Connell Beloved Teacher Dies At Her Home

Miss Mary A. (Polly) O'Connell, BA, BCS, a life long resident of Peterborough, a teacher beloved by all, died at her home, 587 Armour Rd., on Tuesday morning. Miss O'Connell was born in Peterborough of Irish parentage and possessed to an eminent degree the kindness and charm so characteristic of the Irish race.

She received her early education in the convent and in the public school. After graduating from the Peterborough Collegiate Institute she taught for a number of years and helped to educate a large family, four of whom later became teachers. She continued her studies, graduating with a bachelor's degree from Toronto University and later obtained a specialist's Commercial degree from the same university.

She taught for a number of years in the Peterborough Separate Schools and St. Peter's High School and for the last 16 years of her teaching career she taught and reached the climax of her professional life in the Peterborough Collegiate and Vocational School under the late Dr. H. R. H. Kenner, who had taught several members of her family. Not only was she acclaimed an A1 teacher by pupils, principal and inspectors, but due to her unique personality she was styled "the pet of the school" by principal and pupils alike.

After her retirement the Ontario Educational Association honored her by bestowing on her an honorary life membership for distinguished experience and work.

Some years ago she was chosen unanimously by Women's League to represent them at the annual Dominion convention at Halifax. Miss O'Connell had a fine constitution, she was a distinguished-looking woman and had a wonderful capacity for work of all kinds and this capacity was exceeded only by her willingness to work. It was in her own home that her true greatness was shown.

Miss O'Connell is survived by two sisters, Sister St. Catharine of St. Joseph's Community, Peterborough and Miss Marguerite E. O'Connell of Toronto and Peterborough, and one brother James at home.

The funeral will be on Friday morning from the Duffus Funeral Home, George St., at 9:40 to the Church of the Immaculate Conception at 10.00 o'clock for solemn requiem mass. Burial will be in St. Peter's Cemetery.

MAIN ST. TOPICS

COMPLETE JOB

The Central Bridge Co. of Trenton completed today erection of the steel work for the new city hall and the large crane which has for 10 days been lifting the steel posts and beams left the job.

DENIED BY MANAGEMENT

A rumor that Outboard Marine and Manufacturing Company was suspending production next week was denied at the plant today. The Examiner was told that only assembly was being temporarily held up by shortage of supplies from the United States, including delivery of steel.

CARS CRASH.

Two cars were in a collision at the corner of Aylmer and King Streets on Tuesday. C. S. Ellis, Lakefield, was driving west on King Street and at Aylmer is believed to have failed to stop and his car met in a collision with a car driven north by R. H. Armstrong, 629 Stewart St. Both cars were damaged. Constable Grant Gillespie investigated.

KIWANIS SPEAKER

A. W. Steward, information officer for the government of South Africa will be the speaker at the Kiwanis luncheon at the Empress Hotel, Thursday. J. H. Brand, trade secretary for the government of South Africa and representatives of industry in Peterborough will be special guests.

157 OCTOBER BIRTHS

Peterborough counted 157 births in October, according to the city hall record. There were 39 deaths. A year ago there were 143 births and 44 deaths. The natal total last month may appear large in comparison with Otober 1949, but it has been exceeded fairly often in recent register. The number of births in August was 159 and in July 169.

WEDDING COMES FIRST

When the Yuzwa murder trial was scheduled to begin this week in Lindsay, it looked as if Constable Claire McGillen of the local police force would be unable to attend the wedding today of his twin brother, Joe. But he was able to make arrangements to be merely on call in Peterborough instead of having to spend the whole time of the trial in Lindsay and so was able to go to the wedding.

$74,000 Paid Out To Local Labor On Sewage Job

Local labor has drawn $74,000 in wages for the construction of the new sewage disposal plant in the progress of the work up to the present.

Ald. H. Dodds, chairman of the board of works, said the job on the Otonabee side of the river, opposite the foot of Park St., was moving along on schedule.

"That item of $74,000 is an indication of the amount of our expenditure on necessary jobs that is going directly to quite a number of citizens who are employed on these works.

"There is the Civic Hospital, City Hall, Park St. drain, sewage disposal plant, the Cameron St. sewer, and these are apart from the regular work of the streets department."

Ald. Dodds said he had no idea what the total wages would be. "It would be a big job to break down costs just to find out the wage total, but I do know that on the sewage disposal contract that is in the hands of the George Hardy Construction Co. the local labor to date amounts to $74,000.

"Here are some other figures that came to me the other day: We have used 260 tons of reinforcing steel and 18 tons in the building of the digestion tanks."

"So far we have used 18,000 bags of cement plus 2,000 other bags for extra work.

"We have excavated 2,400 cubic yards of soil; and have poured 2,200 cu. yards of gravel and 2,200 cu. yards of sand into the required concrete mix.

"For the concrete forms, we have bought locally 117,854 sq. feet of lumber.

Those figures give the public an idea of the amount of material that we have had to buy just for that job alone."

Ald. Dodds also reported that the electric motors of the disposal plant have been rechecked and the air compressors rebuilt.

"The neighbors down there have been pretty co-operative, and all the council knows that our expectation next summer is that the offensive atmosphere of some recent years will have disappeared.—I understand, entirely.

"The council was told by our engineers that odors would be eliminated. All we have done is pass that information on to the public and hope with them that the completed job will have the desired effect."

With No Particular Artistic Attainments Judge Is Not Commenting On Color Scheme

LINDSAY, Nov. 8.—(CP).—The color of the court room doesn't worry Mr. Justice W. F. Spence. Opening a Supreme Court sitting here, he wasn't particularly interested in a controversy over the color of the newly-decorated room, criticized previously as "boudoir pink" by County Judge J. A. McGibbon. When Crown Attorney L. W. Jordan referred to the color change, Mr. Justice Spence merely remarked: "As I have no particularly artistic attainments I have nothing to say regarding the decorative scheme."

The grand jury, in their report to Mr. Justice Spence on the condition of the county buildings, commended the color combination.

To those who recall the dingy, discolored walls of the court room prior to the face-lifting, the present court room seems greatly improved. The furniture and woodwork have been painted a grey with a shading of sand. The walls could be described as a shade of rose. The ceiling is glistening white. Venetian blinds have been added to the windows in place of the old style faded blinds. The linoleum covered floors have also been painted grey and blend with the rest of the combinations.

Admits Mistake In Banning British TV Play

LONDON, Nov. 8 (Reuters). — Lord Simon of Wythenshawe, chairman of the BBC, said in the House of Lords Tuesday night he had made a mistake in banning a repetition of a television play, Party Manners.

The play, a skit on party politics, written by Val Gielgud, annoyed Labor Party members. They said it poked fun at their party and contended it should not have been shown by the BBC, a public corporation pledged to impartiality.

Conservatives considered that Lord Simon, a Labor peer, had exceeded his powers in taking sole responsibility for banning the play. This attitude was taken by Lord Hailsham, Conservative, who recently tried to hold on to his seat in the House of Commons even though his inherited title called for his movement to the House of Lords.

Tuesday he accused Lord Simon of banning the play, which had already been televised once, because the Labor Party newspaper the Daily Herald, had demanded it.

Lord Hailsham said that if light-hearted farce was treated with portentous solemnity, one would have to say good-bye to Shakespeare and George Bernard Shaw on the radio.

Lord Simon retorted that he had a perfect right to act as he did, but in view of what had happened he thought he had made a mistake.

"The play could be taken light heartedly or seriously; I took it seriously," he said.

A social hour was enjoyed by all. It was attended by 30 people all interested in the farm forum

Couple Showered

BONARLAW, Nov. 8 (ENS).—Monday evening the neighbors and friends of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Huff gathered at their home and presented their daughter Phyllis and her husband Mr. Warren Bowen with a purse of money. A short program took place after the presentation. Lunch was served to the guests. Mr. and Mrs. Bowen will reside near Bancroft.

Pulled To Safety

BRAMPTON, Nov. 8 (CP) — Mrs. Andy Clapperton was pulled to safety early Tuesday from her blazing home at nearby Humber Summit shortly after she rescued her three children. She was brought to hospital here with painful face wounds. When fire broke out, the mother smashed a window to pass out Joan, 6, Heather, 4, and her baby.

Robbery Charges

MONTREAL, Nov. 8 (CP) — Tw young members of Canada's Special United Nations Brigade Tuesday were arraigned on charges of armed robbery following an automobile chase near the Quebec-New York border. Earl Thomas, 23, and William Berton, both of suburban Point St Charles, pleaded not guilty to a $75 restaurant holdup.

Forecasts Integration

OTTAWA, Nov. 8 (CP)— Defence Minister Claxton Tuesday night forecast the "integration" of Canadian and American armed forces for joint defence because it "makes sense." He also said in a radio address one of the reasons for sending the bulk of the army's special force to Fort Lewis, Wash., to complete training is because the force "may have to fight side by side with U.S. forces."

Plan Ontario Survey For Civil Defence

TORONTO, Nov. 8 — (CP) — Ontario will carry out an immediate survey of municipal welfare facilities available for co-ordination in a civil defence plan, it was announced Tuesday.

J. J. Richardson, formerly of the Ontario Rehabilitation Committee, is appointed by the government to help municipalities in the survey, Provincial Secretary Welsh and Welfare Minister Goodfellow said in a joint announcement. He will be on loan to the Welfare Department from the provincial secretary's department.

CWL Holds Bingo

DOWNEYVILLE, Nov. 8 (ENS) —Bingo fans turned out to try their luck at the popular game sponsored by the CWL of the parish. Lunch was served by the ladies and a local orchestra and recording system supplied music for a social hour. The evening's entertainment was convened by the ladies in the Downeyville section of the parish.

The YPC and CWL were interested in purchasing an amplifier for the hall and were successful in securing one which will be installed in the parish hall this week.

Shiny Cadillac Becomes Red Herring

OTTAWA, Nov. 8 (CP)—Out of a clear sky, a sleek, shiny Cadillac has turned into a red herring.

It's a bit of biennial black magic which Mayor Adecious (Eddie) Bourque figues shouldn't happen to a mayor.

It's the sort of thing that happens every civic election, but Mayor Bourque is evincing hurt surprise these days that certain aldermen on city council are "trying to make a political red herring out of a Cadillac."

The suave, moustachioed chief magistrate is nearing the end of his first term in office. The car is, of course, only one of many "red herrings" and "political footballs" which have magically appeared on the capital scene as the Dec. 4 civic elections loom.

The whole question of the car came up about two months ago, when city council decided to replace the city's old executive car —about four years old—with a new one. Upkeep on the old job was getting too high, it was said, so the new car was purchased for $6,091.50.

Gets Delivery

Storms which arose at the time of the decision gradually calmed down, and Mayor Bourque finally got delivery. He took local newspapermen for a drive, explaining that he'd been used to driving the finest in automobiles all his life, knew all about them, and loved a good motor.

All was well, until at a council meeting this week Alderman Grant Shaw complained that the $6,091.50 was never included in the 1950 estimates. When money for other things was sought, council had been told such money had not been included in the estimates. Besides, Alderman Shaw added, the council passed the Cadillac vote on the understanding the Ontario Municipal Board would approve. So far, the board had not even been informed of the expenditure.

A few souls have commented that the capital of Canada should be able to afford an automobile for its chief magistrate to come and go in and transport the many distinguished visitors who come to the city. But it's election time, and such voices seem less audible during these biennial affairs.

Brewery Pres. Denies War On Beer Prices

TORONTO, Nov. 8 — (CP) — George M. Black, Jr., president of Canadian Breweries, Limited, issued a statement Tuesday saying that his company is not engaged in a price war in beer.

The statement was the latest development in the wake of reductions in wholesale prices announced at the weekend by Canadian Breweries and John Labatt, Limited.

Mr. Black said his company's aim was "to establish price spreads between wholesale and retail prices that will permit hotel owners to operate on a reasonable and profitable basis."

Saturday, Labatt's informed the Ontario Hotelmen's Association it was cutting the price of draft beer $1 a half-barrel to $20.30 and bottled beer 15 cents a 24-pint case to $3.70. Monday, Canadian Breweries announced it had cut its wholesale prices by $1 a half-barrel and 25 cents a case. This was followed by an announcement from Labatt's that it would match any price cut and it reduced its wholesale price for bottled beer by another 10 cents.

Premier Frost and Hon. Arthur Welsh, provincial liquor commissioner, immediately called a conference of brewers to discuss the situation. They were said to be concerned over the effect on smaller breweries of any competitive price-slashing.

See Population 14,000,000 Soon

OTTAWA, Nov. 8 (CP). — Canada will probably celebrate this Christmas as a nation of 14,000,000 people.

The Bureau of Statistics reported Tuesday that the Dominion's fast-growing population was 13,821,000—only 79,000 short of the 14,000,000 mark—at Sept. 1.

On the basis of the average rate of increase, the bureau made the cautious prediction that Canada's population should approximate 14,000,000 by the end of this year."

But other authorities engaged in measuring the growth of the nation go even further. They say the 14,000,000 figure should be passed before Christmas. Canada may not make it by much, perhaps with not more than 1,000-odd to spare, but they are confident that she'll make it.

The 13,291,00 figure at Sept. 1 was a gain of 76,000 from June 1, 50,000 from the figure at July 1 and a raise of 285,000 in the last 12 months. That's an average monthly increase of between 25,000 and 26,000, which should put Canada over her 14th million of population by December.

Board Refuses To Certify Union

TORONTO, Nov. 8 (CP). — The Ontario Labor Relations Board has refused to certify the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers (Ind.) as bargaining agents for the employees of a Sudbury cafe.

In its report Tuesday, the board said the refusal was made because of what it termed the union's illegal efforts to force 10 local Chinese partners in the restaurant, to give into demands for a union contract.

The restaurant owners last spring refused to deal with the union and a strike was called lasting from May 11 to Aug. 11. Strike action was highlighted by several police court cases in which picketing waitresses were charged with abusing customers.

Phillips Has Advice On Liberal Leader

TORONTO, Nov. 8 — (CP).— Ontario's Liberals were offered some advice on the choice of a party leader by Health Minister Phillips in his address today to delegates to the Progressive Conservative Association of Ontario convention.

He said the Liberals should keep Farquhar Oliver as their Leader, for he is the best man they've got. But Mr. Oliver, he said, has no intention of presenting himself as a candidate for the job from which he resigned last year.

The reason was obvious, said Mr. Phillips: Mr. Oliver knows that no Liberal has a chance in Ontario.

Elected President

QUEBEC, Nov. 8 (CP) — Andre Roy of L'Action Catholique has been elected president of Le Syndicat Journalists De Quebec (CCCL), it was announced Tuesday. Other officers elected are Antoine Desroches, Le Soleil, first vice-president; Francoise Cote, L'Evenement-Journal, second vice-president; Gerard Morin, Le Soleil, secretary; and Bernard Houde, L'Action Catholique, treasurer. The syndicate represents about 75 editorial workers in three French-language Quebec dailies.

Quick Decline

OTTAWA, Nov. 8 (CP) — The Ottawa Journal said Tuesday, it has learned that "the prospect of action in Korea" for Canada's Special Brigade has brought a quick decline in the previously-given figure of 700 men listed as absent without leave or deserters from the force. The story said "defence headquarters maintained a policy of silence but it was estimated perhaps no more than 350 men are unaccounted for at the moment."

Missing Bride Had Quebec Job

TORONTO, Nov. 8—The "missing bride" was on her way home Tuesday night. Mrs. Fred Jaworski, 22, who had been missing 10 days, sent a telegram to her parents in Welland Tuesday saying she had been working in Trench, Que., about 200 miles north-east of Montreal. She said she was leaving for home.

Mrs. Jaworski vanished in Toronto last week while presumably on her way to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Evariste Lauzon of Welland. Her bridegroom, whom she had met while working at Levack, Ont., near Sudbury, missed the telegram by a couple of hours. He had returned to Levack.

The girl's disappearance touched off a wide police investigation.

When located the girl was working as waitress in a hydro construction camp near Trench. A camp official said police were notified that the girl was working there after her picture was seen in a newspaper. He said the girl had been hired in Montreal and had worked only a few days in the camp.

Killed By Car

TORONTO, Nov. 8 (CP) — Marilyn Keeling, 15-year-old daughter of Constable William Keeling of the Toronto police force, was killed Tuesday when hit by a car while crossing the highway west of the city.

Close Campaign

TORONTO, Nov 8 (CP) — Toronto's annual community chest officially closed Tuesday with collections reaching 90.4 per cent of the $2,493,000 objective, Chairman Harry H. Wilson announced. It represents a total collection of $2,256,635.

Police To Get Tough On Drinking Drivers

TORONTO, Nov. 8 —(CP)— Police announced Tuesday they are "taking off the gloves" in a drive here against drinking drivers.

Inspector Vernon Page said more motorcycle police are being put on the road, more men are being assigned to look for driving "party-goers," 30-day sentences instead of 15-day terms are to be handed out and insurance companies are starting to cancel policies of drivers convicted of drunk driving.

He said eight persons have been killed so far this year in accidents where the driver had been drinking compared with five at this time in 1949.

• THE A B C and D • OF VITAMINS

Vitamins are not drugs but vitally essential food elements. Lack of an adequate amount through food sources can lead to a distressing lack of energy and other disturbing symptoms.

While vitamin "deficiency diseases" are relatively rare in Canada even what would seem to be a properly balanced diet may often be insufficient in the vitamin content necessary to maintain normal health and vigor. Fortunately any insufficiency can be quickly corrected through the use of Vitamin Concentrates. Those considered most essential are the vitamins A, B, C and D.

These are available singly or in any desired combination at your Tamblyn Drug Store.

STUDENT SCHOLARSHIP: "Is it possible to borrow money for a student without interest? This brilliant boy got his B.A. at 19. Wants to be a doctor but has no cash."

There are scholarships for just such talented youngsters. Write to E. A. Macdonald, Student's Administrative Council, Hart House, University of Toronto. State the case fully and concisely.

HUSBAND STEALING: "We all know that when men or women steal they are liable for a stiff jail sentence. Why is it that women who deliberately steal another woman's husband are not given the same sentence. To me this is a far bigger crime than bank robbery. Is there no law to protect the wronged woman?"

Any wife who feels her home has been deliberately broken up by another woman may sue for alienation of affection. Unfortunately, however, this very seldom brings back the erring husband.

MARRIAGE LICENSE: "I am a newcomer to this country. How long is it necessary to reside in any town or city in Ontario before taking out a marriage license? How many days after issuance of same may it be used? For how long is it valid?"

The marriage registrar says that so long as one party is a resident of a city or town that is all that is necessary. The license must be obtained at least three days previous to the wedding. The license is valid for three months after date of issue.

Home and School Association News

CONFEDERATION SCHOOL

"Open School" was the feature of the Confederation Home and School Association meeting Tuesday evening and about 250 parents took the opportunity to visit the classrooms and talk to the teachers concerning their children's progress.

President Mrs. J. Stewart held a short business meeting and heard reports. She extended the Association's congratulations to Mr. Corbett's boys on winning the soccer championship. Announcement was made of the city-wide Home and School meeting at the collegiate next Tuesday evening when the proposed new collegiate will be the topic.

Attendance prize was won by Miss Carroll's afternoon class and Miss Johnson's class.

QUEEN MARY SCHOOL

Queen Mary School held open house on Monday from 7 to 9 o'clock. The parents were received by the president, Mrs. G. Reader. Members of the executive of the Home and School Association, directed them to the various classrooms where they were greeted by the teachers and class mothers.

Students had their work displayed which gave the parents an opportunity to become familiar with the curriculum. Display tables were arranged in the halls. The health display was in charge of Mrs. B. Myers and her committee; parent education and publications, Mrs. W. E. Kibblewhite and her group; new tests and supplements arranged by Mr. O. M. Steer and Mrs. Eric Bacon was in charge of membership.

Mr. Steer spoke, welcoming the parents and inviting them to discuss any problems with him.

At the close of the evening, Mrs. C. G. Collins, Hunter Street, was hostess to members of the teaching staff and the executive members.

Last Friday afternoon the class mothers were entertained at tea. Mrs. Bacon was convener, assisted by Mrs. R. Allen. Mrs. Reader addressed the mothers on the work of the Home and School.

December and January meetings are postponed from the regular nights and will be on December 11 and January 8.

Parent education group will meet November 13 at the home of Mrs. W. E. Kibblewhite.

RIFLE RANGE SCHOOL

Regular meeting of Rifle Range Home and School Association was held in the school Monday evening. President Mrs. E. Davis, was in the chair. Mrs. N. Andrew took the devotional period, and Mrs. L. Muir read the secretary's and treasurer's reports.

Mrs. Davis introduced the guest speaker, Dr. Cameron Craig who spoke on behalf of the Dental Society on the subject "Dental Public Health." In his introductory remarks, Dr. Craig explained how dental caries can go to work in an insidious fashion, causing little pain or discomfort at first. Unless checked in its earliest stages, however, he pointed out that this decay can make dental cripples of our children. He stressed the fact that dental care cannot start too early, and must be continued through childhood and on into manhood and womanhood.

Mr. E. Ingall of the Peterborough Film Council, showed an excellent film, entitled "Something to Chew on," which portrayed the danger of neglecting slight defects in the baby teeth. It was very evident from the pictures on view that such neglect could lead to permanent disfigurement and handicaps.

Dr. Craig then summarized the vital points, using the blackboard to good advantage, and listed the various ways in which parents could build up forces that can resist the germs which cause tooth decay. A close watch should be kept at all times on the diet of children; cutting down carbohydrates or sugars, and increasing the amount of proteins consumed. The speaker emphasized the fact that fats are far more energizing than sugars, and do no appreciable harm to dental enamel.

A piano solo was played by Doreen Little, one of the pupils, who chose a Russian folk-song "Hopak."

A social half hour followed adjournment and Mrs. E. Flint, hospitality convener, in charge. Her assistants were Mrs. E. Davis, Mrs. H. Hope and Doreen Little.

Parent-Teacher

ST. ANNE'S PTA

At the meeting of the Parent-Teacher Association of St. Anne's School, Monday evening, Miss E. Crawford, school nurse, was guest speaker. Along with an excellent lesson in child psychology a film was shown on the emotional development of children, "He Acts His Age".

Mr. E. Boland gave a vote of thanks to Miss Crawford.

Monsignor P. P. Butler spoke on the preparation and establishing of St. Anne's school.

Miss Belanger's room (kindergarten) won the attendance prize. The meeting closed with a community sing-song.

Mrs. Albert Laton acted as social convener and refreshments were served in the kindergatern room.

Prominent Woman To Speak Here At YWCA, Nov. 20

A distinguished speaker being brought to this city on November 20 for a YWCA all-Association dinner meeting is Mrs. Louise Gates Eddy, wife of Dr. Sherwood Eddy who has been prominent in YMCA and world affairs and is expected to accompany her.

The meeting will be open to men and women but Mrs. Eddy's topic is not yet announced. She is presently on a speaking tour throughout Ontario and Quebec.

In 1939 Mrs. Eddy became National General Secretary of the Canadian YWCA movement and during her term a tremendous war service program was embark. The 122 War Service Centres and the Farm Service Force were among the projects operated. One of her particular contributions to the regular and wartime work was in recruiting volunteers of high calibre and in recognition of her efforts Mrs. Eddy was given an honorary degree from her Alma Mater, MacMurray College, of Jacksonville, Illinois, where she now lives.

Dr. and Mrs. Eddy have spent considerable time travelling in the Orient and in Europe in order to acquaint themselves thoroughly with the current world picture and since return have shared their invaluable information with educational, religious institutions, government officials and organizations.

Draw for Prizes In Bridge Series By St. Peter's CWL

At the monthly meeting of the Catholic Women's League of St. Peter's Cathedral, held Tuesday evening at St. Mary's School, with the president, Mrs. S. J. Houlihan, in the chair, prizes were drawn for the series of bridge parties held during the past month in the homes of various members.

The receipts, which totalled the very gratifying sum of $130.25, will be directed toward the $500 donation promised by St. Peter's sub-division for the furnishing of quipment of a room at St. Joseph's Hospital. A cheque for $300 has already been forwarded to the hospital as a portion of the donation.

Mrs. F. J. Lynch was the energetic convener for the group bridge parties, ably assisted by Mrs. P. J. Burke as treasurer. Group heads who secured hostesses for the various games included Mesdames E. Quinlan, J. J. Crowley, J. Callaghan, P. J. Cadigan, D. F. McCarthy, S. Lucas, D. Sullivan, T. J. Carroll, C. E. Trudeau and the Misses Lillian Hurley and Teresa MacNamara.

Prize winners in the draw were Mesdames W. Perdue, M. Adamson, G. Blodgett, J. Armstrong, J. O'Donnell, E. Riley, B. Sullivan, E. Blodgett, P. J. Cadigan, H. Lynch, and the Misses Lillian Hurley, Betty Meagher, Patricia Twomey and Judy Quinlan.

Miss Anna Murray was appointed convener of magazines. Mrs. S. J. Houlihan will be in charge of a rummage sale to be held at the Knights of Columbus Hall on Saturday, November 11.

The sum of $10 was donated to the Orphanage at Cobourg. Miss Agnes Grant read a letter from the Women's Civic Study group, inviting the members to attend a meeting to be held under their auspices at the YWCA on November 28, when various candidates for municipal office will be present.

It was decided to place a wreath on the Cenotaph on Armistice Day as usual.

Church Group Meets At Marmora

MARMORA, Nov. 8 (ENS) — The November meeting of the Belleville Presbytery of the United Church of Canada was held in St. Andrew's United Church, Marmora, the morning and afternoon of Tuesday. Rev. A. L. Sisco of Tweed presided and Rev. K. J. Crawford was secretary.

Rev. Morley Clarke of West Huntingdon took the worship period and gave an impressive talk on the office of the under shepherds of the flock of Christ.

The presbytery endorsed the call of Rev. F. A. Gilbert of Foxboro to the Milverton charge in the London Presbytery.

Following the reading of communications, the court went into committees.

Dinner was served by the WA of St. Andrew's Church to attending ministers and lay representatives in the church.

Prior to the afternoon session members of the lay association held a half hour in the church under presidency of C. W. Burr of Belleville with Fred Elgie as secretary. Discussion of matters relative to the work of laymen was led by Mr. Elgie and others.

Opens Afternoon Session

Rev. C. W. Neelands of the Sidney charge conducted opening worship at the afternoon session. Mrs. C. D. McLellan of Napanee president of the presbyterial WMS was introduced to the gathering and spoke briefly. A vote of sympathy was extended the congregation of the Halloway Church on the Foxboro charge on recent damage to their church through a collapse.

The Rev. H. A. Kent, D.D., of Queen's Theological College, as guest speaker, gave a fine address in which he enlarged upon four matters of vital concern to the United Church.

He was troubled that even intelligent men would give generously to local congregational needs but not to the other side of the envelope. Thus he considered that the missionary and maintenance framework was insufficiently clothed with instruction.

He spoke of the shortage of men for the ministry and said here was a place where many had fallen down. You cannot press youth into the ministry. You can set before them the things the church of God needs and the way such needs are met.

YW Gymnists Go To Cobourg For Demonstration

Help in furthering the popularity of the newly-organized YWCA in Cobourg was given by a group from the Peterborough Association gym class Tuesday evening when they motored to that town and put on a demonstration of class work

A fair-sized crowd in the high school gymnasium showed interest in the gym routines, the rainbow ballet and modernistic dancing and the majorette routine was particularly popular.

After the demonstration the onlookers were invited to the floor and Miss C. Littlefield and the Peterborough girls lead them in mixed dancing for sociability. Pianists Mrs. M. McBride and Mrs. L. Rawson who accompanied the group were officiating at the piano during the evening.

General secretary of the Cobourg Y, Miss Whiteley, extended a welcome and the visitors were entertained and served refreshments in the town hall club rooms where Mrs. Rolfe, president of the Cobourg Association received.

Senior gym members who made the trip in six cars, some supplied by themselves, were Marjorie Banks, Ann Price, Lillian Woods, Berta McBride, Marion Timm, Irene Chapman, Shirley Milburn, Dorothy Roberts, Peggy Patterson, Doreen Whitmore, Eileen Gariepy, Helen Wilson, Anne Willams, Ruby Leach, Hazel Wilson, Rhoda Barrie, Jane Porter Christine Monk, Daghne Hayward, Gladys Merpaw, Gladys Heslip, Doris Simmons, Melvalee Doxsee, Mary Dodds and Helen Zakos.

Cut Chiselling By Women For Insurance

OTTAWA, Nov. 8 — (CP) — Chiselling on unemployment insurance by newly-married women will be made tougher under new Labor Department regulations coming into effect Nov. 15.

The regulations will not hit at working wives but will clamp down on those who quit jobs for marriage and then try to collect unemployment benefits without intending to return to work.

Under the new regulations, jobless benefits will be obtained as usual by married women:

1. Who have lost employment because of layoffs due to shortage of work.

2. Who have lost their jobs within two weeks before marriage or any time after marriage because of an employer rule against retaining married women.

3. Whose husbands have died, become wholly and permanently incapacitated, deserted them or been permanently separated from them.

But those not covered by the three exceptions will be automatically disqualified from receiving benefits for the first two years of marriage unless they supply proof that they are available for employment.

This proof will consist in working at least 90 days in employment other than for immediate relatives. If a woman was not employed at the time of her marriage, the 90 days may begin any time after that. If she was employed when she married, the 90 days will begin only after she has left that job.

"She's a flying sorceress—wonders if you'd be interested in the woman's angle."

W.I. Delegates At Havelock

HAVELOCK, Nov. 8—(ENS)— Mrs. George Rigby, Sr., a delegate from Havelock Women's Institute to the Central Ontario Area Women's Institute Convention at Toronto last week, gave a detailed report to the local branch at their meeting in the council chamber on Monday afternoon.

Mrs. Rigby said that the main thought which permeated the convention was that we should all strive to live one with the other in harmony, no matter what language we speak, particularly stressing that kindness be shown to the new Canadians from war-torn lands who have come to make Canada their home. Mrs. Rigby referred to the address by Madame H. Vautelet, of Montreal, who spoke about the disunion of Canada due to the lack of understanding between the French Canadian and the Anfglo-Canadian.

Mrs. Fred Bennett spoke on the organization of a girls' club for which she and Mrs. William Copp have been appointed leaders. This club is open to girls from 12 to 26 years. Each girl will require material for a costume slip, the completed garment to be taken to Peterborough for achievement-day next April.

During the program period, Mrs. F. R. Vanderburgh gave a very interesting demonstration on basket weaving. Mrs. W. Cornell entertained with a vocal solo for which she played the accompaniment on her autoharp. Margaret Ann and Evelyn Stevenson sang a duet with Mrs. W. M. Platt at the piano. Lunch hostesses were Mesdames J. Hoffman, R. Jones, W. Hitchins and W. M. Platt.

Chapter News

JEANETTE SCOTT CHAPTER

The Jeanette Scott Chapter, IODE, met Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. G. Harrison, 450 Weller St., and Mrs. R. Mathews was in charge.

Mrs. A. Drynan reported that 16 boxes had been sent overseas for Christmas. The Chapter made a donation of $50. to the Children's Art Centre. Miss M. Medd read pertinent excerpts from monthly letters put out by the Royal Bank.

The Chapter is sponsoring a showing of the film "The Mozart Story" on November 22 at the Centre Theatre and tickets are available for matinee and evening performances.

Members will again be selling calendars. The annual Christmas party for members will be held January 27 with Mrs. G. McIntyre in charge of arrangements.

In the future all meetings of this Chapter will be held at the YWCA on the 22nd day of each month.

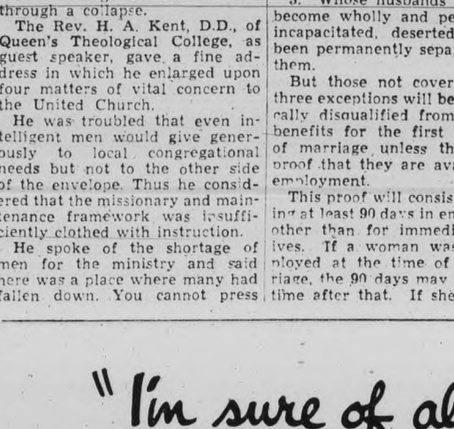
Members were invited to attend a candidate's meeting sponsored by the Civic Affairs Study Group being held November 28 at which all candidates for election in the city will be present.

Refreshments were served at the close.

Plans to Visit Four N.Z. Cities

WELLINGTON —(CP)— The 1952 Royal Tour of New Zealand is likely to be drastically curtailed when compared with the program mapped out two years ago before the King's illness. The revised itinerary is likely to provide for calls only at the four chief cities, Auckland, Wellington, Christchurch and Dunedin, and attendance at one large Maori gathering.

The program for the cancelled 1949 tour provided for travel by plane, car, train and ship. It is probable that under the new plan, the Royal Family will do almost all their travelling by ship, either in the battleship Vanguard, or in a New Zealand cruiser for the coastal passages.



A. G. Harper, under-secretary of internal affairs, will leave for London shortly to discuss detailed arrangements for the tour with Buckingham Palace officials.

DOROTHY DIX

21-year-old Girl Advised Cut Mother's Apron Strings

Dorothy Dix

DEAR MISS DIX: My trouble is a too doting mother. I am 21 years old, yet she holds me by the hand as if I were a child of three. Never lets me out of her sight if she can help it. If I suggest going any place, she says: "Wait, I'll go too". If I have a date which is seldom on account of her, I either have to sit at home, or tell her every word that it said. She listens in on every telephone call. If I get a letter she reads it. My girl friends have dropped me because mother has to go everywhere we go. Older persons say how sweet we look together, but I'd feel swegter if she weren't always along. Can you think of any remedy for this possessive mother love? I can't stand much more of it.—A PERSECUTED GIRL.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: The real remedy for your situation is to leave home. That is the only way by which you can keep your mother from ruining your life, because if you stay with her she will alienate you from your friends, drive all men away from you and you will end up by becoming one of those desicated, colorless old maids who have no personality or existence of their own. They are just mother's shadow.

Can Be Blessing Or Curse

Mother love can be the greatest blessing in the world, or it can be the greatest curse. A mother can love her child unselfishly so that she puts the child's good always before her own. She can fit the child for life by strengthening it so that it can stand on its own feet and by fostering a spirit of independence in it. She can love her child so much that she will sacrifice herself to it and send it away from her when it is for the child's good, even though it tears her heart out to part with it. That is the kind of mother love that is the greatest good fortune that any child can have.

But there is the possessive mother love that seeks only its own gratification at whatever cost to the child. Because it wants to be all in all to the child it babies it and makes it a weakling; it cuts the child off from all association with others; it deprives it of all freedom and makes it dependent, and ruthlessly stands between it and the natural desires of youth, for such mothers are never willing for their children to leave them, or to marry. No greater misfortune than to have a possessive mother can befall any child.

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a young business woman. For the last six years I have been private secretary to one of the finest men I have ever known. He is a gentleman in every sense of the word. My employer is married and has five children. Unfortunately his wife is so insanely jealous that she makes life miserable for him, although she has absolutely no reason whatever to do so. Lately I have learned that she is jealous of me for no cause whatever. It makes her furious to see her husband dictating to me. He used to close the door of his private office when giving me dictation, but now the door is kept wide open. I have thought of resigning, but I decided that probably would be admitting that she had reason to be jealous. Also, I cannot afford to give up my position. How can I cope with this unpleasant situation?—PEGGY.

ANSWER: You can't. You can no more reason with a jealous person than you can with an insane one, and the fact that you and the man are both entirely innocent of any wrongdoing cuts no figure in the case.

Jealousy feeds on its own imaginations and suspicions. It manufactures its own evidence and can see what it wants to see. Against this distorted mind neither innocence nor arguments can prevail.

So, for your own sake, look about and see if you cannot find another position, because there is no trick so mean and low that a jealous woman will not play it. Before you know it she will begin putting her jealous fancies into words and weeping out her suspicions on you on the breasts of her intimate friends. Then your character will be besmirched forever.

DEAR MISS DIX: Do you think a philanderer ever changes? I am engaged to a man who is a born philanderer. He says he can't help flirting, but that after we are married he will never go anywhere without me and that will keep him fair to me. I am deeply in love with this man, but I am sure he will make me very unhappy. He doesn't know what loyalty is. How can I break away from this man who isn't fit to look at any decent woman—MISS X. Y. Z.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: If you haven't the will power to do so yourself, get some kind friend to have you locked up in a padded cell until your fit of madness is over. For, believe me, there is no way of breaking a philanderer from philandering. And there is no woman more miserable than the one who is married to a man she can't trust outside of her sight and who keeps her heart torn to tatters with jealousy.

Now! Proof that

2 Years' research by LEADING UNIVERSITIES proves that test groups brushing teeth right after eating with Colgate Dental Cream showed amazing reduction in tooth decay!

Under the direction of eminent dental authorities, one group of college men and women always brushed their teeth with Colgate Dental Cream right after eating—while another group followed their usual dental care. The average of the group using Colgate's as directed, and using Colgate's exclusively, was a startling reduction in the number of new cavities—far less tooth decay. The other group developed new cavities at a much higher rate.

Research shows that decay is caused by mouth acids which are at their worst after meals. When you brush your teeth with Colgate's right after eating, you help remove mouth acids before they can harm enamel.

FURTHER PROOF FROM SCHOOL CHILDREN

Leading Canadian dentists examined and directed over 8,000 school children in corrective dental habits. In addition to diet changes where required, the children were asked to brush their teeth after each meal.

The results! 16% fewer children with tooth decay! . . . Cavities dropped from an average of 5 per child to just over 3! . . . 53% more children received dental care that prevented either loss of teeth or serious dental troubles later in life! . . . The number of children with no defects—increased by 200%!

CLEANS YOUR BREATH AS IT CLEANS YOUR TEETH!

Scientific tests prove that in 7 out of 10 cases, Colgate's instantly stops bad breath that originates in the mouth! Colgate's active penetrating foam gets into hidden crevices between teeth—helps clean out decaying food particles—stops stagnant saliva odors—removes the cause of much bad breath!

HELP YOUR CHILDREN AVOID TOOTH DECAY!

Insist that your children always brush their teeth right after eating with Colgate Dental Cream. They'll love Colgate's delicious double-minty flavor, so it's easy to get them to use Colgate's correctly.

COOKBOOK OF THE WEEK

Egg-White Cookies Known Many Years, Still Liked

Cookies, like everything else, are easy to make if you know how; and for the correct knowhow you must see The Cookie Book, seventeenth in the 24 cookbook series now available to readers of the Examiner. All the cookbooks in the series contain precise step-by-step instructions, tested recipes, and beautiful photographic illustrations to spur you on to try all the different suggestions in the book and give you helpful hints on how to serve or decorate food attractively.

Even before baking powder was known, cookies made of egg whites were popular, but the key to their success lies in the correct beating of the eggs which, according to the Cookie Book must be smooth and shiny and must flow very slowly when tipped but must cling to the side of the bowl. Here is an especially delicious tidbit made of dates:-

Moon Beam Kisses

2 egg whites, beaten
1 cup sugar
¾ cup blanched almonds
1½ cups chopped dates
1 teaspoon vanilla

Beat egg whites until stiff, add sugar gradually and beat hard. Shred almonds, chop dates and fold into egg white mixture. Add vanilla and blend carefully. Drop by teaspoons onto ungreased heavy paper and bake 18 to 20 minutes at 250° F. Makes about 36 kisses.

To get your copy of the Cookie Book all you need do is clip a coupon from page 2 of any issue of this newspaper and present it with 25c to the Examiner Office, your Carrier Boy, or to any of Braund's Home Food Markets. By mail, send 30c to Cookbook Department, Peterborough Examiner

Directions

Denise' Savoury Creamed Eggs

In frying pan melt 4 tablespoons butter, and add 1 mild onion very thinly sliced and saute at very low heat until onion is transparent and very light gold. Add 2 tablespoons flour, stir, add 1 cup or 1¼ cups whole milk, and stir until thick. Add salt and pepper to taste and, if desired chopped parsley, and 4 sliced hard cooked eggs. Cover reduce heat as much as possible and heat through. Serve on toast or puff pastries.

✧ ✧ ✧

Frozen Apple Cream

On enquiry I find that many of my friends are in the same predicament as I am; the possessor of too many apples too early in the season for them to be stored properly. We have to have an apple dessert every night for dinner to get them used up. This one I am giving you is wonderful—for it not only tastes good—it is easy to make.)

One cup of strained and quite sweet applesauce, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, 1 tablespoon melted butter, ⅛ teaspoon each (or less) cinnamon, nutmeg, ginger, 2 tablespoons marmalade or a heavy fruit syrup such as ginger syrup from preserved ginger (in which case omit powdered ginger). Mix all of these ingredients and chill well. Into them fold 1 cup heavy cream which has been whipped and freeze in tray of electric refrigerator.

For the Broiled Back Bacon with Mushrooms I placed the mushrooms on the lightly buttered broiler pan without the rack, and laid the slices of smoked back bacon over them. I had the oven hot from above and below and placed the pan close to the top. The bacon cooked a little and the fat dripped through onto the mushrooms. I then pushed the bacon aside, likewise with the mushrooms and reversed them—bacon under, mushrooms on top to finish cooking. This gives reducers the minimum amount of fat from such a delicious dish.

Try the cabbage salad with Celery Seeds — using cottage cheese in place of mayonnaise. It is delicious and satisfying and not nearly so high in calories as cabbage salad with mayonnaise.

People Stay Same Centenarian Says

MONTREAL (CP) — People haven't changed much in the last 100 years, says Mrs. Mariah H. Breckon of Montreal. She should be a fair judge, since she recently celebrated her 100th birthday.

"I've lived through many wars, watched five English monarchs and 21 American presidents come and go," she reminisced. "Some changes I've seen have been for the better—some were not—but I do not believe that the people of today are really any different from those of 90 or 100 years ago."

Mrs. Breckon was born Mariah Dorr, of Clayton, N.Y., in 1850 and, when 21, married John Breckon. They settled in Ottawa where Mrs. Breckon took up oil painting. She has had several of her works on exhibition, but had to give up painting because of failing eyesight.

About the future: "My generation had its difficult times but we survived," she said, "and I know the world will straighten itself out again."

Of Interest to Women

Says Women Err Just as Men Will

COPENHAGEN, Denmark — (Reuters)—Justice Minister Helga Pedersen, Denmark's first woman minister of justice, says she doesn't belive "the world would be the slightest bit better off if it were governed by women."

She says that "women in government would make exactly as many mistakes as the men do.

"A person's qualifications should be the guide, not that person's sex."

An attractive, slim woman of 39, Miss Pedersen said she was "as surprised as anybody else" when she was asked to become justice minister.

She preferred not to comment on her new job "until I have settled down," but she did make these general remarks.

The lash: "I do not like it at all."

The death sentence: "I would like to see it abolished throughout the world."

The delightful fragrance of Cashmere Bouquet Beauty Soap comes from a secret wedding of rare perfumes, far costlier than you would expect to find in any soap.

Recent laboratory tests conducted under the severest conditions on normal, dry and oily skin types, prove that fragrant Cashmere Bouquet Soap is milder.

Yes . . . Cashmere Bouquet is milder . . . and it caresses your skin with the fragrance men love.

Now in two sizes Oval Style . . . and Popular size.

PERFUMED BATH AND BEAUTY SOAP 5-560

Twice as Delicious
—Much Faster than Potatoes!

• Just think of it! In only 15 minutes you can have the fluffiest, whitest, tenderest rice you ever tasted! Even the greenest cook can prepare Minute Rice to delicious perfection — it's that easy! Minute Rice is made by a special patented process, to a high quality standard.

An enticing variety of recipes on the packages.

EASIER! None of the old time-taking steps involved in cooking regular rice — no washing, draining, rinsing, steaming.

FASTER! For plain rice, just add it to water, bring to the boil; let stand, covered, for 10 minutes.

BETTER! The family will love Minute Rice! It's never soggy or sticky — always just right.

Hearty, delicious dinner — in just 15 minutes!

1 package Minute Rice
1¾ cups water
¾ teaspoon salt
4 pre-cooked ham steaks
1 package quick-frozen peas

• Start ham steaks frying. Combine Minute Rice, water and salt in saucepan. Mix just until all rice is moistened. Bring quickly to a boil over high heat, uncovered, fluffing rice gently once or twice with a fork. (Do not stir.) Cover and remove from heat. Let stand 10 minutes. While rice is standing, cook quick frozen peas. Serve immediately. This recipe makes 4 servings.

Compare the time needed for potato-fixing . . . all that tiresome scrubbing or peeling and long cooking. Small wonder that Minute Rice has caused so much excitement all 'cross the country. This new way with pre-cooked Minute Rice cuts work and cooking time to an absolute minimum. And what an array of fascinating, easy-to-fix dishes there are—use Minute Rice in delicious rice puddings . . . in soups . . . in curries . . . in creamed dishes . . . and in place of potatoes. Get Minute Rice from your grocer.

Trying To Save Big Onion Crop

TORONTO, Nov. 8. (CP). — In an effort to save an onion crop grown on the Holland Marsh 35 miles north of here, the Ontario government is trying to find storage space for the onions, possibly in one of the Canadian National Exhibition buildings here. The government also plans to help growers find a market for the crop.

Agriculture Minister Kennedy said today:

"There are 265,000 bags of onions out in the open on the marsh. They are covered only by canvas. They are selling for $1 for three bags and it cost the growers $1.50 a bag to produce them.

"Producers in the Holland Marsh area are hard-hit this year. On account of the heavy rains, crops were almost doubled in potatoes, carrots and other vegetables all over the province. The Holland Marsh people are having difficulty this year in meeting their taxes.

"If the onions can be saved, markets will probably be available later in the West Indies and the islands of the Caribbean."

Warren Waltops James Roosevelt For Governorship

SAN FRANSISCO, Nov. 8 (AP) —A smashing vote in Wednesday's election over Democrat James Roosevelt assured Republican Earl Warren a third term as California's governor—and a crack, maybe, at bigger things in '52.

Returns from the balloting pointed strongly to election of fast-rising young representative Richard W. Nixon (Rep.) to the United States Senate. He interpreted the vote as a mandate to continue his fight against President Truman's foreign policy.

His opponent, representative Helen Gahagan Douglas (Dem.), refused to concede. The former actress, a 100-per-cent New-Dealer, was warmly endorsed by President Truman for her support of his program.

Warren's return to another four years in office was never in doubt. Roosevelt, eldest son of the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt, failed to challenge the popular chief executive in even Democratic Los Angeles county.

Roosevelt Concedes

Roosevelt conceded at midnight. He sent his "sincere congratulations" to the excutive mansion in Sacramento where the usual election-night cheer was missing.

Doctors discovered Wednesday that Nina Warren, 17, one of six Warren children, hand infantile paralysis. The governor wept as he reached her bedside. Her condition is serious.

Warren gave no hint as to any future ambitions. His party's 1948 nominee for vice-president, he already has been mentioned as a 1952 prospect.

Quebec Jaycees Pay Visit To City Plants

Eighteen members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce of Beauharnois, Que., visited the plants of Western Clock Company and Outboard Marine and Manufacturing Company this morning. They travelled by C.N.R. from Montreal and are leaving at nine o'clock tonight on their return by way of Belleville.

"We have 85 members in our Junior Chamber, and we are aiming at 150," Mr. J. R. Plouffe told the Examiner. "We have many business and community projects in Beauharnois, and are recognized as a responsible and active organization in our city."

The trip to Peterborough developed out of a suggestion by Louis Trudeau, who is agent for Outboard Marine and Manufacturing Co.

Lively Demand

"There is lively demand and use for Johnson motors in our district, because of our background of water," Mr. Plouffe said. "It happened that I remembered Western Clock as being another Peterborough industry, and as I am a jeweller selling their products, I thought it would be helpful to see their manufacture and get a better idea of how they are made.

"So, the trip to Peterborough was proposed, and we got up a party of eighteen. We are going on to the Outboard Marine this afternoon."

Gerald Grady, president of Peterborough Junior Chamber of Commerce, with Doug Vaisey and Ken Billings, met the visitors this afternoon and arranged for a meeting with them this evening.

Help Welcome

"They came on their own initiative" Mr. Grady said, "but we certainly wanted to help in welcoming the Quebec group."

The members of the party were: J. R. Plouffe, Gordon Kirby, Leo Moniere, B. Sauve, W. E. Pouliot, J. L. Marchand, Maurice Leduc, Bernard Hebert, Parfait Tessier, George Girard, Laurent Gagnier, Arthur Coulliard, Gaston Gendron, Andre and Edouard Boyer, Francois Dorval, Paul Lamoreux, Rene Rajotte and B. Hebert.

The Beauharnois visitors were registered at the Empress Hotel.

No Agreement Over Ruling

WINDSOR, Nov. 8 — (CP) — There was no agreement Tuesday night between Ford Motor Company of Canada and Local 200, United Automobile Workers (CIO), on the meaning of a ruling by Mr. Justice Ivan C. Rand in the seniority dispute between the two parties.

A company spokesman said that the umpire's decision rejected the union's contention that Ford of Canada had misinterpreted seniority agreements in the present layoff.

"I don't know whether it does or not," Roy England, Local 200 president, said.

Mr. Justice Rand ruled that layoffs can go into effect for overlapping periods, either more or less than 21 days. If they begin at the same time, he ruled, they should be applied so as to have the least effect on the company-wide seniority rights of employees.

Seniority Prevails

Departmental seniority would prevail where a layoff of less than 21 days was ordered in any department. If a further layoff extended the time beyond 21 days, company-wide seniority would apply, he decided.

The company spokesman said Tuesday night that the layoff is now at its peak, with less than 5,000 off work. Most of them would return within the next few days. The "great majority" would be idled from seven to 10 days.

Seven Suffer Burns

RIO DE JANEIRO, Nov. 8 — (Reuters) — Seven of the crew of the 1,500-ton Brabilian destroyer Greenhalgh suffered burns when fire broke out in the engine room Tuesday. The destroyer, taking part in exercises off the coast, returned to base without help.

Alexander Scott

The funeral service for Alexander Scott, 90, of Concession 4, Smith Township, who died Sunday was held at the Belleghem Funeral Home on Tuesday. Mr. Scott has lived in this district for a lifetime and was one of the oldest residents of the township.

The Rev. Ivan C. Morgan of Murray St. Baptist Church conducted the service.

The pallbearers were Dr. Raymore Scott, Alex Edminson, Max Archer, William Scott, Charles Westlake and Harold Archer. Burial was in Little Lake Cemetery.

Queen's Alumni Elect 1950-51 Executive

Queen's University Alumni of Peterborough district elected a new executive at their annual meeting at the Kawartha Country Club Tuesday evening. Miss Helen McGregor, past president of the association, brought in the nominating committee's report which was adopted.

Honorary presidents are: the Rev. Wm. McDonald and the Rev. David L. Gordon, both of whom have been alumni for more than fifty years.

The Rev. Dr. D. Bruce Gordon is past-president. Thomas Allen was named president for the academic year 1950-51.

Other officers are as follows: 1st vice-president, F. B. Smitheram; 2nd vice-president, Dr. Thomas E. Currier; honorary secretary, Miss Ethel Patterson; assistant, Miss Meg. Gordon honorary treasurer, C. M. (Curly) Krug; executive committee, Mrs. John Londerville (Levana); Dr. W. J. Gordon (Medicine); Donald A. Lamont (Science); W. L. McNeil (Arts). Convener of the endowment committee, Arnold J. Noftall; convener of vocational guidance committee, Miss Helen McGregor.

Canadians See Airlift Staying Indefinitely

TOKYO, Nov. 8—(CP)—Canadian pilots of the Korean airlift see their job continuing indefinitely.

Some say that even if the Korean war ends soon, the United States will continue to use the air-freight-train service to help stockpile arms in the Far East. One such stockpiling point is believed to be in the Philippines.

A lift in Manila would eliminate the present weather-hazardous route through Alaska and the Aleutians to Tokyo.

Valuable Find

HUNSTANTON, Norfolk, England —(CP)— John Richardson found a short thin-bladed sword buried in his garden and gave it to his younger brother to play with. Now a museum has offered to buy it. The "plaything" was a 14th-century sword.

Need 3 Beliefs Jr. Farmers Told

A three-point philosophy of life was suggested to the Peterborough district Junior Farmers Tuesday night by Dr. G. A. Reaman, head of the English department at the Ontario Agricultural College.

Speaking to members of the association at their sixth annual banquet, Dr. Reaman told them three beliefs were necessary for a philosophy of life—belief in oneself, belief in others, and belief in some power outside this world.

Without the beliefs, he said, there would be little thrill out of life. With them, a person could go out on a limb and remain confident.

"You know what Zacchaeus achieved by going out on a limb. Christ saw him and spoke with him, and Zacchaeus will be remembered as long as the Bible lasts."

Introverts Difficulties

The person who has the most difficult time going out on a limb is an introvert, Dr. Reaman said. The extrovert doesn't have to be asked; he is already out there. The introvert, on the other hand, is often afraid to start up the trunk of the tree, let alone go out on a limb.

He said that people must keep alive in their thinking "and be willing to go out on a limb and face criticism." Fear of losing popularity is not worthwhile, as popularity is a fitful thing.

"To be popular can be a most dangerous thing. It is better to be hated but respected than to be popular," he declared.

The chairman, Burritt Mann, who is also the retiring president, outlined briefly the activities of the group during the past year, and introduced the new president of the Junior Farmers of the district, John Edmison, of Smith township.

Impellitteri Mayor Of New York City

NEW YORK, Nov. 8—(AP)—Vincent R. Impellitteri, an angry, insurgent Democrat, beat Tammany Hall single-handed Tuesday and won election as mayor of New York City.

Riding a wave of popular sympathy after he was denied his party's nomination, he defeated judge Ferdinand Pecora, the Democratic - Liberal nominee, with 1,156,587 votes to 937,060.

The Republican and American Labor party candidates were caught between two major rivals and swamped.

Republican Edward Corsi drew 382,795 votes, while Paul Ross, the leftwing A.L.P. candidate, got only 149,182.

CHANGE OF COMMAND—Group Captain A. Cameron, 40, of Oak Lake, Man., takes over command of the RCAF Station at Rockcliffe, near Ottawa, from Wing Cmdr. Joe Frizzle. Group Captain Cameron recently returned from behind the Iron Curtain, where he served for two years as Air Attache in Czechoslovakia. This RCAF photo shows him signing for the station while Wing Cmdr. Frizzle looks on.

District Puck Loop Draws Five Entries

HASTINGS, Nov. 8 (ENS). — Further plans were made on Monday evening when a meeting was held here on forming a hockey league.

Representatives were present from Warsaw, Keene and Lakefield.

The league will be known as the East Peterborough League. Each team is to have two voting representatives on the executive. This league will be composed of five teams, with five new rinks all built within the last two years, and within a radius of 30 miles.

Officers are: president, Sherwood Payne; secretary, Dr. Ford; treasurer, F. Crate. The entry fee is $10 with $5 more levied if there is a deficiency.

It was decided that the visiting team supply referee and home team supply linesman for the regular schedule, executive to decide on referees for play-offs at a later date.

No players playing TVL or any OHA hockey above junior "C" will be allowed to play in this league. This league will play under OHA rules.

Mr. F. Whalen informed the meeting that Dit Clapper and Dave Wilson are donating a cup for annual competition in the league.

The next meeting will be held at Keene on Monday, Nov. 20 at 8:00 p.m.

Marmora News

Weekend guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Brooks were Mrs. Daisy Smith and daughter Iris, and Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Nobes and son Jimmy, all of Peterborough.

Rev. and Mrs. W. H. Clarke of Deseronto renewed acquaintances here on Tuesday. Rev. Clarke was pastor of the former Methodist Church here in the years of the First World War.

Mrs. T. Pack is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kelly after an extended visit with relatives in Niagara Falls, Ont., and Niagara Falls, N. Y.

Hastings Council Meets

HASTINGS, Nov. 8—(ENS)—The regular meeting of the Hastings Village Council was held, with Reeve C. S. Howse in the chair and Councillors J. Lynch, W. Thomas, F. Foster, W. Thomas present.

Correspondence was read from the file. On motion of Dodd and Thomas, accounts are to be paid. It was decided that the municipality purchase a wreath for Armistice Day. On motion of Thomas and Foster, the clerk is to write Dr. Craig in Peterborough about a doctor for the village. Twenty-foot tile is to be purchased for a drain extension near James Calberry's new house. On motion of Foster and Thomas, a donation for the blind of $10 is to be sent.

Under One Roof

BERLIN, Nov. 8 (Reuters) — Officers of all four occupation powers in Germany gathered under one roof here Tuesday night for the first time in a year. Representatives of the three western occupation authorities, the United States, Britain and France, attended a reception by Gen. Vassily I. Chuikov, head of the Russian control commission, for the 33rd anniversary of the Soviet revolution.

Entertain Trustees, Teachers At Cavan

MILLBROOK, Nov. 8 (ENS).— Trustees and teachers of South Cavan school area were entertained Monday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Patton.

Among those present were: Mr. Russell Bonner, Mr. and Mrs. Allan Wood, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Breckenridge, Mr. D. Hutchison, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Finlay, Miss Nan Pitchford, Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Hunter, Mrs. Miller.

Mr. James Gay, the new music instructor, and Mrs. Gay were also present.

Plan School Plays

Work has been started on the school plays for commencement. Both one-act plays chosen by the students are comedies, and strangely enough both titles are about marriage, but there the similarity ends. The stories are very different. Those taking part in "Marriage Wows" are: Leona Ball, Beverley Patton, Anne Dawson, May Hubbeard, Yvonne Richards, Helen Fallis, George Smith, Paul Sanders, Don Kent, Bob Thompson and Orlo and Dennis Challice.

The cast for "She Married Will" includes: Margaret Aiken, Marie-Claire Husser, Nancy Richards, Charles Smith, John Rowe and Bob Palmer.

Grade IX girls are busy practicing for their drill. They are under the direction of Mrs. B. B. Dawson and Mrs. G. MacKay is in charge of costuming.

Edgar J. Tarr Dies In West

WINNIPEG, Nov. 8—(CP)—Edgar Jordan Tarr, K.C., 69, principal Canadian delegate to many international conferences and director of the Bank of Canada, died Tuesday in hospital following a heart attack.

Mr. Tarr was also President of the Monarch Life Assurance Company and Director of the Industrial Development Bank; the Northern Trusts Co.; A. R. McNichol, Ltd.; G. F. and J. Galt Ltd.; and United Corporations Ltd.

Mr. Tarr was President of the Institute of Pacific Relations, on which he represented nine nations bordering on the Pacific Ocean. One of the first members of the Canadian Institute on International Affairs, he succeeded the late John W. Dafoe of Winnipeg as its national president.

Canadian delegate to the London conference on British Commonwealth Relations in 1945, he earlier attended international conferences in Jerusalem, Kyoto, Paris, London, Sydney, Australia, and various cities in the United States and Canada.

His appointment as a Director of the Bank of Canada was announced in May, 1941, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Prof. Robert McQueen of the University of Manitoba.

Deerhunter Shaken Up As Car Crashes Rail

A Toronto deerhunter escaped with only a shaking up Tuesday night when his car crashed through a guard rail at the Young's Point locks bridge and fell over a six-foot embankment.

The 1942-model car received $700 damage.

Driver was Walter Stockill, 31, Eglinton Ave., Toronto. Stockill was following another car of deerhunters driving north along Highway 28. He crossed the first bridge at Young's Point but his brakes failed as he tried to make the turn at the entrance to the locks bridge.

The vehicle crashed through the steel guard rail and fell over the six-foot embankment, landing on its roof. The roof was smashed in, fenders torn and the doors sprung. Although badly damaged the car is repairable.

Provincial Constable A. C. Russell investigated.

41 Restaurants Listed In City

Results of the trial census taken in the city in September and made public today show increases both in the number of retail and wholesale establishments.

The figures were received by James Fraser, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, from the Dominion Bureau of Statistics.

Retail and service establishments increased in number from 1941 to 150 by 102, and wholesale establishments in the same period by 12, making a total of 114.

Greatest increase in retail stores was shown by the building materials group, which doubled in number during the nine years—from 13 to 26. Second largest increase was in the restaurant group. There are 41 restaurants listed this year, compared to 22 in 1949.

In the service division, the repair and service group showed an increase of 15, from 21 to 36, and miscellaneous establishments increased from five to 16. Others mostly stayed steady or showed a decrease.

Following is the listing of the department's findings

Retail	1941	1950
General merchandise stores	12	15
Apparel stores	57	68
Furniture, etc., stores	13	26
Food stores	98	107

Plan Ruling Soon For Count

OTTAWA, Nov. 8—(CP)—Immigration Minister Harris said Tuesday he probably will make a decision about the middle of next week on an appeal of Count Jacques de Bernonville against a deportation order.

De Bernonville was one of a group of alleged Nazi collaborators in France who entered Canada on false passports in 1947. He was the only one of the group ordered deported.

Last February, a three-man Immigration Department Board ordered De Bernonville's deportation for a second time. An original order was quashed by the Quebec Superior Court and De Bernonville appealed to the Minister against the second order.

If Mr. Harris denies the appeal, the 52-year-old French nobleman will have to return to his native France where he was sentenced to death in absentia for alleged collaboration with the Nazis.

Rev. J. V. Rutherford Preaches In Omemee

OMEMEE, Nov. 8 —(ENS)— At Trinity United Chruch anniversary service on Sunday, Rev. T. V. Rutherford of Haliburton was speaker both morning and evening.

At the morning service Mr. Rutherford spoke from Ps. 55:6— "Oh that I had wings like a dove: for then would I fly away and be at rest." This he considered an unworthy desire, saying "we ought rather to pray for adequacy to meet whatever circumstance of life fell to our lot."

In the evening he took as his text, "Wash me and I shall be whiter than snow." He emphasized the need of pureness of heart and freedom from self-centredness. "Business and religion," said Mr. Rutherford, "are too often regarded as entirely separate." The church, he said, was inclined to let itself be smeared by the impact of the world, when it should be placing its imprint on the world. He urged Christians to "play the game," comparing the fight for truth and purity to a football scrimmage. "The men who built up our church in former days were not afraid to tackle evil," he said, "not afraid to get in the bottom of the scrimmage—self protection was not important for them."

Special music by the choir also contributed much to the services.

Posthumous Award Given By Society For Rescue

TORONTO, Nov. 8 — (CP) — Posthumous award of a gold medal to Herbert Piercy, of Sydney, N.S., announced today by the Royal Canadian Humane Association. Piercy was honored for the rescue, at the cost of his own life, of an unconscious man from a gas-laden sewer.

The association also announced award of two bronze medals, to Katherine Helen Edwards, of Flin Flon, Man., and William MacDonald, of Goderich, Ont. In addition 11 parchment certificates were granted.

The accident which cost Piercy his life occurred at Sydney July 11, when workers were cleaning out a sewer sump 12 feet deep. Stephen Melnick was overcome by gas and Alexander MacKenzie went to his aid but was forced to the surface.

Piercy, 21, married with two children, answered the call for help and descended the ladder. He succeeded in tying Melnick to a rope and the latter was hauled to the surface. But Piercy himself was found dead at the bottom. A coroner's jury returned a verdict that death was due to a violent twisting of the neck in a fall after being overcome by gas.

Bronze Medal

Miss Edwards received a bronze medal for her part in saving the lives of June and Lloyd Bates from drowning at a picnic near Flin Flon last August.

A bronze medal was awarded Mr. MacDonald for his rescue of Mrs. Hazel Wettlaufer from a plane that nose-dived into the water at Goderich on June 24. Mrs. Wettlaufer's husband and young son lost their lives in this accident.

A parchment certificate was awarded to Alexander MacKenzie for his part in the Sydney sewer rescue for which the gold medal was given posthumously to Herbert Piercy.

Rosemary Brightman, of North Vancouver, was given a parchment certificate for the rescue of Shirley McLeod in Lynn Creek, June 18.

Other Certificates

Other parchment certificates were awarded as follows:

To Mrs. G. Burton, Henri Beauchamp, Armand Savoie and Jean Guy Arsenault, all of Montreal, for aiding the rescue of a family from their burning home at Montreal May 28.

To Cecil Legue, Algo Toulouse and James P. Troy, all of Chatham, Ont., for aiding in the rescue of Donald Baker in the Thames March 1.

To Philip Quinn, of Brandon, Man., for the rescue of Eric Lakin Jr. from drowning at Clear Lake, June 5.

To Neil Duguid Christie, Port Dalhousie, Ont., for the rescue of George Burrows in the Welland canal, June 30.

Harris To Co-operate On Skilled Workers

OTTAWA, Nov. 8 (CP)—Immigration Minister Harris said Tuesday his department would co-operate with the Ontario government in admitting immigrants as skilled workers for jobs in Ontario.

The minister said he had not yet been advised officially of a proposal by Premier Frost that federal authorities bring in 17,400 skilled workers for Ontario. Mr. Frost said at Toronto this number would be needed to fill jobs in his province.

RECORD TERM — Garnet Coulter, 69-year-old lawyer, has been re-elected to his fifth term as mayor of Winnipeg. He has been mayor longer than anyone else in Winnipeg's 76 years as a city. The previous record—eight years—was set by the late Ralph Webb.

Gov't Adds Gifts For Quadruplets

MELBOURNE, Australia, Nov. 8 (Reuters)—The Australian government Tuesday added its offering to a mounting flood of gifts pouring into the parents of quadruplets, born here Nov. 4.

The federal government will grant 33-year-old Gordon Ogle and his wife a weekly allowance of £4 ($8.80) to pay for domestic help.

Earlier the Victoria state government had promised the Ogles a $200 cash grant and a three-bedroom house.

Besides that, the Ogles will get maternity allowances of £40 and a weekly child endowment amounting to about $2.

A special fund has been set up to handle private gifts of money, clothing and nursery equipment which continue to arrive from all over the country.

Meanwhile, reports from hospital say the quads and their 28-year-old mother continue to do well.

Ontario Liberals Chart Policy

TORONTO, Nov. 9—(CP)—Delegates to the Ontario Liberal Leadership convention tonight studied a comprehensive policy its framers hope will help carry the party to victory in the next provincial general election. The 3,000-word statement sets out the Liberal viewpoints on 15 subjects with the emphasis on such matters as welfare and social security, municipal affairs, education, agriculture, natural resources, fiscal policy, housing, hydro, labor and recreation. It proposes, among other things, that Ontario negotiate a financial agreement with the federal government as has been done by all the province's except Ontario and Quebec, and that the eligible voting age in provincial elections be lowered from 21 to 18.

The statement is contained in an 18-page printed booklet distributed to delegates at 6 p.m. EDT today. Friday morning it comes up for consideration. It is recommended by the Ontario Liberal Association's committee on policy, headed by Colin Campbell, former provincial minister of public works. It is endorsed by the Association's management committee.

Proposals of the 97-point statement include:

Fiscal

Negotiation immediately with the Federal government of a fiscal agreement "which will result in substantially increased revenue for the province." Eight of the 10 Canadian provinces have such agreements under which they lease certain tax fields to the Federal government in return for grants.

Liquor Profits

Transfer monthly to the Provincial Treasury of liquor sale profits to reduce taxation requirements.

Utmost economy in controllable government expenditures.

Education

Presentation to the next session of the Ontario Legislature of the report of the Royal Commission which has been studying the Ontario Education System for the last 5½ years and thorough consideration of its recommendations.

A full-time Minister of Education. (The present minister, Han. Dana Porter, is also Provincial Attorney-General).

Greater financial assistance to urban and rural school boards.

An impartial commission to distribute government grants to universities.

Co-operation with other provinces in seeking more uniform education and teaching standards.

Assure that as many school children as possible be taught English and French and that both languages be made requirements for Senior Matriculation.

A vigorous program to recruit and train teachers and to provide them with proper remuneration.

Municipal Affairs

A highly-qualified Commission or committee to inquire into provincial-municipal relations and local government problems, its report and recommendations to be submitted within one year of its appointment.

Cocktail Bars, Taverns Planning To Aid Police Drive Against Drinking Drivers

TORONTO, Nov. 9 (CP).—Representatives of 107 Toronto cocktail lounges and taverns announced they will meet today to consider means of aiding a police drive against drinking drivers.

"We're going to see if there's anything further we can do to stop people from driving to bars," said Earl Torno secretary of the Toronto Hotel Proprietors' Association.

The police crackdown was announced Tuesday by traffic inspector Vernon Page following disclosure that arrests of drinking drivers so far this year are up 22 per cent over last year. He said bars were not clearly to blame for the increase.

"It is up to the individual," he said. "Bar proprietors "don't drag me in, pour liquor down my throat and then force me to drive home."

Mr. Torno said the association is prepared to spend "many thousands more dollars" on a campaign to prevent drinkers from driving.

Higher Taxes Only Way To Halt Inflation—Towers

TORONTO, Nov. 9—(CP)—Graham Towers suggested today that, fundamentally, only by higher taxes will Canada be able to meet the inflation threat and pay for an expanding defence program which may have to be maintained "for many years to come."

The Governor of the Bank of Canada, looking over the broad general picture of recent domestic and foreign monetary developments, advocated a pay-as-you-go policy in a speech prepared for delivery before a joint meeting of the Empire Club of Canada and the Canadian Club of Toronto.

The increased taxation, he said, must be aimed at a reduction of spendable incomes "to the extent that the available supply of goods is being reduced by the demands of the defence program."

He made these other points:

1. Since Canada's rearmament program was still only in the initial stages, the amount of taxes should also include, as much as possible, sufficient funds to pay for part of future defence spending.

2. It did not necessarily follow that large-scale defence spending automatically meant inflation. Canada could defend herself against inflation with the weapons of higher taxes, specific credit controls and a strong monetary policy.

3. Since the problem of defence likely would form part of the life

28 Cars Pile Up On Slippery Hill

DENVER, Nov. 9—(AP)—A snowstorm and resulting slick streets produced a 28-car accident but police were too busy to bother with it.

The mass pile-up of cars occurred on a South Denver hill last night after the motorist's car skidded sidewise. Before he got his car straightened out, 27 other vehicles were involved.

The report reached police headquarters, already swamped with traffic calls. There were no injuries, so police advised worried motorists to "straighten it out the best you can."

Nootka Korea-Bound

HALIFAX, Nov. 9 (CP).—The Canadian Navy announced today the tribal class destroyer HMCS Nootka will sail from Halifax Nov. 25 with her ultimate destination Korea. The ship, under the command of Cmdr. Alexander B. Fraser-Harris, will head for Pearl Harbor via the Panama Canal.

3 Canadian Destroyers Get Sub Training At Hong Kong

TOKYO, Nov. 9 (CP) — The three Canadian destroyers that have been operating with United Nations forces in Korean waters today were on their way to Hong Kong for a brief spell of anti-submarine training.

They will work out with a British submarine off the big naval base.

The Athabaskan and the Cayuga are due to reach Hong Kong Friday. The Sioux, escorting a British carrier, is scheduled to arrive there Saturday.

United Nations naval commanders here said all three will return to Japan in about a week to resume "routine patrol" off Korea.

The tribal class destroyers, which sailed from Esquimalt, BC, July 5, have taken part in landing and bombardment operations off Korea, as well as performing patrol duties and screening larger United Nations fleet units.

In all the actions, including the Inchon landings on the west coast of Korea Sept. 15 that led to the liberation of the South Korean capital of Seoul, there have been no Canadian casualties.

Each destroyer carries a complement of about 250 sailors, mostly young men who have joined the navy since the end of the Second World War.

The destroyers, in the war zone since Jan. 31, represent only part of Canada's contribution to the United Nations fight against the Communists in Korea.

24 Witnesses Fail To Name Yuzwa

Men In Fawn Coats Said to Attacked Two of Other Victims

LINDSAY, Nov. 9 (Special) —Lionel Tracey, Lindsay contractor and crown witness at the murder trial of William Yuzwa, testified today he saw two men in fawn coats—not the accused—attack Thornton Olver and Floyd Smith. Both Olver and Smith were treated in Lindsay hospital for knife wounds.

Tracey was the last of 24 crown witnesses called by Special Crown Prosecutor W. B. Common and Crown Attorney Lorne W. Jordan of Lindsay. The Crown finished its case shortly before 1 p.m.

The defence is being heard later today. B. J. Spencer Pitt, counsel for Yuzwa, has not indicated how many witnesses he will call, or if he will call any.

Kearns Not Called

One of the surprises of the second trial was the non-appearance of Joe Kearns (the man who chief witness Wesley Aldred described as laughing as Loucks staggered west up Kent St. fatally wounded). At the first trial Mr. Justice Urquhart intimated that Kearns should have been called and he was subpoenaed for the second trial. However, the Crown did not put him on the stand.

Tracey repeated the testimony he gave at the first trial and was carefully cross-examined by Mr. Pitt.

Tracey said he was sitting in a parked car about five feet west of the Big 20. He described the argument between Loucks and Yuzwa who was in the truck, and said that Yuzwa struck out at Loucks through the car window. Whether or not the blow landed he couldn't say.

The witness said Loucks then walked west up Kent St. and that was the last time he saw Loucks alive.

Saw Olver Hit

He saw two men in fawn-colored coats detach themselves from a group of eight or nine people milling around in front of the cafe, and saw them hit Olver.

"Did you notice anything about Olver's condition?" asked the Crown.

"He was bleeding," replied Tracey.

The same two men then went up to Smith. He observed no blows struck, but later he saw that Smith was bleeding. One of the two attackers kicked Smith as he lay on the sidewalk stunned from the original blow, said Tracey.

Phone Strike Crippling US

NEW YORK, Nov. 9—(AP)—C.I.O. equipment workers tied up huge Bell U.S. telephone network from coast-to-coast today in a work stoppage that threatened to paralyze a major link in the country's communication system.

The long-threatened walkout spread gradually across the country as the 6 a.m. local time deadline passed.

The 33,000 strikers are members of the Communications Workers Union (C.I.O.) Some 16,000 are employed by Western Electric Company, manufacturing and installing arm of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company. A wage dispute touched off the walkout after the union rejected a proposed wage increase of 10 to 11½ cents an hour. The union asked a "substantial boost."

The remaining strikers are employed by the Michigan Bell Telephone Company, involved in a separate wage dispute with the company.

The strikers stationed picket lines around exchanges from coast to coast—a manoeuvre designed to keep nearly 300,000 fellow union members, including operators, away from their jobs.

One Of Quads Dies

MELBOURNE, Australia, Nov. 9 — (AP) — Gerhard Raymond, eldest of the five-day-old Ogle quads, died today. There was anxiety about the survival of the other three children of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Ogle of Melbourne. Doctors said, however, that they were hopeful they would pull through.

Chinese Reds Withdraw, Credit Diplomats

SEOUL, Nov. 9 (AP)—A puzzling lull marked the Korean war today.

The diplomatic front had taken the spotlight. Communist China was asked by the United Nations Security Council to answer charges of throwing tens of thousands of Red troops into the twilight stages of the campaign.

The charges, by U.N. commander Gen. MacArthur, were followed up today by a chapter-and-verse appraisal by his Tokyo spokesman, who said sixty thousand Chinese Red troops are in North Korea, with as many more available immediately in Manchuria.

Hence, the lull wasn't due to Communist inability to keep up the pressure that last week forced hasty U.N. withdrawals in northwest Korea. The Chinese, themselves having pulled back this week, seemed to be waiting further orders.

Allied ground forces moved cautiously ahead for short distances, continuing consolidations started gradually four days ago. Up until late today the only noteworthy development was a strike by carrier-based dive-bombers on two railroad bridges across the Yalu River boundary between Manchuria and northwest Korea.

Hit Bridges

The U.S. navy said its sky raiders whammed the bridges — at bomb-rubbled Sinuiju—with 1,000- and 2,000-pound bombs. Sinuiju, a city of about 100,000, was reported 90 per cent destroyed by Wednesday's heavy B-29 raid.

Dive-bombers from the carrier Philippine Sea ran into heavy anti-aircraft fire as they pounded the twin spans.

U.S. navy Panther jet fighters, flying cover for the bombers, warded off four Russian-made MIG-15 jet fighters and shot down one in history's second death fight between jets. The first was Wednesday, when U.S. F-80 Shooting Stars downed one MIG-15 and damaged another.

On the ground, evidence was multiplying that Chinese troops were the only barrier to the Yalu River boundary and the end of the Korean conflict, which began June 25 with an invasion of the U.N.-sponsored republic in the south.

Three Survivors

Three South Korean army officers who walked 150 miles through Red lines said North Korean troops have vanished; that only Chinese seem to be fighting north of the Chongchon River. The three were stragglers from the 7th Regiment of the South Korean 6th Division.

The regiment had reached the Manchurian border north of Onjong, but was cut off in the fierce Red counter-offensive and virtually wiped out.

Princess Elizabeth Confined With Cold

LONDON, Nov. 9 (CP).—Princess Elizabeth was confined to her home today with a heavy cold.

She had to cancel a scheduled visit to the RAF's fighter command headquarters northwest of London, where she was to have inspected the underground operations room and radar equipment.

The King has been suffering from a slight attack of rheumatism but is carrying on his normal duties.

Deer Hunter Drowned, Punt Upsets

Three Others Cling To Upturned Boat Fourth Makes Shore

BANCROFT, Nov. 9 (ENS)—When a punt occupied by five deerhunters overturned on Wadsworth Lake at noon Wednesday, Frederick Francis Baldock, 60, of Gilmour, was drowned. The lake is 30 miles south-east of Bancroft in Cashel Township.

It is the second fatality of the deerhunting season in the Peterborough area. On Saturday Gerald Amon, 46, of Scarboro Bluffs was killed near Campbellford when his shotgun accidentally discharged as he stepped out of his boat.

Three of the party—including Baldock's two sons, Frank and John, and Howard Johnston of Whitby— clung to the capsized punt until they were rescued. The fifth member of the party, Jack Henthorne of Peterborough, an excellent swimmer, made shore.

Mr. Henthorne, 129 Maude St., was on the hunting trip into Cashel township with John Baldock, 27, Aylmer St., Peterborough, sales manager for Williamson Brothers at George and Lansdowne Streets, a son of the victim of the accident, F. F. Baldock.

Returning to Camp

The hunters were returning to camp after bagging one deer. It was placed in the boat along with a hound that was being used in tracking down the game.

A short distance from shore the outboard motor driving the punt stopped, and Baldock stood up in the craft to start it again. After several tries he was successful, but was thrown off balance by the sudden lurch when it started up.

The boat, already heavily loaded, capsized as Baldock lurched and fell into the lake; the other four were thrown in as well. Baldock's two sons and Johnston clung to the capsized punt and shouted for help. Henthorne started to swim for shore.

Came to Rescue

The cries for help were heard by two other hunters, Tom and James Dafoe of Whitby. Although they rowed to the scene of the accident in a few minutes, the Dafoes were unable to save Baldock, who had disappeared.

Dragging operations commenced with the arrival of Provincial Corporal Archie Grayling and Constable John Hawkins of Bancroft. The body was recovered at 2:45 p.m. after being in the water nearly three hours.

Baldock, father of six children, operates a summer camp on Wadsworth Lake, and he was escorting a party of hunters when he met his death.

Baby Dies

SUDBURY, Nov. 9 (CP)—Nine-months-old Darlene Gail Walbrook, of nearby Bayswater, died Wednesday from swallowing oil of wintergreen police said was poured down her throat by her two-year-old brother.

Below Zero In West

WINNIPEG, Nov. 9—(CP) —The temperature fell to eight degrees below early today at Gillam in northern Manitoba. It was the first sub-zero reading of the winter in Manitoba. Coldest prairie spot was Whitecourt, west of Edmonton, which had 11 below.

Liberals Sure Next Election To Bring Victory

TORONTO, Nov. 9 — (CP).—The Ontario Liberal Leadership Convention opened today on a note of optimism.

Both Norman L. Mathews of Toronto, president of the Ontario Liberal Association, and Bruce McCullough of Kitchener, new president of Ontario Young Liberals, saw possibility of victory for the party in the next provincial general election.

Mr. Mathews, reporting on his work as president, said "I believe we have never had a better chance of winning an election in Ontario than the next one," providing the convention chooses wisely in electing a Leader to succeed Farquhar Oliver and does a capable job of framing a campaign policy.

Mr. McCullough predicted victory if all branches of the Ontario Liberal Association gave each other full co-operation and if an intensive organization drive followed the convention.

Routine Business

The meeting spent most of the morning on routine business, adjourning before noon for district meetings to elect committee members and other officials. This afternoon it was scheduled to elect its officers for the next year and then receive nominations for the Leadership. At least eight men are certain starters. The Leadership election is Friday afternoon.

The leadership race appears wide open. Delegates from all parts of the province—some of the men high in the party councils—said frankly that they had not made up their minds how they would vote.

Most of the lobby gossip indicated that John G. Brown of Kitchener and Walter Thomson of Toronto and Pickering are looked on as favorites. But there were indications that could change tonight when the vote-catching campaigns get into full swing.

2 Destroyers Collide 4 Killed, 3 Injured

NORFOLK, Va., Nov. 9 (AP)—Two United States Navy destroyers collided early Wednesday 400 miles off Wilmington, N.C., killing four men. Three others were injured, two of them critically.

Atlantic fleet headquarters reported the Brownson and the C. H. Roan collided at 1:10 a.m. The collision occurred while the destroyers were participating in Atlantic fleet manoeuvres.

All the casualties were aboard the Roan, the navy reported.

Ontario Milk Distribution Said Controlled By Cartel

NIAGARA FALLS, Nov. 9 (CP) Malcolm Robb, lawyer, said Wednesday that milk distribution in Ontario is controlled by the "roughest, toughest cartel" in the province.

He told the Ontario Chamber of Commerce there is no free enterprise in the distribution of milk in Ontario.

"Free enterprise is not going to survive on a doctrine of scarcity," he said. "Every time the price of milk goes up in this province, you are losing people to Socialism."

Mr. Robb spoke as representative of the Belleville Chamber of Commerce.

Ted Whittaker, of the Guelph Chamber of Commerce, said milk is the cheapest food on sale today.

"Mothers who complain about the price of milk give their children money to buy soft drinks without as much as a murmur."

P. M. Dewan, former Ontario Agriculture Minister and the owner of a 330-acre dairy farm in the Ingersoll district, said he does not know how the cost of milk can be held down in view of the high cost of processing and distribution.

"I don't like the idea of a 40-hour week," he said. "Everything the farmer buys today is produced on the basis of a 40-hour week and he has to work 60 hours. I am not opposed to good wages for labor and holidays with pay but I am in favor of more efficient work and greater production."

Plan To Bring 200 Men Every Month

Need Workers Badly Saunders Says, Ottawa Co-operates

TORONTO, Nov. 9—(CP)—Two thousand British workers will be flown to Canada, probably starting in January, to work on Ontario Hydro Commission projects, Hydro Chairman Robert H. Saunders announced today.

Mr. Saunders said the workers will be brought out in groups of about 200 a month. The Hydro Commission will lend them their fare on the understanding that each worker will remain with the Commission for about two years and will repay 50 per cent. of the money advanced.

Federal authorities have cleared the way for the arrangement.

Immigration Minister Harris cabled federal representatives in England, advising them of the commission's request for 2,000 workers and indicating his government's approval.

"We need men very badly and we foresee a serious labor shortage next year," Mr. Saunders said.

Joint Committee

He had received assurance from James Armstrong, Ontario's agent general in London, that many workers in Britain were anxious to come to Canada. One or two men from the Hydro Commission will be sent to England to act in conjunction with federal immigration men as a selection committee.

Investigation has shown that shipping space probably will be scarce until next April, Mr. Saunders said. That finding gave rise to the decision to bring the immigrants to Canada by air. Mr. Harris promised assistance in finding aircraft.

The workers are needed principally for the new $300,000,000 Niagara power development. Until they are placed on the project, they will be housed at several hydro camps throughout the province.

Swedish King Buried In Pomp

STOCKHOLM, Nov. 9 (AP).—King Gustaf V was buried in the pantheon of Swedish kings by the side of his predecessors of seven centuries at a majestic ceremony today.

The first shovelfuls of dust fell on his purple coffin at noon, followed by the booming of the first of 42 volleys from cannon.

Three kings, three crown princes, some 90 princes and representatives of 44 foreign chiefs of state attended the solemn ceremony at 13th-century Riddarholm Church for the 92-year-old monarch who had ruled Sweden 43 years.

Thousands of people, some of whom had been waiting in wet snow since before midnight, were massed 10 deep on streets, bridges, and embankments along the route of the funeral march from the Stockholm royal palace.

East Germans Resume Electricity Exchange

BERLIN, Nov. 9 (Reuters). — East German authorities decided today to resume the exchange of electricity supplies with the Western zone, ending a six-week "power war."

A formal agreement to be signed shortly provides for supply of 400,000 kilowatt hours a day to West Berlin by Soviet-zone power plants, starting November 16.

In return West German power stations will deliver the same quantity of electricity to Soviet-zone provinces. This agreement avoids the difficulties of payment between two territories of different currencies.

Mobile Units Aid Victims Of Arthritis

TORONTO, Nov. 9—Two mobile arthritis physiotherapy units, first of their kind to be put into use in Ontario, were received yesterday by the Canadian Arthritis and Rheumatism Society in a ceremony at the Ontario Parliament Buildings.

These mobile units, staffed by specially trained graduate physiotherapists, will transport equipment needed for treatment of patients unable to leave their homes. Presentation of the mobile units to society president, Jas. A. Gairdner, was made by Ontario Health Minister Dr. Phillips.

One of the mobile units will be put into operation at once in the Ottawa district and will work from the arthritis clinics at both the Ottawa Civic and Ottawa General hospitals, with Ottawa physiotherapist Irene Woolford in charge. The second will be used in the Kingston district with its base at the clinic of the Kingston General Hospital, and have Miss Syndey Milnes of Toronto in charge.

The society hopes very shortly to add a third unit which it is planned to operate from the arthritis clinic at St. Michael's Hospital, Toronto. Cost of maintaining the travelling units, estimated at $6,000 yearly for each one, will be paid by the society from funds raised during its financial appeal last May.

British Columbia has already 10 of the society's travelling units in constant use and Saskatchewan has one.

The light grey-colored mobile units, with the society's emblem in maroon and gold, are fitted with heat lamps, wax baths and other apparatus. They can double as ambulances and are built to carry at least three wheel chair patients.

Principal work of the physiotherapists will be to instruct patients and their families in best methods of keeping limbs and muscles mobile, largely a matter of exercising.

Baby Weighs Pound

HAMILTON, Nov. 9— (CP)—Believed one of the smallest infants ever born alive in Canada, five-day-old Jerris Davis was reported "progressing satisfactorily" today at St. Joseph's Hospital.

The baby, born last Saturday about 2½ months prematurely, is estimated to weigh about a pound and is about eight inches in length.

(The smallest live baby on record in Canada was Hugh McGillivray of North Sydney, N.S., who weighed 14 ounces at birth. He lived 2½ years.)

Jerris' mother, 28-year-old Mrs. Bert Davis, was unattended when the child was born at the Davis apartment home.

Car-Theft Ring Smashed By Police

OTTAWA, Nov. 9 (CP).—Police today held two men and said they expected to make other arrests soon in the breakup of a car-theft ring they charged has been operating in this district.

Desmond Chabot, 25, of no fixed address, today was remanded one week on a car-theft charge. Also held is Nicholas McCormick, 25, of Ottawa, on car and tool theft charges.

Detectives said only 1950 automobiles were stolen. They were then re-registered with forged registrations at district towns and villages and finally sold to unsuspecting buyers.

Prices Climb Steadily On Toronto Exchange

TORONTO, Nov. 9 — (CP) — Prices climbed steadily as the session progressed on the Toronto Stock Exchange today.

In industrials papers led with a wide list of gains ranging to $1. Steels, utilities, agricultures, constructions, foods, refining oils and retail stores showed a majority of gains. Manufacturing companies tended lower and the rest of the board was mixed.

Base Metals moved strongly ahead with Consolidated Smelters, International Nickel, Quemont, and United Keno Hill leading with gains up to $1.

Western Oils advances ranged to 20 cents.

Giant Yellowknife, Hollinger and McIntyre pulled Senior Golds ahead with advances up to 75 cents.

Volume for the first three hours was about 1,243,000 shares.

of free countries for many years to come, policies in the economic field had to be those which could endure, not stop-gap measures. Above all, it called for pay-as-you-go financing and maximum production.

4. Trade restrictions by certain countries were providing a barrier to efficiency and ability to compete with the United States, and now was the time for these countries to have a "fresh look" at restrictive policies.

5. It was an outstanding fact that the overseas world was in trade balance with the United States, an achievement which 12 months ago "few would have dreamed was possible so soon." The great change had taken place "without serious economic disturbance to the rest of the world."

6. Canada's trade deficit with the United States, which in 1947 had reached a peak of $1,135,000,000, this year likely would dwindle to $200,000,000 — just about what Canada's surplus with the sterling area and western Europe would be.

Labor Relations Act On a False Premise

NIAGARA FALLS, Nov. 9 (CP)—The Ontario Chamber of Commerce today condemned the Ontario Labor Relations Act and charged a number of Communist and Socialist union leaders with causing inflation in Canada.

A resolution adopted at the Chamber's annual convention, called on the Ontario government to implement changes in the act, which it said works under the false premise that all labor unions are sincerely interested in increased productivity, efficiency and profits.

Management, the resolution says, is interested in these aims. But certain labor union leaders—Communists and Socialists—are not.

Blame for high costs was put on union leaders who call for 40-hour week with 45 hours' pay without mention of increased productivity.

Ex-Communist Gives Proof For Red Purge In Gas Union

TORONTO, Nov. 9—(CP)—A Communist who bolted party ranks supplied the International Union of Chemical Workers (A.F.L.) with information for the expulsion of six unionists on charges of Communist activity in Toronto locals. International President H. A. Bradley of Akron, O., said in a statement Wednesday that the former Communist is Fred Wardell, one-time secretary of the Communist Chemical Workers Club.

Wardell is one of five put on probation until the union's convention next year. A 12th union member was found innocent.

Mr. Bradley said Wardell told International union officers "all he knew about Communist activity within Local 161 (Toronto Consumers' Gas Company local) and turned over many of the Communist records including minute books, party registration forms filled in the handwriting of party members and other valuable materials."

The international union launched an investigation three years ago which culminated in more than a dozen members being tried at closed hearings in October.

Those Expelled

Expelled were Reginald Wright, Charles Manser and William Johnston, all of Local 161 (Wright was president of the local); Hugh Thomas of Local 159 of Canadian Kodak Company; and James Bruce, former secretary of Local 32 at Lever Brothers.

William Edmiston, former vice-president of the International Union and organizer of Canadian districts, resigned last January "rather than be exposed and discharged," Mr. Bradley said. This resignation was followed by formal expulsion.

Placed on probation were Wardell, Ernest Bigelow and William Gilmore, all of the Consumers' Gas Local; Alex Arnott of the Lever Brothers Local; and Neil Jameson of Local 174 at Dominion Tar and Chemical Company.

Gordon Thomas of the Consumers' Gas Local was found innocent.

All 12 men were charged under a section of the Chemical Workers' constitution which bars Communists or persons advocating Communism from union membership.

Won't Permit Twin Citizenship

OTTAWA, Nov. 9 (CP).—Canadians were warned by the government today that they are liable to loss of their citizenship if they acquire citizenship in a foreign country while in Canada.

The action was interpreted as a counter-move to pressure from several European countries to have natives of those countries renew their citizenship in them after becoming Canadian citizens.

A statement from the citizenship department drew attention to an amendment to the citizenship act adopted last July, under which the government may wipe out the Canadian citizenship of those who voluntarily take up foreign citizenship while in this country, except through marriage.

Previously, Canadian citizenship was cancelled only when Canadians adopted foreign citizenship while outside this country.

The warning stems from a barrage directed towards Canadian immigrants from several countries——notably those in the iron curtain area——claiming they are still citizens of their original homeland and, in some cases, ordering them to register at their consulates in Canada. This has been going on for a couple of years.

A country outside the iron curtain—Belgium — also is understood to be claiming that its nationals abroad are still subject to compulsory military service in that country.

Praises Oliver

In his report, Mr. Mathews spoke highly of Farquhar Oliver for his work as leader from 1947 to 1949. He praised Mr. Oliver for his integrity, his good nature and his dependability. The party had received the former leader's resignation with regret.

The Association was handicapped in plans for an intensive organization campaign in the last year because there was no provincial leader, said Mr. Mathews. It would get into full swing right after the convention and he suggested that paid organizers be engaged to carry on the work.

The president said the Liberal party had suffered a great loss during the year in the deaths of former Prime Minister Mackenzie King, former Labor Minister Mitchell and Archie Haines of Jordan, a former president and former member of the Ontario Legislature.

The convention named W. G. Hale, association secretary, as general convention secretary. It approved the report of treasurer William A. Bennett of Toronto who said cash on hand amounted to $2,239.21.

After the morning session adjourned, the leadership aspirants and their supporters were busy in the lobbies talking to delegates.

Federal support appeared Wednesday for Mr. Brown, when Immigration Minister Harris said he would support the Kitchener man. Mr. Harris emphasized at a press conference that his decision was a personal one as a delegate and in no way indicated the stand other members of the federal cabinet might take.

However, one report said Trade Minister Howe had also told a number of Liberals he would also vote for Mr. Brown.

Has Supporters Too

It was expected that Mr. Thomson who represents Ontario constituency in the House of Commons, would have support from federal party men. In addition, he has been campaigning intensively, speaking to local Liberal associations in many parts of the province.

However, last-minute support for any of the other candidates might sweep aside all advance speculation.

Six others definitely in the field are Campbell Calder, MPP for London; Charles W. Cox, MPP for Fort William; Controller Arnott Hicks and John J. Sullivan, of Hamilton; Norman O. Hipel of Preston and Dr. Harry Cassidy, director of the school of social work at the University of Toronto.

Mr. Hipel, a former provincial cabinet member and speaker of the Legislature, and Dr. Cassidy announced their intention to enter the race late last night.

Policy Statement

Friday morning the convention will deal with a policy statement and in the afternoon get down to the job of electing a leader.

The young Liberals Wednesday elected Bruce McCullough of Kitchener as president of their association. Gordon Dryden of Rockwood and Toronto was elected secretary, and George Schuett of Kingston treasurer.

In resolutions to be passed to the parent OLA convention, delegates recommended the study of French by all school children in Ontario and that French and English be made compulsory subjects for senior matriculation.

They also recommended tighter regulations on drinking; more severe penalties for fractions of safety provisions of highway traffic law; that university fees be standardized; establishment of scholarships, bursaries and loans for needy students; and development of a province-supported advertising campaign for farm products.

Truman Faces Hostile Congress

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9 (CP)—President Truman now faces the hard necessity of compromising with a preponderantly-hostile Congress on both domestic and foreign issues.

Although Democrats still hold numerical control of both Houses of Congress after Tuesday's election there is little remaining doubt that Truman is up against the toughest opposition he has been confronted with since the Republicans won control of the 80th Congress in 1946—a Congress which hamstrung many of his proposals.

A shifting coalition of Republicans and Southern Democrats will make most of the major decisions in the newly-elected Congress—the 82nd—which meets in January.

Heartened by the election results, the same group will have much to say about what happens in the final meeting of the present Congress scheduled to resume sittings November 27— or sooner if the President calls it back.

Tracey went on to describe the third attack. This time the two men in the fawn coats were joined by Yuzwa, he said.

"I saw two fellows in fawn coats and the accused approach Risley. There was more or less of a scuffle. I couldn't see exactly what went on as the three men had their backs to me."

Tracey swore he saw Yuzwa make a motion with one of his hands toward Risley.

"Did you see anything in Yuzwa's hand?" he was asked.

"No, I did not."

When Risley walked away from the trio Tracey saw there was blood on Risley's arm.

Tracey could give no account of the fatal attack on Loucks.

Mr. Common won a verbal skirmish Wednesday afternoon with Mr. Pitt.

He said Mr. Pitt was creating a defence by "back-door methods."

Mr. Common, who is from the Attorney General's department, objected to the admissability of a statement allegedly made by Yuzwa to Lindsay Police Chief Arthur Webster. And his objection was upheld by Mr. Justice Spence.

Mr. Pitt began a two-hour-and-10-minute cross examination of Chief Webster, questioning him closely on Yuzwa's dress at the time of the arrest, details of the police lineup for witnesses' identification, and particularly Yuzwa's attitude after being taken into custody.

Orders Jury Out

When Mr. Pitt asked Chief Webster what Yuzwa said after being arrested with the three Zahodnik brothers on the outskirts of Peterborough, Mr. Common objected strenuously. Justice Spence ordered the jury from the courtroom until the argument was settled.

Any statement to a police officer cannot be entered as evidence except by the Crown, said Mr. Common, who is assisting Crown Attorney Lorne W. Jordan at the trial.

"There was a statement taken but it was not signed," he said. "It was given to the police officer."

Mr. Pitt replied that he was not trying to introduce the statement but what Yuzwa had said to the chief when he was charged. He also wanted to know if Chief Webster had taken it down in writing.

Wants Statement

"I propose to ask this witness what the accused did say," said Mr. Pitt.

"That would be the same as giving the statement," countered Mr. Common.

"The facts are that a statement was taken and the Crown has not seen fit to tender it. If the Crown doesn't wish to put it in, my friend cannot on cross-examination, by a back-door method, create a defence for the accused."

Mr. Justice Spence agreed that it was self-serving evidence. If the Crown brought in a statement then all parts of the conversation were admissable.

In Third Day

Today the second murder trial of Yuzwa enters its third day. A stocky Ukrainian-Canadian, Yuzwa was originaly charged with murder after a post-midnight brawl on Kent St., just west of the Big 20 Cafe last November 18.

With him on a hunting trip were the three Zahodnik brothers—Paul and James of Hamilton, and John of Toronto. In the melee on the Kent St. sidewalk Jack Loucks, 36, a former Peterborough resident was killed by a deep stab-wound under the right ear.

Three other men—all of whom testified at the trial but did not know who attacked them—were treated in Lindsay hospital for stab wounds. They were Floyd Smith, 27, a Hagersville truck driver, a scalp wound; Sidney Risley, 50, elbow wound; and Thornton Olver, 37, a scalp wound and a slashed nose. Risley and Olver are both Lindsay residents.

The Zahodniks were freed after a preliminary trial when they were defended by J. B. Robinette, Toronto. Yuzwa stood trial late last February and when jury were unable to reach agreement a second trial was necessary.

Questioning In Court

Mr. Justice Spence warned the jury Wednesday that if they wished to question a witness, questions must be relayed through the court. He said one of the jurymen had questioned a Crown witness during intermission.

For the first time since the second murder trial started Mrs. Jack Loucks, widow of the slain man, was in the courtroom. Mrs. Yuzwa has been in court every day, speaking to her husband and encouraging him at every court intermission.

Also present today for the first time was James Zahodnik, one of the three brothers acquitted on a charge of murder, and a possible witness for the defence.

The trial may go to the jury late today, depending on the length of the defence.

Governor's Lead Cut To 2,374

DETROIT, Nov. 9 — (AP). — Discovery of a vote counting error in 25 Detroit precincts today reduced former Governor Harry F. Kelly's victory margin to a thin 2,374 votes over Democratic incumbent G. Mennen Williams in their ding-dong race for the Michigan Governorship.

The error, disclosed by Wayne (Detroit) County Clerk Edgar Branigan, heightened the prospect for a recount, which already was virtually assured.

Branigan said that election boards in 25 precincts of Detroit counted only the split ballots and failed to include in their reported totals the straight party voes.

The error was discovered at the start of the county's official canvass.

Corrected totals gave Williams a gain of 3,021 votes and shaved Kelly's margin to the narrowest in history in a Michigan Governor's election.

Kelly—933,834.

Williams—931,460.

Hint More Canadians May Be Sent To Korea

OTTAWA, Nov. 9 (CP)—A report from Tokyo that the whole of Canada's 11,000-man special brigade might go to Korea was the first indication that stiffening Communist resistance there had possibly brought another change of plans on destination of the force.

Defence officials here said they had heard nothing of the Tokyo report. So far as was known here the plan was still to send the 2nd Battalion of the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry to Korea late this month and the rest of the force to the United States for training.

Expect Controls To Aid Fishing In North Sea

COPENHAGEN —(Reuters)—Special laws drafted to protect the North Sea fishing grounds have been ratified by eight countries interested in solving the problem of over-fishing in the area.

The legislation was prepared by the International Council for the Exploration of the Sea, which held its 38th congress here last month. France, Holland, Britain, Sweden, Norway, Iceland and Denmark have passed the legislation. Belgium so far has held off, due to difficulties with The Netherlands; the fishermen of both countries fish common waters.

It is hoped everything will be ironed out by next February.

The legislation mainly limits the catch. Control must be applied either to the number of fish caught or to the amount of equipment used in fishing.

Many Delegates

Delegates attended the congress from Belgium, Denmark, Eire, Spain, Finland, France, Britain, Iceland, Norway, The Netherlands, Poland, Portugal and Sweden. The United States, Canada and Australia sent observers.

Dr. H. Blefvad, Danish secretary-general of the congress, said: "Immediately after the end of a war, there ar always more fish in the sea than normally. This is because during a war the trawlers and big ships are used for military purposes and not much fishing is done.

Postwar Problem

"After a war, the demand for food increases; more boats are available and grounds quickly become over-fished. Probably there are now only about 10 per cent of fish in the North Sea over five years of age compared with the number at the end of the war.

"Actually, the yield has been kept up. But we know that the stocks have fallen. Since the war, we have to use more and more 'fishing effort' to keep up the yield. We have more fishermen but fewer fish.

"It is getting more and more expensive to get fish out of the sea."

The congress also outlined a plan to study the effects of hydrographical conditions — temperatures, salinity, currents and nutrient salts—on fish.

The results of investigations may, it is thought, make it possible to "manure" the North Sea to improve catches, in exactly the same way as a farmer manures his land.

Another decision taken at the congress aims at investigating the possibilities of adopting radar-type equipment to fishery purposes. Recent tests show that "echo-sounders" can locate shoals of fish.

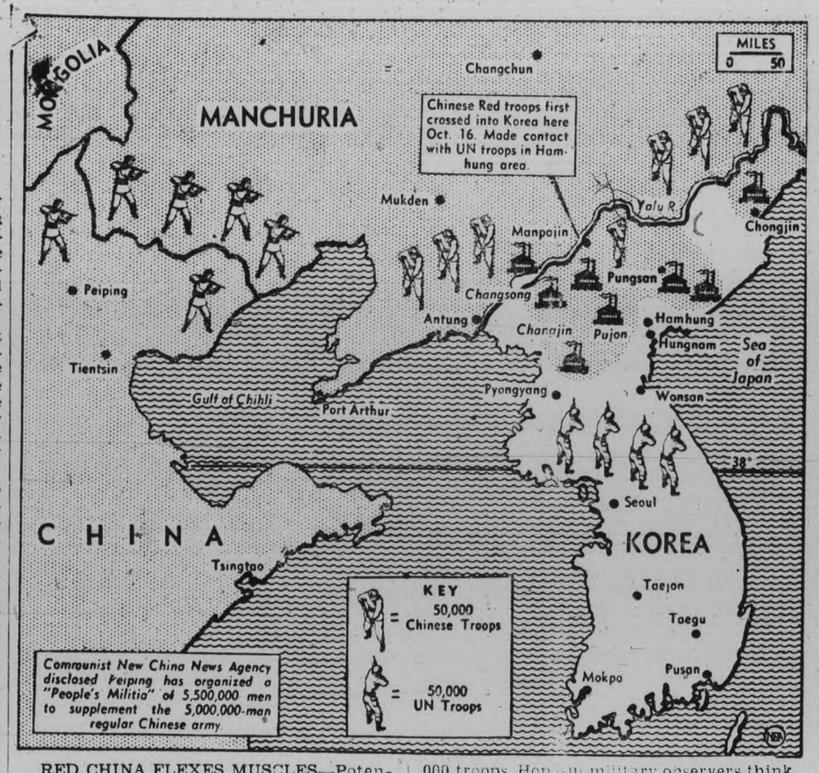
Truman Hides Disappointment Goes On Cruise

ABOARD YACHT MY MARY GAIL, Nov. 9 (CP)—President Truman today cloaked his disappointment and probable surprise over Tuesday's Democratic election setbacks behind a cheerful appearance, and pondered his future.

Truman and his staff were not saying much about the results except to point to the fact that the Democrats retained control of the Senate, 49 to 47, and of the House of Representatives by what they described as a "comfortable" majority. It was whittled sharply from the present margin.



Queried by reporters as to Truman's explanation for the defeat of top-ranking party members, press secretary Charles G. Ross said tersely:

"The President has not expressed himself as to that."

Truman was out the farthest on the political limb of any election forecaster. He had flatly predicted a sweeping majority for the Democrats. But, unlike his predictions in 1948, this did not materialize.

Truman and his party, meanwhile continued their cruise aboard the presidential yacht. The brief outing on the Potomac river and the Chesapeake bay—not far from Washington—may well be the president's last vacation of the year.

As an election aftermath, the question naturally arose whether the president will seek his own re-election in 1952. Truman has never said he will not run again. And he has never said he will. At that the same time, there has been no effort on the part of the national committee to build up another Democrat for the contest.

Aussie Experts Get Big Reward In Unusual Jobs

By LOUIS L. LECK
Canadian Press Correspondent

SYDNEY, Australia —(CP)—People earn money in many odd ways in Australia, and the rewards are fairly substantial.

An expert chicken sexer, for instance, may earn $45 a day and a good dingo hunter, going after wild dogs, can make just about as much.

Chicken sexing of course is practised everywhere, but to earn $45 a day in Australia the expert must be able to examine 60 to 600 day-old chicks an hour, and separate the pullets and cockerels with 98 per cent accuracy.

The art, or science, was developed by the Japanese and in 1934 a Japanese taught a class of 20 Australians how to sex chickens. Only four gained proficiency certificates and one of them was Frank Evans, 19 years old at the time.

In 1936 Japs were forbidden to enter Australia and Evans became an instructor—the only one in Australia and New Zealand.

Only about one learner in 10 acquires the necessary skill. It takes about three months. The instructor's fee is about £25 and most of the 15,000 to 20,000 chicks needed for practice have to be post-mortemed to check accuracy.

The sexing season in Australia lasts about five months but Australian sexers are in demand in Britain and the continent and farmers there will pay travelling expenses and good pay to sexers who will go abroad.

Dingo Damage Heavy

Dingo hunters earn good money because dingoes do big damage in Australia. In New South Wales and Queensland, graziers estimate stock losses from dingoes at nearly $4,000,000 since the war.

In Western Queensland towns, bank clerks, shop assistants, solicitors and other professional men sometimes spend their entire weekends hunting dingoes.

But the job isn't easy. It calls for hard work, patience and ingenuity.

Dingoes breed most rapidly in large tracts of thinly populated rough scrub country. The average litter is four to six pups.

They usually hunt in packs of six to 14. They attack sheep or calves at the break of day or during the night.

One dingo will kill as many as 30 sheep in a foray, while a pack of 14 will destroy and maul hundreds in one night.

They have been known to attack people, but generally they are afraid of human beings and retire quickly if chased.

"Doggers" (dingo killers) study the movements of their quarry before laying traps. These are carefully concealed and invariably placed near trees.

Veteran trappers include "Lightning" Jack Heffernan, who at 68 is still one of the best doggers in NSW. Heffernan, working near Casino, kills four to five dingoes a day on an average. The government pays him £3 a scalp.

Archbishop Says Reds Determined To Destroy Rivals

YORK, England, Nov. 9—(CP)—The Archbishop of York said today that Russia is determined that all rival economic political and social systems must be "utterly destroyed."

The Archbishop, Most Rev. Cyril F. Garbett, said Communist-led outbreaks everywhere are "part of a world-wide conspiracy directed by the Kremlin against western civilization."

As examples, the Church of England's second-ranking prelate cited the Korean war, guerrilla fighting in Malaya and Indo-China, the Berlin blockade and Communist China's invasion of Tibet.

He said Communists, "inflamed with missionary zeal for their cause," have "set out to spread it with the sword in one hand and 'das kapital' in the other".

They would never be content until a "world-wide "classless society is established under the control of the party leaders in Moscow".

"The cold war which is now being waged may presently change into a hot war," the Archbishop added in a speech prepared for delivery to the York Diocesan Conference.

"If a hot war should break upon an unprepared Europe, it would be engulfed in an age far darker than that from which Christendom only slowly emerged some eight or nine hundred years ago".

Dr. Garbett called for "continuous propaganda of the ideals for which democracy stands" and said:

"It is vitally important that the peoples who are hesitating between Communism and democracy should know what true democracy is, as opposed to the degradation and slavery which triumphant Communism brings in its train.

The Christian "must take his part in saving the world from a threat of unprecedented horror".

Korean Airlift Will End Soon

By DAVE McINTOSH

TOKYO Nov. 9—(CP)—Canada's part in the Korean airlift is scheduled to end shortly, but members of the RCAF's Thunderbird Squadron predict they'll be back on the job soon.

The squadron of 12 North Star transports is slated to end its 2½-month ferry run from McChord Field, Wash., to Tokyo after five more trips. But its members, who have been carrying troops and supplies for the United Nations force in Korea, think they'll be performing similar duties for Canada's special brigade when it is dispatched to the Far East.

There is speculation here that the entire 11,000-man brigade will be committed to Korea, where a 350-man advance party arrived Monday to stake out a training area near Pusan.

It is believed here that a permanent-force army battalion also will be sent to Korea.

Pearson Back For Convention

TORONTO, Nov. 9 (CP).—Hon. Lester B. Pearson, as Minister for External Affairs Canada's top diplomat, came from the United Nations meetings at Lake Success today to attend the Ontario Liberal leadership convention. But he adroitly fended off queries as to which of the eight candidates he would support.

He had not yet made up his mind how he would vote, Mr. Pearson told reporters at noon. Moreover, after he made up his mind he didn't think he'd make any public announcement.

It was learned today that Farquhar Oliver, whose resignation last year led to the leadership convention, had signed Mr. Brown's nomination papers. The Kitchener man also had federal support. Immigration Minister Harris saying yesterday that he would vote for Mr. Brown. But the minister emphasized his decision was a personal one.

Two Bodies Found On Lake Huron Beach

PROVIDENCE BAY, Ont., Nov. 9 (CP).—Bodies of a man and a woman, believed those of the victims of a Lake Huron plane crash were found yesterday on a beach at nearby Lochead Bay.

Police say they believe the bodies, which had life preservers fastened about them, are those of Leo Slivinski, 32, pilot of the missing plane, which was based at Algoma Mills, Ont., and Ruth Dunoon, 40-year-old Owen Sound nurse, passenger in the aircraft.

Carl Mattini of Algoma Mills, owner of the plane, was reported on his way to this Manitoulin Island port to view the bodies.

The plane disappeared Oct. 29 after taking off from Algoma Mills, about 100 miles to the northwest. Discovery two days later of two battered pontoons identified as belonging to the plane led to the belief that it plunged into the lake during dense fog near the southern shore of Manitoulin Island.

Minister Threatens To Smash Cameras

LEICESTER, England, Nov. 9.—(Reuters). — A local clergyman has warned photographers that they will have to buy new cameras if he catches them outside his church taking pictures of couples wed in the local registry office nearby.

The Rev. John Rumley Collins said he had been puzzled by people who congratulated him on weddings that had never taken place at his church.

Then he discovered that couples were posing for pictures outside the Norman door of his church aft er a civil ceremony a few hundred yards away.

He called the practice "an appalling impudence . . . acting a lie and an exhibition of unjustifiable impertinence."

In his parish magazine he said that if he catches anyone posing falsely outside his church, "the photographer will have to buy himself a new camera."

Fourteen Million People

The population of Canada on September 1st was 13,821,000. It will be fourteen million by the end of the year. There will thus have been an increase during the decade of two and a half million. The 1941 census showed the population then to be 11,506,000.

• • •

The latest estimates call attention not only to the steady growth of the population of Canada but also to its smallness compared with that of the United States. In the same decade the increase in the population of the U.S.A. was more than the total population of Canada. By American measurement, Canadians are few and far between. In taking pride in Canada's growth, we must remember that the great U.S.A. has ten times as many people, with all the attributes and power that such a huge, vigorous population possesses. Canada is not the big noise which Canadian's talk would sometimes make it seem.

• • •

Our second observation on the present (14,000,000) population and the increase during the last ten years, is that it is disappointing. True, the increase is the largest of any decade in the country's history, an increase of two and a half million. The nearest approach to such an increase was before the Great War, the decade from 1901 to 1911, when the population increased by 1,835,328. The percentage increase during the last ten years has been 21.7. The percentage increase in the decade 1901-1911 was 34.4. Thus, despite war brides, family allowances, the ballyhoo about immigration, ex-Premier Drew's immigration scheme, the revival of the federal Bureau of Immigration, and the accession of Newfoundland with its 348,000 people, Canada's growth during the last decade has fallen far short of the boom decade for immigration, 1901-11. It is not even quite up to the level of increase during the decade from 1911 to 1921, when the percentage increase was 21.9.

• • •

Either Canadians and their officials do not want this country to grow or there is something impeding its rapid expansion. The Examiner believes, with many others that a rapid, orderly increase in the population is both necessary and desirable. Only on Tuesday Premier Frost stated that this province needs immediately 15,400 skilled and unskilled workers on Hydro jobs, and plans are being made to try to get them from Britain. A country with the vast natural resources, the industrial potential and qualities of people such as Canada is not exploiting itself sufficiently with only fourteen million people; it is not taking its due place in the sun; and it is leaving itself open to the avidity of other, more powerful, more heavily populated nations.

• • •

Is something impeding the adequate expansion of the population? Is the country not sufficiently attractive to immigrants? Is officialdom falling down on the job of making it desirable and easily accessible for good types of immigrants? Is the birth rate too low? Are special interests, such as labour unions and professional societies (for example, in medicine and law))putting obstacles in the way of would-be immigrants, and bringing pressure to bear on our governments to keep people out?

• • •

Whatever the reasons for the disappointing growth of the population, in the last ten years, it is obvious that it is slower than most Canadians have a right to expect, and slower than many anxious ones think desirable.

Why Assassinate Truman?

What did Oscar Collazo and Griselio Torresola hope to gain by assassinating President Truman? So far as we can discover there was not the faintest hope that their action could have benefited their native island of Puerto Rico if it had succeeded. The people of Puerto Rico have been immeasureably shocked by it. This attempted assassination can only be put down to the insane exuberance of Latin-American political feeling.

Both men are members of the Nationalist Party of Puerto Rico, which desires the complete independence of the island, and chooses to look upon it as a South America domain ground under the heel of North American imperialism. But the facts about modern Peurto Rico do not support this extreme belief.

There was a time, between the conclusion of the Spanish-American War and the First Great War, when Puerto Rico had cause to complain of the incompetence of the U.S. in dealing with a colonial possession. The States took Puerto Rico from Spain, and then neglected it. The U.S. did not want to be bothered with colonial possessions, and took the unfortunate course of disregarding those which it had. But with the passing of time and the changed attitude in the U.S. toward international power and responsibility, Puerto Rico has been cleaned up, and it now enjoys a considerable degree of independence. It now has a native-born Governor, Dr. Munoz Marin, who is leading his people toward complete independence. But Puerto Rico suffers from gross overpopulation (two million people on one million acres) and although it has done much to improve its economy, it still depends on the U.S. for about a quarter of its income.

The Nationalists are a small minority, and they seem to have no sense whatever. Not long ago they exploded a bomb in the offices of the Puerto Rican government in New York; they have now tried to kill President Truman. Probably they regard themselves as patriots; they have shown themselves to be dangerous nuisances.

A Nation That Loves Words

In a brief editorial the Ottawa Journal (whose editor is an Irishman) makes the following observation:

Bernard Shaw's death brings world attention again to a remarkable thing: The fact that Ireland, a land of small population, should be the cradle of such a great proportion of the literary lights of the English-speaking world. Excluding the long past, which saw Ireland producing Swift and Sheridan and Goldsmith, we have seen her in our own day with Wilde and Shaw, with Joyce and George Moore, with Yeats and Synge, with Lord Dunsany and Lady Gregory, and, last but not least with Sean O'Casey.

And these are but the stars. Among world famous contemporary Irish writers are Sean O'Faolin, a distinguished biographer ("The Great O'Neill" and "King of the Beggars"), Liam O'Flaherty, a noted novelist, Frank O'Connor, whose short stories are brilliant, and James Stephens (now living in London) whose "Crock of Gold" was something of a classic, and whose poetry is far from being minor.

We do not attempt to explain the phenomenon of Irish literary genius; who could hope to do so? We can, however, throw a little light on it. The Irish people love language in a way that other English speaking peoples do not. They have—or had—a fine language of their own, rich and expressive. From their English conquerors they took another language which is, for a variety of reasons, richer and more supple than any Celtic language has ever been. They have used this language with a degree of imaginative delight which only Englishmen of genius have been able to match or surpass.

The Irish love words. There are people who think such a passion laughable. We do not. We wish that something of the Irish genius for language—a genius found among the poorest and least learned as well as among the scholars—had found its way to Canada. We have general education here, but we use words as a cement-maker uses sand, rather than as a jeweller uses gems. A nation of great talkers and word-lovers must necessarily produce some great writers, for the climate is congenial to such growth.

Port Hope's Bus Terminus

Peterborough is not on the main bus routes, as Port Hope is, but it does have a heavy traffic in buses to and from Toronto, the Lakeshore, and Ottawa, and there are dozens of other suburban and Kawartha Lake lines. The Peterborough bus depot is a large gravelled lot, and across the street a small sort of shanty which serves as office and waiting room. The contrast between it and the Port Hope terminal is striking.

Port Hope has a spacious, well- lighted, modern-looking building, which has been converted from other uses. The conversion is now complete. Office, waiting room and main hall have all been organized into a pleasing unit, and a tidy, large counter-restaurant and coffee bar which gives 24-hour service, completes the modern depot.

The Port Hope terminal is operated by the Colonial Coach Lines, the company now conducting most of the bus business to and from Peterborough and also the Peterborough depot. It is to be hoped that this company will soon follow its own good Port Hope example and give Peterborough a proper depot.

'Life Is Very Sweet Brother'?

By JOHN MOORE

RACIAL persecution is abhorrent to the English; yet we have an oppressed minority whom we persecute in a very orderly and English way by means of by-laws and Medical Officers of Health and a kindly village policeman on a bicycle. The policeman would be very surprised, and perhaps rather hurt, if he were told that the gypsies saw in him the personification of a Gestapo, but that is precisely how they do regard him.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE Law's attitude to vagrancy has always been paradoxical, since its principal concern is to make sure that the vagrant keeps moving: in other words that he continues in the very course which constitutes his offence! I suppose the original motive was, "We don't want this tramp in our village, let's kick him on to the next!" Gypsies, however, used to be treated rather more tolerantly. It is only within the last dozen years that the situation of these wandering tribes has become really pitiful, chiefly on account of our new and alarming passion for tidiness. The old strict laws, which were often winked at, are now enforced to the full; and a host of pernickety by-laws are added to them.

✧ ✧ ✧

NO GYPSY caravan many spend the night on the grass verge of the road—unless the policeman discovers it very late, when he says to himself grudgingly and even a shade doubtfully, "They're human beings after all." On commons, which are few and far between, they may stop for twenty-four hours, but no longer. And on private land they may remain, in theory, for as long as the landowner will have them, but in practice only until the M.O.H. invokes against them the Public Health Act on the grounds that their camp lacks sanitation.

✧ ✧ ✧

NEAR my home, at Coombe Hill in Gloucestershire, some gypsies settled down on the land of a benevolent lady who was delighted that they should stay there. They engaged in useful farm-work and were a very happy community until the council decided that their remote camping-site was "a danger to public health." The lady pleaded for them, the farmers spoke up for them, and the gypsies themselves composed a very moving letter which they sent, oddly enough, to the Bishops in Convocation. But it is all in vain. They must take the road once more, moving on every twenty-four hours at the bidding of the police—if, indeed, they are lucky enough to find a lawful camping-place once in every twenty-four hours' march.

✧ ✧ ✧

HOW will these wanderers earn their living when they set their feet again on the strange treadmill we have contrived for them? The demand for clothes-pegs is not unlimited; the tinkering trade has died out; forage for horses is difficult to get. I, for one, shall not blame them if they take their little revenge at our back doors: "You don't want to have bad luck, lady. Cross the gypsy's palm in case you have bad luck."

✧ ✧ ✧

I HAVE often wondered whether there does not lie at the root of our attitude to these people a secret discontent with the complexities of our own civilization. We have built up a society which depends upon the possession of vast material resources; if those resources fail, our society breaks up. But the lives of the gypsies constitute an unspoken criticism, almost a mockery, of our precarious complexities.

✧ ✧ ✧

SHOULD the power-plants cease to function our cities are plunged into darkness, our humming factories are stilled; we cannot even cook our own food. But the yellow light of the tallow-lamp still shines in the caravan window; the pot with its mysterious contents still bubbles on the brushwood fire. The gypsies are not dependent on dollars, on imports, on miners, on trade unions, on vulnerable sea-ways in times of war; nor do they add their names to the long waiting-lists for council houses, as the Medical Officers of Health would apparently like them to do.

✧ ✧ ✧

THEY do not want prefabs with built-in refrigerators; they do not need any of the things which the rest of us have come to believe we can't do without. So my Coombe Hill gypsies will take to the road again, chivvied along day after day by that kindly policeman on his bicycle, scraping, scrounging, perhaps even stealing to feed their hungry horses, never two nights in the same place between the end of hop-picking and the early pea-harvest.

✧ ✧ ✧

YOU will watch them, perhaps, out of the windows of that little brick box without which you think you could not exist: the caravans with the dogs under the axle, the crate of fowls slung out at the back, the sly, strangely beautiful faces of the children peeping through their windows, the women who walk so proudly and yet so furtively, going from door to door with their baskets of clothes-pegs and their babies slung in their shawls: an alien people, a folk apart, whom we mistrust because they cannot adapt themselves to our ways.

✧ ✧ ✧

BUT who knows that they may not in the end have the last laugh? If ever the atom-bomb destroys our civilization the tables will be turned indeed. The survivor will be he who has least need of houses, electricity, rations, petrol, coal. Most of us would find it very difficult to manage without these things; and the gypsies would be the lords of the land!

(Special to The Examiner from the London Observer.)

WAS HIS FACE RED?

An old waiter was giving the new hand a few tips. "See that fellow who's just come in?" he whispered. "He has a twin brother and they're alike as two peas, only this one's hard of hearing. Watch the fun!"

Going to the diner's side he smiled politely and said in an ordinary voice: "Well pieface, and what do you want in the nosebag today?"

"Roast beef," was the reply, "and by the way, it's my brother who doesn't hear so well."

THE BLIND MEN AND THE ELEPHANT

Tito Knows Where to Turn for Help

(MONTREAL GAZETTE)

NATURE has taken a hand in the destiny of Yugoslavia. Prolonged drought has brought to that turbulent Balkan country the grim spectre of famine. And coming upon two years of rigid economic blockade and persistent military harassment and threat by Russia and her conforming satellites, this could mean collapse for the one country which, once within the Communist fold, has successfully defied the Cominform.

While stoutly protesting adherence to communism it is not to Russia that Marshal Tito's Yugoslavia looks in this dire emergency. Tito himself, in a recent address said his government could not go to Russia for help, for Russia "is not prepared to help anybody." As to that, who should know better than Tito? It is to the United States that the Balkan dictator has appealed and indications are that assistance adequate to meet the emergency will be forthcoming from that source.

Not only that, but Tito is telling his people that the U.S. Government is favourably considering the provision of this relief unconditionally. And his Yugoslavian audiences are vigorously applauding this announcement as well as Tito's references to the U.S. unconditional post-war contribution of $430,000,000 for U.N.R.R.A. operations in Yugoslavia.

At the same time Marshal Tito bitterly attacks the Soviet Union for continued armed provocations along the Yugoslavian borders. These he declares amount to a "small war." If they are persisted in, he says he will be forced to appeal to the United Nations.

Aid, and unconditional aid, for Yugoslavia at this juncture looks like sound international business. Aside from the basic urge to relieve human suffering, for which America is not unnoted, there is a Yugoslavian army of 32 divisions manned by the same sort of fighters that stood off 54 Axis divisions during the late war and kept 21 divisions permanently immobilized.

City Manager Popular In U.S.

(St. Thomas Times-Journal)

The city manager plan of civic government is becoming more popular every day in the United States, where nearly a thousand cities —986 to be correct—have the manager form of local administration.

Clarence E. Ridley, director of the International City Managers Association, predicts that the council-manager plan will be the dominant plan of local government in the United States by 1960.

The manager plan, in its bid for public favour, has been competing against two older types of municipal government.

One is the familiar mayor-council type. It dates back to Colonial times. The second is the commission system. Under this set-up a city is run by a group of men, usually five, elected by the voters. It was introduced in the United States in 1900.

The council-manager plan, as it is formally known, usually functions like this:

Citizens elect a city council on a non-partisan basis. The council hires an experienced administrator as city manager. The council sets up the budget, enacts laws and determines the policies to be followed. The manager carries on from that point. He appoints department heads, supervises city employees and directs the day-to-day operations of the city government.

The council-manager plan was operating in 16 per cent. of the U.S. cities of more than 5,000 population in 1938, and now is functioning in 24 per cent. of them. In the same period, the mayor-council system dropped from 64 to 57 per cent. The commission type of government remained at a virtual standstill.

There are only a few Canadian cities with a city manager, but it is to be expected the number will steadily increase.

Bible Message

(From The Authorized Version)

I will sing of mercy and judgement: unto thee, O Lord, will I sing. I will behave myself wisely in a perfect way. O when wilt thou come unto me? I will walk within my house with a perfect heart. (Ps. 101: 1, 2.)

✧ ✧ ✧

Though I speak with the tongues of men and of angels, and have not charity, I am become as sounding brass, or a tinkling cymbal....

Charity never faileth: but whether there be prophecies, they shall fail; whether there be tongues, they shall cease: whether there be knowledge, it shall vanish away.

For we know in part, and we prophesy in part. But when that which is perfect is come, then that which is in part shall be done away. (I Cor. 13: 1, 8-10.)

✧ ✧ ✧

Finally, brethren, whatsoever things are true, whatsoever things are honest, whatsoever things are just, whatsoever things are pure, whatsoever things are lovely, whatsoever things are of good report; if there be any virtue, and if there be any praise, think on these things. (Phil. 4: 8.)

Master Farmers

(Calgary Albertan)

Few projects ever undertaken by an Alberta government have attracted more interest than the Master Farm competition, in which the five 1950 awards have just been announced. If any fault is to be found it might be that the winners are uniformly so well off financially that the thousand-dollar prize money could be considered misplaced. The competition doesn't take financial status into consideration. Good farming and good citizenship are the only criteria. But good farming usually means prosperous farming.

The honour that goes with the award is what counts most. The award is due recognition of outstanding work. While farmers everywhere will join in congratulating the winners, we venture that the verdict of the close neighbours in each case is "they richly earned it".

Special attention should be paid, we feel, to the fact that quality livestock production figures so prominently in the operations of the winning farmers.

Character Important

(Windsor Star)

In these days, with so much attention paid to scholastic standings, abilities, aptitudes, etc., there is a disposition to minimize the value of fundamental attributes. Mr. W. Wallace Muir of the industrial relations division of the Ford Motor Company of Canada, Limited, did a service in a speech at Tilbury by putting first things first.

When an applicant is seeking a job, the most necessary feature is to possess a good character, he said. Unless a man or woman has that, other advantages are lessened. It is of little use to hire a man to work if he is not industrious; to give him responsibility if he is irresponsible; to place him in a position of trust if he be untrustworthy.

In this modern world character has not lost its value. Perhaps never before was it so much an asset as now.

"Son—go tell Pa that Truman says all Americans have got to quit luxury building."

3 Drug Bosses Jailed For Six Years

TORONTO, Nov. 9. — Sentences of six years in Kingston Penitentiary were handed out on Wednesday by Judge Forsyth in county criminal court to Vern Epter, Paul Zaplacinski and Albert Craig, convicted two weeks ago of conspiring to possess, sell and distribute narcotics.

"The illicit sale of narcotics is one of the most hideous crimes," Judge Forsyth said. "It not only causes physical, mental and spiritual degradation, but is the indirect cause of an infinite number of other crimes.

"A man will do almost anything to get money for drugs," Judge Forsyth continued, "even going so far as to rob, beat and cheat. The results are a wave of theft, robbery, breaking and entry and kindred crimes."

The Judge said he served on a committee which estimated the damages wrought by the illicit drug traffic. The committee found that in one Canadian city alone the loss by theft by drug addicts amounted to $3,000,000 a year, he said.

2,000 Addicts

"There are about 2,000 addicts in Canada, and using this figure, we came to the conclusion that the total loss in Canada through crime caused by these men was $42,000,000 a year. It is a staggering loss."

Morphine bought in the ordinary way cost $11 an ounce, he said. When sold by peddlers, however, it is sold in the form of capsules, with one grain in each capsule. There are 437 grains in each ounce and the drug is sold to addicts at $12 to $15 a capsule, or grain.

"Therefore, the profit is over $5,000 an ounce," Judge Forsyth said.

Addressing the three convicted men directly, he said: "You three men are primarily responsible for the crime in this country." To Craig, now serving a four-year term on another drug charge, he said: "You are the least culpable, a tool in their hands."

Husband Pushed Wife To Death

MONTREAL, Nov. 9 (CP). — Elias Lawand 25, was held criminally responsible Wednesday by coroner's jury for the death of his wife who, according to evidence, told police before she died that he pushed her from a second-storey balcony. Mrs. Lawand, 24, died in hospital Monday night from a fractured spine.

The woman's brother, V. Reid, 28, Toronto, was the only witness at the inquest. He said he visited his sister at the hospital and she told him she had been beaten five times in the last three months by her husband and "was fearful he would turn on their nine-months-old child.

Reid also said Lawand came to the hospital November 3 and Mrs. Lawand told him: "This is my husband. This is the man who pushed me over the balcony on Saturday night."

Reid said Lawand then replied: "Do you know what you are doing to me by saying this?"

Mrs. Lawand then asked her husband, "Why did you push me?" Reid said. The husband did not answer.

EDEN HONORED—Rt. Hon. Anthony Eden, wartime British foreign minister, received an honorary degree of doctor of laws at a special convocation at McGill University, Montreal. Mr. Eden came to this continent as the British Government's representative at the memorial services in Washington for Field Marshal Sir John Dill. He is shown right, on his arrival at Montreal, with J. W. McConnell, senior member of the university's board of governors.

CNR Man's Flash Told World Of Peary's Feat, Now Retires

HALIFAX, N.S. — (CP) — Gordon Spracklin, 65-year-old telegrapher, has sent his last message in a career lasting half a century.

When the Newfoundland-born Spracklin finished punching his last message on the keyboard of a Canadian National Telepraphs automatic teleprinter recently, he timed off a career during which he filed enough words to fill many books. One of those messages was the flash that Peary had discovered the North Pole.

Starting with the Reid Newfoundland Railway in 1900, Spracklin grew up with wireless telegraphy and reached his prime as an operator when the Morse sounder was in full use. He finished at a time when the telegraph key is in the decline.

High point of his career came when he was the one-man Marconi station at Battle Harbor, Labrador. On Sept. 8, 1909, he relayed from the station at Indian Harbor, further north, the biggest news story since the beginning of the century. Commander Robert Edwin Peary was on his way home after a second and successful attempt to reach the North Pole.

When the intrepid navigator sailed his ship Roosevelt into Battle Harbor, the event brought newspaper men flocking to the little outpost. John W. Regan got there first for the Associated Press.

Missed Big Date

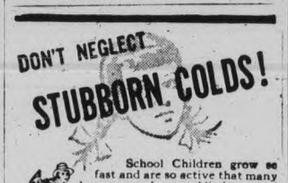
For two weeks, Spracklin recalls, he pounded out news copy. He was so busy he couldn't keep a luncheon date with the famous explorer.

Spracklin, who has seen a lot of men come and go, remembers that even Peary made errors of judgment. Peary carried no wireless on his ship—he "had no faith in it."

Spracklin's life reads like an adventure story. From his start with the Reid Railway at his home town of Brigus, Nfld., he moved to the Marconi Wireless Telegraph Company at Cape Ray. Then he worked at Battle Harbor and other lonely spots, including Sable Island, graveyard of the Atlantic. He looked after his father's fishing business in Labrador for a few years and then sailed to Russia.

After that came a hitch with the Western Union at North Sydney, N.S., before joining the CNT.

Now, he wishes he had gone to sea when he was a young fellow.



"I feel like a fish out of water," he says.

Eagles Trim The Redmen For Third Victory In Row

The local Eagles turned back Belleville Redmen 9-3 here last night to keep intact their victory string in the OHA senior "B" race. It was the second reverse in a row for the Redmen, who appear not in the best of shape yet. This was the third straight win for Eagles who are fighting it out with the Petes for the leadership, the latter having won their fourth last night in Kingston by a 3-2 count over the Nylons.

Coach Mick Magee's squad had a 3-1 margin over Moe Goheil's bunch in each frame of a fairly ast, clean contest. The visitors drew five of nine penalties and on four occasions Eagles roared in to tally with a man advantage. Only once did the Quinte crew count when Eagles had a player in the sin bin. All penalties were of a minor nature, mostly for interference.

Parnall Shone

Bob Parnall turned in an outstanding performance to lead the locals in sniping with two goals and two assists. He was followed closely by Bill Crowley, Joe Rochetta and Andy Milne, each being in on three. Bert Hill and Sixty Coombs were in on a pair apiece, while Smith, Montgomery and Vitarelli each figured in on one as the Eagles' scoring was well spread around. Vern Goyer, Day and Bastedo had a goal each for the Redmen, with Williams and MacDonald each aiding once.

The winners skated faster, showed better combination and checked closer than their rivals to earn the duke fairly handily. While the ice was a bit heavy, play was faster in the third heat than in the first two. A crowd of about 1,200 sat on their hands the first half but saw some exciting action later, with the Eagles driving hard and the Quinte men tearing back several hot thrusts. Ross Nichols was tough to beat in the home cage.

How It Went

Vern Goyer got the first from Williams but later Milne evened it from Parnell, Hill adding another on Coombs' pass and Rochetta making it 3-1 on a forward from Crowley. In the second, Coombs hit the hemp with Hill's passout but Day got that back on MacDonald's assist. Montgomery slapped one home from Parnall in close and Crowley roared in for another with Rochetta's pass, Smith's shot trickled through in the third and Parnall added one on a rebound by Milne. Bastedo scored then for the visitors and the final marker of the melee was garnered by Rochetta on three-way combination with Crowley and Vitarelli.

Belleville: Goal, Keays; defence, Schroeder and Nolan; centre, Jones; wings, V. Goyer and Williams; alts., Bastedo, Mulvihill, Green, Day, MacDonald. Free, Graham and Schmidt.

Eagles: Goal, Nicholls; defence, Godfrey and Smith; centre, Rochetta; wings, Crowley and Vitarelli; alts., Parnall, Montgomery, Milne, Hill, Lalonde, Coombs, D. Mortimer and Burns.

Referee, W. Reason; linesman, R. Ouimet.

Bowlers Elect A. Black For President

By HERB. MARTIN.

At the first meeting of the newly elected board of directors of the Peterborough Lawn Bowling Club, held on Tuesday evening, Aaron Black was elected president for the coming year; J. D. Fitzpatrick, vice-president and F. H. Dearborn, secretary-treasurer.

In choosing Mr. Black as president, the board of directors have done honor to a real Peterborough boy. Born here 29 years ago, he attended Prince of Wales school, the Collegiate Institute and finally went to the University of Toronto. He is the youngest member of the well-known Black family. He is favorably known, particularly in the business section as junior partner of Black's Men's Wear. He was responsible for the Black Memorial mixed doubles tournament, now recognized as the largest tournament of its kind in Ontario. He was chairman of the games committee last season and he is also the youngest member to hold the office of president. Not only do we congratulate Mr. Black on this occasion but we also congratulate him on his recent marriage. We wish him good luck on both counts.

As for vice-president, J. D. Fitzpatrick and secretary-treasurer F. H. Dearborn these men need no introduction on our part. Both are old-timers and have earned their spurs.

We understand that the board will meet again shortly to complete the appointments of committee chairmen.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Collegian hearts are happy, Collegian hopes are high, as they view the end of Belleville and wins for the PCI. Ah, yes, mes enfants, it looks like the Quinte seniors and juniors will do a double grid fadeout at the Oval this Saturday aft in COSSA semi-finals, PCVS emerging as finalists. In case either Belleville band should pull an upset, we will be too surprised for words—and that is the ultimate in surprises. But two tidy tussles should be served up as a large and colorful Collegiate crowd (plus the old grads) whoop it up on the northend pitch. A large afternoon expected.

* * * * * *

Two girls' basketball fixtures Friday eve at the YWCA, starting at eight. It's Black's vs. Neill's in the opener and Normals vs. the new Grads' entry in the nightcap. The damsels display fine form—ouch!—in these cage contests. YM house loop is supposed to swing into action Saturday, and meantime the OABA intermediate "A" and "B" teams are drilling away regularly. They may strike oil yet. St. Peter's will probably come up with one or two boys' teams and PCVS have ambitious plans for "A" and "B" boys' teams in senior, junior and bantam. With the girls there active, also.

Queen's Play Petes

Queen's University puckists play the Petes an OHA senior "B" scheduled game at Civic Arena tomorrow eve at 8.30. The Petes feel they got one break in the schedule by meeting Queen's several times early in the race, as those college boys are just getting together and also just rounding into hockey condition. They could be plenty tough, and might prove so on the morrow. They're all young, whereas ther senior squads have a mixture of youngsters and veterans. In any case, it ought to prove an interesting Friday e'en for local hockey fans as the schedule starts to warm up after two weeks of play.

* * * * * *

This from the Quinte scribe (ex-Major George Carver) after the last game down that way: "Coach Gobeil has a well-balanced squad and there is nothing wrong with them that practice and conditioning won't cure. Later re-inforcements will also help, and we feel the Redmen will be heard from plenty before playoff time. On the other hand, the Petes have a fast team of opportunists who take advantage of every break or scoring chance. They appear to be well-coached and in good condition and they, too, will improve as the season advances. Junior West, Dugan and Wade caught our eye and, of course, the veteran Ray Harding in the nets hasn't forgotten much of his oldtime cunning and ability."

* * * * * *

Another For Eagles

The Eagles flew a bit too fast for the Redmen here last eve to win 9-3, their third straight with no reverses to date. Redmen have dropped a pair but expect a former Oshawa Generals' goalie and one or two more players soon. Mick Magee's men looked good the last half as they started to fashion passing plays, and they checked well most of the route. Parnall, Crowley, Rochetta and Milne caught the eye with some nifty offensive work, with Hill and Coombs effective in spots, too. Lalonde and Smith will help as they shake into the team pattern. Ross Nicholls is steady as ever in the hemp and gets timely aid from his defence and from forwards who come back fast. Looks like the big game in the early season will be the Monday melee betwixt Eagles and Petes.

* * * * * *

Flashing fine form down Kingston way last evening, Drake Jopling's hustling Petes racked up their fourth OHA senior "B" win in as many starts. Showing they play no favorites, the Petes took the strong Nylons this time, yanking out a 3-2 decision. With a game in hand over Eagles, this puts the Petes in top place by a narrow margin. Any squad that can defeat the Nylons on the large Kingston surface is stepping high, wide and handsome, and that's what the visitors were doing last night. Everyone played heads-up hockey from Goalie Ray Harding out, and from start to finish. They are setting a sizzling pace for so early in the season, huh? Yes, suh. The scoring last twilight was spread around as the Petes drew more penalties in a clean but checked like fury when shorthanded.

Hither And Yawning

Cobourg expects up to 5,000 at the Ghosts-London grid "A" playoff Saturday; they'll run a special train to the return in London ... Ryerson and Parkdale clash in the intermediate "B" finals ... Frank McGillen had six points and Dick Foley one for SPS juniors in their game the other day, while John Armstrong passed to Laverne Jones for the seniors' try, as John Jones kicked the convert ... George Walton had a 345 top single in the Major Bowling League at Playfair ... Eagles are idle this week-end in OHA play ... Petes expect to go to Lake Placid on Nov. 25-26 to open the season 'gainst Bill McMaster and his teammates ... Any boy in Otonabee township, under 14 by Nov. 1 this year, wanting a tryout with the Otonabee bantams of the PMHA, should call Keene phone 9, coach George Heron ... Some info tomorrow on Eddie Shore's puck school in Lindsay next week ... Bill Ezinicki of Pittsburg in the AHL is reported rounding into his oldtime rugged form ... End of the line.

Young Swimmers To Toronto For Open Meet

Peterborough will be well represented at the open swimming meet in Toronto's West End YMCA Saturday. One of the largest contingents of swimmers ever to represent the city in a Toronto meet will be composed of swimmers from the YWCA and the YMCA swimming clubs.

Heading the boys' possible winners is Coach Gord Minty's Ontario junior men's 100-yard backstroke champion, Donald Wood. He will be entered in two junior events, the 200-yard backstroke and the 100-yard free style. Also in the juniors' 100-yard free style event will be John Bootman, Jim Starr and Ralph Wood.

The YMCA club making its first appearance of the 1950-51 season will have in the under 14 years, 80-yard free style relay event, Terry Reid, Brian Bell, Terry Northrop and Alec Baptie.

Three relay teams from the YWCA were recently chosen by the swimming director, Miss Audrey Hustwitt. They will be competing against relay teams from across Ontario.

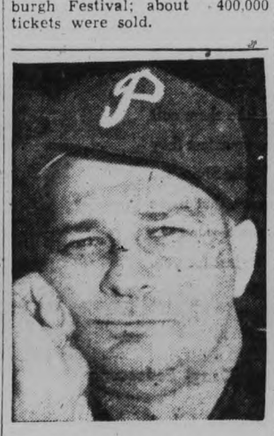
In the relay event for girls under 10 years Miss Hustwitt has entered Carol Howe (an outstanding swimmer at the CNE waterfront races this summer), Carolyn Ruth, Nancy Butler and Rosemary Epston. In the under 12 years relay race she has Sandra Wood, Margaret Ruth, Gail Wilkinson and Diane Standish. Miss Hustwitt selected Meredith Morgan, Eleanor Standish, Gail Wood and Margaret Westwood for the under 14 years relay team.

Mongraw High Three Major Bowling Loop

Reg Mongraw led the Major Bowling League this week at Playfair with an 867 triple, as George Walton topped them all in singles with a neat 345. Mongraw's rolled high pinnage of 3,451 and also best single of 1,268. Blanks were racked up by Crowley's, McLeod's, Bickell's and Plaza's respectively over Wonder Bread, Kaw, Deaf Club, Hunt's and Odeon's; while 4-2 wins were marked this way by Caccavella, Cherney, Parkway, Wood, Mongraw, Selkirk, Campbell's and Edgewater against McWilliams Wade, Elliott and Browne, Bassell's, Hurley, Post Office, Modern and Kingsmen.

Other good scores were: Fred Willison (327) 882, Mike Caccavella (324) 822, Jack Dormer 818, George Walton 805, Harold Legrow (306) 780, Carl Milheron (303) 776, J. Murduff 771, Bud Goodson 750, Geo. Niles 742, Gord Snape 737 Alf Mattucci (331) 736, Joe Lowery 733, Bert Bailey 731, Reg Gordon 726, Tom Walton 718, Gene Reynolds 714, Phil Pryde 710, and singles Reg Mongraw 316, 300, and Bert McCarrell 302.

Art Duncan Heads Trent Valley League



CAMPBELLFORD, Nov. 9 — (ENS)—At a meeting held in Campbellford this week, Art Duncan, a Batawa man, was re-elected to the presidency of the Trent Valley Hockey League. Herbert Rankin of Frankford is secretary-treasurer.

Other officers chosen were: vice-president, H. A. Huck) MacArthur of Campbellford; second vice-president, Wm. Regan of Marmora; third vice-president, Rob Wood of Norwood. These were all chosen without a vote.

Messrs. Birch and Farley of Frankford have been named auditors. Representatives were present from Belleville, Trenton and Brighton, seeking entrance into the league. Former teams represented were Marmora, Norwood, Frankford and Campbellford. If the new teams are admitted to the league, a seven or eight team loop may result. Number 6 R.D. of Trenton RCAF is among the possible starters. Deadline for entries will be December 15.

FESTIVAL VISITORS

Nearly 250,000 people visited Edinburgh for this year's Edinburgh Festival; about 400,000 tickets were sold.

EDDIE SAWYER, who never played an inning in the big leagues, recently was voted manager of the year." Sawyer led Philadelphia Phillies to their first pennant in 35 years last season.

Petes Edge Kingston Nylons To Stay On Top Of The Heap

KINGSTON, Nov. 9—Peterborough's systematic Petes stretched their winning string to the fourth notch in the Harty Arena last night when they edged the Nylons by 3-2 and handed the locals their third setback of the young campaign. It was a tensely waged duel that might have gone the other way if the Catlin-Partis-Gerow line had been given the slightest leeway but the canny invaders were having none of that.

The Petes' defence pair were solid and effective but were hard pressed to keep the determined Nylon assault troops in subjection. And when those snipers did break loose they were usually balked by the veteran cageman, Ray Harding, who probably never played a better game on Kingston ice. The Petes uncovered power as the forwards outskated their checks and did a lot of checkerboard passing in Nylons' defence area. They also went in fast for the rebounds.

More Penalties

Eight minor penalties were inflicted by Referee Bill Holway and the Petes absorbed five of them. When shorthanded, however, the scrappy visitors scaled dizzy heights in effectiveness and turned back the locals without allowing a counter.

The local goals were scored by Bob Joyce and Jack McKeown with Johnny Armstrong, third member of the line, drawing one assist.

Fryia, fast skating left winger, opened the scoring early, 'Honey' Tompkins and G. Leonard each drawing an assist.

Joyce leveled the count on a solo effort at 8:10 and at 13:15 Wade went all the way alone to give the Petes a lead they did not relinquish. Joe Watts was serving a penalty when Wade hit the webbing.

When Davidson and Wade returned in the second period and Doug Patterson was banished, the Petes rolled to the attack and at 14:47 West scored and Davidson was credited with an assist.

The Payoff

That shot by West proved to be the payoff marker and it added a lot of interest to the struggle with Nylons striving desperately to stage a winning rally. Jack McKeown with Armstrong assisting, beat Harding three minutes before the intermission and concluded the night's scoring activities.

Play in the final session was fast and exciting with the Petes clinging to their slim advantage and Nylons attempting to salvage the verdict. Penalties to E. Leonard and Millar of the ivaders and to McKeown propelled the launching of ganging attacks that came to grief. Nylons threw everything they could muster into the assaults while vainly attempting to outguess Harding.

The teams

Peterborough: Goal, Harding; defence, Davidson and E. Leonard; centre, Wade; wings, Floyd and Dugan; alts., G. Leonard, Tompkins, Fryia, West, Garvey, Collins, Horton, Millar and Edgar.

Nylons—Goal, Udall; defence, Patterson and Plumb; centre, McKeown; wings, Potts and Armstrong; alts., Watts, Londry, Murphy, Aitken, Joyce, Partis, Catlin, Gerow and Stone.

Capitals Victors Over Cincinnati

By The Canadian Press.

Indianapolis Capitals, so far this season a doormat for other American Hockey League teams to trample on their way to the top of the standings, turned on their tormentors Wednesday night.

The Caps, down in last place in the league's western division, blasted the Cincinnati Mohawks 5-3 and knocked them out of first place. Cleveland Barons beat Hershey Bears 5-4 in overtime to vault past the Mohawks into top spot, by a margin of one point.

New Haven Eagles, cellar team in the eastern division, didn't do so well. They were whitewashed 4-0 by Providence Reds. In the other game scheduled, Springfield whipped St. Louis Flyers 8-3.

The town of Cobourg is suffering from as potent an outbreak of football fever as Canada has ever seen.

Bill Fry of Toronto, who runs the intermediate section of the Ontario Rugby Football Union, says Cobourg officials tell him they expect an attendance of possibly 5,000 this Saturday when Cobourg entertains London in the first game of a home-and-home total-points series for the intermediate "A" title. The town has a population of around 6,000.

As a further demonstration of the way Cobourg has taken to its Galloping Ghosts, Mr. Fry said arrangements had been made for a broadcast of the game and any further games the team plays at home. A special train will carry fans to London for the return contest Nov. 18. Last Saturday some 200 to 250 accompanied the team when it defeated Dundas Bombers in semi-final play. Winner of the London-Cobourg series plays the Quebec champions in the eastern final, probably Nov. 25, on the home grounds of the Ontario team.

Mr. Fry said progress is being made in interesting western Canada and the Maritimes in a Dominion intermediate championship play off in 1951.

Lusty Song, winner of the 1950 Hambletonian and highest money winning three-year-old of all time, has been retired from racing.

E. J. Hayes, Duquoin, Ill., owner of the famed trotter, said yesterday the young stallion has been leased to the Walnut Hall Stud, Lexington, Ky., for breeding.

In his two-year racing career Lusty Song earned more than $124,941.

Howie Turner, a star backfielder with Ottawa Rough Riders of the Big Four Football League for four seasons, has joined the migrating footballers. He will play with Philadelphia Eagles for the rest of that club's playing schedule.

The former North Carolina backfielder will join Eagles to try to help them out of their third-place position in the American conference.

It raised a possibility Turner may play against Frank Filchock. Montreal Alouette quarterback who has signed to finish the season with Baltimore Colts.

It is still expected that Turner will be back with Riders next season.

A Victory Special with orchestra, organized bingo games, movies and refreshments leaves Edmonton today for Winnipeg loaded with 150 fans bent on seeing Eskimos make it two-straight over Blue Bombers for the western Conference football championship.

The train is scheduled to arrive at 11 a.m. Saturday and will return Saturday night—if Eskimos win. If they don't, arrangements have been made to have it leave following Monday's game.

Eskimo vice-president Henry Singer said the special will be "a veritable ship on wheels." There will be a shuffle board and horse races besides the bingo games. Movies will be shown in the club car and an orchestra (piano, accordion and trumpet) will play "continuously."

Supporters will have a choice in haberdashery between the familiar oil worker's hat and the coonskin Dan'l Boone chapeau, with the preference probably going to the latter.

Judge J. Elliott Hudson, president of the Maritime Senior Hockey League, announced that Kevin Conway of the league-leading Charlottetown Islanders has been suspended for three games for shoving officials and "going after" a spectator.

At the same time he warned other players to "behave themselves or suffer the consequences."

The league president said Conway had shoved and made threatening gestures to officials in recent games at Halifax and Saint John.

At Moncton, Nov. 4, after a spectator hit a Charlottetown player, Conway led other teammates into the crowd after the fan.

Baseball Commissioner A. B. Chandler said an agreement was reached Wednesday to recommend the bulk of the $975,000 received from world series and radio-television rights be put into the player pension fund.

The recommendation will be put before club owners at a meeting at Cincinnati Nov. 16.

Fry's New Broadway Play Rejected As Bore By Critic

By MARK BARRON

NEW YORK, Nov. 9 (AP) — The truth is that Christopher Fry's new play, "The Lady's Not For Burning," is a bore; it is written in poetry, but it's epigrams and word sleight-of-hand cannot cover up the fact that Fry's poetry is dull.

The story of "The Lady's Not For Burning" is a simple one, that of a lusty, lovely girl who is accused of witchcraft, and her lover's determination to save her. Arriving at the Royale Theatre Wednesday night, it was a mild dramatic premiere.

In the story Thomas Mendip, a discharged soldier, is sad with the world he has come back to from the war and he wants to be hanged.

John Gielgud, a British actor who is well known to Broadway audiences, plays the leading role.

Gielgud said: "Two things I liked about 'The Lady's Not For Burning': First its evocation of the country and the spring, of nature and season, of evening and the night (an atmospheric quality which he always found so enchanting in the plays of Chekhov, yet utterly differently handled by him), and secondly, the fact that everyone of the parts is beautifully characterized for acting.

Actor Enthusiastic

Fry's poetry "has humor, tenderness, fantasy," so Gielgud says. And, he adds, that Fry's "lovable characters are a little mad, his wicked ones are agreeable monsters (like the Duchess and the Gryphon in 'Alice in Wonderland'). And he is modern in thought and extremely quizzical."

It is good that "The Lady's Not For Burning" has turned out to receive a few good reviews because of the unfortunate happening to Fry's previous work on Broadway. That was last spring when Fry's "A Phoenix Too Frequent" came into town and was immediately given a horrible denouncement. His play was recipient of unpleasant remarks from both critics and newspaper columnists.

Now "The Lady's Not For Burning" is in and I fear that both the playwright and play may suffer heavily in the final judgment. I hope I am wrong and that I can toss my hat in the air in celebrating the arrival of play and playwright who merit the deed. At the moment they are collecting at the box office. However, the show is not good.

Hamilton Bows To Irish 4-2; Marlies Triumph

By The Canadian Press.

Toronto St. Michaels are tied for first place with Toronto Marlboros in the Ontario Hockey Association major series and Hamilton Tigers can take a big part of the "credit."

The Tigers Wednesday night bowed 4-2 to St. Mikes, the third straight Hamilton loss to the smooth-working Saints who have collected six of their eight points via the Tigers. Kitchener Flying Dutchmen and Hamilton share the league's cellar with four points.

There was some shuffling around Wednesday night, too, in the OHA Junior A series with Toronto Marlboros and Windsor Spitfires moving up to make the 10-team loop's runner-up spot a three-way position.

Windsor blanked Stratford Kroehlers 4-0 and Marlies squeaked through with a 5-4 overtime decision over Waterloo Hurricanes, winless in 10 starts. Windsor and the Dukes now share second place with Barrie Flyers, one point back of the leading St. Catharines Teepees who have 13 points.

The Major boys two top point-getters added points Wednesday night. The Saints' Johnny Ubriaco and Gordon Hannigan, one-two in the sniping brigade, each got a goal and Ubriaco added an assist. Coach Peanuts O'Flaherty and Bill McCracken scored St. Michaels' other goals while Ab Conick and Pete Pidsodney were Tiger marksmen.

No Scoring In First

There was no scoring in the first period, St. Mikes led 2-1 in the second and maintained a similar margin in the third period. Ubriaco got himself a 10-minute misconduct for talking back to officials in one of the flurries of a spirited contest.

In the junior contests Stratford saw the roughest game of the season, 19 penalties being handed out. Four were majors for fighting and a 10-minute misconduct went to Gord Nudds of Kroehlers who left the bench to join in a third-period free-for-all.

Earl Johnson, with two goals, and Jim Anderson and Erwin Grosse with one apiece took care of the scoring.

Ron Stewart scored after seven minutes of overtime with passing help from Wally Maxwell and Dan Windley for Marlies overtime goal and the luckless Hurricanes ninth loss this season.

Toronto had been leading on goals by Carl Balfour, Maxwell, Parker MacDonald and Tommy Fyles when Jack Oberle and Jerry Horton scored third-period markers to tie the contest. Centre Charlie MacDonald got both Windsor's first two goals.

Hockey's Big Seven

By The Canadian Press.

Max Bentley of Toronto picked up an assist Wednesday night as the Leafs downed New York Rangers 5-3, and edged ahead in the National Hockey League's individual scoring race. Bentley now has 15 points, two more than his nearest opponents.

Leafs Bounce Rangers 5-3 As Boston Ties Detroit

By The Canadian Press.

Hockey fans who yearn to pick up a newspaper and read about the Toronto Maple Leafs being beaten might just as well skip the sport pages today.

Ditto for supporters of Boston Bruins who would like to see the National Hockey League tail-enders win more often.

Both the Leafs and the Bruins were in action Wednsday night, and each performed as usual this season.

The Leafs extended their unbeaten streak to 11 games by trouncing New York Rangers 5-3 in New York, and the Bruins tied Detroit 3-3 before 8,038 fans. For the Bruins, it was the fourth tie in 11 starts. They have won only one game.

The Leafs' streak appeared well on the way to being snapped in New York as the Rangers built up a fat 3-0 lead by the half-way mark. Then Toronto got rolling and Rangers just could not hold them.

Jack McLeod got the lone goal of the first period, and Nick Mickoski and Ed Slowinski ran the count to 3-0 in the middle session before Sid Smith scored for Toronto at 10:01.

Two minutes later Captain Ted Kennedy cut the margin to 3-2 and Cal Gardner's solo dash with three minutes left ot the period tied the score. Smith got his second goal, the tie-breaker, early in the finale, and Joe Klukay added an insurance tally near the close of the period.

Uphill Battle

The Bruins fought an uphill battle all the way, coming from behind twice to earn their single point.

Gaye Stewart put the Red Wings out in front late in the initial period, but early in the middle frame Johnny Pierson and Dave Creighton each broke through goalie Terry Sawchuk to move Boston ahead.

The luckless Bruins held their advantage only 34 seconds—until George Gee sqquared matters with Gerry Couture and defenceman Red Kelly assisting. Ted Lindsay got Detroit's third goal with only four seconds of the period remaining.

Centre Paul Ronty dribbled in a 20-foot shot, the tying goal in the third period, saving Boston from their seventh loss.

The tie left Detroit in second place with 13 points, six less than the Leafs.

Fixed Price Bids Howe's Method Fight Inflation

OTTAWA, Nov. 9—(CP)—The government's defence purchasing agents, with millions of dollars worth of things to buy, Wednesday were ordered to adhere to the policy of favoring fixed price bids as a means of fighting inflation.

Trade Minister Howe, noting that some Canadian companies were including escalator clauses in bids, gave that policy order to the Canadian Commercial Corporation, one of the largest purchasing agencies in the country.

By the end of the current fiscal year, next March 31, the corporation is expected to spend about $500,000,000 for the fighting forces from guns to shoelaces. It already has let some 9,000 contracts this year.

"Maintenance of the Crown company's firm price policy means that companies submitting escalator clauses are liable to find their bids in an unfavorable position," Mr. Howe said.

Escalator clauses passed the main risk of cost rises to the purchaser and thus reduced the manufacturers' and suppliers' incentive to resist cost increases."

Extend Preference

"As one of the largest purchasing agencies in the country, I feel it is important that the Canadian Commercial Corporation should extend preference to companies co-operating in quoting firm prices, as this is a major means of fighting inflationary trends," Mr. Howe said.

He believed it was important that firm price idea start right back with the manufacturer and seep down to the supplier. Manufacturers were in the best position to calculate possible cost rises for their producers and it was therefore "important that every effort be made at the manufacturers' level to quote firm prices."

This, in turn, said Mr. Howe, would assist suppliers and contractors in establishing firm prices of their own.

Open Pit Mining Planned At Trail

TRAIL, BC, Nov. 9 — A program to extract two million tons of ore by open pit mining methods has pjust been started by The Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company of Canada, Limited, at their Sullivan Mine at Kimberley.

To date, practically all of the 55,000,000 tons of ore extracted from the Sullivan has been taken out underground. This will continue to be the major extraction method; however, for reasons of economy and safety it has been decided to adopt the open pit method for mining a portion of the huge ore body well up on Sulivan Hill, close to the site of the original discovery of the lode.

Before mining of the ore can start, the overburden, comprising about 200,000 cubic yards of gravel and 2,200,000 tons of rock, must be removed. It is estimated that this work will take about one year after which mining of the ore will start at a rate which may reach 3,000 tons a day.

Home-School Shown Pictures Of Europe

OMEMEE, Nov. 8 (ENS)— At Omemee Home and School a set of pictures was shown by Miss Hazel Wilson of Peterborough. Miss Wilson was one of 25 young ladies who last summer were privileged to tour western Europe under the sponsorship of National Council of the YWCA at Toronto. She explained the purpose of the tour was to bring about a closer relationship between Canadian and European YWCA's.

It was directed by Miss Elise Klaasen of Hamilton formerly of Holland and who came to Canada to study social work.

Two of the party were girls from Trinidad, which caused some friction when they were about to board a small boat with a party of Americans. Finally, however prejudice was overruled and the trip made as planned.

The pictures shown by Miss Wilson were only a scattering, she said, of those she had taken between the time of their sailing from New York on the Queen Elizabeth, May 31, and their return to Montreal on the Ascania, July 22. They were taken in England, Scotland, France, Holland, Belgium, Luxembourg and Switzerland and included buildings and scenes of historical, literary and commercial interest.

Another feature of the meeting was a quiz on civics conducted by Mrs. A. Stephenson. It began with Bible readings on ethics by Mrs. J. B. Hough after which questions on matters of municipal, provincial and federal administration were asked and answered.

Orders Placed For 40 Diesels

TORONTO, Nov. 9 — The largest order ever given by the Canadian National Railways for diesel-electric motive power was announced at Montreal headquarters last night by E. A. Bromley, vice-president, Purchases and Stores.

Bringing the total cost of new equipment ordered by the railway in 1950 to about $57,500,000, the new purchase consists of 40 road freight locomotives that are to be built by the Montreal Locomotive Works and General Motors Diesel Ltd., for delivery early next year. They will be operated in both long and short haul services between Halifax and Winnipeg.

88 Being Built

With this large order, the Canadian National now has 88 diesels scheduled for delivery late this year and in 1951, and their receipt will bring the system's diesel motive power fleet to 265 of which 143 will be switchers, 84 road freight engines, and the remaining 38 road switchers. The latter type are used in either switching or road service.

The 28 units of the new order from General Motors Diesel will be of 1,580 horse-power. They will be equipped with an automatic gear shift to replace the manual control and changes have been made to the electric system to give them a greater hauling capacity.

The 12 to be built by Montreal Locomotive Works will be of 1,680 horse-power each. They are similar to a previous order for eight placed in September and those now operating on CNR lines between Montreal and Jonquiere, Quebec.

Seymour Nomination Set For November 27

CAMPBELLFORD, Nov. 9 (ENS)—An election by-law calling for nominations to be held in the Masonic Temple on Monday, November 27, was passed at the November meeting of the Seymour council.

The elections, if any are necessary, will be held on Monday, December 4.

A request was received to cut down a hill on Concession 2 in the township. No action will be taken on this this year.

A representative of the Armco Metal Products solicited an order for tile and culverts, but no action was taken on this pending an investigation.

The clerk was instructed to ask for an increase in the Department of Highways grant. A grant of $10 was made to the C.N.I.B.

Old Business Dies

MONTREAL —(CP)— The bailiff's hammer ended a century-old business here when the D. & G. Sadler Company belongings were sold. It started in 1842 as a seller of books and religious articles. When the Sadler brothers died Henry Wall, an old employee, became the owner. He died last year and his widow died three months ago.

Clothing Industry Develops Rapidly In Manitoba, Reaches 200 Plants In 50 Years

WINNIPEG—(CP)—Manitoba's garment industry has grown from one small overall plant at the turn of the century to almost 200 plants producing a wide range of clothing and accessories for men, women and children.

To tell the story of the industry's methods and working conditions, the Garment Manufacturers' Association of western Canada has started a series of public tours through Winnipeg plants.

These factories during 1949 produced an estimated $30,000,000 worth of goods—an increase of 338 per cent from 1939.

Reporters who took the first tour were told that everything about the Winnipeg plants is on a par with modern trends elsewhere.

H. H. Gutman, executive secretary of the association, said Winnipeg's overall and work-shirt production is the largest in Canada.

Designing Weak Spot

In 1948, last year for which statistics are available, the city's 11 factories with 1,050 employees produced $6,000,000 worth of overalls and shirts. Montreal was next with production of $4,780,000 in factories employing 769 persons.

Mr. Guttman also reported that 18 Winnipeg factories making women's coats and suits had 1948 output of $10,400,000. These plants employed 1,278 men and women. Montreal, with 119 factories on this type of production, turned out coats and suits worth $23 600,000.

The weak spot in Winnipeg's industry, Mr. Guttman said, is in designing. Local manufacturers must depend on outside assistance because there are no suitable training facilities in Manitoba schools and university.

RCMP Authority Extends To 8 Provinces

OTTAWA —(CP)— Jurisdiction of the RCMP has increased steadily over the years and now only two provinces, Ontario and Quebec, are under the authority of provincial police forces.

Commissioner S. T. Wood says the RCMP is still accountable to the government and through parliament to the people. "Unless Canada's government became a dictatorship, Canadians would have no cause for worry."

Commissioner Wood was commenting on the fact that this year his force had taken over the responsibility of providing provincial police protection in British Columbia and Newfoundland.

He said the work of co-ordination, going forward in British Columbia was carried on under particularly happy circumstances.

"The British Columbia provincial police force is a splendid force," he said, "and our relations with it over the years have always been excellent. The integration of the two forces gives us greater efficiency than ever before."

However, he admitted that the integration of the Newfoundland constabulary and the RCMP provided a somewhat more difficult problem.

The provisions of the Canadian criminal code and various federal statutes were all new to Newfoundland and police authorities there, and even the courts needed time to familiarize themselves with Canadian laws, he said.

Judge Upholds Clause In Insurance Contract

TORONTO, Nov. 9—(CP)—In a written judgment Wednesday, Mr. Justice E. R. E. Chevrier, of the Ontario Supreme Court, upheld a clause in an insurance company's contract which held it not liable for the death of an "unnerved" animal.

He dismissed a $2,500 claim brought by H. A. Fields, Toronto manufacturer, against the Hartford Livestock Insurance Company of Chicago for the loss of the thoroughbred race mare True Note.

The horse, which had been operated for the removal of a fetlock nerve, took ill and was destroyed at the Ontario Veterinary College, Guelph, in April 1948.

World Poverty Big Problem Bank Warning

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

Three out of five people in the world earn an average of $40 a year, have a life expectancy of 30 years, a diet at the subsistence level and an illiteracy average of 78 per cent.

This is stated in the current monthly letter of the Canadian Bank of Commerce in a study of Canada in its relation to under-developed areas of the world.

Illustrating what this means, the bank letter quotes James P. Warburg in his book, "A New Look At The Economic Challenge", as follows:

"We know that hunger, poverty, disease and ignorance are the basic factors which move men toward violence. We know that the unequal distribution of food, medicine, knowledge and accumulated wealth causes a wide sense of injustice; and we know that man's sense of injustice is older and stronger than man's reason.

"Yet, taking the human race as a whole, we do relatively little about all this . . . the privileged people of the world are only just beginning to realize that their favored position is endangered by the condition of the under-privileged."

The bank's letter says that, through force of circumstances the concept of the world as one economic entity has gained considerable headway since the immediate post-war period.

Failure to recognize this, the letter adds, was a contributing cause of the depression of the '30's. The avoidance of a repetition of past errors in this respect would be a delicate and difficult task.

In other words, the world must not be set up into numerous national compartments, each trying to produce most of its own needs whether it does it well or not.

Rather, each should produce what it does best, and exchange production in the channels of world trade.

Bethany WA Hears Talk

BETHANY, Nov. 9 ENS). — Members of the United Church Women's Association were entertained at the home of Mrs. Donald Lowes for their regular meeting. Tho program was in charge o. Group Four, with Mrs. C. Pomeroy and Mrs. H. L. Challice as leaders.

Mrs. James Hampson gave the theme topic of the meeting on "Fellowship," stating "Fellowship is friendliness in action" and continuing with the story of the work of Rev. Lester Berry and his wife who are missionaries in Labrador, covering some thirty thousand miles of territory via snowmobile and dog sled in the winter and all along the coast line with the United Church Missionary Boat, christened the Glad Tidings, during the summer months. "Radio is also used by this missionary, who conducts his own broadcasts during the winter to the isolated trappers and fishermen". Mrs. Frank Bigelow gave a reading "Peace." Mrs. Ona Thorndyke read a poem "A Corner of a Flag for You to Hold" and Mrs. R. Carr sang "The Church by the Side of the Road."

During the business session for which Mrs. T. J. Jackson presided, plans were completed to cater for the annual Durham 500-Bushel Potato Club Banquet being held November 24. Mrs. G. Waddell, Miss L. Thompson, Mrs. H. Jakeman and Mrs. T. J. Jackson were appointed as a nominating committee to draw up a slate of officers for 1950.

All groups were requested to have their donations handed in to the treasurer before the December meeting. The scripture lesson was read by Mrs. Mervyn Porteous and Mrs. Harvey Fallis gave "Lesson Thoughts." Thirty-five members answered the roll call with a verse on Fellowship.

A social hour was enjoyed after the meeting with lunch being served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. H. L. Challice, Mrs. James McKinnon and Mrs. Frank Bigelow.

Prison guards and police, however, still are searching the marshes in the Sydenham area for the fugitive who was serving 2½ years for theft and receiving stolen goods.

Atomic Material Used For First Time To Make Quebec Newsprint

MONTREAL, Nov. 9—(CP)—The first newsprint ever manufactured with the aid of atomic materials from Canada's stock pile at Chalk River, came off the machines of a Quebec newsprint mill Wednesday.

The successful use of radioactive iodine in a test run at Baie Comeau, on the north shore of the Gulf of St. Lawrence, was announced here by Arthur A. Schmon of St. Catharines, president and general manager of the Quebec North Shore Paper Company.

The Baie Comeau experiment, conducted by company technicians, National Research officials and representatives of the Pulp and Paper Research Institute of Montreal, was the result of months of study and planning.

Use Four Tons

Four tons of newsprint, containing a minute amount of radioactive iodine, were run off a high speed paper machine. Purpose of the iodine is much the same as that of radio isotopes used by the medical profession for tracking down the courses of treatments in the human body.

The radioactive materials make it possible to follow the meshing and intertwining of fibrous substances and allow a continuing survey of solutions and substances coming together at any mixture stage.

Officials said that due to the small quantity of radioactive material required for this new process, and also due to the fact that radioactivity dies within a few days, there is no danger either to employees or users of the finished paper. Even the original activity was described as "non-dangerous."

House Wall Falls

SIMCOE, Nov. 9 — (CP). — The brick wall of a house collapsed into a street here early on Wednesday, jarring awake the dwelling's eight occupants, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Bailey and their family of six. None was injured and all went to a hotel for the rest of the night. Cause of the wall's collapse was not known. Damage was estimated at $500.

Sent 80 Letters In Month Court Learns

PICTON, Nov. 9 (CP)—James Fosbraey wrote nearly 80 letters in one month to his wife whom he is accused of murdering, court was told Wednesday.

Written while he was in England with the RAF. Ten of the letters were threatening, others were filled with expressions of love for his wife and their five-year-old daughter.

Five days after his wife was stabbed to death Nov. 28, 1949, Fosbraey wrote from jail to his wife's parents: "She told me about the weekend in Kingston—in tears—a few minutes before the murder." The letter was intercepted by the jail's governor, Stuart Gilbert.

The letter, read in court on the third day of Fosbraey's second murder trial, hinted that his wife had gone to Kingston with Stanislaw Steinbach.

Sentenced to be hanged at his first trial in Napanee, Fosbraey won an appeal and a change of venue to this town, 15 miles southeast of Belleville. He pleaded innocent at the opening of his second trial Monday.

Fosbraey's father-in-law, John Curran, testified Wednesday he had never heard a row of any kind in the Fosbraey home until after Steinbach had been introduced to Mrs. Fosbraey. Fosbraey later accused his wife of adultery with Steinbach.

Harris Delighted To Help Ontario

TORONTO, Nov. 9 — (CP) — Immigration Minister Harris said Wednesday the federal government will be "delighted" to help Ontario find 15,000 skilled workers to meet the needs of expanding industry.

He referred to a statement Tuesday by Premier Frost that the province was asking federal authorities for assistance in bringing workers to Canada. Mr. Harris told the Ontario Young Liberal Association that he has already asked Canadian representatives abroad to try to obtain 2,000 workers for the Ontario Hydro's $300,000,000 Niagara power development.

But he criticized Mr. Frost for taking credit for his party for recent development in Ontario. He said:

"While Ontario leads other provinces in industrial development, it is quite as much due to the past record of the Liberal Party in this province and the present government at Ottawa."

Mayor Re-Elected

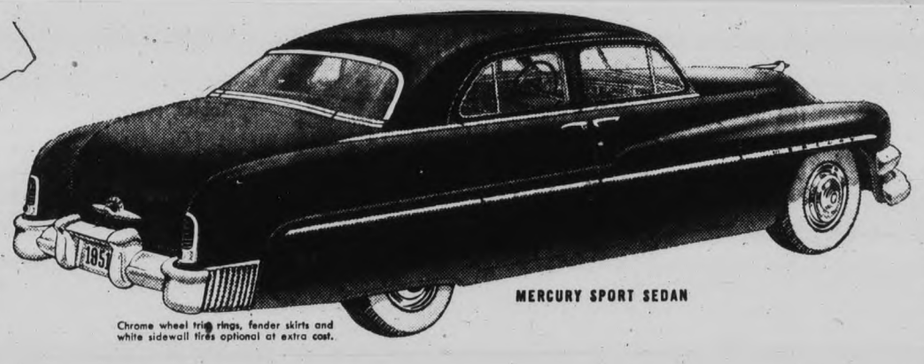
ALFRED, Ont., Nov. 9 (CP)—J. U. Leduc, unseated as mayor recently, has been re-elected in a by-election. The mayor resigned after Gerard Landriault took action to unseat him on the ground he had sold merchandise to the municipality while mayor. He is a farmer and mechanic. In the by-election, Mr. Leduc was returned over Mr. Landriault, a garage owner, by a vote of 672 to 488.

Skin Eruptions

Here is a clean, stainless, penetrating antiseptic oil that brings speedy relief from the itching and discomfort.

Not only does this healing antiseptic oil promote rapid and healthy healing in open sores and wounds but boils and simple ulcers are also relieved.

In skin affections the itching of Eczema is quickly stopped. Pimples—skin eruptions dry up and scale off in a very few days. The same is true of Barber's Itch, Salt Rheum, Itching toes and Feet and other inflammatory skin disorders.



You can obtain Moone's Emerald Oil in the original bottle at any Tamblyn Drug Store or any modern drug store. Satisfaction or money back.

Actress Plans To Make Lecture Tour

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 9—(AP)—As most of the residents of Beverley Hills know by now, Tallulah Bankhead is in town.

The Alabama cyclone breezed into town this week for the broadcast of her new radio program, "The Big Show."

In between telephone calls from local admirers she talked to me about her current activities. She was excited about her forthcoming lecture tour.

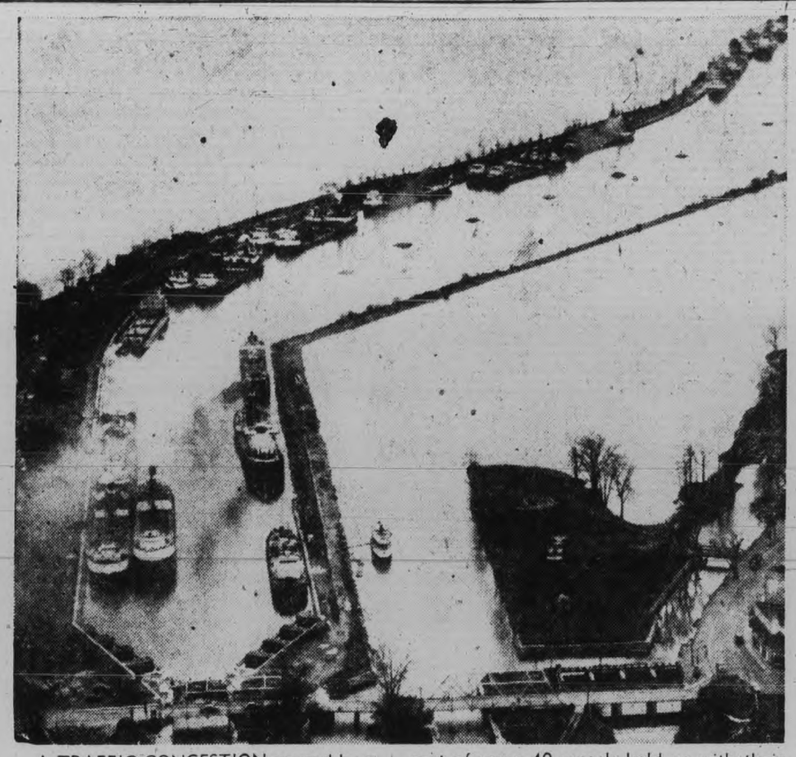
"Imagine- Me giving lectures!" she said. "At first it frightened me. To me a lecture either meant someone scolding a little child or an expert talking about what he knows about. Now I am an expert on absolutely nothing."

Moola For Tallulah—

The lectures, which will be sandwiched between her NBC broadcasts, will mean much moola for Tallulah. (clever?)

"I'll get $5,000 for four hours' work," she remarked. "That's $1,250 an hour, which is not bad working conditions. I'm scared to pieces about the lectures, but they will help me meet a new audience —mostly students and older people. It will also help me write the autobiography I was supposed to have written by now. So far all I've written are the words 'Tallulah Bankhead,' and my literary agent tells me that's not a very good start."

Movie Deals



The actress said she had a couple of picture deals cooking. I asked her if she likes doing pictures.

"I like whatever I'm not doing at the moment," she answered. "When I'm worn out at the studio I wish I was back on the stage, where I could sleep all day. When I'm faced with going to the theatre I wish I was in pictures so I could have my day's work done.

"My friends tell me they always know when it's 7:30 in the evening. That's when I start to fall asleep out of weariness of having to do a show."

Marmora CWL Meets

MARMORA, Nov. 9 (ENS).—November meeting of the Catholic Women's League was held in Sacred Heart School. The president Mrs. Charles Cook, occupied the chair and welcomed the members. The treasurer's report was given by Mrs. B. McTaggart, showing a substantial balance on hand. The social service convener Mrs. Charles Crawford, reported two baskets having been sent. Mis Mary Hughes reported for the sewing club and displayed a handsome quilt donated to the bazaar by Mrs. Sanford Lawrence. She also reported that several ladies had been busy at the home of Mrs. C. Crawford making the curtains for the new parish hall and these were displayed.

Institute Votes $75 For Library

MARMORA, Nov. 9 (ENS) — The November meeting of the Marmora Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. George Kerr on Wednesday evening. Mrs. Percy Grey, president, occupied the chair. Due to various other gatherings requiring the attendance of some members, the attendance was somewhat limited for the fine program submitted. The roll call "quick desserts" was well responded to.

The president drew attention to the meeting of Wellman's Corners WI on Nov. 15 to which the members of the local branch are invited. An effort will be made to secure a good representation.

The sum of $75 was voted to the Marmora Public Library.

Mrs. W. D. Lavender appropriately spoke on the motto "Things money cannot buy" and a paper was read by Mrs. R. E. Neal on Citizenship and Education.

An ice contest put on by Mrs. E. Nobes was won by W. J. Cottrell, associate member. Two interesting readings "A modern Dorcas" and "What success is" were given by Mrs. E. C. Prentice.

The December meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. H. W. Sabine. The meeting closed with the National Anthem.

The committee in charge served refreshments.

Whitehall Notebook

Find UK Communist MP's Fading Into Obscurity

By ALAN HARVEY

LONDON, Nov. 9—(CP)—The two Communist members of Britain's 1945-50 parliament seem to be doomed to political obscurity. Willie Gallacher, who represented a Scottish constituency, has been in ill health for some months, and Philip Piratin has announced he will not contest the next general election.

Piratin, who joined the Communist party in 1934 and became the first Communist councillor in the east-end borough of Stepney, says he is forced to resign his candidature in Stepney because bankruptcy proceedings have been started against him.

"I would have liked to contest the next election," he said, "but I cannot do so now."

In a slander acaion last June, a police superintendent was awarded £1,500 against Piratin as a result of remarks the member made at a public meeting.

Can't Pay Damages

Piratin, now in Sheffield for the opening of next week's "second world peace congress," officially regarded as Communist-inspired, told reporters he is unable to pay the damages.

"I possess no substantial assets apart from the suit of clothes I stand in," he said. "I also have my weekly wage and nominal expenses."

Piratin now receives £5 15s. a week, plus expenses, as an organizing official at Communist party headquarters. His wife has a business of her own.

In point of numbers, Britain's Communist party is no longer a political force to be reckoned with. It suffered a crushing defeat in last February's general election, all but three of its 100 candidates losing their £150 deposit. Not one was elected.

The average vote for each candidate was about 800 compared with 5,000 in 1945.

Others Feel Pinch

Communists are not the only ones to feel the financial pinch. Many Conservative and Labor members would agree with Piratin who said he had only £6 10s. to live on after paying his expenses as an M.P.

Intrigued by this, The Evening Standard interviewed Gerald Nabarro, a Conservative M.P., and Tom Williams, a Socialist, to find out how they fared on their £1,000 a year.

Nabarro said he pays a secretary £500 a year and after other expenses has only £140 left—"If I weren't a company director I couldn't afford to be an M.P."

Williams said he would be in debt if he smoked or drank.

Government Had To Borrow 500 Million From Banks

TORONTO, Nov. 9 (CP). — Graham Towers, governor of the Bank of Canada, today disclosed that the government had to borrow some $500,000,000 from the central and chartered banks to cover the flood of capital into Canada in the months preceding action to free the dollar.

"It is not always realized that additions to exchange reserves require to be financed," he said in a speech prepared for delivery before a joint meeting of the Empire Club of Canada and the Canadian Club of Toronto.

"When the government buys United States funds from an American investor who wishes to purchase a domestic security, it must find the Canadian dollars to pay him with.

"During June and July the Canadian dollars required to pay for the increased gold and United States dollar holdings of the foreign exchange control board were provided from the cash reserves of the government.

"In August and September, as the capital inflow continued and then increased in volume, the government found it necessary to borrow from the chartered banks, by issuance of $200,000,000 of deposit certificates and from the Bank of Canada to the extent of nearly $300,000,000 by selling us exchange on a temporary basis."

Covers Flow

"This money covered the heavy flow of capital, most of it from the United States and including "hot" or speculative money which brought Canada's gold and dollar reserves to a record $1,789,000,000 but exerted sufficient pressure to force the government to free the dollar Sept. 30.

"This financing with the Bank of Canada," said Mr. Towers, "would have had inflationary implications if it had resulted in a large increase in the cash reserves of the chartered banks.

"However, we set out to prevent this happening by selling in the market part of our holdings of government of Canada securities. . ."

Mr. Towers doubted whether any country has ever experienced a capital inflow of proportionate size in such a short period.

Nitrogen Blast Burns 6 Workers

WINDSOR, Nov. 9, (CP) — Six persons were burned in the explosion of a bottle of nitrogen at the Great Lakes Die Casting plant here Wednesday.

A fire which followed the explosion was kept under control by plant employees and extinguished by the city fire department.

Four of the six were held in hospital for treatment of burns to their faces, hands and backs. They are Nick Tkazhuk, 21; Ronald Deeter, 26; Edward Volick, 29, all of Windsor, and Arthur Shorkey of Detroit. Their condition is not believed to be serious.

Mrs. Helen Kavanaugh, 30, and Angelo Covre, 55, were released from hospital after treatment.

Plant Manager Peter Hedgewick said the nitrogen bottle was part of a die casting machine. Shorkey was repairing the machine when the blast occurred.

Flames shot through the room but damaged only the one machine and the ceiling above the explosion. Work was suspended for the rest of the day.

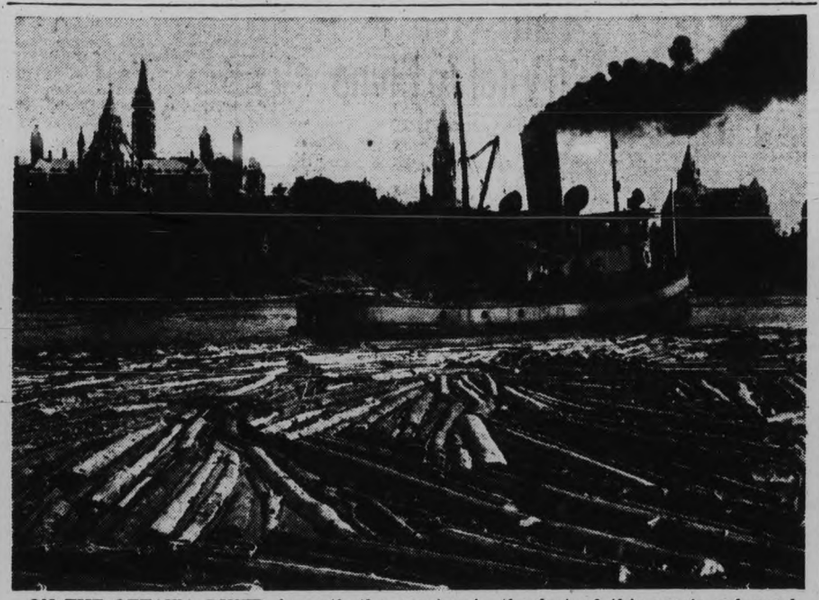
Want To Carve New Province In N. Ontario

FORT WILLIAM, Nov. 9 (CP) —A group which wants to carve a new prov called "Aurora" out of northern and northwestern Ontario met here Wednesday night.

Speakers outlined plans for a "New Province League" to work out details of a secession movement.

Alfred Batters, chairman, said the movement is genuine and not merely a device to obtain more aid from the rest of Ontario. He said a union with Manitoba would not be considered.

He said a new province was necessary because forest wealth of the north and northwestern sections is being exploited, because raw materials are being exported instead of being used to strengthen industry in the region and because the Ontario government had failed to develop highways and secondary roads.



Alderman J. J. Spooner of Fort William said Ontario derives one-third of its revenue from the northern areas but returns only one-tenth for development, education and welfare.

Put Up Fight

"Queen's Park will put up a strong fight to hold northern Ontario," he said. "Don't think that Toronto is not concerned. They know that if we establish a separate province they will be on relief in 30 days."

Joseph Otway Jr. said the "natural" eastern border of "Aurora" would extend north from Sault Ste. Marie, following roughly the Algoma Central Railway line to Hearst, then to Port Albany on James Bay.

Mr. Otway said he had received about 50 applications for membership in the new province league as well as many requests for information.

ON THE OTTAWA RIVER, beneath the stately Parliament Buildings, a tug strains to move the boom of pulpwood logs to the pulp and paper mill before freeze-up. Across the land, on many rivers and lakes, Canada's 120 pulp and paper mills are gathering in the last of this year's pulpwood harvest before winter. Some 235,000 Canadians helped to garner this crop and some 55,000 will transform it into pulp and paper, Canada's leading export and chief earner of American dollars.

Faraday Votes Liquor Store

BANCROFT, Nov. 9 (ENS)—After a spirited campaign between the "wets" and the "drys" voters of Faraday township went to the polls Wednesday and voted 256 to 107 in favor of having a government liquor store.

Returning officers described it as a good poll for the municipality —380 voters were eligible, 374 voted, 256 said "yes", 107 said "no", and 11 ballots were spoiled.

The nearby village of Bancroft has twice held a similar vote in recent years but each time the wets were unable to get the required 60 per cent of total vote. To be eligible for a ballot a person must have been a resident of the township for at least 60 days.

One of the reasons advanced by the "wets" for a liquor store was that it would draw the tourist trade.

Suggest Raise For Police, Firemen $150

Although the administration of the police department is not a responsibility of the city council, some of the members recently have been thinking out loud about some financial allowance for the force since the firemen got a wage award of $150 each.

The fixing of the police wage scale is determined by the members of the Police Commission. His Honor Judge Smoke, Police Magistrate Philp and Mayor Swanston. When department appropriations are set for the year they become an intangible barrier seeming to discourage any belated demands or expenses above that allowance.

That applies, generally, also to the departments under the control of the city council, such as the firemen. When the board of arbitration recently returned a majority finding that the firemen were entitled to $150 a year on their claim for an increase to meet the rising costs, Ald. Doug Miller, chairman of the fire and light committee, told the council he hoped to find the $6,000 still in the appropriation from careful spending during the year.

The firemen have not received the cheques yet, and will probably be quite satisfied with the payoff any time before Christmas since the decision of the council to accept the award of the court of arbitration granting to each fireman half of the $300 that was asked in their brief.

Ald. J. E. Gillespie said today in reply to an enquiry in that direction that members of the council had been discussing a general question—"should anything be done for the policemen?" That query indicated official thinking that when the one department got a $6,000 joint wage increase, the other would naturally consider that they were entitled to a similar allowance against this year's costs.

"I think the feeling of the council is probably that the police department budget is under the control of the Police Commission, and that any salary increase would have to first be a recommendation from them to the council."

Reject 200 Requests

LONDON, Nov. 9—(AP)—Britain has rejected more than 200 requests by Communists and fellow-travellers for visas to attend the World Peace Congress which opens in Sheffield Monday. More than 200 other visa applications have been granted. Qualified informants reported Wednesday night that among those who were turned down was Russian writer Ilya Ehrenburg.

Four Bands To Accompany Remembrance Day Parade

A record turnout of veterans of World War I and II is expected Saturday for the annual Remembrance Day parade and service at the war memorial. Officers of Canadian Legion Branch 52 hope that veterans will take advantage of November 11 being on a Saturday this year and join the ranks on parade.

War veterans will fall in at the armouries at 10:15 a.m. Veterans in several factories are following last year's procedure by falling in at the plants and marching as a group to the armouries to join the main body.

Four bands will play the veterans along the downtown route: the 50th Heavy A.A. Regiment's band, the Peterborough Citizens' Band, the Salvation Army Temple band, and the C.G.E. Pipe band. The route will be west along McDonnel St. to Aylmer St., south to Charlotte St., east to George St., and north to the war memorial in Confederation park.

At the war memorial the salute will be taken by Major General Arthur E. Potts, CGE, district DVA administrative officer. He will also speak briefly. Other speakers at the 11 a.m. service will be the Rev. Walter J. Gilling, the Rev. W. C. McCarney, Mayor M. J. Swanston, Gordon K. Fraser, M.P., and the Hon. Harold Scott, MPP.

Placing Wreaths

Wreaths will be placed on the war memorial by the city's service organizations represented by Patrick Burke, president of Branch 52; Mrs. B. W. Harvey, president of the Peterborough Silver Cross chapter; Mrs. W. H. Morewood, president of Branch 452 (women's); Mrs. Albert Mason, president of the Ladies Auxiliary.

Major General Potts will be the guest speaker at the annual Armistice day dinner held in the Legion Hall at 6:30 p.m. The Ladies Auxiliary will do the catering.

OBITUARIES

SARAH JANE MILLER

Sarah Jane Miller, 86, of 11 Ridout St., Lindsay, died Wednesday following an illness of five years.

She was born in Emily township, daughter of the late Charles and Sarah Miller. She has resided in Lindsay for one year and eight months, going there from Peterborough and Emily township.

Miss Miller was a member of George St. United Church and was active in the Women's Association and served as a Sunday school teacher.

She leaves two nephews, Ernest Taylor of Albernie, British Columbia and Leslie Taylor of Quill Lake, Saskatchewan and one cousin Mrs. D. Belch of Omemee.

The funeral will take place at the Belleghem Funeral Home, Saturday at 3 p.m. The Rev. Arnold Mathews of George St. United Church will conduct the service. Burial will be in Emily cemetery.

MRS. BERTHA CAMERON

Mrs. Bertha Cameron, widow of Andrew Nelson Cameron, of Peterborough, died in hospital early today after a year's illness. She was born in South Monaghan, the daughter of the late Walter Riddell and Sarah Morrison. She lived in the Peterborough district all her life.

She is survived by three cousins, Miss Betty Emberson, Huntsville, Mrs. S. W. Hastings, Stouffville, and Mrs. Isaac Elliott, Peterborough.

Funeral service will be conducted Friday at D. Belleghem and Sons funeral home by the Rev. Charles Boyd of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church. Burial will be in Little Lake cemetery.

CGE Veterans Plan Parade

The War Veterans Association of Canadian General Electric Company have arranged to muster as usual at the works for the Remembrance Day parade.

They are being asked to meet at 9 a.m. and take off immediately to join with other ex-servicemen in the observance of this day of tribute to comrades who have gone on before them.

The association, of which Bill Bennett is president, is directing a special appeal to the membership not to let Saturday morning interfere with the usual big turnout of CGE veterans.

It is estimated that there may be 1,000 of the staff who have seen service in either of the two World Wars, and they have been a prominent unit in the annual parades of Remembrance.

The CGE Pipe Band will be at full strength.

Four Breeders Show At Royal Winter Fair

Four Peterborough county live stock breeders will be represented in the show ring at the Royal Winter Fair opening next Tuesday.

A. E. DeNure, of North Monaghan, is sending an Aberdeen-Angus steer. There will also be entries from the Shorthorn herd of M. H. Pimmett and Sons, of Otonabee.

N. W. McConkey of Lifloc Farm has entered two Guernsey bull calves and four Hampshire lambs, and it is understood that Louis Cadesky of Louada Manor Farms, Harvey township, will be represented in the Shorthorn cattle class.

A Cadesky entry was champion steer at the CNE against opposition from the other beef breeds, and is being sent back to the same class at the Royal.

Fred J. Webster, Holstein breeder, of Prince Edward, has been fitting his bull Glenafton Precedence for next week's show. It was grand champion at the Prince Edward county Holstein show, but was not brought to Peterborough for the reason that his owner was planning the Royal trip.

Won't Free Petain Assembly Decides

PARIS, Nov. 9 —(AP)—The French National Assembly today refused, by a vote of 466 to 98, to free aging Marshal Petain from prison.

Deputy Louis Terrenoire, a follower of Gen. Charles de Gaulle, submitted an amnesty motion for the 94-year-old Vichy French leader yesterday.

Petain now is serving out a life imprisonment term in a fort on the bleak island of Yeu off the Atlantic coast. He was sentenced to death after the war, but Gen. De Gaulle, then head of the French government commuted it to life imprisonment.

LIMITED MARKET

Due to a limited market, Sweden will cease production of feature-length films at the end of this year.

Manslaughter Charge Laid In Boy's Death

Charges of motor manslaughter and careless driving were held today in police court against Mrs. Amelia Edwards, R.R. 2, Warsaw, driver of a car which struck and killed five-year-old Garry B. Faiers Oct. 14.

The charges were adjourned to Nov. 27 when the preliminary hearing of the manslaughter charge will probably be heard.

The youngster, only son of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Faiers, 829 Lansdowne St., was crossing Lansdowne St. in front of his home when the accident occurred.

He was on his way to a store on the north side of the street to buy some bubble gum.

Carried 215 Feet

Police reported marks on the road indicated the car was travelling west. The body of the boy was carried 215 feet with the car to the CPR railway tracks where the car stopped and the body dropped off.

Driving with Mrs. Edwards was her daughter Norma. The daughter said she thought her mother blew the horn of the car and the boy seemed to hesitate to try to locate the car before he was hit.

Constable Edward Niziol investigated.

Shooting Charge Follows Hallowe'en Trick

As an aftermath of a Hallowe'en prank, Harry Barnum, of West Guilford, has been charged with wounding. He is alleged to have shot Hector Bain, also of West Guilford.

The incident allegedly occurred on Hallowe'en when pranksters were attempting to upset the outdoor privy on the Barnum premises. Witnesses state that Barnum told the unwelcome visitors to leave his privy alone. When they did not heed he is alleged to have fired a shot into the air.

Reinforcements arrived to finish the job, but before the building was touched, another shot is said to have rung out and Hector Bain was knocked off his feet. The rest of the pranksters are reported to have concluded their activities for the evening immediately.

Examination showed that Bain had stopped seven pellets of shot in his ankles and feet. He is now able to walk around.

The accused man is 38 years old and Hector Bain is 34 years old.

W. E. Hermiston Of Percy Dies

Former Reeve of Percy Township following the First World War, William Edward Hermiston, 76, was buried today in Warkworth. The funeral service was held at his residence and the Rev. H. G. Lester of St. Paul's United Church, assisted by the Rev. J. M. Ritchie of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, officiated.

Pall-bearers, all nephews, were Charles, Walter and Percy Honey, Fred Denike, Fred Allen, Randolph Cotter. Burial was at Warkworth Cemetery. Friends and relatives from Toronto, Detroit, Norwood and Dartford attended the ceremony.

Mr. Hermiston died on Monday in hospital following a lingering illness. He was born in Percy Township, son of the late William Hermiston and Elizabeth McKnight, and lived all his life in the district. He was a successful farmer and had retired five years ago. His first wife, the former Anne Losie, predeceased him in 1922. He was the youngest of a family of three brothers and one sister, all deceased.

Mr. Hermiston leaves his wife, the former Margaret Ross, and two daughters, Mrs. Roy McNally (Evelyn) of Warkworth, and Mrs. R. H. Pincomb (Arlene) of Detroit. One son Leslie lives in Warkworth, and there are four grandchildren.

George Street Ladies Serve 475

Approximately 475 people attended the Congregational Anniversary Turkey Dinner held at George St. United Church Wednesday night.

A short program followed the dinner, for which the Rev. Arnold Mathews was chairman. John Telford sang two solos and readings were given by Mrs. W. G. McLaren. The Sunday School orchestra played several numbers.

In charge of the dinner was a committee headed by Mrs. W. H. Frise, assisted by Miss Mary Elliot, Mrs. W. Shepherd and Mrs. W. K. McGee.

Decorations on the tables included small mums, candles, evergreens and red berries. Mrs. A. Black was in charge of the decorating committee.

Bancroft Trip Adds $12 To Court Fine

Being brought to Peterborough police court from Bancroft by provincial police to face a charge of being drunk April 15, cost Ervin Twomey an extra $12 travelling expenses.

He pleaded guilty to the charge and was fined $15 and costs. The costs were $2.50 normal court costs and regular mileage rates of 20 cents a mile for 60 miles from Bancroft to be paid to the provincial police force.

Preserve Hunter Fined $50 In Test Case

Though he didn't deliberately enter the Peterborough Crown Game Preserves, Magistrate W. R. Philp, K.C., decided, Joseph Cosgrove, 42, Havelock, was found guilty of being in the game preserve with a rifle and fined $50 and costs. His rifle is in the hands of officials of the Department of Lands and Forests.

Cosgrove was one of six men charged in police court Wednesday with being in the game preserve Tuesday with their rifles. Cosgrove's trial was used as a trial case. After the verdict the charges against the five other hunters were adjourned to Nov. 28.

Three of the men were in Cosgrove's party: Douglas Hill, 28, Douglas Forsyth, 21, and Osborne Seabrook, 40, all of Havelock.

Two others were intercepted a short time before the four-man party near the same spot: John W. Davidson, 23, Belleville, and Harry Peake, 22, Campbellford.

Denied Knowledge

Cosgrove and other members of his party testified they did not believe either at the time of their apprehension or at the trial that they were in the game preserve.

This was in spite of the fact that they testified Game Overseer Ray Simpson pointed out a sign on a tree and a pyramid of stones marking the boundary line. Not one of the four men who testified for the defence said he could see what the game warden was pointing at in either case. All of them said they had good eyesight. Neither did they see any sign of an old swath cut through the bush to mark a surveyor's line.

Game Warden Simpson testified he and Overseers Robert H. Trotter and Dougal L. McEachern spotted two men from a fire tower outside the game preserve. Simpson and McEachern intercepted the two men and found the other four nearby in the game park. All had rifles.

Magistrate W. R. Philp, K.C., said he was accepting the evidence of the game wardens that they knew where the boundary line was and accused had crossed it and were inside the game preserve.

Cosgrove said he and his party had been hunting for the boundary line. They were on their way back to their truck from the morning hunt when apprehended.

"We had no desire to go onto the game preserve," he said.

Familiar With Area

Cosgrove and Seabrook said they were familiar with the area. Both had worked on the road when it was being put through the area to what is now the Neotheline Mines.

Seabrook said he asked McEachern who first approached them to show them the boundary line. McEachern, normally stationed in Haliburton, said he had arrived in the area just the day before and was not sure exactly where the boundary was. He called Simpson who was on a ridge nearby having just intercepted Davidson and Peake.

"I wouldn't be foolish enough to go into the park. There were four of us, dressed in red clothes, we were walking on ridges and knew the park was guarded," Seabrook testified.

He agreed with Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw that "it would have been good sense to ask where the line was."

Mr. Fair argued that regulations under the Game and Fisheries Act required that game preserves must be posted so that people could be aware of the boundaries and wouldn't be walking into a trap.

The magistrate said he knew of no such regulations. He said all the crown had to prove was that "it was a crown game preserve and he (Cosgrove) had in his possession a firearm within that area."

Magistrate Philp commented that the men "understandably wished to hunt legitimately as near the boundary line as possible."

7 Die In Ontario Fires

TORONTO, Nov. 9—(CP)—Seven persons were killed and 47 injured in Ontario fires in the last three months, the Provincial Fire Marshal reported Wednesday. During the three-month period there were 4,391 fires causing damage estimated at $3,869,331. The fire loss for the first nine months of 1950 totals $15,664,169.

Tangled Relationships Said Great Weaknesses In Canadian Governments

NORTH BAY, Nov. 9—(CP)—Tangled and confused relationships between the different levels of government are one of the great weaknesses in Canada today, E. B. Jolliffe, Ontario C.C.F. leader told a dinner meeting of the C.C.F. Nipissing riding association last night. He referred to a statement made in Toronto Tuesday by Premier Frost. The Ontario premier was reported as saying that the government had reached "a three-way partnership among federal, provincial and municipal authority that is unequalled in our country's history."

Mr. Jolliffe charged that the Provincial government has consistenly ignored a C.C.F. proposal for a provincial-municipal conference.

He criticized the "utter failure of Federal and Provincial authorities to get together with the municipalities on civil defence measures," and said that in the event of war or national disaster Canada would be in dire need of such a civil defence system.

"The deadlock of the civil defence issue—and it has been going on for years—is a crushing answer to Premier Frost's claim of government co-operation."

The Liberal party, when it held power in Ontario, had done no better, Mr. Jolliffe added.

"And our Federal government has a remarkable record of calling conferences and getting little or nothing done."

W. B. GORDON

Gordon Enters Board Contest

W. B. Gordon well known Peterborough lawyer and a former member of the Board of Education announced today that he would be a candidate for election to the Board at the municipal elections in December.

Mr. Gordon served the board for two years but was forced in 1948 to not seek re-election due to the poor health of his late father the Hon. G. N. Gordon and the added responsibilities of the law office.

Since then James Lillico has joined the law firm and Mr. Gordon now feels that he has the time to serve the citizens should they wish him.

Four members must be elected this year and those whose term expires are the chairman for the past two years Frank Jobbitt, Walter Bannon, Dr. Ross Mathews and Dr. Ralph Honey.

Canada Could Handle 100 Million Drew Pushes Immigration In UK

LONDON, Nov. 9 (CP). — George Drew, leader of Canada's Progressive Conservative Party, said Wednesday Canada could feed, clothe and house a population of 100,000,000 people.

But he indicated in a speech to the Canada Club in Britain that he believes it will be years before there is a Canadian population of that size. The population is expected to hit 14,000,000 by the year end.

"We are growing rapidly now" he said. "We have, in fact, been growing more rapidly than was generally realized. Our population may still not be large, but it is nearly three times what it was at the turn of the century and it is almost twice what it was at the beginning of the First World War, when I think you will agree that Canada played a not entirely unimportant part in that stern test of the fortitude and determination of free men and women.

"During the last year, and in fact for the last 10 years, our rate of growth on a percentage basis has been greater than that of the United States. If our population continues to increase at the present rate—and my own belief is that it may well increase at a much more rapid rate—we will have attained a population of 40,000,000 within the next 50 years."

Bright Opportunities

Canada offered the "brightest opportunities for personal success to be found anywhere in the world by young and self-reliant men and women who have the initiative, vision and spirit of adventure to take their part in the great and expanding development of our young nation."

Mr. Drew outlined some of the developments of recent years and stressed the importance of increased trade between Canada and Britain.

On the question of population, Mr. Drew said he was sure Canada could feed in excess of 100,000,000 with produce from her estimated 548,000 square miles of arable land.

"I am convinced the evidence is clear that we could feed 100,000,000 people at the very highest nutritional level, with great advantage to those producing the food and with equally great advantage to those who would be consuming food within their own boundaries," he said.

"I am equally sure that this would still leave a wide margin for our export trade. In other words, if and when that day arrives, I do not think the people of Britain will have any difficulty in obtaining all the wheat, flour, meat, cheese and other food products, which they wish to buy from us."

CANADIANS ARRIVE IN JAPAN—Officers of the Canadian Special Force are shown on the pier at Yokohama, Japan, shortly after the advance contingent of the brigade arrived on their way to Korea. Hydro Plants In Korea Vital To China

By STAN SWINTON.

WITH THE U.S. 10th CORPS, North Korea, Nov. 9 (AP). — What is the story of the great North Korean power plants which China's Communist army apparently is willing to fight to protect?

Why did China's Communist boss, Mao Tze-tung, seemingly consider them a stake great enough to commit part of his Manchurian forces?

The mighty hydro-electric plants strung across the neck of North Korea produce 2,681,180 of Korea's 3,132,727 kilowatts.

An undetermined amount of that power is funnelled into Manchuria, the great centre of China's heavy industry.

Mao Tze-tung does not want that power shut off. Although the Russians looted much Manchurian productive equipment during their post-war occupation, what is left is China's chief hope for industrialization. And the Communist party line says industrialization is the answer to China's historic poverty.

Three Systems Menaced

The three major power systems most directly threatened by United Nations forces are at Changjin (Chosin), where the Chinese 124th division has been fighting a grim battle against U.S. Marines; at Pujon (Fusen), a few miles east; and at Hochon, farther east.

U.N. forces either hold or directly threaten all the Changjin, Pujon and Hochon plants. The North Koreans are fighting bitterly for them. U.N. officers do not know how much of their power has been funnelled to Manchuria during the Communist era. It may be a lot—and that may explain the Communist effort. They may just be trying to keep liberated Korea from getting the electrical muscle to build a new industrial life.

But over all, the Chinese and North Koreans are fighting to the death to protect the hydro-electric systems, because in a modern industrial economy they mean the difference between having heavy industry or remaining an agricultural country. And Communists think in terms of industrial productivity, not agriculture.

Youth Told To Keep Quiet After Traffic Accident

TORONTO, Nov. 9 — (CP) — James Tackaberry, 15, was quoted Wednesday as having told police when arrested following the traffic death of two children last spring: "I was going to give myself up but several people said not to."

Tackaberry pleaded innocent to charges of dangerous driving and leaving the scene of an accident in which Lorraine Watson, 13, and her niece, Barbara Jones, 5, were killed by a truck.

He was originally charged with manslaughter, as was a companion, Frank Wells, 20. The charge against Wells was withdrawn May 5. A grand jury decided in September that there was insufficient evidence to compel Tackaberry to stand trial on the manslaughter count.

The children were struck down as they walked to a pre-Easter church service in suburban North York township. Tackaberry and Wells were arrested 19 days later.

Admitted Drinking

Detective Maurice Richardson read into the court record the statement police say Tackaberry made when arrested. In it, he said he had been drinking before the accident.

"All of a sudden I heard two people. I wheeled her (the truck) to the left side of the road. There was a bump. I wasn't sure whether it was the people. I was scared. I had liquor on my breath so I kept going. About two hours after the accident I felt sure I was responsible for the accident. I was going to give myself up but several people said not to."

The trial is continuing.

General Arrives Surprises Army

OTTAWA, Nov. 9 (CP)—Most everyone thought the general wasn' ging to make it, but he did.

Despite advice reaching army headquarters that Lt.-Gen. Sir Richard Turner wouldn't be able to attend Tuesday's plaque-unveiling in honor of three South African winners of the Victoria Cross, he made the drive down from Montreal.

And that made the day complete because Gen. Turner is the last surviving member of a trio of Canadians the ceremony was held to honor.

The plaque, given by the Royal Canadian Dragoons, was unveiled on an old 12-pounder gun, the very field piece from whose defence against the Boers in South Africa 50 years ago, Gen. Turner won his VC.

Young Bride Vanishes For Second Time

WELLAND, Nov. 9 (CP) — Mrs. Fred Jaworski, 22-year-old Levack, Ont., bride reported missing for 10 days, failed to arrive here Wednesday night as scheduled.

"Maybe she'll come tomorrow," said her father, Evariste Lauzon, who met Wednesday night's train with his wife.

Mrs. Jaworski disappeared while on her way to visit her parents at Welland Junction. She was located 10 days later working as a waitress in Trench, Que., and wrote her parents she was coming home.

Killed By Truck

OTTAWA, Nov. 9 — (CP). — Diana Brown, 3½-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Brown of Ottawa, was killed on Wednesday when she was struck by a heavy truck in West Ottawa. The child was walking with her mother when she darted across the street and into the path of a truck driven by Robert Jurevics, also of Ottawa.

Dies From Burns

KEMPTVILLE, Nov. 9 (CP).— Mrs. Alfred Billings, a 68-year-old cripple, died in hospital on Wednesday from severe burns suffered in a fire that destroyed her two-storey frame home in this town 30 miles south-west of Ottawa. An explosion in the cellar was blamed for the fire.

Secrecy About Fire

PEMBROKE, Wales, Nov. 9 — (Reuters). — Police clamped down early today on all information about a £100,000 factory fire here after newspapers had hinted there might have been sabotage. The factory, making airplane parts on government contract, was gutted Wednesday. The Daily Herald said Evidence was "piling up of a sabotage gang at work in Britain."

Waves Damage Roads

GRAND BANK, Nfld. —(CP)— Strong autumn gales along this Newfoundland south coast area have broken up sections of the Burin Peninsula highway where it runs along the shore. Worst damage was reported in the Frenchman's Cove area where high seas crumpled the foundations of the highway.

To Hold Service

FRASERVILLE, Nov. 9 (ENS) —The WA group of Fraserville United Church will hold its annual Sunday service in Fraserville United Church on November 12 at 3 p.m. The speaker will be the Rev. Walter Tong of Lakefield, returned missionary from China.

It Didn't Pay

TORONTO, Nov. 9 — (CP). — When Martin Kowalski, 51, walked into the suburban New Toronto police station last week to complain about a parking tag, he was promptly arrested on a fraud charge. In court Wednesday, as his case was adjourned, he was arrested over again. This time police had a warrant sworn by a woman who claims he has done nothing about the house she gave him $3,000 to build.

Device Aids Logging

OSLO, Norway —(CP)— A new type of vehicle for timber logging is a 30 horsepower caterpillar truck carrying a lifting crane. In a recent demonstration it hauled well over three tons through dense woods and soggy ground, then loaded the logs on lumber trucks.

Urges Britain Build Up Newsprint Stocks

LONDON, Nov. 9 (Reuters)—Newspaper-owner Lord Rotheremere urged the government Wednesday to clear up newsprint difficulties with Canada and build up a stockpile for at least 12 months.

Supplies must come from Canada, he told the House of Lords. He said that if Britain depended on the Scandinavian countries alone, it would have no newspapers at all within three months if those countries should be cut off.

Lord Balfour of Inchrye, Conservative, declared that newsprint stocks were below the danger point. If Canadian deliveries could not be advanced, he said, there was a real danger of a further cut in the size of British newspapers early next year. Popular papers vary between four and six pages daily.

He said the government had cut off Canadian supplies by declining to supply any more dollars, with no expression of regret or without the courtesy of an explanation to the Canadian authorities.

Liberal peer Lord Layton declared: "Unless the United States is prepared for some degree of restraint there will be no material change in the newsprint situation for a number of years to come. They are consuming 6,000,000 out of the 9,000,000 tons produced throughout the world, and their consumption is rising."

Deplores Charge

For the government, Lord Lucas of Chilworth deplored Lord Balfour's allegation that Canadian contracts were broken with harshness and lack of courtesy.

"It was a shocking statement, and for it to go out at a time when everyone is urging an approach to Canada is a disgrace," he said.

He said there was a world newsprint shortage and dollars alone would not solve the problem.

Lord Lucas said the president of the Board of Trade, Harold Wilson, was consulting Commonwealth countries to see if they would release Britain from her immediate commitment to export to them 100,000 tons of newsprint a year.

In Manchester, F. P. Bishop, general manager of the Newsprint Supply Company, said newsprint stocks in Britain were down to a point below the danger line.

Operatic Ambition

GUELPH —(CP)— Ronald H. Stewart, a graduate of the Ontario Agricultural College with a fine tenor voice, is planning to give concerts in several European cities. His ambition is to become a star of the Metropolitan Opera Company.

HIS MAJESTY MAHARAJA DHIRAJA TIRBBUVANA BIR BIKRAM, King of Nepal (above) has been supplanted on the throne by his three-year-old grandson, the Nepalese Embassy in New Delhi, India, announced. A palace revolution in that Himalayan kingdom adjoining Tibet was implied. The king, who is 44 years old, sought refuge in the Indian embassy in his capital of Khatmandu. Sources close to the ministry said he was anxious to go to India because of internal difficulties arising from demands of his subjects for a democratic type of government to replace the present feudal system.

Transportation Costs Approved

HAVELOCK, Nov. 8—(ENS)—A transportation approval notice from the Department of Education was read at a meeting of the Norwood Area High School Board setting the sum of $4,032 as the amount approved for transportation from September to December of this year and $6,048 for the period January to June, 1951. The amounts are what the grants will be determined on.

A communication from K. S. Wightman, Superintendent of Schools in Peterborough, informed the board of the different courses being taken in the Peterborough Collegiate by O. Colby, E. Davidson and D. Brown and that Laura Horne was paying her own fees.

A request was read from the secretary of the Teachers' Federation, Toronto, for a statement of fees deducted from teachers' salaries.

A communication from H. H. Roberts, of Westport, the architect for the contemplated new school, received by the board shortly after the previous meeting asked that the secretary arrange for a meeting with John Pierce, land surveyor, of Peterborough, for purpose of surveying the school site.

Mr. Roberts and Mr. Pierce met and made the survey and Mr. Roberts expects to complete the plans by November 30.

Boosts Gas 2 Cents To Pay $60 Million Highway Plan

QUEBEC, Nov. 9 (CP)—A bill for a $60,000,000 highway program involving a two-cent-a-gallon boost in Quebec's gasoline tax will get its first attention today from the legislature.

The bill was one of a dozen that made their appearance Wednesday before the legislative assembly, provincial lower house, on the session's opening day.

When the assembly meets this afternoon the highway measure will go through the formality of first reading, but debate probably will not be until next week.

The highways measure will give the government authority to borrow $60,000,000 for a three-year building program of roads and bridges, and extended maintenance of winter highway routes.

The gasoline tax increase, added to a former 11-cent provincial charge on every gallon of gasoline sold motorists will be devoted to reimbursement of the loan for road-building and to extra winter-roads mileage.

5 Million Yearly

The new tax is expected to add some $5,000,000 a year to provincial revenues, and of this $1,500,000 to $2,000,000 will be spent annually to keep important routes open in winter.

The remainder of the additional revenue will be used to pay the interest charge on borrowed funds and to create a sinking fund for repayment of debts incurred under the three-year program.

The roads bill was the most important piece of general legislation brought in by the government on opening day.

Other measures included bills to authorize the towns of Rimouski and Cabano to borrow $1,150,000 between them and lend to people wishing to reconstruct homes destroyed by fires that swept the two lower St. Lawrence towns last May.

The Rimouski and Cabano bills were said to be the reason for the opening of the provincial session Wednesday instead of next January.

The Throne Speech, read by Lieutenant - Governor Gaspard Fauteux, referred to the importance of the Rimouski-Cabano legislation but gave more attention to federal-provincial talks on taxation and the constitution.

Talks December 4

Plenary federal - provincial talks resume in Ottawa Dec. 4, and a preliminary meeting of the special committee of attorneys-general on constitutional questions will open in Ottawa Nov. 23.

With these meetings in mind, Premier Duplessis laid before the legislative assembly Wednesday a motion calling for two daily sittings of the lower house from next Tuesday until Nov. 24. Only one legislative assembly sitting is usually held early in the session.

The premier's motion indicates that the house will rise before the Nov. 23 meeting of the committee of attorneys-general.

Yet, for all its goodness, Libby's is so wonderfully economical. And, speaking of economy . . . Remember to save your Libby's labels for silverware! Watch this column for further information!

Your Son And Your Husband will agree that this is a Real He-Man's Dish . . . so of course it has a "he-man's" name . . . Redskin Hash—flavoured to any man's taste with the beefy-goodness of BOVRIL! So when the men in your life come home hungry as bears from school or work . . . cater to their HUGE appetites with a platter of Redskin Hash . . .

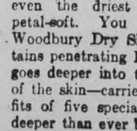
1 cup cooked corned beef
1 cup cold potatoes
1/2 cup chopped beetroot
1 tspn. Bovril
2 tbspns. milk
Salt and pepper
Butter or margarine for frying

Chop up the corned beef (it can be combined with any left-over meats you happen to have). Peel and slice beetroot, cut into small squares and mix with cold, sliced potatoes. Put chopped meat, potatoes and beetroot in a bowl, season to taste and bind with Bovril dissolved in a little milk. The mixture should be moist but not runny. Melt butter or margarine in a very hot frying pan. Spread mixture evenly in this, reduce heat and cook slowly until well-browned underneath. Fold over like an omelette and turn out on hot platter. Garnish with parsley and slices of beetroot. Serves four.

Because I Know you'll be thrilled with the wonderful results, I'd very much like you to try LIN-X NO SMUDGE FURNITURE POLISH (just 43c!) on your furniture. Amazing how it does three jobs perfectly—all in one application! It cleans—it polishes—AND it protects your fine furniture. You'll be proud indeed when you see your chairs and tables looking like new—gleaming and glowing with that rich Lin-X lustre! And, speaking of looking like new . . . just try Lin-X Paste Wax (59c) on your hardwood floors and Lin-X Anti-Slip Self-Polishing Wax (59c) on your linoleum, composition or mastic tile floors. You'll find the new Lin-X Home Brighteners at grocery, hardware and department stores everywhere.

There's Nothing Like A Touch Of Colour to make a home "homey" on a gloomy November day. And it's so inexpensive and easy to make your home colourful with All-fabric TINTEX Tints and Dyes! You might begin with your curtains. Tintex Curtain Peach and Curtain Ecru work like magic to transform dull curtains into curtains that look like new. Dye bulkier articles (like slip-covers and bedspreads) with Tintex in your washing machine. And—here's a gay idea!—save your cotton flour and sugar bags, dye them in rainbow-gay colours—then make them into dish-towels or luncheon sets. Tintex, you'll find, is not expensive . . . just 15c a package at your favourite drug, department or variety store!

It Looks Good—and, believe me—it is good! What a luscious November dinner A.B.C. SALMON makes! . . . rosy and succulent "en casserole"—served in baked potatoes—or blanketed in crunchy pastry. There's no end to the variety of ways you can serve either A.B.C. Red Cohoe or A.B.C. Fancy Pink. And easy! Ready-to-serve from the tin, they're both wonderfully tasty hot or cold—and so economical. Yes, A.B.C. Salmon is luxury food on a budget. Rich in vital food elements, every pound of it gives you a full pound of nourishment—all of it tastes so good—is so good for you . . . and does your budget a world of good, too!



All "Tied Up In Knots" with rheumatic pain? Blustery November weather sometimes gives us aches 'n' pains that rob us of sleep and make us feel miserable. The most soothing treatment I know for rheumatism, sore muscles, stiff neck, neuralgia, sprains or bruises is to pat on SLOAN'S LINIMENT. It works wonderfully quickly to bring welcome relief from pain! Its deep, penetrating heat gets to the "root of the evil"—makes you feel so much better! Yes, Sloan's, for my money, is a medicine-cabinet "must". It gives me so much real comfort—at so little cost. For Sloan's is just 40c a bottle at drugstores everywhere.

Misery Of Miseries . . . There's nothing worse than a cold, is there? That's why, a word to the wise is: buy ANOHIST now! Yes, taken on exposure or at first sign of sniffles or sneezes, Anohist can stop cold symptoms in a single day! And just think—this prompt, efficient relief—for pennies! The Super-Economy Family-Size Bottle of 36 Anohist tablets costs you only about 3c per tablet! So be prepared—get Anohist from your favorite druggist today! Remember: all antihistamines are not alike. They vary greatly in performance. Anohist is the antihistamine formula recommended for family use because of its success in actual clinical tests.

Words And Music are needed to describe QUAKER MUFFETS . . . and, sure 'nuff—folks everywhere are singing the praises of these round, crisp, toasty, wholewheat biscuits. For, I'll confess—I'm not the first to discover their deliciousness. But I'd like to make sure you do . . . for if you haven't yet tasted Quaker Muffets, you're really missing something! Not only are they good to eat, but they're good for you, too! You see, in Quaker Muffets you get 100% Whole Wheat—yes, the bran and valuable wheat germ are there with the body-building protein, minerals and energy-giving qualities of the whole grain. So for a breakfast treat that's specially delicious, try appetizing golden brown Quaker Muffets. There's no preparation—just put the package out and let the family help themselves.

"Thank Goodness For Tea!" . . . that's the way I feel at the end of a long, busy day. And I enjoy tea at lunch and dinnertime, too — particularly when it's BLUE RIBBON TEA. It's delicious — and no wonder! For it's made from some of the finest India and Ceylon Teas . . . it's composed of the tender small leaves from hill-top estates . . . then it's blended to perfection. And, wonder of wonders! — this finest tea costs no more! Ask your grocer for Blue Ribbon Tea in the regular size packages or in the convenient two-cup tea bags. And whether you use bulk tea or tea bags — you'll get the very best results when you warm the teapot first and use fresh, vigorously boiling water — then let the tea steep for five minutes.

It's Time to do something when you first notice those tiny, aging lines on your face! Give your complexion the beauty-benefit of that wonderful, new-formula WOODBURY DRY SKIN CREAM. Truly—it's miraculous! Tiny lines soften — flaky roughness smooths . . . even the driest of skins look petal-soft. You see, the new Woodbury Dry Skin Cream contains penetrating PENATEN that goes deeper into the upper layers of the skin—carries the rich benefits of five special skin softeners deeper than ever before . . . helps replace the natural oils your skin loses as you grow older. No wonder Woodbury Dry Skin Cream works wonders to make your skin look gloriously younger!—Yet it costs so little—20c, 39c, 69c and 98c.

Marvelous How Woolens wash so easily with those wonderful new detergents! But what about your hands? Notice how dry they feel after using detergents? That's when I reach for my JERGENS LOTION . . . so soo-othing and smoothing to dry, chapped hands! I keep a bottle of Jergens Lotion in my kitchen—always—and in my bathroom too—and use it between chores. It doesn't slow me down because it's never sticky or greasy! And—at the end of the day, my hands are soft and smooth, with never a sign of their hard day's work! No wonder Jergens Lotion is the hand-care preferred by more women than any other hand-care in the world—used regularly, it makes such beauties of your hands. And costs just 10c, 30c, 55c and $1.00.

Havelock Vote To Be Held December 4

HAVELOCK, Nov. 9 (ENS). — Date for the municipal elections in the village of Havelock, Belmont and Muthuen townships has been set for December 4. Visit Campbellford

NORWOOD, Nov. 9 — (ENS) —Thirty-three members of the Norwood Baptist Young People's Union motored to Campbellford on Monday evening to fellowship with the BPYU there.

SQUARE-DANCE MUSICIAN —New role was taken by Sir Ernest MacMillan at the Prom Ball in Toronto. The conductor of the Toronto Symphony Orchestra changed his baton for a stetson and a "git-tar" as the guests swayed into some good old-fashioned square-dancing. The ball is staged to raise funds for the orchestra.

St. John's Shows Marine Marker

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld.—(CP)—An observation stone dated 1828 is on display here.

The worn, grey slab, taken recently from Fort Townsend here, once served as an observation stone for mariners in the days of wooden ships and iron men.

On it barely legible are inscribed the various important latitude and longitude figures which enabled the sailors to determine their exact position in Newfoundland and to set their charts and compasses.

After the stone is polished up and the lettering renewed it will be put on permanent display here by the Newfoundland Historical Society.

Inscribed on the stone is the following data:

Latitude 47 degrees 33 minutes 42 seconds north.

Longitude from meridian of 10 degrees 52 minutes 31 second east Halifax.

Observation, 1828, from Greenwich 52 degrees 45 minutes 28 seconds.

Variation 28 degrees 47 minutes westerly of compass.

GEORGETOWN, British Guiana, Nov. 9—(Reuters)—Three children died in Georgetown public hospital Wednesday, 48 hours after their mother was believed to have given them poison instead of medicine. Doctors believe she may have given them strychnine by mistake.

Has Private Audience

VATICAN CITY, Nov. 9 (AP) —Pope Pius today received James Cardinal McGuigan, Archbishop of Toronto, in private audience. He came here for the proclamation of the Assumption Dogma last week.

Find Spy Hanged

BRUSSELS, Nov. 9—(Reuters) —A civilian member of Belgium's counter-espionage service, who had access to highly-secret documents, was found hanged in the coding room at Army headquarters here, it was disclosed Wednesday. Police say they do not suspect foul play.

A Good Front

ROME, Nov. 9—(Reuters)— Five coffin-makers were arrested at Pesaro after police seized a big arms cache in an undertaker's house. In the coffins were 70 rifles, 127 hand grenades, 20,000 rounds of rifle and machine-gun ammunition, revolvers and a signalling pistol.

Missing Towels Recovered

One explanation given for a theft charge was reasonable, the other wasn't, Magistrate W. R. Philp, K.C., said in court Wednesday when he dismissed a charge against Bruce Meredith, Erskine Ave., of stealing a windbreaker, but found him guilty of stealing 16 towels from the locker of the Kawartha Golf and Country Club.

Meredith was placed on one year's suspended sentence.

Meredith, assistant pro at the club for 1948 and 1949, said he had put in an application for membership for 1950 and considered himself a member even though he had paid no dues.

As a member, he said, he had driven into the club Oct. 26 to have a shower. While there he saw a windbreaker lying on a bench. He picked it up to return to the club's pro, Lex Robson. The season had ended and the pro's office was locked.

He said he phoned Mr. Robson that night but received no answer. He learned that the golf pro was in Montreal. Before he had a chance to reach Mr. Robson, he was arrested Oct. 30 by Provincial Corporal Lloyd McClure.

Looking For Towels

Corporal McClure testified he went to Meredith's home in search of missing towels. While there, he found the windbreaker owned by Jack Freestone.

Magistrate Philp said he did not have to decide on whether or not he believed Meredith's story. He had only to decide on whether his story was a reasonable explanation of the circumstances. On that ground he was acquitting the accused.

However, he said he thought Meredith's explanation of the 16 towels found in his home wasn't reasonable.

Meredith said when he went on golfing trips out of town, he would take along a couple of towels to wrap two or three bottles of beer in his bag. He also used the towels when he had a shower after the out-of-town games.

When he returned to Peterborough, he neglected to return them to the club. The towels were owned by Fanning's Laundry. But any missing towels had to be paid for by the golf club.

The magistrate said he could understand two or three towels being left at Meredith's home in that manner, but not 16.

Radio Interference

LONDON, Nov. 9—(Reuters)— Britain has asked Russia to stop radio interference which is blotting out home programs in parts of southeast England, Postmaster-General Ness Edwards told the House of Commons Wednesday night. This interference is apart from the radio war in which Russia is trying to jam broadcasts from the United States and Britain directed at Russian listeners.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Some Women Do Not Care For Having Dainty Lunches

"Dear Mrs. Moore: When we moved I lost some of my recipes and among them was your recipe for brownies—they were called Chocolate Nut Diamonds, or something similar. I also lost my recipe for Fudge Dreams which was similar. I have tried numerour recipes but none has been comparable. Would it be possible to get the recipe again?

"As though this isn't enough to ask I have still another request. In 2½ weeks (in the evening) I am having club. There will be anywhere from 16 to 25 women (depending on how many can get baby-sitters, etc.). I was wondering if there was anything different I could serve them. They don't care for dainty lunches. Usually sandwiches, cake and cookies are served. Also celery and olives, etc. The sandwiches are definitely of the hearty type and we are all large eaters. I was planning on making your brownies for that night, as well as an angel food cake and a banana cake but don't know what to serve in place of sandwiches. (I have a gas stove with broiler.) Thanks. Mrs. J. H. H.

I have left out parts of this reader's letter, but give you what is here because I am finding there are so many parties afoot it will help many other readers, to read my answer.

At a party for ten press women that I had last week a tray of "finger food" turned out to be popular. This contained, one of each to a toothpick, ¾-inch squares of guava paste and Baumert cheese—one little square over another on each toothpick; English blue grapes split, stoned and stuffed with Baumert cheese on toothpicks; triangles Gruyere cheese. The toothpick things were stuck in a big red apple and the triangles of cheese around them.

We passed three varieties of thinly sliced homemade fruit breads, buttered, and a very large tray of assorted fresh fruits and plenty of coffee.

This was popular—especially with the reducers. The ones who could eat everything and not gain an ounce had plenty to choose from.

Now my reader's crowd sounds hungrier than mine and she could serve the same type of interesting things, and supplement them with ripe olives, and toasted cheese dreams (since she mentions her broiler), and tiny sausage rolls, and the banana cake and my brownies.

There would be plenty to eat but the highlight would be variety.

Sound any good?

Emem's Chocolate Diamonds

Two squares unsweetened chocolate, ½ cup butter, 2 eggs, 1 cup chopped walnuts, ¾ teaspoon baking powder, ¾ cup flour, 1 cup sugar, 1 teaspoon vanilla, ½ teaspoon salt. Melt the chocolate in double boiler. Remove from heat and add the sugar and the beaten egg. Sift in dry ingredients then add walnuts and melted butter. Mix and spread thinly on 8 x 16-inch or two 8 x 8-inch pans, spreading about one-quarter inch thick. Bake at 350 deg. Fahr. Cool. Leave in pan for Frosting: Melt 2 squares unsweetened chocolate in top of double boiler and add to it 1 cup icing sugar, 1 beaten egg, 2 tablespoons butter, 1 teaspoon vanilla. Remove from heat at once and spread on cool chocolate nut diamonds thinly. Let cool thoroughly in pan before cutting into diamonds with sharp knife.

Springville YPU Hears Talk by Teacher

SPRINGVILLE, Nov. 9 (ENS) —The Young People's Union held a very interesting meeting in the basement of the church on Sunday evening. Rev. E. S. Linstead led the group in prayer. Dianne Cullen spoke of "The Bible as the infallible book, the source of happiness and security." Marie Hooten had the topic "The Three Hardest Words—the Words of Repentance," and Lois Paddock told an old parable "The Glory of the Christian Homemaker."

Hazen McIntosh was in charge of arrangements due to the absence of Wilma Seymour.

At the close of the worship service, Miss Merla Braithwaite, teacher at SS No. 3, North Monaghan, gave an account of her summer holiday trip to the west coast of Canada and the United States. Her talk was illustrated with a map and large pictures of some of the places she visited.

Mrs. Visee, on behalf of the group, thanked Miss Braithwaite for her travelogue.

Norwood Couple Celebrate 50th Wedding Anniversary

NORWOOD, Nov. 9 (ENS) — John Gardner, 74, and Lena Palmateer, 74, celebrated 50 years of married life at their Helen street home in Norwood on Tuesday. They were married at the Methodist Church parsonage, Hastings, by the Rev. Wm. Johnson. Mrs. Gardner was born at Cramahe Hill near Castleton, Ont., the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Albert Palmateer.

Mr. Gardner was born in Dummer township the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gardner.

Mr. and Mrs. Gardner farmed successfully in Dummer township until six years ago when they moved to their present home in Norwood.

To this union was born one daughter and two sons, Mrs. Carmen Kingsley (Reta) Norwood, George of South Dummer and Francis of R.R. No. 2, Norwood, also four granddaughters.

Since coming to Norwood Mr. and Mrs. Gardner have lived a quiet life. They are active members of the United Church.

The family gathered Tuesday evening for a fowl dinner in honor of their parents, 18 guests sat down at a tastefully decorated table in gold. An address was read and the granddaughters presented a gift.

Mr. and Mrs. Gardner received many beautiful cards of congratulation and many friends and relatives called during the afternoon and evening.

Jeffries-Grimley

Christ Church, Bailleboro, was scene of a pretty wedding Saturday afternoon when Marguerite Evelyn Grimley, daughter of Mrs. M. A. Grimley of Toronto, became the bride of Mr. Kenneth Samuel Jeffries, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. James Jeffries of Port Hope.

The Rev. A. A. Chote of Millbrook performed the ceremony, for which yellow and bronze 'mums formed a beautiful setting. Mrs. Wm. Luney presided at the organ, and Mrs. Russell Kidd, sister of the groom, sang "Because" before the ceremony and "I'll Walk Beside You", during the signing of the register.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Douglas Grimley of Toronto, wore a two-piece dress of gold satin, with rich lace trim. She wore brown accessories and a corsage of red roses. The bridesmaid was her sister, Miss Nancy Grimley of Toronto. She wore a navy sheer dress with rose colored accessories and wore a corsage of yellow roses.

The groomsman was Mr. Maurice Jeffries of Bailleboro, brother of the groom, and the ushers were Ernest Rothenbush of Oshawa and Russell Kidd of Bailleboro, both brothers-in-law of the groom.

A reception was held at Bailleboro, where the bride's mother received in a grey suit with black accessories and corsage of white and mauve 'mums.

Later the couple left for Niagara Falls. For travelling the bride wore a brown plaid dress and fawn wool coat with brown accessories.

Infants' Portraits Decorate for Mothers' Meeting

Trinity Baby Band mothers on Wednesday evening met in the church parlors which were tastefully decorated with nursery playthings, charming infant portraits, pink tapers and a large bouquet of pink, white and blue 'mums.

At this meeting were displayed layettes made during the year to send to needy babies overseas. Mrs. W. R. Philp told of the urgent need in Europe for these layettes.

Mrs. J. D. Lillico's group arranged an innteresting program and served refreshments at the close.

Accompanied by Mrs. J. T. Stewart, Mr. Morton Knox entertained with two solos, "The Lord's Prayer" and "Bless This House." Miss Phyllis Moore, the guest speaker, was introduced by Mrs. M. Knox and thanked by Mrs. G. Harrison.

Miss Moore's well-chosen topic was "Home influence on the preschool child," in which she pointed out the importance and influence of home life in creating a healthy mental outlook for the child.

Mrs. E. Edmondson, president, conducted the business meeting.

Mrs. O. Jamieson was pianist for the evening.

Bridgenorth WA Elects Mrs. E. Whitehill

Monthly meeting of Bridgenorth W.A. was held in the home of Mrs. Wallace Nicholls Tuesday evening. A large number of members were present for election night when Mrs. E. Whitehill became president for the coming year. Business and devotional parts of the meeting were presided over by retiring president Mrs. C. Payne. Program convener Mrs. K. Hardill arranged the program on the theme "Christian Fellowship" assisted by Mrs. W. Nicholls reading the scripture lesson from the second chapter of Ephesians. Mrs. J. Jopling read the lesson thought on Christian Fellowship, followed by a reading by Mrs. Hardill on "Daily Tests of a Christian Life." A poem, "Time to Live" was given by Mrs. C. Hartman.

The visiting committee reported three calls made. A vote of thanks was extended to Mrs. W. Nicholls for flowers placed in the church for anniversary Sunday. Mrs. Payne asked support to the Mission Band in the sale of their 1951 calendars.

The Rev. D. P. Morris presided over the elections and following is a complete list of officers for 1951:

President, Mrs. E. Whitehill; vice-president, Mrs. C. Hartman; secretary, Mrs. K. Hardill; treasurer, Mrs. K. Blewett; flower and card convener, Mrs. E. Nicholls; visiting committee, Mrs. P. Pettersone, Mrs. E. Forsythe, Mrs. C. Telford; church flower committee, Mrs. C. Hartman, Mrs. W. Nicholls; lunch convener, Mrs. J. Smith; parsonage committee, Mrs. C. Payne, Mrs. W. Nicholls; pianist, Mrs. C. Telford; program conveners, Mrs. K. Hardill, Mrs. J. Pettersone, Mrs. J. Jopling, Mrs. G. Ray Sr.

Installation of officers will take place at the joint meeting of the W. A. and W. M. S. next month to be held at the home of Mrs. J. Johnson.

Hostess Mrs. Nicholls and committee served refreshments.

MAJOR BENNETT CHAPTER

Eleven new members were inducted at the regular meeting of Major Bennett Chapter, IODE, held Tuesday evening in the YWCA Green Room. After reading the aims and objects of the Order and significance of the badge, each pledged allegiance to the King and was presented with a copy of the constitution and a badge.

Miss Joyce Alexander, regent, performed the ceremony, assisted by vice regent Mrs. William Taylor.

The new members are: Mrs. D. Shields, Mrs. J. L. Evans, Mrs. R. Reid, Mrs. Donald Hill, Mrs. William Hughes, Mrs. Donald Ireland, Mrs. Gordon Pammett, Mrs. Thomas MacMillan, Mrs. Stewart Lockington, Mrs. D. Craaig and Mrs. A. Mutton.

Mrs. D. Murray, post war convener, reported eight food boxes and 20 Christmas stockings have been shipped overseas. She also announced the monthly sewing meeting will be at the home of Mrs. M. Malcom on November 23. Several knitted articles were turned in at the meeting.

It was unanimously decided that each member, by her own special talents, is to earn $2.00 for the next meeting.

The Chapter's annual Valentine Ball is to be held on February 16 at the Club Aragon. Members have decided to collaborate with Canada Packers to present in Peterborough, early in the new year, their well-known food clinic.

The film "Introduction to Gaspe" was shown after the meeting. Refreshments were then served by Mrs. R. Clark and Mrs. R. Garner and their committee.

MR. AND MRS. GERALD E. FULTON of Toronto as they were pictured when the bride, formerly Frances Wand, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Wand of Peterborough, was signing the register of George St. United Church. The groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Archibald Fulton of Buckhorn.

1950 Dolls So Talented And Lifelike, Even Kiss

NEW YORK, Nov. 9 (AP). — Christmas dolls in the 1950 toy pack are so nearly human that it's downright frightening.

They walk, talk, eat, drink, cry, laugh and whimper. They wet their diapers, sip orange juice through a straw, blow bubbles, sleep, say their prayers, get their hair washed and permanently waved—and even kiss.

About the only thing they don't do to date that a real live baby does is wake up at night. That, no doubt, will come next.

Nine-day wonder of the season is Noma, the electronic doll, which sings, laughs, talks and prays in a real little-girl voice when a button on her tummy is pressed. There's nothing to wind up or plug in; the voice mechanism operates on electronic principles.

There's even a doll that kisses, changes expression and has a heartbeat. This is a baby doll, modelled after a 3-week-old baby. The head is made of plastic, giving it a soft, lifelike skin that permits it to pucker up its lips for a kiss. Pressing the hidden plunger mechanism also serves to make it frown, pout, move its tongue, suck its thumb and nurse. Another mechanism in the doll's soft, cotton-stuffed body produces the sound of heartbeat.

The walking doll has been adopted by one of the country's most expensive and exclusive dress designers. Sophie, who presents a collection of little girls' dresses with walking dolls dressed to match. The roll is wound up with a key and walks sedately along beside her small mistress.

The new-born baby, as usual, will be the most popuplar doll of the year. A new kind of plastic has made possible sharp and lifelike etching of the baby features, and a flexibility of skin that is almost human.

One of these kicks its legs most realistically. Another comes in twin, triplet and quadruplet sets and features a magic bottle filled with milk that disappears as the bottle is tilted upright, the milk reappears.

Newest trick for Dydee, the bubble-blowing, drinking doll, is a rubber-tipped plastic straw which enables the doll to empty a glass of liquid. New use of latex foam to stuff doll bodies makes possible more realistic voices and bodies with lifelike softness and flexibility.

There's also a baby doll that sheds tears.

For ambitious young beauticians there are doll heads especially designed to receive repeated "make-up" applications, and others which come equipped with long nylon hair and a home permanent wave kit.

Another doll of the season has a blank plastic face on which her small mistress may sketch in features and expressions with a crayon.

It's all in a doll's life. If dolls get much more talented, they're going to be smarter than people.

Knox Jr. WA Holds Bazaar And Tea in Fall Setting

The Jr. WA of Knox United Church was well patronized Wednesday afternoon for the chrysanthemum tea and bazaar, held in the lecture hall.

Members had decorated for the event befitting the name and the season with a color scheme of gold and fall brown. Skirtings for all the bazaar tables were attractively cut out to show the underlying color and the lace-covered tea table was centred with bronze and yellow 'mums and highlighted with yellow tapers.

A happy incident of the afternoon was when Auxiliary members grouped around their minister and sang "Happy Birthday Mr. Douglas." (It was somehow discovered that the Rev. Douglas was observing an anniversary on November 8th.)

Mrs. F. Dunford had charge of the ticket sales and through the members' efforts there had been assured a good crowd. Guests were welcomed by the president Mrs. J. Clarke and found comfortable seating accommodation at quartette tables.

Servers were Mrs. O. James, Mrs. S. Wright, Mrs. B. McCracken, Mrs. A. Kemp, Mrs. J. Kemp, Mrs. L. Carveth, Mrs. C. Hancock, Mrs. G. Newmaster, Mrs. E. Barrie, Mrs. G. Hutchinson, and Mrs. A. Sproates, and the plates and tea pots were replenished by Miss Phyllis Kidd, Mrs. M. Jude, Mrs. D. Chevalier and Mrs. H. Dunn.

Tea pourers were past presidents of the Senior WA Mrs. J. Allen, Mrs. R. Laing, Mrs. M. Lindsay and Mrs. H. Trotter.

Mrs. G. James was the tea convener and the decorations were in charge of Mrs. J. Donaldson.

A table of home cooking was attended by Mrs. H. Todd, Mrs. G. Clark and Mrs. H. Murduff and Mrs. D. Hubbs was in charge of the candy. Mrs. Chas. Ross was selling small potted plants.

The bazaar table with a wide variety of hand-made articles, babies' things and a good supply of aprons was in charge of Mrs. Eric Pearse and Mrs. G. Coit, Mrs. H. Moore and Mrs. J. Johnson were assisting. Mrs. F. Kidd and Mrs. S. Aulbrook had a miscellany of nice things for sale.

An attractively set up display of plants was labelled "A Southern Garden" and it was in charge of Mrs. F. Milburn.

Children who came with their mothers were entertained in the nursery by Mrs. C. Gertley and Mrs. S. Adamson.

Knox Auxiliary Makes Plans To Assist Needy

Autumn thankoffering meeting of Helen Roger Auxiliary of Knox United Church was held Monday, at the home of Miss Mary Morton, 485 Albertus St.

President, Mrs. Harold Murduff opened with reading a poem and presided for the business period. It was decided to send 12 religious picture puzzles to the Presbyterial supply secretary in time for Christmas giving in a Mission school, and to assist with the collection of used clothing and the missionary bale in April and May.

Christmas meeting of the Baby Band was announced and members agreed to assist in their collection of baby supplies for Europe. Mrs. Betty Clarke told of the appeal for assistance made by Dr. Lotta Hitchmanova, describing conditions in Greece and other countries.

Miss Morton gave the report of the nominations committee and asked for nominations for offices still vacant. Mrs. Charles Ross read an article on Christian Citizenship.

Mrs. Stan Whitfield led a short worship service assisted by Miss Morton who gave the scripture reading and sang an appropriate hymn. Mrs. Whitfield presented the next chapter in the study book and told of the United Church of Christ in Japan, giving its history, growth, and how it is supported in North America. She was assisted in a short dialogue by Mrs. J. Donaldson.

A contest on Japanese and Canadian proverbs was then conducted.

Refreshments were served by Miss Morton and Mrs. Gordon Myles.

Accommodation Most Acute In Australia

By LOUIS L. LECK, Canadian Press Correspondent.

SYDNEY, Australia, (CP). — Australia has a shortage of 250,000 homes for a population of about 8,000,000. And the population is growing every year at the rate of 125,000 by natural increase and another 200,000 immigrants.

But Australia is building homes at the rate of only about 60,000 a year. The housing shortage has led to all kinds of family tragedies and black market abuses.

Most familiar of the rackets is "key money," a cash payment for the key of an empty house or apartment. The practice is illegal, but it's common.

The Sydney Sun recently published an article by a correspondent who had advertised a flat for rent. He received 600 applications from all sorts of people.

They pleaded, begged, cajoled, promised bribes, offered to paint, renovate, care for the flat "as if it were our own" offered rewards and presents.

Some made the sky the limit in rent and made vague references that postwar phenomenon —the "key."

Others were candid on the key. "Willing to pay £100 for the key, mum's the word" said one unhappy applicant.

Numerous Pleas

Almost all the letters stressed the buoyant incomes of their respective families (half of the described themselves as business couples).

Three-quarters of the applicants said they neither smoked, drank, kept late hours, gambled, had parties, or, as one man put it, "troubled with no vices at all."

One applicant stressed that she had "relatives in parliament" and a bookmaker's wife promised that her husband's professional advice "would mean a steady income for you."

One in every four of the letters was from a couple getting married in the next few weeks and without a home to go to after the honeymoon.

Wrote one young man:

"We will be back from our honeymoon at the end of November couples were both working and

Anglicans Hear First Hand Of Western Mission Work

Though modern women are striving to be on equal footing with men in business and industry, those who will willingly take on a job that involves the rigors of early pioneer life are few. One of a group of 22 women who do so as "Bishop's Messengers" from St. Faith's House, Swan River, Manitoba, was in the city Wednesday.

Miss M. Hooper, head of this Western Canada Anglican Mission, is the first Bishop's Messenger to visit Peterborough. She told of her work to a group of 18 women, representing St. John's and St. Luke's parishes, in St. John's parish hall. Her introduction was by Ven. Archdeacon C. W. Balfour who visited at St. Faith's House during the past summer and became keenly interested in the mission.

When the Bishop's Messengers were organized in 1929 by a woman who saw an opportunity to serve, the founder and most of her helpers were financially independent, but times have changed and now only one of the 20 fully qualified and two assistants is able to make a contribution without support. So, The Guild of St. Faith's has been established across Canada, and it was to seek members and spread interest that Miss Hooper spoke.

Mrs. C. W. Balfour has offered to act as secretary for a branch of the Guild in Peterborough and will call one meeting per year. Quarterly letters will advise the members how the Mission is progressing.

The messengers are all trained at various Anglican colleges and are governed by a constitution. They work primarily in the Diocese of Brandon where acute shortage of clergy exists and serve about 40 congregations, the largest being about 200 persons. Pictures of the churches and various activities indicated these are ardent and thriving groups.

Circumstances and conditions vary enormously, Miss Hooper said. She told of a mission at Kinnesota, within 100 miles of Winnipeg, from where the Messenger must go 15 miles to make a telephone call for a doctor or other need. In summer she can go by car and has only a sea of mud to hinder her, but in winter it is a dreaded trip by horse and sleigh at very low temperatures. At the Waubodon mission, however, no roads exist and the Messenger has simply to organize in accordance with the bi-weekly rail service and the natives who travel on foot.

St. Faith's equipment includes a once popular Model A car and a newer model of the same make which often requires assistance from the older to make it go through. Miss Hooper spoke as though she might easily become a qualified mechanic as well.

Vacation schools for the children of these districts are very popular. The Messengers are equipped for "camping out" during these periods.

When taking services the messengers wear a uniform and they have a licence to perform. They also lead the regular parochial organizations and teach scripture in the day schools where possible.

St. George's Guild Tea, Sale Features Fine Refreshments

The annual fall tea and sale of goods by the members of St. George's Afternoon Guild on Wednesday attracted a line-up of school children who had heard of the delicious taffy apples they were dispensing. Mrs. Leslie Moore and Mrs. C. Blackburn worked madly to suply the demand that was made after four o'clock, and they also sold all of their home-made candy.

Quite a satisfactory accounting from the club cards was made by Mrs. W. Firth. This is a system whereby persons can purchase goods from a number of uptown stores in the name of the Guild, which then realizes ten percent of the total amount, and takes over the handling and recording of instalment payments. More than $1,300 worth of merchandise was purchased in this way this year.

A quantity of towels, pillow cases, and household needs was offered for sale by Mrs. W. Farr and Mrs. A. Harrison and Mrs. A. Howarth were selling home-made fancywork. Mrs. Harold Perks had charge of the apron table.

The draw prize of the day was a good pair of sheets and they were won by Mrs. H. Henwood of King George St. Mrs. E. Huxley sold the raffle tickets and also church calendars and Christmas cards.

Mrs. C. Robinson and Mrs. W. Warren sold out their supply of home cooking.

The hankies which had been collected from far and near to sell at the tea were handled by Mrs. I. Harrison.

Perhaps the most interesting feature of this particular tea is the food served to guests, for its quantity, quality, variety and attractiveness. For the first hour sandwiches and dainty cakes are served with tea but late comers may have a fine wholesome plate lunch, which in most cases, constitutes their supper.

Preparing of the plates was in charge of Mrs. R. Pilling and Mrs. A. Green, assisted by Mrs. J. Gaskell, Mrs. P. Hawkins, Mrs. E. Cooke and Mrs. F. Hines and they were served by Mrs. S. Parkes, Mrs. D. McIntosh, Mrs. McIlwain and Mrs. S. Robertson.

Tea was of course supplied with the refreshments and a tea cup reader was on hand to interpret the message of the leaves.

President Mrs. F. Dorreil was receiving, assisted by past president Mrs. F. Warren and Mrs. E. C. Moore. The Rev. E. C. Moore was welcomed back after absence through illness.

DOROTHY DIX

Wife Said More Likely To Be the Family Dictator

DEAR MISS DIX — Which do you think is the most likely to give in after marriage, the husband or the wife? Which are more tyrannical, men or women?

GIRL AND BOY.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER — The generally accepted theory is that the man is the head of the house and that the wife meekly gives in to his wishes and obeys him. But so far as my observation goes in America, at least, it is the wife who rules the roost, and it is the husband who has mighty little to say in the house he supports.

Dorothy Dix

Man Gives Up Church

When either party gives up his or her church for the sake of harmony, it is nearly always the husband who does. And, as a general thing, it is the wife's people who are helped in times of need instead of the husband's. A hundred times more men support their wives' parents than their own. It is a common thing to see a wife change all of her husband's habits and tastes, but it is a rare thing for a woman to adopt her husband's even when she knows that he is more intelligent than she is.

The reason for this is not that men are more easy-going or adaptable than women, but that they are more peace-loving. A man gets all the fighting with other people that he wants in his daily business and when he comes home he doesn't want to scrap with his wife about what he eats, and where he sits, and whether little Johnny shall go to one school or another. So he gives in and eats what is set before him and lets his wife do her own way rather than argue about it.

Women also make their husbands do their way by the sheer force of persistence. They know that you can nag a man into doing practically anything, and so when they have set their hearts upon accomplishing some purpose they keep everlastingly dingdonging at it until they wear out the husband's resistance, and he surrenders.

There are both male and female tyrants, but I think the female of the species is more deadly than the male, because she is so thorough. Nothing, however little, escapes her and when once a woman sets out to dominate all about her she simply crushes then into the dust beneath her feet.

She does not leave them freedom to draw a single breath. I have known many good, devoted wives and mothers who were such tyrants that they made Nero look like a liberator.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR DOROTHY DIX— What can I do with a husband who is so sensitive that he keeps me walking on eggs all the time, and even at that I am sure to make a misstep that sends him for days into spells of silence and pouting? I have got so I check all my utterances before I speak. Fifteen years of this has just about wrecked my nervous system, and I am trying to create an attitude of indifference, which in the end will be the best if I can only do it. Can you help me to solve my problem? MRS. J. F.

ANSWER: Sensitiveness is only egotism and selfishness raised to the 'nth degree. So far as my experience and observations go it is one of the vices that is incurable.

The sensitive keep their feelings spread all over the place. They expect everybody else to perform acrobatic feats in keeping off of them, but they never have the slightest regard for anybody else's feelings, or make an effort to keep from doing something that will hurt others. Furthermore, their vanity makes them think themselves so important that everyone else is thinking about them all the time and talking about them, so they can find offense when none was intended.

The only thing you can do with such people is to just leave them to indulge in their orgies of self-pity and harden your heart against them. The only woman whom I have ever known who dealt successfully with a man who would go into silence when anything displeased him was a level-headed wife who would put on her hat and go on a visit somewhere whenever her husband began looking ill-used and answering in monosyllables. She would leave a note informing him that whenever he felt cheerful and chatty again to drop her a line and she would return. Seeing how ridiculous he made himself, he reformed. Why not try the remedy?

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a girl of 25. Have lived a blameless life, but the man I am engaged to insists upon my "confessing my past." Says he will forgive me. But I haven't any past to confess. Shall I make up a story to tell him?

BEWILDERED GIRL

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Not unless you are the biggest moron that ever lived. Your sweetheart must be crazy, or else his only associates among women must have been very loose characters if he finds it impossible to believe that there are any decent girls left.

RIGHT: Don't interfere in any way with the mother's plans for the children.

COOKBOOK OF THE WEEK

Varying Cookie Recipes Worth While Exploring

A good cookie recipe can be varied so effectively, both in appearance and flavor, that it is well worth exploring the possibilities of a basic recipe and settle on one or two good ones to help keep the cookie jar full. For all sorts of delicious recipes and innumerable variations and suggestions you should have The Cookie Book, seventeenth in the Culinary Arts Institute series of twenty-four beautifully illustrated cookbooks available to readers of The Examiner.

Here is a delicious recipe from the Cookie Book with some suggestions you might use for variety:

Foundation Sugar Cookies

1 cup shortening
2 cups sugar
6 tablespoons milk
2 teaspoons vanilla
3 eggs, beaten
5½ cups cake flour
1 teaspoon salt
3 teaspons baking powder

Cream shortening, add sugar gradually and cream well. Add milk and vanilla to beaten eggs. Sift all dry ingredients together and add alternately with liquid ingredients to creamed mixture. Chill. Roll out small portions of dough at a time to ¼ inch thickness on a floured pastry cloth. Keep remaining dough in the refrigerator and save all scraps after cutting for the final rolling so that the dough does not become overworked. Bake in a moderate oven (375 deg. F.) 15 minutes. Makes 168 cookies 2-inch diameter.

CINNAMON — Sprinkle cinnamon and sugar over the top of the unbaked cutouts.

CARAWAY—Sprinkle tops of the unbaked cutouts with caraway seed and sugar.

COCONUT—Add 1 cup shredded coconut to the foundation dough.

JELLY—Place teaspoon of tart jelly on top of unbaked cutouts. For a fancier cookie, roll the dough very thin and cut with a round cutter. Place jelly on top of 1 cookie and cover with second cookie from which a tiny round centre has been cut.

LEMON—Add to dough 2 teaspoons lemon extract, omit vanilla. Decorate unbaked cutouts with bits of candied cherry and lemon peel.

SPICE—Add to dough 1 teaspoon cinnamon, ½ teaspoon nutmeg and ¼ teaspoon cloves. Sprinkle with sugar before baking.

Everything you might want to know about the making of cookies is covered in the Cookie Book. Step by step instructions show you how to make the more involved types of cookies and many excellent preparations and baking hints are contained in this versatile little volume. All you need to do to obtain your copy of the Cookie Book is clip a Cookbook Coupon from page 2 of any issue of the Examiner and present it with 25c to the Examiner, your carrier boy or Braund's Home Food Markets By mail, send 30c to Cookbook Department, Peterborough Examiner.

6—In Memoriams

TROTTER—In loving memory of Peddy Wallace Trotter, who died three years ago, Nov. 9, 1947.
"He was a flower, too sweet for earth,
Sent here but for a while,
God marked him when He gave him birth,
And took him with a smile."
—Sadly missed by mother, dad and brothers Terry and Donnie.

IS not for sale that we know of, but we are pleased to offer this beautiful home in which you would be just as happy. Situated on almost half acre of ground and located near Highway No. 28 and Western Ave. Convenient to transportation, St. Alphonse Church and school. It contains 7 wonderful rooms, including large living-room with open fireplace. It is fully modern, has hot water by oil heating, and many other highly desirable features and extras. Priced at $11,700 this merits your immediate attention. Shown by appointment only. Phone 5345.

ARE YOU LAZY?
THEN do not ask to see this sturdy Seven-room Brick Home situated on a 63-foot lot. Why? Because there's a spot of painting to do, a bit of work in the basement, and the garden to straighten up a bit. All right read on. Later on you can put in a furnace and the bathroom (the room is ready for it). Now you are scared, are you not? Well, finish reading. It's in a really fine location among many fine homes and close to schools and bus. The price is $5,900, with $1,500 down. Immediate possession. Telephone 5345.

WHAT DO YOU WANT?
If either of the above Homes do not suit you, and you are looking for a Home we'll be glad to have you call, and we'll tell you of others which are available—from 4 to 10 Rooms.

Steep Rock Uses Sea Dredge To Uncover Iron

ATIKOKAN, Ont. — (CP) — Engineers have hauled a 900-ton, sea-going dredge 1,000 miles overland and 700 miles by water to uncover a vast body of iron ore at the bottom of Steep Rock Lake.

The project is unique in Canadian mining.

The dredge Nebraska was moved in sections from Boston, Mass., to Steep Rock mine near this northwestern Ontario town. It was rewelded in a drydock improvised on a rock-shelf near the bottom of a low spot in now-dry Steep Rock Lake. The dredge was floated recently by allowing this part of the lake to refill.

And now the Nebraska has started the three-year job of stripping 55,000,000 cubic yards of lake and river silt which covers the valuable Hogarth iron-ore deposit.

That ore is known to stretch 4,000 yards. It is 350 yards wide and 900 feet or more deep.

Briefly, the dredge will lift 50 feet of silt from an area of one square mile; lift it 160 to 400 feet; and push it 2,000 feet so that it can spread harmlessly over barren muskeg country.

Huge Operation

Each minute between now and April, 1954, the dredge will move 30 cubic yards of silt—1,300,000 cubic yards a month. And engineers at Steep Rock says that is more than could be handled by 200 20-ton dump trucks (if they could do the job at all.)

The dredging operation was conceived by M. S. Fotheringham, engineer in charge of Steep Rock mine from its inception and now the company's president.

Despite the cost of dredging the lake bottom, the project is feasible because of the tonnage of ore that will be made available. The target is for Steep Rock mine to ship some 11,000,000 tons of ore a year to Port Arthur at the lakehead, and hence to Canadian and United States smelters.

Present production rate is about 1,200,000 tons a year, and seven years from now 10,000,000 tons.

At present prices, that 10,000,000 tons of Canadian ore will sell for $90,000,000 annually.

Steep Rock engineers claim that known and probable ore reserves of 72,000,000 tons ultimately will increase to hundreds of millions of tons of high-grade ore as exploration is completed.

A continuing study of municipal problems by a select committee of the legislature.

Codification and clarification of the Ontario Municipal Act.

Revision of the Assessment finances by transfer of costly services such as relief to the province, and development of a stable system of provincial grants to municipalities.

Equitable aid to mining municipalities.

Recreation

Development of a program of public recreation through amendment of existing legislation and establishment of a recreation division in the Department of Education or the Department of Public Welfare.

A summer camp program co-ordinated with effective use of provincial parks, forests and other natural resources.

Welfare And Social Security

Development of a program

Federal and provincial administrations to share responsibility for social security—federal to undertake cash benefit programs involving no means test including unemployment insurance and family allowances; the provincial or local administrations to handle old age assistance, mothers' allowances, health plans, general and community relief.

A public health plan to protect families against the heavy cost of illness.

Strengthening of public health services and extension of mental health work.

A system of legal aid to guarantee all persons adequate representation before the courts.

Housing

Action in co-operation with the municipalities to take full advantage of National Housing Act provisions for land assembly for economical private construction and sale of houses; construction of homes for sale or rent; construction of low-rental subsidized housing.

Payment by the province of at least one-half of the provinci municipal share (25 per cent) rental subsidies under the National Housing Act.

Investigation of municipal building codes with a view to action to eliminate regulations which interfere with constructive private or public building.

Establishment of a provincial housing corporation to administer and co-ordinate provincial housing policies.

Natural Resources

Construction of more mining roads and development of other means of transportation in northern Ontario.

Reduce prospecting fees and cut assessment work to 25 days a year on mining claims.

A balanced economy in forest areas by full use of pulp and lumber products and adoption of a full program of conservation, reforestation and proper soil use.

Construction of more tourist roads.

Extension of facilities for preserving and increasing fish and game resources and provision for higher bounties on predatory animals.

Agriculture

Full application of recommendations of the Ontario Legislature committee on soil conservation and land use which reported at the last session of the Legislature. The statement noted that the committee was set up as the result of Liberal resolution.

Extension of the present system of loans and grants for grading, packing and cold storage plants to include growers of wheat and soy beans and to include warehousing and drying facilities.

A broad plan of land and community settlement in northern Ontario including: appointment of area supervisors; establishment adequate grading and marketing facilities; direct assistance through provision of heavy equipment for land clearing, road building and drainage.

Use of subsidies to avoid serious dislocation of any branch of the agriculture industry and support of the principle of floor prices for farm products in emergency.

Aid Junior Farmers

Assistance to approved junior farmers by guaranteeing loans up to 80 per cent of cost of land foundation stock and equipment; interest for the first three years to depend on ability to pay, after that not to exceed 3 per cent.

Government tests of samples from milk and dairy plants to be used as a basis for payments to producers.

Emphasis on agricultural teaching in primary and secondary schools; more county agricultural short courses; provision of three-month and two-year courses at low cost at agricultural schools at Guelph, Kemptville and Ridgetown.

Adoption of a policy of assistance in providing an adequate supply of farm labor.

Hydro

Free hydro "from improper political interference."

Direct representation for municipalities on the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission

Efforts to bring about greater uniformity in rates.

Strict economy to reduce rates.

All hydro financing to be done in Canada.

Scrutiny of all expenditures, particularly on recent and present power development projects and the program of changing central and southwestern power frequency from 25 to 60 cycles.

An immediate halt to all unnecessary and extravagant expenditure.

Labor

Amendment of the provincial Labor Relations Act to provide that a majority of those actually voting should settle union recognition matters, rather than a majority of those eligible; also an amendment to bring employees of municipal corporations, boards and commissions under the act.

Legislation providing two weeks' vacation with pay after one year of employment.

Reduction of the waiting period under the Workmen's Compensation Act from seven to three days. Endorsement of the principle of equal pay and equal opportunity for women workers.

Enactment of a fair employment practices act prohibiting discrimination in employment because of race, color, religion, ethnic or national origin or ancestry.

Highways

A highway construction program which takes into account the economic interests of the province and its future needs; special consideration to absorption of additional county roads into the provincial system.

Revision of the Highway Improvement Act to relieve municipalities within counties of the cost of connecting links with provincial highways.

Liquor

Maintenance of the principle of full responsibility of the government for administering and enforcing liquor laws.

Use of a substantial part of profits from liquor sale in education and research in the problems of drunkenness and alcoholism.

Franchise

Extension of the vote to all persons 18 years of age and over.

Amendment of the Election Act to give every voter a fair opportunity to get on the voters' lists.

Civic Service

Payment of adequate salaries to civil servants and appointment of an independent commission to hire and classify government employees.

Incorporation of the cost-of-living bonus paid civil servants into the wage scale.

Cost of Living

Measures within provincial jurisdiction to protect customers against any unfair practices which add to the cost of living.

Another Boost For Seaway Plan Recorded In U.S. Congress

WASHINGTON (AP).—The St. Lawrence river seaway and power proposal is on the shelf here until at least next January, but Congressional backers continue to get in their plugs.

Latest to do so was Rep. John D. Dingell (D.-Mich.) A post-session issue of the congressional record carries this plea by Dingell to seaway supporters:

"Become aggressive people . . . control the blind and selfish railroad and lakes shipping interests and anyone alse who stands in the way of the earliest completion of the tidewater program, involving the mighty St. Lawrence river."

Dingell said that up to now the St. Lawrence river."

Dingell said that up to now the St. Lawrence project has been the "dream and inspiration of a pitifully small group, zealous and determined."

Need Aggressive Plan

He said they cannot succeed unless "a real, aggressive, and well-financed program is outlined and backed by the unified action of the interested states."

"Money," Dingell said, "should be available to whatever extent is necessary to combat the entrenched opposition.

"This should be a crusade, a war to protect our industries and in defence of our homes, our business institutes, and our churches. We should give no quarter and ask for none. Tomorrow may be too late."

What Dingell meant by "tomorrow may be too late" is a fear—expressed not only by him but others in the midwest—that the steel industry (based around the Great Lakes) may find it necessary to move eastward in order economically to avail itself of foreign ores.

Testimony—disputed by anti-seaway forces—has been given that Lake Superior ores on which the steel industry has depended for decades are nearing exhaustion. If this proves true the alternatives are seen like this:

1. Move to the east to reap the benefits of vast deposits newly discovered in South America.

2. Build the St. Lawrence seaway so that ore from yet-to-be-developed Labrador fields can be shipped cheaply to the existing mills.

Dingell said in his latest plea:

"I warn the people of the Great Lakes region that unless the waterway is completed soon, steel production will shift to the east or wherever else the highest grade of iron ore is delivered at the lowest price per ton.

Need Cheap Transportation

"The steel and other heavy industries dependent upon cheap water transportation, like the automobile industry and a thousand others in the Great Lakes and inland areas, will shift in the same direction in close proximity to their basic steel supply.

"It is inevitable, therefore, that Michigan's industry, the centre of which is in the Detroit metropolitan area with the greatest production in the world, must without basic materials shrivel and die.

Our businesses and our homes, our real estate, schools and churches, too, will shrivel and die. Without the waterway Detroit will tomorrow become the world's biggest ghost town."

Whether Congress eventually will authorize the St. Lawrence project remains to be seen, but all indications are that Congress will treat the proposal more seriously—in the next session.

WEIRD SCENE—Dressed in hooded black gowns that leave only the eyes, hands and feet exposed, villagers of Montepulciano, Italy, carry huge symbolic nails and pincers in a dramatic procession representing the Passion of Christ. The scene is from the film "The Forbidden Christ," first screen venture of noted Italian author Curzio Malaparte.

Caribou Return

FREDERICTON, N.B. —(CP)— Caribou, protected by the game laws of New Brunswick, have been seen in Carleton county this fall for the first time since 1918. There is also evidence that moose, also protected, are on the increase.

Canada Unaffected By U.S. Phone Strike

MONTREAL, Nov. 9 —(CP)— A Bell Telephone Company of Canada spokesman said today that no disruption of telephone service between Canada and the United States was anticipated despite the country-wide American strike.

The spokesman said that "there may be a few delays on long distance calls.

Fear Gambling On Increase

TORONTO, Nov. 9 (CP)—The social relations department of the Canadian Council of Churches declared today that the gambling habit is continuing to spread in Canada.

"Gambling practices of every kind are flourishing at an alarming rate, with the tacit consent of an apparently indifferent public," the department said in a report it will present to the seventh annual meeting of the Canadian Council of Churches Nov. 14 to 17.

"Gambling has become a public menace."

In the last five years, the amount of money wagered in pari-mutuel betting on Canadian racetracks has increased 43 per cent, the report continues. It is estimated that during that period, Canadians wagered $225,109,880.

"There is no room or place for gambling rackets in Canada, whether domestic or imported. We must continue to insist that there be no relaxation of the laws against the business of gambling. At the same time, we must work through the people of our churches to create and sustain a public conscience against gambling."

Excerpts from the report were made public today by the Canadian Council of Churches.

Driver Absolved Of Negligence

A charge of careless driving against William Dorris, 535 King St., was dismissed in police court today when Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC, found there was no evidence to prove any negligence in Dorris' driving when his truck met in collision with a train Oct. 2.

Constable Victor McConnell testified the pickup truck and train collided shortly after noon on Lansdowne St. at the CNR track crossing.

He said there were no skid marks left by the truck. The truck had apparently been travelling east and turned north just before the crash. The whole right front corner of the truck was damaged. The train was travelling south-west.

Constable McConnell said from measurements taken by police, he found that from a distance 100 feet west of the track on the south side of Lansdowne St. he could see clearly 317 feet up the track over a picket fence. If he lowered his vision and looked up the tracks only as far as the fence would allow he could see 76 feet measured from the north edge of the pavement.

Representing Dorris, T. J. Carley, KC, offered no defence. He argued that there was no evidence and the magistrate agreed with given by police of any negligence him.

Important Power Resources To Be Developed By Yugoslavia

By ALEX H. SINGLETON

BELGRADE (AP)—The Yugoslavia's steep hills, which sheltered Marshal Josip Broz Tito's Partisans during the Second World War and helped bring him to power, may furnish him in a few years with a different kind of power—electricity.

For down the wooden slopes of the country's mountains and through its deep valleys churn some of the continent's most powerful streams—a largely untrapped source of energy which may revise the land's economic future.

Tito and his partisans went to the hills early in the war to find refuge from the Germans and to carry on Yugoslavia's fight for freedom. Now—figuratively at least—they are going back again to preserve the independence they won then.

Under Yugoslavia's ambitious and yet unrealized five-year plan, the country aims to construct a network of dams and hydro-electric plants designed ultimately to produce approximately 50,000,000 (M) kilowatt hours of electrical energy yearly.

To those familiar with North American power development the figures probaby will be unimpressive. But they well may mean the difference between success or failure of Tito's attempt to balance this country's agricultural economy with an industrial machine.

Big Obstacle

The task is tough, indeed. It has been hampered by lack of equipment once promised by Russia and the cominform satellites. It has been delayed by lack of manpower mustered into the army to guard against the possibility of attack from Eastern Europe.

But, slowly, it has been going ahead. The exact figures never have been disclosed. Certainly, the production in terms of kilowatt hours still fall far short of what Yugoslavia needs if it is to become an industrial nation.

Some of the hydro-electric power plants are still on paper. If, however, Yugoslavia can remain independent and at peace, they will be built at the Danube's iron gates and along the rivers Drina, Sava, Krka, Vardar, Treska, Una, Certina and Ibar.

As Yugoslav power experts figure it, all the planned power stations along the Drina alone will produce as much electric energy as all of Czechoslovakia before the war and three times as much as in neighboring Romania.

Road Building Chief Item Discussed Before Council

MILLBROOK, Nov. 9 (ENS)—Drainage and road building on the 13th line of Cavan was one of the chief items discussed by Cavan Council at its regular meeting, last week. Councillor L. Hooton reported for the committee consisting of Reeve Armstrong, Councillors Hooton and McKnight, who with Major John Foote, M.P.P., waited on Prime Minister Leslie Frost and others in Toronto in connection with the road. The result of this meeting was the decision that the road would be visited with the view of some action being taken later.

Bylaw No. 872 was amended by changing clause 2 to read: "That if more than the required number of candidates are nominated and qualify for any of all of the offices, the election shall be held on the first Monday in December from 9 o'clock in the forenoon until 6.30 o'clock in the afternoon."

William Seymour was appointed a member of the Peterborough Suburban High School Board and Dickson Hutchinson a member of the Durham High School Board.

Other business dealt with at the meeting were a bylaw introduced by the clerk to appoint polling places, deputy returning officers and poll clerks; $2.00 be refunded to Mrs. Wilson on dog tax; that Road Superintendent check with Mr. Hatherly on snow fence and posts belonging to township on 12th concession, that road superintendent be instructed to purchase two school signs for road at March School corner, also two crossroad signs for boundary at 13th concession, the fence on the 14th concession be left with road and chairman of division; Councillors Bradburn and Hooton with the Reeve to be a committee to look into the value of the south half of Lot 18, Con. 14, with a view of selling it.

P. Hamilton addressed the council regarding doors taken off town hall for use at the arena. This was left with the town hall committee.

Mr. Ward, assisant engineer reported that he had inspected the Belch culvert and arranged with the road superintendent to visit the Finney and Bland culverts later.

ADDED STARTER—Special trains bearing Western Canada horses and cattle entered in the Royal Winter Fair arrived in Toronto Monday night. Early Tuesday morning there was an added starter in the person of this new calf. Miss Betty Hodgins of the Royal Winter staff, and Bruce Townsend, 22-year-old St. Norbert, Man., farmer, inspect the new arrival. Townsend is the owner of the mother, Rockwood Feal Posch, a Holstein.

Cpl. Gerald Hubble, War Casualty, Says 11th Lucky

The eleventh of every month will be a lucky day for wounded GI Cpl. Gerald S. Hubble of Rochester, New York, a grandson of Mr. and Mrs. William Hubble of Norwood.

Eleven has played a prominent part in the 19-year-old soldier's combat career. On August 11 he went into combat; on September 11 he was wounded and on October 11 he was sent to St. Albans Naval Hospital on Long Island.

A member of the Ninth Field Artillery Battalion, acting in support of the First Cavalry Division, Cpl. Hubble on September 11 was in a foxhole just north of Taegu, the hotly contested railway centre in the Korean beachhead. It was the period in the Korean war when the American and North Korean artillery units were staging some of their heaviest artillery duels.

In his foxhole Cpl. Hubble heard the chief of section order the men to man the 155 mm. howitzers. Hubble, halfway to the gun emplacement, heard an enemy artillery shell approaching. Running at top speed, he dove into his foxhole just as the shell burst nearby.

But his left hand was on the edge when the shell exploded, resulting in several fingers being badly hurt. Bleeding profusely, Hubble had a buddy in a nearby foxhole apply a tourniquet on his arm to stop the bleeding.

Shortly after reaching his buddy's foxhole, a second shell exploded. This time enemy gunners scored a direct hit on Hubble's vacant foxhole.

At home Hubble said: "I guess I was lucky that I wasn't there when it hit."

City Honored In Hydro News

The "Liftlock City" telling the story of Peterborough—its history, industries and public utilities is one of the main features of the October issues of the "Hydro News."

Complementing this feature story are 10 pictures taken in the city. These include a picture of the liftlocks, pictures of Moore Park, employees of the public utilities, the interior of the Outboard Marine Co., and the Peterborough Examiner.

The article calls Peterborough a growing, stable city, attractive and well-planned. Among the bouquets handed out in this article is the comment, "other indications of the city's growth and stability are its many fine homes, schools, churches, libraries, hospitals, theatres and other buildings."

2 RCN Destroyers Badly Battered In China Sea Gale

HONG KONG, Nov. 10—(CP)—The Canadian destroyers Cayuga and Athabaskan licked their wounds today after bucking a two-day gale which veteran seamen described as the worst dusting they ever encountered. As the China Sea gale was reaching its height with 20 and 30 foot waves that damaged boats and sent gear flying, 19-year-old Ordinary Seaman Robert Elvidge of Ladner, B.C., was swept overboard from the Athabaskan.

Both destroyers hove to and as Elvidge came bobbing up on the giant waves he was thrown a lifebuoy with a heaving line attached and was hauled aboard. He was none the worse for his experience and reported for duty next day.

The same wave which swept Elvidge overboard left Protestant chaplain Horatio Todd of Ottawa and Halifax, with painful but not serious injuries. He was flung against Athabaskan's guard rail with such force that he suffered broken fingers in his right hand and cuts about the head and leg. He was treated in Sick Bay.

Terrible Roll

For two days giant waves sent gear flying in the messdecks, damaged equipment and tore gear loose from its lashings on the upper deck. On at least one occasion the Cayuga registered a roll of almost 50 degrees.

The destroyer Sioux rushed from Hong Kong tonight to assist the British steamer Tsinan, adrift in raging seas after her tow rope snapped in the North Formosa straits.

The 2,994-ton Tsinan was being towed by the tug Margaret Moller from Shanghai to Hong Kong when the tow cable parted. The tug is standing by.

The Sioux, just arrived at Hong Kong after escorting an aircraft carrier to the naval base, turned around and headed out to the Tsinan's aid.

Leadership Fight Shaping Up Between 2 Men

TORONTO, Nov. 10 (CP)—The Ontario Liberal Leadership convention adopted a new policy today and then turned to the election of a new leader.

It gave unanimous approval to a 97-point policy statement laid down as the basis for its program in the next provincial election.

This afternoon it was to elect a leader from eight candidates for the post Farquhar Oliver vacated by resignation a year ago.

The leadership shaped up as a battle between two men—John G. Brown, 50-year-old Kitchener accountant who represents Waterloo North in the Ontario Legislature, and Walter C. Thomson, 54-year-old Toronto lawyer who has a farm at Pickering and represents Ontario constituency in the House of Commons.

From corridor talk it appeared that third favorite is Mr. Harry M. Cassidy, director of the School of Social Work at the University of Toronto. Others in the race drew less attention—Charles W. Cox of Port Arthur, who represents Fort William in the Legislature; Campbell Calder, Legislature member for London; Norman O. Hinel of Preston, former cabinet minister; Arnott Hicks and John J. Sullivan of Hamilton.

Denies Rumors

Trade Minister Howe, addressing 1,000 persons at a convention dinner Thursday night, took note of rumors that members of the federal party from Ontario were supporting one particular candidate and declared that is not the case.

"All Ottawa members have come here to place the full support of the federal party behind any leader who may be chosen." He added that six members of the federal cabinet from Ontario "come not as cabinet ministers but as Liberals."

During the day reports circulated that Ottawa Liberals were supporting Mr. Brown. Both Mr. Howe and Immigration Minister Harris said in newspaper interviews they would vote for the Kitchener man. Each emphasized, however, that the decision was personal, as delegates. These statements, along with the evident strength of his organization, classed Mr. Brown as one of the favorites.

Say Ex-Prime Minister In Serious Condition

WELLINGTON, NZ, Nov. 10—(CP). — Opposition Leader Peter Fraser, 66, is "slowly but steadily losing strength," a medical bulletin said tonight.

The former Prime Minister suffered a heart attack today and his condition now is described as "precarious." The Labor Party Leader has been in hospital since early October suffering from thrombosis followed by pneumonia. He rallied but had a relapse Tuesday.

Say Ontario Tourists Hit All-Time Record

TORONTO, Nov. 10 — (CP) — Ontario's Travel and Publicity Department said Thursday the tourist business is on the increase in the province this fall. It predicted the all-time record of 78,852 motor tourist parties entering the province during October last year will be surpassed when official figures are available.

The prediction was based largely on reports for three reception centres still in operation along the United States border at Niagara Falls, Point Edward, near Sarnia, and Windsor. Figures for those points showed 19,732 autumn visitors were checked during October, an increase of more than 5,500 compared with last year's total of 14,213.

5 In Elevator Saved From Fire

CHICAGO, Nov. 10 (AP) — Five persons, including a baby and two elderly women, were rescued from a flaming stalled elevator as fire swept through a south-side apartment hotel today.

Two firemen, hearing cries for help from the three women and a man in the flaming shaft, crept under flames which enveloped the hotel lobby to the elevator. With axes, they smashed the fire glass outer door and tore off the hot inner grill to release the fire from the fiery trap.

All five suffered burns on the face and arms.

About 20 persons were carried down ladders by firemen. Loss was estimated by fire officials at $25,000.

B.C. Chef's Fortune Turns Out $127.50

PERTH, Australia, Nov. 10 — (CP) — The "fortune" which a Vancouver chef said he inherited has turned out to be £50 (about $127.50.)

Albert E. Mitchell, 57, said in Vancouver Thursday night that he had learned he had become heir to money left by his stepmother, whom he had not seen for 40 years.

Today the amount of his inheritance was given by the public trustee of Perth as £50.

Mitchell was born in Winnipeg, once lived in Australia.

Yuzwa Denies Any Part In Stabbing

Says Did No Fighting, Saw No Knife During Loucks Slaying

LINDSAY, Nov. 10—(Special To Examiner) — A complete denial of any part in the fatal stabbing of Jack Loucks last November 18 was made Thursday afternoon by William Yuzwa, 33-year-old Hamilton salesman, charged with the murder.

Yuzwa took the stand for two hours and testified on his own behalf. B. J. Spencer Pitt, defence counsel, called no witnesses.

Early today Mr. Pitt will sum up the defence's case and he will be ofollowed by Special Prosecutor W. B. Common who is assisting Crown Attorney Lorne W. Jordan at the trial. The addresses to the jury are expected to occupy all morning.

Mr. Justice Spence will likely give his charge to the jury after the noon recess and the case is expected to be in their hands by mid-afternoon.

Many Denials

Yuzwa's testimony was studded with denials. He said he had never seen the broken-bladed bread knife, covered with blood, that had been found in front of the truck between himself and James Zahodnik.

At no time was he nearer to the sidewalk than two or three feet, he said, contradicting the testimony of crown witnesses. He said he was dead tired after finishing a 500-mile drive before he started out on the hunting trip with the Zahodniks.

On the trip from Hamilton to Lindsay he had taken three drinks of whisky, he said, and he was not drunk but sleepy. When the three brothers went into the Big 20 to make enquiries about directions he remained in the truck.

Gives Demonstration

An unidentified man began to bait him while he was trying to catch a nap in the front seat. Later, Yuzwa said, the same man—or possibly another—came up to the truck and swore at him.

The stocky Ukrainian-Canadian demonstrated with his arm how he tried to ward off a blow while sitting in the passenger's seat of the truck.

According to Yuzwa the man challenged him: "Your dirty —— why don't you come out and fight like a man?"

He conceded that he was annoyed but he did not get into a fight. "No sir," was his reply to questions whether he had seen Loucks, struck anybody in Lindsay, or seen the blood-stained knife found in the front of the truck.

Reveals Red Sabotage Plan

TORONTO, Nov. 10—(CP)—T. G. (Gerry) McManus, former Communist, says a Communist organization stands ready "at an hour's notice" to fight an underground war in Canada against Canadians. In an article, "The Reds are ready to wage war inside Canada," published in the current issue of Maclean's magazine, the one-time secretary of the Canadian Seamen's Union and former member of the Community Central Committee for Canada says the Communists have already mobilized a carefully-trained organization of several thousand persons. McManus, who broke with the party four months ago over its Korea policy, says that, in the event of war between Canada and Russia, the Communists will launch a two-pronged attack—on production lines and, within the armed forces, on the convictions and morale of Canadian service men.

As a man who for 19 years "stood high in party councils," McManus says he was chosen to help lead the underground. Before he quit the party, he was shown to an Ottawa river hideaway near Point Fortune on the Ontario-Quebec border, issued with his code name and given orders for sabotaging industry.

"Contact Man"

McManus said his "contact man was Harry Binder. Binder had told him that, if war seemed certain and anything happened to Binder, "his place as my contact man would be taken by Pierre Gelinas, editor of the Quebec Communist paper, Le Combat."

McManus writes that during the Second World War—prior to his internment in the spring of 1940—he helped organize the direct groups that spread anti-war propaganda within the Canadian armed forces by means of mimeographed pamphlets and whispered rumors. Later, on

Hundreds Flee Their Homes As Fire Sweeps City Area

SAN BERNARDINO, Calif., Nov. 10—(AP)—Hundreds fled their homes in the darkness today as a fire swept by 50-mile-an-hour winds threatened much of the city's northern residential sector. Firemen said it was almost out after a six-hour fight.

At one point, police reported hundreds of homes burning, while pajama clad residents—many of them women and children—played garden hoses on roofs. But as dawn came, only one home on a hilltop appeared a complete loss. A half-dozen others were badly damaged and spot burns and charred paint showed on many more.

A two-mile strip several blocks wide in places, but largely brushland near the foothills, was blackened.

The fire department reported 14 men injured as a result of the flames and the high winds. Most of them suffered facial cuts and eye injuries from flying debris and cinders.

All were given emergency treatment, and none of the injuries was described as serious.

Paint Blasted Off

So fierce was the wind that paint was blasted off one U.S. forest service truck.

"Sometimes you couldn't even see the fire, the dust got so bad," one fireman related. And another observed: "I hate to think what would have happened if this thing had got away from us. The whole town might have gone up."

The sand blew in great clouds through narrow Cajon Pass, which leads through the San Bernardino mountains to the Mojave desert.

Police estimated that nearly 300 persons were evacuated from the region and given refuge in a school.

The winds swept stinging sands in the faces of some 300 firefighters and carried embers for more than a mile. At one point, the fire jumped eight blocks, setting a roof afire.

The northern sector of this city of about 60,000 population runs into the mountains, and it was there that the fire started, apparently from a power line blown down by the near gale.

Named Manager

CLEVELAND, Nov. 10 (AP) — Al Lopez, 412 long-time major league catcher and for the last three years pilot of Indianapolis Indians of the American Association, today was named manager of Cleveland Indians for the next two seasons.

Says McManus Just Guessing

TORONTO, Nov. 10 —(CP)— Stewart Smith, named by T. G. McManus as one of the top 10 Communists in Canada, said today McManus "means the Labor-Progressive party when he refers to the Communist party."

"There is no mystery about that," said Smith, a former member of Toronto's municipal board of control. "It is an open declaration. We don't need to quibble about it. The L.P.P. is the party of Communism in Canada."

McManus, a former member of the Communist central committee for Canada, made his statement in an article published in the current issue of Maclean's Magazine.

Smith said that McManus had "unmitigated gall" to name him as one of the top 10.

"Nobody knows who the top 10 are. Tim Buck was elected our leader. I am just chairman of the Toronto committee."

Would Have Cabinet Mobilize At Once For Defence Purposes

National Registration Recommended To Government Too; Ask Stricter Watch On Spy Activities

OTTAWA, Nov. 10—(CP)—The Canadian Legion today asked the Cabinet for immediate introduction of National registration and "some form of compulsory military service, without exemption, in the reserve forces." In the annual presentation of its views to Prime Minister St. Laurent and other members of the government, the Legion urgently requested that the "necessary steps be taken to mobilize the country's resources for defence purposes without delay."

A brief presented by Group Capt. Alfred Watts of Vancouver, national president, said:

"Unless Canada's war potential is mobilized and made immediately available it is of little value either as a deterrent to aggression or as a means of defence if war breaks out."

National registration, the brief said, would "provide up-to-date information on available manpower to serve as a basis for compulsory service in the reserve forces."

Need Conscription

It added:

"Since the defence pattern of this country rests to a large degree on the reserve forces, and since the reserve force provides a fertile source of volunteers for active service....It would serve the best interests of the country to introduce some form of compulsory service, without exemption, in the reserve forces.

"This could be done by utilizing constituted reserve units or by establishment of reserve training centres, where certain basic training, at least, could be given. We feel that this is a practical and necessary approach to the obvious need of larger numbers of service personnel with some minimum of modern training and would offer the least dislocation to Canadian industry."

The Legion also urged:

1. Continued rent controls and, if the situation warrants, even "more stringent controls."

2. Curbing of subversive activities by law and a program to expose the aims and techniques of Communism, to educate Canadians in citizenship, to eliminate abuses which help Communism and to block employment of Reds in any job where they could hurt Canada.

Watch Fifth Column

3. Most careful attention to the dangers of "fifth column and subversive activities in our midst."

4. One-third increases in war pension rates because of the rising cost of living.

5. Increases in war veterans allowance rates.

6. Provision of low-cost housing.

7. Hastening of home construction for service personnel to take the strain off civilian housing.

US Troops Make New Link-Up In North Korea

SEOUL, Korea, Nov. 10 (AP)— The Allies forged a steel band across North Korea's narrow waist today with the link-up of U.S. 10th Corps forces from the east and Eighth Army elements from the west.

AP Correspondent William Jorden reported the link-up was made southeast of Tokchon, in north-central Korea. It came as Chinese Communists just north of the Manchurian border continued their ominous build-up of troops.

Other Chinese Red forces already in Korea, estimated at about 60,000, were withdrawing into far North Korea's wooded mountain fastness under constant lashing by Allied air power.

U.S. planes hit 10 Russian-built tanks and Red transport southeast of the border.

Bombers and jet fighters carrying half-ton bombs smashed at Red supply lines near and south of the Yalu River boundary of Communist Manchuria.

Two Clashes

American and Red jet fighters engaged in two flashing chases near the major Red crossing point—the northwest border town of Sinuiju. No losses on either side were reported.

Recover Bodies Of 2 In Plane

PROVIDENCE BAY, Ont., Nov. 10—(CP)—A 12-day search for a missing pilot and his lone woman passenger ended Thursday with the identification of two bodies washed ashore near this tiny Manitoulin Island settlement.

Police said Carl Mattini, owner of Laugoma Airways based at Algoma Mills, identified the bodies as those of Leo Slivinsky, former RCAF flight engineer, and Ruth Dunoon, 40-year-old nurse from Owen Sound.

They had been missing since Oct. 29 when Slivinsky picked up his passenger at Tobermory, near Owen Sound, for the flight to Algoma Mills on the main land between Sudbury and Blind River.

Police said the light plane apparently crashed in Lake Huron during a heavy fog.

General Used Wolfe's Plan For Big Inchon Landing

OTTAWA, Nov. 10 (CP)—Gen. MacArthur credits Canadian history and, in particular, Gen. James Wolfe with being the inspiration for one of his most successful operations in the Korean War—the landing at Inchon.

He spent 15 minutes recently telling Canadian Brigadier Frank Fleury why. It happened during an hour-long interview with Gen. MacArthur shortly after Brig. Fleury went to Tokyo as head of a Canadian military mission to the general's U.N. headquarters.

Brig. Fleury, talking to reporters at defence headquarters, said the 70-year-old general, affable and surprisingly young for his age, told him how much he was looking forward to having Canadian troops under his command, and then launched into a story.

Forty-two years ago, Gen. MacArthur said, he was assigned the task of making a thorough study of Wolfe's 1759 assault on Quebec and the Battle of Abraham. "I have never forgotten it," he said.

In particular, he had not forgotten how Wolfe held a council of war with his staff—both junior and senior officers—as the time drew near for assault on the fortress held by Montcalm and his Frenchmen.

Wolfe had asked them all, one by one, whether the British force should make a frontal assault from their boats or try to scale the cliffs in a flanking movement. One by one, they came out for the frontal assault.

That was enough for Wolfe.

Since, he had told his staff those 191 years ago, they all felt that way, the chances were that Montcalm did too. So that assault would be made by scaling the cliffs. It was, Quebec was won and, with it, Canada.

Gen. MacArthur told Brig. Fleury that Wolfe's reasoning became his reasoning at Inchon. That port was reckoned the toughest and therefore the unlikeliest place for an emphibious assault on that coast. So, like Wolfe, he chose the unlikely. The North Koreans were completely fooled.

One-Pound Baby Dies In Hamilton

HAMILTON, Nov. 10 (CP) — Jerris Davis, who weighed an estimated one pound, died early today. She wasn' tquite six days old.

As recently as Thursday, attendants at St. Joseph's Hospital had said that the infant, born 2½ months prematurely, was progressing satisfactorily. But her doctor, Meyer Carr, had warned that she faced a "rocky course."

Jerris was one of the smallest babies ever born alive in Canada. The tiniest in Canadian records was Hugh McGillivray of North Sydney, N.S., who weighed 14 ounces at birth and lived 2½ years. Marie, smallest of the Dionne quintuplets—who were born two months prematurely—weighed one pound, 10 ounces.

Jerris' mother, 28-year-old Mrs. Bert Davis, was unattended when the child was born last Saturday in the Davises' apartment home. She was about eight inches in length, smaller than most dolls.

Battling Alaskan Wolves To Protect Santa's Steeds

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10 (AP) —The United States government is waging a war on Alaskan wolves to protect Santa Claus' favorite steed and a vital food source for natives—the reindeer.

It's the first organized attack, a government expert said today, on wolves and coyotes which have helped reduce Alaska's once-rich herds of reindeer and caribou to the danger point in some areas.

Government agents spot wolf and coyote trails from reconnaissance airplanes, and then go in on foot to place poison-filled "baits" designed to kill the wild raiders without harming fur-bearing animals.

This was reported by Dr. Door D. Green of the U.S. Fish and Wildfile Service at a meeting of American and Canadian scientists gathered to consider research needs in strategic Alaska.

The poison bait technique, he said, represents a different approach to wolf control than the old method of paying hunters a bounty for wolves and coyotes they killed. Over the years, he related, more than $500,000 had been paid out in such bounties—but the wolves kept coming.

In general, the poison baits are placed in areas not usually inhabited by valuable fur-bearing animals, but where the wolves and coyotes congregate.

But a government agent has come up with a new finding that if the poison is placed in a bait containing seal oil, it will attract wolves and coyotes—but actually will repel such valuable fur-bearers as the otter, mink, marten and weasel.

Believe Canadians Help Get Compromise

OTTAWA, Nov. 10 (CP)—Official circles said today there is reason to believe Canadian cabinet ministers may have made some progress in a typical Canadian attempt to solve differences between two other countries, this time on the vital question of German rearmament.

The attempt was spearheaded by Defence Minister Claxton in behind - the - scenes, informal chats during the four-day visit of French Defence Minister Moch.

The results of the United States' Congressional election sharpened official Ottawa concern about the German problem, currently the greatest obstacle to the drive to get Western Europe armed and ready. France is the key to that obstacle.

Hear Tibet Requesting Aid From UN

Leader Warns India To Be Prepared To Meet Aggression

NEW DELHI, India, Nov. 10 —(AP)—Tibet today was reliably reported to have appealed to the United Nations for aid and intervention against the invading Chinese Communists.

Reliable sources here, who refused to be identified by name, said the appeal had been made directly to the U.N.

(No word of the Tibetan appeal had been reported from U.N. headquarters at Lake Success, N.Y., early today).

The report received here said the Tibetan appeal was made Nov. 8. It was not indicated through what channel the appeal was made from the remote Himalayan land.

The Indian foreign ministry said it had not received any direct report from Tibet's 16-year-old ruler, the Dalai Lama, of such an appeal.

No Change

The foreign ministry also had heard of no change in the military situation since the message received Thursday from India's representative in Lhasa, the Tibetan capital, which said the Chinese Communist force that had captured Chamdo, on the Himalayan country's eastern border, was marching southward.

India's deputy prime minister Sardar Vallabhbhai, Thursday told the Indian people to be prepared to meet any challenge of foreign aggression along the northern frontier.

He said that the Red invasion of Tibet might be sufficient to start a third world war, and advised his countrymen not to run away from danger, but meet it like brave men.

He said India would not hesitate to use violence if Mahandas K. Gandhi's methods of love and non-violence—which he termed the best way to meet aggression —did not bear fruit.

India sponsored talks between Tibetan and Chinese negotiators here before the invasion was announced last month. Prime Minister Nehru and his government have been leaders in attempting to bring peace to Asia.

May Try To Jam Phone System

NEW YORK, Nov. 10. (AP)—Talk of "jamming" the United States telephone system was in the air today as a coast-to-coast strike of phone equipment workers went into its second day.

There were moves to urge strikers and their friends to "jam" local and long-distance circuits by placing one useless call after another.

Federal mediators sought anew to settle the dispute which has made idle many thousands of workers, including operators, and disrupted service in some areas.

In a side angle of the national walkout, 16,000 telephone employees in Michigan put their local strike on a "hit and run" basis.

There was no official indication that this strategy would be adopted in the coast-to-coast walkout.

The "hit-and-run" move in Michigan was disclosed early today in Detroit by the state strike leader Walter Schaar, president of Division 15 of the Communications Workers of America (CIO). Schaar said employees of the Michigan Bell Telephone Company would "leave the job at unexpected moments and return when not expected" in a move to keep the management "off balance."

Yuzwa Denies

He admitted that he was sick and vomited on the floor after the truck sped from Lindsay, the scene of the fatal stabbing, toward Peterborough.

Only Out Once

Yuzwa claimed the only time he left the truck was after being shaken by the unidentified man; then he walked across to the north side of Kent St. to find the Zahodniks. When he failed to find them he returned to the truck.

"I was never on the sidewalk," he said.

Shown the green-checkered hunting jacket which several witnesses said he was wearing the night Loucks was killed, he commented: "It's my shirt, there's no question about it."

He denied any knowledge of the stabbing of Loucks and the three wounded men — Floyd Smith, 27-year-old Hagersville truck driver; Sidney Risley, 50, and Thornton Oliver, 37. All three men required hospital treatment.

Previous Convictions

"Did you see this knife while in Lindsay on the night of November 17 or the morning of November 18," asked Mr. Pitt.

"No sir," was the reply.

Cross-examined by Mr. Common, Yuzwa admitted previous convictions for theft of a watch and bicycle in Saskatchewan in 1932; assault convictions in October 1933; conviction on a false prefences charge in 1941 in Hamilton; and wilful damage to property.

He admitted all but one of the assault convictions and the 1934 conviction for wilful damage.

County Team In Ontario Judging Finals

Of the seven teams of Junior Farmers competing Monday in the interprovincial judging finals as representatives of Ontario, five are from three counties in central Ontario—Durham, Peterborough and Northumberland.

The Grenville county team is the provincial entry in judging dairy cattle.

The Peterborough county team, Francis Walsh and Murray Pimmett, of Otonabee, are the finalists in judging beef cattle.

Three Durham county teams represent Ontario in the judging of swine, grain and potatoes.

There are also two classes for girls in domestic science and home economics. One team is from Northumberland county, Misses Freda and Gwen McCulloch of Campbellford; and the other is from Perth county.

Decide Monday

The national honors will be decided Monday. Boys clubs representing their provinces will judge at the Royal Winter Fair Monday morning, and give their reasons at the Royal York Hotel in the afternoon. The girls' team will judge and give reasons at the hotel. Results will be available Monday night about 8 o'clock from James D. Moore, a former Peterborough boy who is public relations officer for the Canadian Council on Boys' and Girls' Club Work.

As an evidence of the serious approach of the teams to the national finals, Robert E. Bell, assistant agricultural representative has been keeping the Peterborough team, Murray Pimmett and Francis Walsh, "in condition," to borrow a phrase from athletics, by visiting herds of beef cattle during the last two weeks. They spent several days judging selected classes of Herefords and Shorthorns last week, and another day this week placing eight classes of Aberdeen-Angus cattle at four farms.

One of them was the Bowser herd at Aurora; Malcolm Bailey farm at Uxbridge; the Baker herd at Claremont, and the Kinghaven black cattle at King, in York county. They wind up their "training" with a general review tonight at the local office of the Department of Agriculture.

U S Troops

U.S. jets destroyed eight enemy tanks and damaged two in Red territory south and southeast of Sinuiju. Twenty-five trucks and other vehicles were destroyed and seven trucks damaged.

The puzzling lull in the ground action continued into its fifth day. There was only patrol action and minor skirmishing.

Inland from the east coast, the U.S. marines observed the 175th anniversary of the corps by rolling onto a plateau to within three miles of the vital Changjin power dam. It was a gain of six miles.

Hasty Withdrawal

There was no opposition. Abandoned packs indicated the haste of the Chinese withdrawal.

A U.S. 1st Corps spokesman said the day's greatest advance—likewise unopposed—was registered by the South Korean Capital Division in the far northeast—an 11-mile thrust north of Kilchu.

That's about 75 miles south of the Manchurian border. Elsewhere across the Peninsula, the Allied line was 45 to 50 miles south of the boundary. Before the Red counter-attacks last week, the Allies had shoved to the border at one point and 15 miles from it at another.

A U.S. Eighth Army spokesman said the Chinese appear to be establishing a defence line in the mountains. They had taken considerable losses from aerial and artillery fire.

Gen. MacArthur's spokesman estimated Thursday that 60,000 Chinese and about that many organized North Koreans faced United Nations forces south of the Yalu in Korea.

Have "Volunteers"

Communist China radio broadcasts called the Chinese troops "volunteers."

The world anxiously awaited the U.N. Security Council's action on a west-sponsored resolution demanding that Communist China withdraw its troops even as MacArthur's intelligence spokesman in Tokyo said the Chinese are continuing to cross the boundary in large numbers.

American F-80 jet fighter-bombers struck heavily today at a major crossing point—a rail-highway bridge spanning the Yalu at bomb-rubbled Sinuiju in extreme northwest Korea.

The U.S. Fifth Air Force reported a direct hit on the bridge with a 1,000-pound bomb.

No mention was made of any hits on a newer railway bridge across the Yalu at Sinuiju. Both spans were targets in Wednesday's massive B-29 raid that virtually wiped out Sinuiju. U.S. Navy carrier planes made a follow-up attack on two bridges Thursday and reported direct hits.

Bombers Attacked

No Red fighter-plane opposition was reported at Sinuiju, but American heavy bombers were attacked 10 miles to the northeast in a raid on Uiju, on the south bank of the Yalu.

MacArthur's spokesman said they met fighter opposition and "violent" anti-aircraft fire. But he had no report on whether any of the B-29's—a flight of 12 — were knocked down.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Nov. 10 (AP). — Grains were boosted slightly in relatively quiet dealings at the opening on the board of trade today.

Wheat started ⅛ cent lower to ⅝ higher, December $2.25¼; corn was ¼-⅞ higher, December $1.60-$1.60¼, and oats were ¼-¾ higher, December 91½-⅝. Soybeans were ¼ to one cent higher, November $2.73½.

Industrials Gain But Lack Support

TORONTO, Nov. 10—(CP)—Industrials held their early fractional gains but showed lack of support on the Toronto Stock Exchange today.

Following two days of strong advance they opened firm, gained a little, but couldn't get anywhere. Gains were limited to fractions although they about doubled losses. Papers, utilities, steels, foods, liquors, textiles and retail stores showed a majority of advances in the groupings. Refining oils and manufacturing companies tended lower and the rest of the board was mixed.

Base Metals were mixed. International Nickel, Noranda, Steep Rock and Quemont added up to 75 cents while Consolidated Smelters, MacDonald, Quebec Manitou, and Waite Amulet were lower.

Senior Golds slipped with McIntyre and Hollinger leading. Junior producers were mixed and gains and losses were limited to pennies in quiet dealings. Western oils firmed with gains up to 20 cents.

Obituary

MRS. ARCHIE CLAPPERTON

Mrs. Archie Clapperton, 65, of Cramahe Township died in Belleville hospital Thursday following a lingering illness. She was born in Cramahe, the former Jessie Amelia McNally, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Henry McNally and has spent a lifetime in this community.

Mrs. Clapperton was a member of Christian Church. Her husband the late Archie Clapperton, predeceased her six years ago.

She leaves one sister, Mrs. Wm. Inglis (Marie), of Trenton.

The funeral will be held Saturday at 2.30 p.m. at the Allen Funeral Home. The Rev. A. B. Moffat of the Free Methtodist Church, Warkworth, will officiate. Burial will be in Christian Church cemetery, Morganston.

Ask UN Place Chinese Red Aid As Top Business

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., Nov. 10 (AP)—The United States is expected to call on the United Nations Security Council today to move "as rapidly as it can" to prevent Chinese Communist intervention in Korea from spreading the conflict.

With the backing of Britain and France, the American delegation will ask the Council to go ahead with its discussion of the Korean case without waiting for the arrival of the Chinese Comunist representatives.

Russia already has served notice that she will fight all consideration of the question until the Chinese Communists have been brought before the Council and given a chance to answer the charges made against them by Gen. MacArthur, UN commander in Korea, and the American delegation.

Today's Council meeting originally was called to consider the Palestine case. Addition of the Korean question is expected to set the stage for a lengthy argument over the agenda. Such a wrangle could prevent the Council from coming to grips with the Korean issue this afternoon.

Try To Prevent It

The United States will try to prevent such a development. Porter McKeever, spokesman for the American delegation, told reporters last night that the Council "must move ahead" and not allow the Chinese Communists to so time their arrival at Lake Success as to impede the Council's work. He added:

"The clear duty of the Council is to do everything it can as rapidly as it can to prevent the conflict in Korea from spreading."

Informants said Britain, France and Ecuador have joined the United States in sponsorship of a Korean resolution to be put before the Council.

party orders after Germany attacked Russia, he joined the army himself.

Communists again are operating under cover in the armed forces, McManus said.

"They are receiving instructions directly from the party and reporting back to the party on the state of the forces' training, strength and morale. There are party branches close to most of the country's large military camps (at Pembroke, near Petawawa; at Brandon, near Shilo; at Saskatoon, near Dundurn.)

Great Secrecy

In the whole Dominion-wide Communist apparatus, McManus says, "even a relatively senior man like me would know the where abouts and activities of not more than seven others."

"If Tim Buck, the underground army's generalissimo, succeeded in remaining at large in the event of war), even he would deliberately isolate himself from contact with and knowledge of all but the 10 other members of the political bureau.

"These are Stanley Ryerson, No. 2 man to Buck; William Kashtan, Leslie Morris, Becky Buhay, J. B. Salsberg, Norman Penner, Charles Simms, Norman Freed, Stewart Smith and Dorise Neilsen."

The party's recent plans for McManus called for bigger tasks than fanning discontent among the fighting men.

My role in the next war's Communist underground. . . would have been director of labor activities for Quebec. My job would have been to hinder war production in any way possible—through sabotage, slowdowns or strikes."

Copy Methods

McManus says the underground organization's structure is patterned on techniques used successfully to resistance movements occupied countries during Second World War. And, during the last three years, "every Canadian Communist who has visited Europe has made a point of gathering detailed information about underground tactics and reporting on them back here."

But McManus sees a glimmer of hope in what he considers the doubtful loyalty to their party masters of the 12,000 Canadians who hold party cards.

"I am sure that, if a world war breaks out, at least half of Canada's Communists will refuse to make war on Canada... They will at least find themselves face to face with the ruthless and soul-shattering truth that Communism does not stand for what they thought it stood for."

Leadership Fight

The leadership nominations highlighted a busy 4½ hour afternoon session at which the convention also re-elected president Norman L. Mathews, and treasurer William A. Bennette, both of Toronto, and dealt with reports of committees.

The resolutions committee, headed by Harold Minden of Hamilton, reported some resolutions which ran into strong opposition. One calling for legalization of sweepstakes in the province to finance hospitals and similar projects was defeated soundly. One delegate, George Gordon of Brantford said he was in Dublin at the time of the draw in a recent Irish sweepstakes and that less than one-fifth of the 10 shillings for each ticket went to hospitals.

There was debate over another resolution which called on the next Liberal government of Ontario to improve the highways—No. 11 and No. 101—north from North Bay. Delegates from other areas objected, saying their roads need improvement today. As a result, the convention followed a suggestion of James R. McLaren of Brockville and approved an amendment urging improvement in all provincial roads with special attention to northern Ontario.

Unanimous Approval

There was unanimous approval of a resolution condemning recent highway act amendments banning signs and stands selling fruit and vegetables along certain highways. The regulation had been applied to the Queen Elizabeth Way in the Niagara district. The resolution urged an impartial authority to consider appeals against decisions under the act; compensation for persons affected; and safeguards to protect property and other rights of citizens.

A proposal to divest the Ontario Municipal Board of its powers over municipalities ran into opposition and was defeated. But another plan for a continuing committee of the Ontario Liberal Association to study municipal matters was adopted.

The convention endorsed a resolution that women be permitted to serve on juries in Ontario in spite of opposition of a Sudbury lawyer, Leo Landreville. It also approved abolition of Ontario's 15-per-cent amusement tax, voted loyalty to Prime Minister St. Laurent and thanks for their work to former leader Oliver and secretary W. G. Hale.

Stresses Leadership

Mr. Howe devoted his entire banquet speech to leadership matters, offering advice to the convention and to the future Ontario leader from the career of the late W. L. Mackenzie King, former Prime Minister of Canada

Trained in the science of government, Mr. King sought the best men available for cabinet posts, said Mr. Howe. He laid strong emphasis on part organization in individual constituencies and achieved it with a small staff in the office of the National Liberal Federation. He sponsored labor and social security legislation. He was at his best in parliament, partly because of his expert knowledge of procedure.

Other banquet speakers were Senator J. Gordon Fogo, who brought greetings from the National Federation; Mrs. Cecile O'Regan of Ottawa for the National Federation of Liberal Women of Canada; Mrs. M. J. Poupore of Skead, Ont., for the Ontario Women's Liberal Association, and Bruce McCullough of Kitchener for the Ontario Young Liberal Association.

Kingston Pen Convict Gets Extra 18 Months

KINGSTON, Nov. 10—(CP)—Boynton St. John, 44, Kingston penitentiary prisoner, Thursday was sentenced to 18 months when he pleaded guilty to escaping from custody.

St. John's prison break Sept. 15 cost him a total of 30 additional months.

He was given 12 months when he pleaded guilty last month on an assault charge and three theft charges. The charges arose from his escape when he slugged 10-year-old Jimmy Biggs grandson of the chief keeper at the prison, while working outside the prison.

Dollar Up Slightly

MONTREAL, Nov. 10 (CP)—The U.S. dollar today opened at 3 13-16 per cent premium to the Canadian dollar, 3-16 higher than Thursday's close. That is, it took $1.03 13-16 Canadian to buy $1 American. The pound sterling was $2.90⅝ up 9-16.

Liberal Policy Approved Unanimously

TORONTO, Nov. 10 (CP). — A new policy for the Ontario Liberal party won the approval of the provincial leadership convention today without a dissenting voice.

The delegates approved only one of five amendments offered during a 2½-hour study of the 97-point program prepared by the Ontario Liberal Association's co-ordinating committee on policy and endorsed by its management committee.

The successful amendment was proposed by Thomas Cossitt of Brockville who proposed the addition to a clause dealing with municipal affairs that the province's next Liberal government restrict the powers of the municipal board where deemed advisable."

Another amendment on municipal affairs, offered by Philip Dubois of Ottawa, met defeat on the grounds it was already covered in the draft. He proposed that Liberals go on record as favoring restoration and maintenance of autonomy in municipal affairs. The policy statement called for full autonomy in local affairs.

Reject Amendments

The convention voted to reject amendments to alter a proposal that the legal voting age in Ontario be lowered from 21 to 18 after Peter Wright of Toronto argued that if boys could be trusted to bear arms in defence of the country at 18 they could be trusted to vote.

Voted down were two amendments—one by M. McDonald, a Sudbury young Liberal, who proposed complete deletion of the clause; the other, offered by S. Harmer of Peel county, suggested that the voting age be lowered to 18 only for married persons.

A proposal by Ernie Miller of Brockville that the next Liberal government provide to all children attending secondary schools one pint of milk each throughout the school year was voted down on the grounds it dealt with administration and was a detail already covered in the framework of the policy.

The policy statement was brought before the convention by Colin Campbell of Toronto, former Ontario Minister of Public Works. His motion for its adoption was seconded by Cyril Young also of Toronto who spent many years in northern Ontario as a geologist and engineer.

Mr. Campbell gave an outline of how the statement was shaped in 23 meetings of sub-committees and nine meetings of the 30-member co-ordinating committee. Liberal groups from all parts of the province had been invited to submit suggestions.

The committee's aim, said Mr. Campbell, was to shape a broad statement on policy and leave to the new leader the task of working out detail.

Williams Holding Shaky 47-Vote Lead

DETROIT, Nov. 10 — (AP). Governor G. Mennen Williams slipped into a shaky 47-vote lead at noon today as a mounting tide of corrections by county canvassing boards see-sawed the outcome of Tuesday's general election.

The minute-by-minute changes gave Williams a total vote of 933,835 and Kelly 933,788

Roseneath WA Purchases Church Windows

ROSENEATH, Nov. 10 (ENS). —The expense of all new windows being placed in St. James' Church will be paid for from WA funds. This was decided at the November meeting of St. James' W.A. The church has been newly painted and the roof shingled. These new windows are being placed on the sides of the church to replace windows that had been there since the church was built 86 years ago.

The meeting was held in the township hall with Mrs. Ray McCracken as hostess. The president, Mrs. Earl Braithwaite, presided over the opening exercises and business period. Miss Elizabeth Coyle was pianist and Mrs. Jack Webb secretary. Canon C. R. Spencer led in prayer.

Mrs. James Brown, treasurer, reported a balance on hand of $294.40.

One cent for each year of their age was donated by every member as a thank-offering at the November meeting.

Two custom quilts were quilted. Election of officers will be held at the December meeting. Mrs. James Webb and Mrs. Herbert McCracken were appointed a nominating committee to present a slate of officers at the meeting.

Magistrate Baxter Reserves Decision in Gasoline Sale Bylaw Hearing

CAMPBELLFORD, Nov. 10 (ENS)—Magistrate R. B. Baxter has reserved judgment in the case of the bylaw regulating the hours of sale of gasoline in Campbellford.

Lynd Bradley, a Campbellford garage operator and president of the Campbellford Garage Operators' Association, who was the informant against the independent operators at the Thursday trial, admitted under cross examination by defence counsel T. J. Carley, of Peterborough, that he, along with a group of members of the association, went to the service station operated by T. E. Hall on George Street, with the purpose of buying gasoline after hours, so that this information could be used as a basis for laying the charges against the independent operators.

The whole affair, a topic of discussion on the streets of the town for some time, started when a list of garage operators requesting the passing of a bylaw for the closing on certain hours of the day of all service stations in the town, was presented to council.

Published In Error

This bylaw, number 1592, was duly passed by the council, in the belief that they had no other alternative. One of the provisions of the bylaw was that a true copy of it was to be published in one edition of the local newspaper, before it became law. The mayor signed the petition, thinking it was the bylaw, and this petition was published. The petition was worded almost identically to the bylaw, and no one noticed, until the town clerk received a call from a local citizen, informing them of the mistake.

The garage operators quickly got up another petition and presented it to council, in order that a new bylaw could be passed, as the council deemed the bylaw number 1592 was invalid, in that a true copy had not been published.

Mr. Carley, defence counsel, stated that the bylaw was valid in that before it could be repealed, a petition from more than one-third of the parties affected by it would have to be presented. This was not done.

No Inconsistency

Council passed bylaw number 1597, in which 1592, and all other bylaws inconsistent with it, were repealed. However, as pointed out at today's trial, there was no inconsistency in the two bylaws, and as a petition was required to pass it, a petition was likewise required to repeal it.

The garage operators were unable to prove, to the satisfaction of defence counsel, that gasoline was actually placed in the tank of the car on the night of October 11, when the group went to the station operated by Mr. T. E. Hall to purchase gasoline. Nor were they able to prove that they knew all the gasoline stations operating in the town at the time the petition was drawn up, which required the 75 per cent majority.

Mr. Carley cited cases, and comments on them by Mr. Justice Kelly of Toronto, and quoted repeatedly from the Factory, Shop and Office Building Act.

John F. McGregor, clerk of the town of Campbellford, was the first called to the stand and answered many questions put to him by both the prosecuting lawyer, J. F. R. Douglas of Campbellford, and by Mr. Carley. Later in the proceedings, Mr. Carley commended Mr. McGregor, for the efficient manner in which he was able to produce the necessary information, and for his help in clearing up technical points on the case.

Two Acused

Accused are David Bowen, who operates a garage on the outskirts of town on the Grand Road, and T. E. Hall, who operates a garage and service station on George Street. A third operator, Mr. Wesley Sweet, will likely be charged later, as the three men have refused to join the association.

The case against Mr. Hall was the only one heard today, and the case against Mr. Bowen was adjourned until November 23. Mr. Baxter will make his findings known at that time, regarding the Hall case.

Mr. Carley is basing his defence on the fact that bylaw 1592 was never repealed, and in that the public was not informed through its publication, that it became law, no charges can be laid under it.

ROSENEATH, Nov. 10—(ENS) —Included among the members of Roseneath Women's Institute attending the area convention in Belleville were: Mrs. J. W. Pacey, Mrs. Harold Taylor, Mrs. Bart Thackeray Mrs. Charles Sandercock, Mrs. Charlton Grigg and Mrs. Edgar Carew.

A number of rugs made by Roseneath ladies were in the display of home made rugs at the convention held in the auditorium of Belleville Collegiate and Vocational School.

Hold Funeral Service For Gilbert MacArthur

CAMPBELLFORD, Nov. 10 — (ENS) — Funeral services were conducted Thursday by the Rev. A. E. Toombs, of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, for one of Campbellford's highly respected and elderly residents, Gilbert MacArthur, who died in his 85th year.

The son of Peter MacArthur and Catharine MacCallum, of Argyleshire, Scotland, Mr. MacArthur left his birthplace forty years ago and took up residence in the Campbellford district, where, with his wife, the former Jeannie MacMillan, he operated a farm.

He is survived by his wife, four daughters, Mrs. Edward Gifford (Agnes) of Colborne, Mrs. C. C. Massie (Catharine) of Campbellford, Mrs. Wilfred Campbell (Jean) of Toronto, and Mrs. Byron McCurdy (Marion) of Jackson Centre, Pa., U.S.A., and one son, Hector A. MacArthur, of Campbellford. A sister, Mrs. Catharine MacKinven, of Carrdale, Scotland, is 92 years of age.

Mr. MacArthur was a member of the Masonic Order, Blue Lodge, in Scotland, but was not affiliated with the lodge in Canada.

He died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. C. C. Massie, at the latter's residence on Booth St. in Campbellford, on Monday. Funeral services were conducted from the residence on Thursday.

Pall bearers were C. C. Massie, Reg. Massie, Byron McCurdy, Edward Gifford, Hector Gifford and H. MacMillan.

Flower bearers were Bill Cochrane, Ernest Haig, Joe Dunk, P. H. MacMillan, Jack Campbell, John A. Smith, Harry Bennett, Bruce Grills, Arthur F. Collette, Clayton Stephens, Percy Bland and Wilbert Wood.

Burial was in Mt. Pleasant cemetery.

Marmora Auxiliary Organizes For Year

MARMORA, Nov. 10 (ENS)— The Girls' Auxiliary of St. Paul's met in the parish hall to organize for the coming year. Opening prayer was taken by the retiring president Shirley Neath. Officers were elected as follows: President, Marjorie Price; vice-president, Margaret Empey; secretary, Shirley Neath; treasurer, Margaret Price. Meetings will be held on Wednesday evenings of each week. The group will follow a plan whereby a deeper understanding of the diocese and its constituent parts will be reached. An attempt will be made to increase the membership.

Funeral Service Held

COBOURG, Nov. 10 (ENS). — The funeral of Mrs. Fred Bateman took place yesterday from her late residence to Cobourg Union Cemetery. Seventy-eight years of age, she had been in poor health for the past few months, and passed away at her residence on Havelock Street. Born in Baltimore, she lived the greater part of her life in Cobourg, and is survived by her husband, a son William of Bancroft. Her daughter Marguerite died two years ago. She is also survived by a sister, Mrs. R. Morris of Cobourg, and a brother George Francey of Edmonton, Alta.

Fire On Freighter

HONG KONG, Nov. 10 (AP)— Chinese Communist shore batteries dotting the islands south of here fired on the British passenger freighter Serampore Wednesday, reports here said today. The Reds were reported to have fired a number of shells, all of which fell short as the ship was approaching Hong Kong.

White Superiority In South Africa

Since Dr. Malan's government took office in the Union of South Africa, the racial problems of that country and the Malan Government's policies for dealing with them have come into world-wide prominence, even notoriety. The South African Government is with reason much alarmed about the serious effect that outside criticism is having on the Union's internal and external affairs. This was acknowledged by South Africa's information officer at Ottawa, Mr. A. W. Stewart, who spoke to the Kiwanis Club of Peterborough yesterday. The nature of the criticism levelled against Dr. Malan's apartheid policy of segregating various racial groups is indicated by our Low cartoon today, and by charges in the Canadian, American and British press that South Africa is embarking on a course reminiscent of Nazi Germany.

* * *

The most extreme criticism tends to come from those who know least about the difficulties and have no personal experience of them. Canadians, with no negro problem, can be shocked to their marrow by some of the goings-on in the southern States. The rest of the United States, somewhat tolerant of negroes who are there in the minority, can be highly censorious of South Africa, where the problem is vastly more difficult than the American negro problem. In these matters, familiarity breeds compliance—a tolerance of apparent intolerance and inequality—provided, of course, that one is not on the whip end.

* * *

The Union of South Africa has the most difficult racial problem of any country in the western hemisphere. Recognition of this fact, and a knowledge of the history of the problem, should dispose outsiders more sympathetically to the South African Government in its attempts to deal with a situation which was made more acute by war, industrial development, and the new consciousness among primitive and colonial people that they should control their own destinies.

* * *

There are eight million blacks, 2½ million whites (including Boers), one million 'Cape Coloured' (people of mixed Hottentot, Cingalese, European and Bantu blood), and 300,000 Indians in the Union of South Africa. The Government's thesis is that the Whites are not merely the most qualified, but the only qualified people to rule in South Africa. It is they who brought civilization to the country, who have with undivided loyalty made their home there, and retained the "purity" of their blood. Mr. Stewart said: "It seems to me that one can hardly conceive of three right more worthy of protection than these". The method of protecting these rights, and also the rights of the other three major racial groups, is to segregate each, and allow each to develop in 'apartness' (apartheid) to their own highest abilities. But since the whites are the most highly developed and progressive, it is they who are called on to put up the fences around each group, to decide what kind they shall be, and how high, and dole out the nutriment.

* * *

The superiority of the whites, in general and as things are now, is incontrovertible. If they did not keep order and plan new projects, there would be chaos and retrogression now in South Africa. Mr. Stewart said: "In the present circumstances, the white people are the only possible custodians of western civilization in the dark continent". We can agree with that statement. Even admitting the superiority of western civilization, we criticize unfavourably the methods of custody, and also suggest that there are other whites than the white citizens of South Africa able to deal with racial problems in, for instance, the mandated territory of German West Africa. But the Malan Government feels itself alone called on to bear the white man's burden in South Africa.

* * *

The South African Government is spending money to build schools and provide social services for the blacks and coloured but there is little hope that it will ever encourage the development of the eight million blacks to full and equal citizenship with the whites. At best the South African Government's policy is one of enlightened despotism, or to say it more mildly, of paternalism. The Government is sitting over a boiler, and instead of releasing valves to let off a little steam here and there, it is reinforcing the boiler with racial bars, in the hope that thus it will not explode. But the fire is not dowsed.

* * *

The problem is immense and perhaps insoluble without a major explosion. The policy of dealing with it is based on the white superiority over the blacks and coloured; on a fear for the supremacy of two and a half million whites among nine million others, and a determination to hold that superiority and supremacy against all odds, and, if need be, without regard for the humanity of the others. It is a struggle for control and the goods of the earth, and the whites have the whip hand.

Employer's Heart

When James Curran came to Peterborough from County Galway in Ireland, he was five years old. On Wednesday, eighty-five years later, he died. There was something remarkable about Jimmie Curran, apart from his ninety years. It was the way he went about his job, and the way his job looked after him.

Jimmie Curran worked for the city, which is supposed to be an even more heartless, inhuman employer than a great big company. He worked for the city since the late '80's, taking employment with the privately-owned Peterborough Waterworks, whose successor was the Utilities Commission. He grew old in the city's service. His wife became blind, and he himself, after he was pensioned, lost most of his sight. But he and his wife were not forgotten by the Utilities Commissioners and his fellow employees, who had admired and liked him as he had respected and liked them. Everyday somebody went to visit him, to see if there was anything the little old family needed. The visitor might be the Chairman of the Commission, who was an old friend. It might be one of the Utilities drivers with a parcel.

The city does have a heart as an employer; and so do any decent employers, if the man on the job wants to admit it. Jimmie Curran was a friendly man, working for people and with people. He was not a cog in a machine, nor were his bosses men of iron souls. The human kindliness and sympathy which surrounded Jimmie Curran typify the best kind of employer-employee relationship, and it exists far more commonly than rabid factionists admit.

A Scholar King

Perhaps the most immediately arresting thing about the new King of Sweden, Gustav Adolf, is that he is an archaeologist of far more than amateur standing; if he were not a king, he would be a very distinguished scholar. As an archaeologist he has travelled extensively in the Far East, India, Greece, Italy and Egypt; Swedish archaeological investigations in Greece, Italy and Cyrus have been carried on under his personal direction. He is deeply interested in all the arts, and is the acknowledged cultural head of Sweden. Such men are very rare in any sphere—virtually unknown among monarchs.

He is sixty-seven, and he most certainly does not come to his present great place as a greenhorn; for many years he has taken the heaviest duties of kingship from the shoulders of his late father. He is a sportsman, fond of shooting and tennis, but he is not the enthusiast, nor, it is said, the expert that his father was in these pursuits. He has been married twice, both times to ladies of English birth. His first wife, whom he married in 1905, was Princess Margaret, daughter of the Duke of Connaught; after fifteen years of marriage she died, and after three years he married Lady Louise Mountbatten.

Here is a man who has everyone's respect and good wishes, for his native abilities as well as for the position which he holds. Canadians, we think, will wish that he may live as long as his father, and enjoy every hour.

NOTE AND COMMENT

A physician comments that the number of people who die from constant overeating far outnumber those who die from drinking. But considering present prices, its easier to drink yourself to death today.

A woman writes to an advice column, asking "What should I do when I find lipstick on my husband's shirt collar". Our answer: remove as much of the pigment as possible with blotting paper and a hot iron, and then rub the remainder gently with soap and warm water. Oh, and you might try sprucing up a bit, too.

Too often at this time of year we hear people talking about a contest for the mayoralty as though the word were pronounced "morality". Indeed, we see a heading in a Western Ontario contemporary in which the word is spelled "mayorality". Neither the Oxford Dictionary nor Webster gives anything but "mayoralty", pronounced with the accent on the first syllable.

Notes And Queries

By ALPHA

Questions are solicited for this column particularly those relating to local lore and tradition.

DEAR ALPHA: Could you give us something of the history and date of the building of St. John's Church at Ida? You probably know just where it is, about one half mile from the post office at Ida corner, a lovely old church on top of a hill, with a beautifully kept cemetery. In Mr. Pammett's column on Saturday last the date and history of a lot of local churches were stated but not St. John's, Ida, and is its present location, the site of the first Anglican church here at Ida? Some say it was built in 1866 (a recent quiz program) others that it was at the foot of the hill originally. Others besides myself would like to know if you can "dig it up".

Yes, Alpha we do read your column with interest every Friday, and if friends drop in I find they do also.

Where is Omega? You see I have read it from the beginning. I think then you said he was leaving for business in Germany.

ANSWER: At the moment I have very little information on the history of St. John's Church, Ida. I believe it to be the first and oldest church in Cavan. Next Friday I hope to be able to answer your question properly. If any friends and readers have information about this church I should be grateful if they would write me about it.

Omega flew to Germany, dear me, it must have been two years ago, and it was only for three days, to spy on meetings of the four-power controllers of Berlin. I dropped the fellow for a while because of a violent argument about wiener-wurst, but now all is forgotten and forgiven. He is presently digging for iron in the Marmora district. Perhaps you have seen his sign on Highway No. 7: "Omegatic Ironmongering, Inc.... Future Site of Iron Harts, a Ye-olde Tavern".

✧ ✧ ✧

MY FELLOW-COLUMNIST Peter Piper slipped, I gleefully state, from his Olympian omniscience of things musical when he stated last month that we shall never know 'what song the Sirens sang'. (The phrase is, by the way, Sir Thomas Browne's, Chapter 5 of 'Urn Burial'.) Another seer of my acquaintance pointed out P.P.'s prang by calling my attention to Robert Graves' 'The White Godess' in which that disconcertingly erudite English writer not only gives the ancestry of the sirens and their song but the song itself, in English reconstruction, all nine verses of it. Robert Graves is completely trustworthy, especially when he is engaged on conjectural emendation:

"The Sirens ('Entanglers') were a Triad—perhaps originally an Ennead, since Pausanias records that they once unsuccessfully competed with the Nine Muses—living on an island in the Ionian Sea. According to Plato they were the daughters of Phorcus (i.e. Phorcis, the Sow-Demeter); according to others, of Calliope or some other of the Muses. Ovid and Hyginus connect them with the Sicilian myth of Demeter and Persephone. In classical times they still had a temple dedicated to them near Surentum.

"All this amounts to their having been a college of nine orgiastic moon-priestesses, attendants of an oracular island shrine. Their song, of nine stanzas, may be reconstructed without recourse to Samuel Daniel's vigorous Ulysses and the Siren, on the model of similar songs in ancient Irish literature: for instance 'The Sea God's Address to Bran' in The Voyage of Bran, Son of Febal, and 'Midder's Call to Befind' in The Wooing of Etain. Both poems are slightly Christianized versions of an ancient theme, the voyage of the alder-and-crow hero Bran (Cronos) to his island Elysium.... The origin of the story that Odysseus stopped his ears with wax and refused the Sirens' summons is probably that in the late thirteenth century B.C. a sacred king of Ithaca, Cronos's representative, refused to die at the end of his terms of office. This would explain why he killed all the suitors for his wife Penelope's hand, after disguising himself in dirt and rags during the usual temporary abdication."

Then Graves gives the song, of which the first verse is:

"Cronos-Odysseus, steer your boat
Toward Silver Island whence we sing:
Here you shall pass your days."

DEAR ALPHA: Could you tell me if Council intends to store those Centennial cakes until the next centennial celebration? And will they be hung in the same position? I'm rather anxious to know.

ANSWER: They are to be retained in storage by the Utilities Commission until further use is found for them. If, for instance, the beekeepers of Ontario decide to celebrate a golden anniversary in Peterborough next year or thereafter, the cakes will undoubtedly reappear disguised as bee-hives, or dripping in honey. If an oecumenical congress were to assemble in the city in 1960, they might be transformed into miniature cathedrals. And if, after many such metamorphoses, they still have fabric and substance by the year 2000, no doubt they will again hang over our street intersections as anniversary cakes — baked in 1950 but for the 150th anniversary in A.D. 2000. Waste not, want not, even centennial cakes.

SIR: Why are Board of Education meetings always opened with prayer when the council meetings are not?

ANSWER: The Board members may feel greater need for divine guidance. The Council coasts along all year on the wings of the prayer said by a professional at the inaugural meeting.

The propriety of our non-sectarian public Board of Education meetings being opened by a Christian prayer has not yet been seriously challenged. The saying of prayer is on the agenda devised by some previous Board. The prayer given is extemporaneous and varies with each meeting. It is usually an impromptu affair devised by the Chairman. If the Chairman feels that he is not qualified to act as mediator between the Creator and the Board members, he may call on some other member to voice a prayer.

I consider the matter distastefully, apart entirely from the legitimacy of it. A moment of silent prayer, a recital of the Lord's Prayer, or some formal other petition might be acceptable, but impromptu prayers by untrained prayers are likely to be nauseating or bumbling. I have never heard the present Chairman performing this task of his office, so these remarks are not directed at any one in particular.

If I were a member of the Board of Education I would most vehemently object to being prayed over in the present Board fashion. Lacking professional assistance in the matter, I would feel fully competent to be my own petitioner before the Throne of Grace from the Board of Education table. I might even feel that any prayer said at the Board meeting was presumptuous, indicating as it would that I had come to the meeting unprepared privately ahead of time to cope with the affairs of the Board.

FOR THE RECORD: The steel skeleton of the new City Hall appeared in the last week, and at this stage the building does not look as large as it will when stone is put on the bones. There are two points now revealed about the setting of it on the lot. (a) It is much nearer George street than Water; and (b) it comes very close to the Public Library building. About (a): The building has not been set farther back from George street, which would thus provide good lawn and tree space to give it a park-like appearance in conjunction with Confederation Square across the srteet, because eventually (another 50 or 100 years?) a complete wing may be added along Water Street, for other offices and perhaps a concert hall. About (b): The building encroaches quite markedly on Public Library property, and so-to-speak, the Council are squatters on that property, because no by-your-leave was asked of the Library Board. Public Library property is not under the control of the Council. Will the Library Board sue the Council for stealing valuable land and for moral damages?

Sport Patronage Drops

(KITCHENER-WATERLOO RECORD)

HAS sport reached the crest in a monetary way?

Numerous signs seem to indicate that it has. Not that interest is declining, it is probably greater now than ever before, but the turnstile music has slowed down.

Horse racing in Canada and the United States has shown a decline in patronage and wagering, it is believed. Major league baseball patronage was definitely much lower and there were even some unoccupied seats at the world series. Minor league baseball also has experienced a sharp decline in attendances.

Just 10 days ago, when Ottawa and Toronto met in a crucial Interprovincial Union rugby game, there were over 5,000 empty seats at Varsity Stadium in Toronto. Hamilton has been the hotbed of rugby from time immemorial, yet many times this year in the close rugby race the Hamilton games have had vacant seats.

Coming closer to home, Kitchener baseball attendance was lower this year with the calibre of ball up. Waterloo, with a championship team, did not get the patronage the club deserved. Now we are into the hockey season and the crowds of other years are definitely not appearing.

What is the explanation of this situation when work is plentiful and wages are high? This may be the answer:

Most sports, like everything else, cost more today. When two people go together, as so often is the case, the total outlay runs into a fair sum. There is more sport now and the sport fan, therefore, can afford to be more choosy.

Undoubtedly at times the weather is a factor and radio and television are deterrents, especially in the United States. But there is a feeling that the high cost of living is a great factor in Canada. In other words it is felt by many people that dollars are needed more elsewhere, now that the dollar doesn't go so far.

The fact that higher taxes are coming may also be making the average individual a little more cautious.

HER SPECIAL AVERSION

The applicant for a job as housemaid was being interviewed by the employment agent, and was asked if she had any preference for the kind of family she would like to work for.

"Any kind," she said "except highbrows."

"You don't like to work for highbrows?"

"You bet I don't. I worked for a pair of them once, and never again. Both were fighting all the time, and it kept me running back and forth from the keyhole to the dictionary till I was worn to a frazzle."

Bible Message

(From The Authorized Version)

Now a certain man was sick, named Lazarus, of Bethany, the town of Mary and her sister Martha.... Therefore his sisters sent unto him, saying, Lord, behold, he whom thou lovest is sick. When Jesus heard that, he said, This sickness is not unto death, but for the glory of God, that the Son of God might be glorified thereby....

Then when Jesus came, he found that he had lain in the grave four days already.... Then said Martha unto Jesus, Lord, if thou hadst been here, my brother had not died.... Jesus saith unto her, Thy brother shall rise again. Martha saith unto him, I know that he shall rise again in the resurrection at the last day.

Jesus said unto her, I am the resurrection, and the life: he that believeth in me, though he were dead, yet shall he live: and whosoever liveth and believeth in me shall never die. Believest thou this?....

Then they took away the stone from the place where the dead was laid. And Jesus lifted up his eyes, and said, Father, I thank thee that thou hast heard me. And I knew that thou hearest me always: but because of the people which stand by I said it, that they may believe that thou hast sent me. And when he thus had spoken, he cried with a loud voice, Lazarus, come forth. And he that was dead came forth, bound hand and foot with grave-clothes: and his face was bound about with a napkin.

Jesus saith unto them, Loose him, and let him go. (John 11: 1, 3, 4, 17, 21, 23-26, 41-44.)

Letter To The Editor

NOT ENNISMORE MAN

Sir: I'd like this correction to be made in your paper of a statement that was "wrong".

I refer to the item "Drunken Rage costs Ennismore man $93.20". The man referred to was a James Kelly. He is not an Ennismore man—for he doesn't, nor never has lived in Ennismore.

I am, Yours truly,
ONE WHO LIVES IN ENNISMORE.

(Ed. Note: The guilty man named James Kelly gave his address in court as "Ennismore". This was a false address.)

Free Mail Service

(Cornwall Standard-Freeholder)

There is a great deal behind the simple statement that 2,033 families in Stormont receive the mail by rural mail delivery, on 25 different routes. The same service, of course, is given in all districts in the area.

The 2,000-odd families get a valuable addition to the amenities of life, at no direct cost. Rural mail service is provided, under certain not too severe requirements, to all.

The mailbox is a most useful adjunct to the farm. From it the people can send out letters every day. Even more important perhaps, is the incoming mail.

Canadian Hockey Under Fire Of UK Writer

By ALAN HARVEY

LONDON, Nov. 10 — (CP) — Canadian hockey took a verbal poke-check Thursday in a British sports writer's column, and one long-suffering defender came back swinging.

Bobby Giddens, of Ottawa, who has been boosting hockey in Britain for 15 years, said he had sent a telegram to the newspaper's publisher, asking him bluntly whether the blast on hockey represents his views on the sport.

The belittling reference appeared in Thursday's Daily Express under the byline of Peter Wilson, one of Britain's best-known sports writers. Right in the first sentence, Wilson said hockey is the 'most outlandish of all sports foisted on a long-suffering public."

Wilson went on to say that a lot of Canadians who can't make the grade with hockey sticks are becoming chorus boys in London ice shows.

"Chorus boys, indeed," sniffed Giddens. "I say flatly there isn't one first-class Canadian player in British ice pantomimes today."

Have Unkind Words

Giddens edits a weekly British publication, the Ice Hockey World, which has been in business since 1935. This week's issue will contain some unkind words about Wilson.

Meanwhile, Giddens is holding his front page open for a reply to a transatlantic cablegram he sent Thursday to Lord Beaverbrook, publisher of the Daily Express, who now is in Canada.

In his cable Giddens quoted Wilson's remarks and asked whether Lord Beaverbrook, as a publisher and a Canadian, would stand behind them.

"I am getting tired of this British campaign against Canadian hockey," Giddens said in an interview. "We're always getting kicks in the teeth—it's too rough or too polite, it's too fast or too slow. I think it's about time somebody stood up for it."

Wilson's reference to hockey players taking jobs as chorus boys in ice shows may be directed at five Canadians who donned make-up for last summer's London ice show "Rose Marie," starring Ottawa's Barbara Ann Scott.

COSSA Winners To Receive Windbreakers

St. Peter's High School junior rugby team, winners of the Jr. B COSSA Lakeshore title will be honored at a banquet to be held Dec. 4 at the Kawartha Club. The senior rugby team which placed second in its group in the Catholic Conference will also receive recognition at the same banquet.

This was the decision reached at the meeting of the athletic advisory committee of St. Peter's high school Thursday night. They agreed that the juniors would be presented with leather wind breakers and the seniors would receive official school crests. Cheer leaders, coaches and others who assisted during the rugby season will be guests at the banquet. All members of the athletic advisory commitete are invited and fathers are expected to attend with their sons who played on either team.

This is the first time in the 38-year history of St. Peter's that a rugby title has been won by a school team. In commenting on the sports program, Rt. Rev. Monsignor Butler said, both teams deserve credit, and he explained that presentation of an official school crest to a school athlete was a high honor.

The advisory committee will give financial assistance this winter to midget and bantam hockey teams in the Peterborough Minor Hockey League, and to minor basketball teams. A group of 12 senior boys who are too old for inter-school basketball will still be able to function as a team for exhibition games, through the generosity of Thos. Cavanagh, who volunteerd substantial financial aid to the coach, Fred Allore.

Banquet tickets may be obtained from Denis Fitzgerald at Zeller's, A. E. Feeley, 359 Aylmer St. or from R. S. Hull, 501 McDonnel St.

THEY KNOW THEIR RIGHTS — Just about the only ducks encountered by two hunters north of Rosemary, Alta., were these smart birds, taking unfair advantage of the protection of a dilapidated warning sign. Only one part of one pond, miles from anywhere, was protected, but that's where the ducks were congregated, giving duck-laughs to the frustrated nimrods.

Campbell & Best Up In Men's Bowling

Campbell & Best went best in the men's City Bowling League this week with pinnage of 3392. Frank McCormack led his team to victory with an 811 triple and a neat 352 single, this squad taking down top single game of 1187 for all honors of the night.

Clapper's after a slow start this season, finally rallied to whitewash Swartz for a 6-0 count. Fashion-Craft also applied the brush to Esquires. Two-game margins were taken by Dunn's, Sunoco's, Cavanagh's and Campbell & Best over Shockey's, McGillis, Moore's and Bond Clothiers respectively. A. Caccavella rolled 793 (342) and Tony Mattucci hit 771 (332) for other neat scores.

Here And There In Sports . . .

By The Canadian Press

Rogers Hornsby is the new manager of Seattle Rainiers of the Pacific Coast League.

Hornsby will replace Paul Richards, who is taking over the reins of Chicago White Sox of the American League.

Frank Shaughnessy, president of the International Baseball League, blames college football as being partly responsible for a shortage of young baseball talent.

It's a novel approach. For years, the colleges have been charging pro baseball with luring away youngsters from the schools of higher learning with fat bonuses.

It's my firm conviction that the colleges are robbing us of the cream of our talent. While we are sitting around with our hands tied due to the high school rule which prevents us from negotiating with kids until they have been graduated, the colleges are going around selling them a bill of goods, promising them scholarships and a college education.

"Now they'll tell you that the ones the colleges want are football players. That's true enough, but among those thousands of football players are a lot of good ball players."

A right-winger suffered a fractured collarbone and a goalie got a misconduct penalty Thursday night as Sydney Millionaires defeated North Sydney Victorias 6-2 in a Cape Breton Senior Hockey League game.

Charlie Fox of North Sydney broke his collarbone when he collided with Bob Bowness of Millionaires. Nick Pidsodny, Millionaire goalie, was given the misconduct sentence for taking a swipe at defenceman Alex Barilko and arguing with officials. His penalty was served by a team-mate.

Nine Cleveland players were fined $25 for a free-for-all brawl in an American Hockey League game with Cincinnati Mohawks Oct. 28.

The fines were levied by Maurice Podoloff, league president. Cincinnati players were also fined.

"We do not want brawls and gang fights in hockey and fines and other punishment will be imposed until players learn that potential Dempseys had better transfer their activities to the ring," Podoloff told Baron general manager Jim Hendy.

Hendy protested that Mohawk players were first to leave the bench and join in the battle. He also said only four Cleveland players left the bench without authority. They were Sam Lavitt, Glen Sonmor, Walter Hergesheimer and Fred Thurier. The five others fined—Hy Buller, Tom Williams, Murdo McKay, Ray Ceresino, and Steve Wochy—were merely entering the game as substitutes, Hendy contended.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

If Bev Goulding's senior PCVS gridders oust Belleville tomorrow they go against the Orillia-St. Catharines winner in COSSA finals next week-end. If Alex Londry's junior PCI-ers rub out the Quinte crew, they hit into COSSA finals 'gainst the survivor of Barrie vs. Welland or Burlington. Both tilts here tomorrow are at the Oval, and the local footballers should emerge victorious. According to the St. Kitts scribe, Principal Gordon Price of the Tricolor promised on the day of the final there he would parade up St. Paul St. personally beating the big drum of the cadet corps (a) to show that a CI head could forget academics for one day and (b) to exhort the populace to greet his school with a 4,000-crowd turnout.

Girls' cage games in the YW tonight will commence at eight, instead of 8.15, with Black's playing Neill's in the opener and Normals taking on the new Grads' entry in the second part of the twin bill. First part of the schedule—that is, the remainder of it—will be run in a day or two. The girls lay off for a spell over Christmas and New Year's, and then hit into the second piece of the schedule as the pace warms up with playoffs looming. The hoopsters, male and female, of YW, YM, PCVS and the OABA-ers, will all be seeing action soon now.

Queen's U. A-Comin'

Queen's University pucksters prance into Peterborough this eve to tackle the league-leading Petes at 8.30 in Civic Arena. An OHA senior "B" fixture and one that should draw a hefty Friday night hockey crowd. Drake Jopling has been whittling his local squad, shifting lines, etc., as well as drilling them hard, and the crew got off to a flying start this season with four victories in as many games. It looks at the moment as if Petes and Eagles are the strong squads in a good grouping—though any of the others might start rolling anytime. Also, either of the local teams could hit a slump. But right now the Petes are pretty hot, and Queen's will have to hustle to hold their own here this e'en.

Manager Eddie Shore of the Springfield Indians, aided by recreation director Red Mitchell, will run a three-day hockey school next week in the Lindsay arena. While Wednesday is regarded as visitors' day, Lakefield and Peterborough boys may attend any of the sessions Monday, Tuesday or Wednesday, along with the Lindsay lads. A nominal charge of a dime a session to everyone is charged to defray expenses, and that's certainly reasonable if any new angles at all are learned. The former famous Boston Bruin defenceman is interested in Lindsay and area for future pro material—hence this school.

Puck School Schedule

Now, here's the three-day drill schedule: Monday from one to three p.m., squirts of eight to 10 years; three to five, the 10-12 peewees; 7.30 to 10.00 p.m., juves, juniors, intermediates. Tuesday, it's bantams 12-14 years from one to three, then the 14-16 midgets for two hours, and at 7.30 p.m. a school for managers, coaches and officials at the recreation centre. Wednesday is wide open for youngsters of the district, nine a.m. till noon taking in those eight to 14 years, and from one to 4.30 p.m. it's for those 14 and over. That evening sees the opening junior "B" joust of the schedule betwixt Port Hope and Lindsay. There 'tis, boys.

This letter comes from Secretary A. L. Featherstone of the UEW soccer club: "Dear Sir—The Peterborough UEW Soccer Club have closed the season for 1950 and the following will be of interest to soccer fans—games played 22, won 15, drawn 2, lost 5, goals for 84, against 50. The club finished runners-up in the Eastern Ontario League and were the only team to defeat Kingston United (who won the Eastern League and the Ontario intermediate cup, after disposing of our club in semi-finals. Thirteen games were played in Peterborough and eight teams from various cities visited us, displaying to fans a better class of football than has been presented in many seasons. The club feels that in our first effort we have succeeded in bringing a higher brand of soccer into the city, and proved that Peterborough can hold its own with most of our neighboring cities, as only three teams were able to defeat us. We wish to thank the Examiner and the public for their generous support."

PCVS Gridders Set To Go For The COSSA

Only an atomic bomb could keep the PCVS seniors and juniors out of the COSSA finals next week. Belleville Collegiate Redmen will have to scrape up a quick bomb if they expect to reach the finals a week Saturday.

Bev Goulding's senior Garnet and Greys pulverized the Redmen last Saturday on the snowy Albert College field for a 31-point lead in the two-game points-to-count series. This Saturday at the Oval, Red Townsend's Redmen will have to drive the local Collegians into the Otonabee if they hope to survive.

Last week the Redmen offered little opposition for the 1949 COSSA finalists. Several times they did manage to break through only to fumble the ball back into PCVS hands.

Meanwhile the Garnet and Greys knew what they were doing. Their backfield melted the snow on hot plunges while Paul Frise neatly snapped the soggy ball back to Al Northcott who had a good day punting in spite of the weather.

Juniors Hot, Too

Alex Londry's junior Garnet and Greys plan to show their older schoolmates the winning way again this week in the first game of the Saturday double-header at the Oval. Last week they scraped the snow-covered gridiron with the Belleville team 17-0. Their series is also a two-game points-to-count affair.

This lead will have no effect on Saturday's game for the PCI'ers will be in there just as if it was a sudden-deather. The 1949 COSSA champions are out for their third straight COSSA title and Belleville is the second-last hurdle.

Wins here Saturday afternoon will place both teams in the COSSA finals on Saturday, November 18. The PCVS seniors will meet then the winner of the St. Catharines - Orillia game in Orillia this Saturday at the winners' field. The PCVS juniors will meet the victor of Barrie-Welland-Burlington meetings at the Oval a week Saturday.

Curling News

By HERB MARTIN

Well, the boys and girls have really commenced curling — the boys Wednesday and Thursday nights and the ladies Thursday afternoon. A lot of old-timers and many new ones were out. It looks like a bang-up season.

The schedule commences Monday evening and here is the draw:

7:00 p.m.—

F. Paterson v. O. M. Steer.
R. Hutchinson v. T. Ryan.
C. M. Lawrence v. G. Clark.
R. Bacon v. G. Sorenson.
H. Green v. J. Adams.
M. Wells v. D. Bell.
R. Payne v. I. Moore.

9:00 p.m.—

A. Lister v. R. Dawson.
B. Dench v. A. Ingram.
W. Archibald v. C. Curtis.
C. Shaughnessy v. R. Bastable.
B. Harrison v. J. Moebus.
B. Grant v. Dr. McCartney.
M. Knox v. J. Fanning.

Loblaw's Roll High In Mercantile Loop

Loblaw's led the Mercantile Bowling League on Nov. 7 at Duffus with high pinnage of 2,904 as Utilities threw top single team game of 1,089. Winnie McCarrell was best for ladies with single of 311 and triple of 755, as Frank Worsencroft bested the men with his 336 roll and a three of 756.

Other good crosses for the lasses were Winnie Hunter 623 and Verna Hopkins 610 after a neat 689 by Marg Behan. Harold Mesley of the men's trundlers hit 673, Don Penrose 667, Laverne Perritt 645 and George Gimblett 631. Braund's No. 2, Bond's, City Hall and Austin's respectively had 3-1 wins over A & P, Lift Lock, Prudential and Braund's No. 1, while Loblaw's split even with Utilities.

500 Youngsters Expected At Hockey Clinic

LINDSAY, Nov. 10. — More than 500 central Ontario youngsters are expected to attend the first hockey school of its kind in the province at Lindsay Arena next week.

Sponsored by the Lindsay Minor Hockey League, the event, which is expected to become an annual affair, will be directed by Recreation Director William Mitchell, former Chicago Black Hawk. Manager of the Springfield Indians and former NHL great, Eddie Shore will be in charge of all ice sessions. Shore will demonstrate and teach the players from eight years up, how to skate, shoot, pass and check.

Players from counties of Victoria, Haliburton, Peterborough, Ontario, Durham and Northumberland have been invited to the three-day school, which opens Monday afternoon with the Squirts, age 8 to 10 and the Peewees, 10 to 12. Juveniles, juniors and intermediate players are invited to the three and a half hour period Monday evening.

Split Sessions

Tuesday afternoon will see the bantams, 12-14, and midgets, 14-16, splitting the four-hour sessions. Managers, coaches and officials are invited to the evening session in the recreation centre when Shore will illustrate and give chalk talks and show films on the fundamentals of hockey and skating.

Wednesday will be visitors' day with the out-of-town boys taking over the arena from the early morning to late afternoon. Boys 8 to 14 will be instructed in the forenoon and youths, 14 and over, in the afternoon. The school will wind up Wednesday evening when the Shore-sponsored Lindsay Kin junior "B" squad, coached by Red Mitchell, meets Port Hope Panthers in the league opener.

Rematch Yukon And The Mask

Yukon Eric's demand for a return match with the Masked Marvel has been granted and the pair will feature next Tuesday's wrestling show at the Brock Arena.

The Alaskan figured he made a bad move this week when he lost his temper and tangled with the Mask and his Manager outside the ropes and was counted out, along with the Marvel. He also contends he was "gypped" when the Mask's manager entered the ring and slugged him just when he had the hooded one at his mercy.

The Mask lost little time in signing, figuring if he can decision huge Eric he will be in line for nothing but main bout spots and a crack at Whipper Watson and other top flight grapplers.

If Eric can gain a victory it will be the end of the hooded one's anonymity and aspirations.

A stellar supporting card is being lined up.

Playoffs Begin In Weekend Football Games

By The Canadian Press

Senior football this weekend wil make yards in cutting down preliminaries leading to the climactic Grey Cup final.

In the west, a champion may be declared after Saturday's game at Winnipeg; in the east, the Ontario Union title it at stake and the first game of the Big Four playoffs is scheduled.

Coach Annis Stukus wound up training at Edmonton Thursday packed his Eskimos aboard a train and hoped the Winnipeg weather man was off in his prediction of freezing temperatures and 25-mile-an-hour winds for the game.

Eskimos, by virtue of a 17-16 victory over the Blue Bombers last Saturday, can win the best-of-three Western football title with another triumph.

Coach Pessimistic

Bombers' coach Art Larson was a little pessimistic last night. He worked the Bombers only briefly because of cold weather and icy winds. Tackles Buddy Tinsley and Glen Johnson both aggravated previous injuries, and outside Ed Henke has sinus. All three are expected to play Saturday, however.

If Bombers, who finished the regular schedule atop the league, win Saturday, the deciding game will be played Monday afternoon in Winipeg.

Elimination also faces Sarnia Imperials. They must overcome a six-point deficit or the ORFU title goes to Toronto Balmy Beach. The Beaches won 17-11 last Sunday.

Get In First Lick

The other half of the Eastern final gets in its first licks at Hamilton Saturday, where Toronto Argonauts meet the Tiger-Cats in the first game of a two-game total-point series for the Big Four championship.

Victors in the Big Four and ORFU playoffs then meet for the Eastern Canada crown, the winner meeting either Winnipeg or Edmonton.

Intercollegiate football in Eastern Canada winds up its regular schedule Saturday with the league-leading McGill Redmen travelling to London for a contest with the University of Western Ontario Mustangs; Queen's University Golden Gaels take on Varsity in Toronto.

Babando Aids Black Hawks To Edge Out Canadiens 2-1

By The Canadian Press.

Pete Babando might not be a prolific goal-getter, but his stock is rising as a much-travelled hockey player who delivers in the pinches.

The 25-year-old left-winger, who in three National Hockey League seasons has played for as many teams, boosted Chicago Black Hawks into third place Thursday night with the pay-off goal in the Hawks' 2-1 victory over Montreal Canadiens.

Babando, who was born in Braeburn, Pa., but grew up and learned his hockey at South Porcupine, Ont., scored the goal that won the Stanley Cup for Detroit against New York Rangers in the deciding game of last season's finals.

He donned Chicago livery this season following Detroit's mass summer trade. He had broken into the NHL with Boston Bruins in the 1947-48 season.

Play Cautiously

Both Canadiens, who skidded into fourth place, and the Hawks played cautiously for two scoreless periods before 9,198 Chicago fans. Little Normie Dussault shot the Habitants ahead after 31 seconds of the third period. They kept the lead until veteran Doug Bentley got the equalizer midway through the period on a pass from defenceman Bill Gadsby.

Babando's tally came with less than two minutes to go.

The victory lifted Chicago, who have 12 points, to within one point of second-place Detroit. Canadiens have 10 points.

No other games were scheduled Thursday night.

In New York Thursday, coach Neil Colville hinted strongly that there'll be changes made in the line-up of his lethargic Rangers, now buried in fifth place with only one victory and five ties in 12 starts. They have seven points—one more than the equally-luckless Bruins.

Meanwhile Ranger manager Frank Boucher, whose annual predictions are respected all around the circuit, said the leading Toronto Maple Leafs are easily the league's best club.

In a pre-season forecast, he picked Chicago and the Rangers to finish one-two, with the Leafs third. Now, Boucher says, if he could change his predictions, he'd call Toronto to finish first, Detroit next and Chicago third.

Sugar Jim Henry Gives Caps Shot In Arm

By The Canadian Press

Indianapolis Capitals seem to like Sugar Jim Henry.

For a while this season the Caps couldn't do anything right—and went down to nine American Hockey League defeats in 11 starts. Then they brought up the former National League star from Omaha Knights of the United States League. In his first appearance, the Caps beat Cincinnati Mohawks 5-3.

The Caps stopped Buffalo Bisons 3-2 Thursday night. In the only other game played, St. Louis Flyers managed a 5-4 victory over New Haven Eagles.

Indianapolis, down in the cellar of the AHL's Western Division, had no trouble in defeating the powerful Cincinnati team Wednesday and Thursday night beat the Eastern-Division leaders.

Johnny Wilson, Gerry Reid and Enio Sclisizzi scored the Indianapolis goals. Ab Demarco—once a teammate of Henry's on New York Rangers—fired the two Buffalo goals. He is leading point-getter in the league.

Pete Babando, Chicago, whose third-period goal gave the Black Hawks a 2-1 victory over Montreal Canadiens and moved the Hawks into third place in the standings, one point ahead of Montreal.

ARMY DEFEAT OHIO STATE

Army nosed out Ohio State to recapture the No. 1 spot in the Associated Press weekly college football poll.

Southern Methodist, leading the last two weeks, tumbled to seventh place with only two votes among 314 cast.

Hockey's Big Seven

By The Canadian Press.

Maurice Richard of Montreal had a chance for a tie or to take over leadership of the National Hockey League's individual scoring race Thursday night, but the Rocket went pointless as Chicago shaded Canadiens 2-1.

Consequently, Max Bentley of Toronto Maple Leafs remains atop the league with 15 points — four goals and 11 assists. Richard is in a second-place tie with Ted Kennedy of Toronto with 13 points.

New Method To Control Pain

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10—(AP)—A new method to control pain after operations by administering novocaine through small plastic tubes was announced today by the George Washington University hospital.

Surgeons reported that the new method, cutting down on the use of morphine, permits patients to get up earlier after operations without discomfort. It was reported particularly valuable in care of older persons.

Use of the method with 18 patients is described in the November issue of Surgery, Gynaecology and Obstertics, official journal of the American College of Surgeons.

Small plastic tubes are anchored in muscle near the sensory nerves and brough out through the wound. Procaine solutions (novocaine) is injected through the tubes with a syringe every two or three hours.

The physicians reported that severe paint is relieved within 10 minutes and that there are no disagreeable effects.

2,500 For 3 Games

By The Canadian Press.

Sports editor Dick Carroll of the Montreal Gazette said in his column today that there is a report that Frank Filchock is being paid $2,500 for playing three games in the professional National Football League.

Filchock, star quarterback and captain of Montreal Alouettes of the Big Four, was signed Wednesday to play the rest of the season with Baltimore Colts of the N. F. L.

REGAINS SON — Mrs. Dorothy Leonard of Inglewood, Calif., is shown in Truro, NS, with her son Donald, 12, whom she said was abducted eight years ago by her mother-in-law, Mrs. Frances Leonard, 70. Mrs. Leonard, shown with her lawyer, V. O. Dewitt of Sioux City, Ia., searched several states and eastern Canada before finding the boy in Truro. The boy's grandmother was sentenced to two days in jail for unlawfully detaining a child under 14.

Quebec Hunter Killed At Camp

BUCKINGHAM, Que., Nov. 10—(CP). — C. Reid Hutchison, general manager of the Hugh Carson Co. Ltd., Ottawa, was fatally injured in a hunting accident Thursday at Fork Lake, 30 miles north of this small town, 25 miles north-east of Ottawa.

Mr. Hutchison was one of a group of seven Ottawa and Montreal men who had gone with two guides to the Jovial Fish and Game Club to hunt deer.

Mr. Hutchison and H. H. McElroy, general manager of the Central Canada Exhibition Association, decided to stay near the camp while the others went farther into the bush. About noon Mr. McElroy heard five shots in the vicinity of the camp and decided to investigate, thinking perhaps his companion had shot a deer.

Mr. McElroy found Mr. Hutchison slumped over his rifle near a tree stump with a bullet hole in his head. He was still clutching his .303 rifle in his hands.

Dr. Jean Laurin, district coroner, said an inquest will be held later today.

Turns Down Offer

Tommy Henrich, veteran New York Yankee infielder-outfielder, turned down the offer to manage a Yankee farm club for one more whirl in the big leagues.

The Yankees said "old reliable" made the decision after he returned from a visit to Johns Hopkins Hospital in Baltimore Wednesday.

The 34-year-old Henrich had his bad left knee examined and X-rayed by Dr. George Bennett. The Yankees said Dr. Bennett told Henrich that an operation might not restore the knee to full usefulness and Tommy decided not to take a chance.

Build 2 Windmills

LONDON, Nov. 10 (Reuters)—Two windmills will be built in Britain—one in the Orkney Islands and one in Wales—to generate electricity. The British Electrical Research Association made this announcement last night as experts from Britain, 10 European countries and the Commonwealth were completing a conference here on windmill power for Europe. The two experimental windmills to be built would be 80 feet high, with mills generating 100 kilowatts.

To Build Factory

WILTON, England, Nov. 10 (Reuters)—A British firm Thursday night announced plans for a £10,000,000 factory which will turn out a synthetic fabric from anti-freeze mixture. The fabric is said to be twice as strong as cotton. It is also mothproof, shrinkproof and weather-resistant. It has been developed after 10 years of research by two British chemists, John Whinfield and I. J. Dickson, who work for Imperial Chemical Industreis.

Strong Army Needed To Halt Aggression

MARMORA, Nov. 10 (ENS)—The annual Remembrance Day dinner of Marmora Branch No. 237 Canadan Legion held in the Royal Hotel on Thursday evening was well attended by ex-service men, ladies of the auxiliary and guests. President Clayton Bedore acted as toastmaster. Following the toast to the King and a sing song Rural Dean J. M. Brownlie, chaplain of the Branch, proposed the toast to the Canadian Legion. Major Percy Gray introduced the guest speaker of the evening, Lieut. Angus Duffy of Belleville, former Sgt.-Major of the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment.. He said that to keep faith with our fallen comrades we must maintain an army in Canada sufficiently strong to check aggression.

Aggressive Nation

In Korea, he pointed out, an aggressive nation had been given the idea that they could take by force that which was not theirs. The sending of Canadian troops there established the fact that men will fight to day in Korea against aggression as stoutly as before and we should be grateful to these men. With the assistance of the Almighty Canadians not drop the torch passed along to us through the sacrifices made by our pioneers. We have had good governments. It is not sufficient to have good architecture in our parliament buildings and such like if we have not men to are proud of to represent us in our government.

Support Scouts.

Advocating support of the Boy Scout movement of which he is a district commander, he maintained that in Marmora as in other places something should be done towards equipping and outfitting young people with that which was best for them and implanting in their minds the desire to serve their country in its best interests.

Impressively Lieut. Percy Gray proposed the toast "Fallen Comrades" followed with Last post, two minute silence and reveille. Buglers George Brooks and William Deering were in attendance. Zone Commander Wilbert Mumby of Trenton spoke, after which the toast to "The Ladies" was submitted by Comrade W. J. Cottrell.

A vote of thanks was extended President Bedore who in return acknowledged assistance given him in banquet preparations by various comrades. The guest speaker also received a vote of thanks for his stirring address. Mrs. Duffy who accompanied her husband was presented with a corsage of white flowers.

Bags Mighty Elk

NORTH BAY —(CP)— A big elk killed near here by Major J. E. Hahn of Toronto is believed to be one of three mightly bulls which battled for kingship of an elk herd. The animal weighed more than 1,000 pounds, with a 43-inch stretch between the tips of its 12-point antlers.

New York Likes 3-Act Play Written By Canadian Author

By FRED KERNER

NEW YORK (CP)—Ted Farah, Canadian - born newspaperman and playwright, has found that time and patience are two of the most important contributing factors to success.

After five attempts at writing a play, Broadway—and Hollywood—have finally focussed their attention on the writer's work.

"I never expected success to jump in my window," Farah said in an interview. "As a matter of fact, I've still to reach it.

"I'm the sort of writer who just isn't a genius-born. I'm more of the slowly-developing type, and I believe I'm only now attaining the maturity and technical skills necessary to turn out sound creative work."

With this critical analysis of himself, Farah, one-time reporter on Toronto newspapers, has kept at playwriting for the last four or five years until he produced "Angel With Red Hair." This three-act comedy currently is running successfully, staged by one of New York's most prominent off-Broadway groups, the Blackfriars' Guild.

Good Quarterback

Born in New Liskeard, Ont., Ted found football his first love. While a student at Oakwood Collegiate Institute, Toronto, he quarter-backed two school teams to city championships in the late '20s. But the urge to write was stronger and he became a rookie reporter on the Toronto Telegram.

Upon serving his apprenticeship, he worked for other Toronto daily papers, joined The Canadian Press and became its theatre columnist in New York. War intervened and Farah returned to Canada to join the RCAF, serving as a liaison officer in Africa, Italy and Britain.

Wrote Short Stories

Now an editor with the Associated Press in New York, he tackled creative writing between intervening diplomats and chasing fire trucks. His first successes were short stories published in various Canadian and American periodicals.

"Angel With Red Hair," though not his first effort, is the first well-rounded result—with Hollywood movie studio script departments taking spare copies of the play for possible picture material.

In a week which also saw the revival of a George Bernard Shaw play and a new John Steinbeck production, it was the Blackfriars' presentation of Farah's play that received the only favorable review from the New York critics.

Robert Coleman, veteran reviewer of the Daily Mirror, said the Canadian opus was a "pleasant little comedy." And the hard-boiled theatree weekly, Variety, called it "satisfactory." Billboard said it was "interesting," adding that the play "proves that he does know what playwriting is about."

The Brooklyn Eagle, seldom wandering to off-Broadway productions, found Farah's comedy "amiable," adding that it has a "warm, idealistic spirit" that compensates for its few technical shortcomings.

HAS PLAY PRODUCED—Ted Farah, Canadian - born newspaperman and playwright, is the author of a three-act comedy, "Angel with Red Hair," now being staged by one of New York's most prominent off-Broadway groups, The Blackfriars' Guild. Born in New Liskeard, Ont., Farah worked on Toronto papers and with The Canadian Press before the Second World War. After serving in the RCAF, he joined The Associated Press and is now in their New York Bureau.

U.S. Balances Investments In World Trade

By FORBES RHUDE,
Canadian Press Business Editor.

The United States now is buying about as much from the rest of the world as she is selling to it—a reversal of a long-time position—and this may give a fillip to investment of American money abroad.

Her balanced trading position, an Associated Press review notes, means an accumulation of dollars and gold in the hands of traders abroad and a strengthening of over-all ability to permit payments of profits in dollars to American firms doing business in foreign countries.

"It also," the AP adds, "strengthens the position of direct investment by making more dollars available for repaying principal and interest on the loans.

"The United States can balance a surplus of merchandise indefinitely with a steady export of capital for investment abroad. The dollars spent on European goods will come back in the form of interest in payments on loans. England balanced her trade that way for generations."

The United States now has something like $12,000,000,000 invested abroad and is putting new money in at the rate of about $1,000,000,000 a year, with much of it coming to Canada for investment in oil and other industry.

NEARLY THERE!—Members of the advance party of the Canadian Special Force line the rail of the USNS James O'Hara in this Canadian Army photo as they arrive at Yokohama, Japan. The advance party, consisting of about 350 cooks, drivers, etc., were on their way to Pusan, Korea, to prepare the way for the rest of the force slated for the Korea area.

EYE TOPICS

TALBOT and DAGUERRE Inventors of Photography

Photography was almost simultaneously invented in England and France. Thanks to optical science there was then in existence a device known as the camera obscura, a box with a lens at one end and a ground glass at the other. Sometimes the "box" was made as big as a room; the lens, being mounted in an aperture in one of the walls and then pointed at some scene outside, would project an image of that scene onto the opposite wall. You went into the room in order to view the picture. The problem that faced the investigators of the mid-nineteenth century was how to make the picture permanent.

Daguerre of France solved the problem by using a silver-coated piece of metal—what is now called a tintype — and many examples of his work, known as daguerreotypes, remain in this country and abroad. The disadvantage of Daguerre's method lay in the fact that the image was reversed, and required 30 minutes for a sitting.

Meanwhile Talbot in England had been perfecting a new method based on the use of sensitized paper. Talbot discovered that one of the salts of silver could be incorporated into a solution of collodion, then spread on paper—with the result that pictures could be taken in less than five minutes. But these pictures faded—into blackness when exposed to light. Von Helmholtz overcame this by immersing the plate in sodium thiosulphite ("hypo") and this will remove all silver that has not been affected by light.

Addiction To Drugs Relatively Light

TORONTO —(CP)— Canada has between 3,000 and 4,000 known drug addicts, says K. C. Hossick, the man responsible for narcotic control. This compares with a population of nearly 14,000,000.

Mr. Hossick, chief of the Department of National Health and Welfare, writes in the Canadian Medical Association Journal that some 2,000 of these have come to the attention of authorities by being involved in drug violations.

The balance, while unconvicted of any offence, are definitely known to be addicts.

Mr. Hossick also writes that an "increasing number of cases of personal addiction" by doctors has been noted in the last three years. However it was "gratifying to report" that many doctors previously addicted now are leading normal lives because of efforts of the division to help the victims in breaking the habit.

Goes To Reformatory

LONDON, Ont., Nov. 10 (CP)— Glenn T. J. Charlton, 16, one of two youths arrested at gun-point in Stratford Sunday, was sentenced Thursday to 12 months definite and six months indeterminate in Ontario Reformatory He pleaded guilty to two car theft charges. His companion, a juvenile, will appear in court today.

6,000 Laid Off

DETROIT, Nov. 10 — (CP) — Materials shortages Thursday caused the layoff of 6,000 Packard Motor Car employees here, and are expected to bring a layoff of 14,000 Ford Motor Company workers. A strike by the United Automobile Workers' Union (CIO) against a company supplying Packard with rear-axle housings was given as the reason for the Packard layoff.

McNaughton Says Russia Fears Direct War Involvement Now

ST. ANNE DE BELLEVUE, Que., Nov.— 10 (CP). — Russia fears direct involvement in a general war now, Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton said Thursday night.

This has been one factor in the successful outcome of UN action in Korea, the former Canadian Defence Minister said at Macdonald College here.

Gen. McNaughton, Canadian chairman of the Canada-US Joint Defence Board, former wartime first army commander and former representative on the UN Security Council, was delivering the fifth annual war memorial address at the college.

He expressed hope that future Russian aggression would be stemmed, despite the unlikelihood of a repetition of the combination of circumstances that surrounded the Korean incident.

A major circumstance in that instance, he said, was that the Politburo profoundly miscalculated the speed with which the North Koreans could overrun South Korea.

"Also in this case it, is now evident, although by no means certain when the invasion was launched, that the Soviet at this time is fearful of becoming directly involved in a general war," he added.

Hope For Unity

Of the future, he said: "It is the aim of the United Action for Peace resolution (of the UN General Assembly) that collective action against aggression may be possible even at a time when the Soviet becomes more ready for war and despite the absence of such fortuitous circumstances which made the action possible in the case of Korea."

The resolution empowers the General Assembly to move against aggression if Security Council action should be blocked by obstacles such as a Russian veto.

Gen. McNaughton said the resolution stems from a realization that the democracies "must not delude themselves into imagining there has been any lessening of the sinister ambitions which intoxicate the Politburo and mesmerize the Soviets."

"On the contrary," he said, "the democratic nations must prepare while yet they may to check this madness, should it break forth in war."

If the plan is pursued in good faith, Gen. McNaughton added, it "promises to provide the means for effective collective action on a world-wide scale."

He added that the democracies had not yet "given up hope of an ultimate peaceful solution which it is possible may come when the Soviets fully realize the mounting determination which inspires the democracies and which shows itself in the vast preparations for defence now in hand."

These preparations were of "such potential power and long-continued endurance that it must be evident they cannot be matched by the Communist totalitarian states."

Seize Margarine

DETROIT, Nov. 10 — (CP) — Michigan Agriculture Department inspectors were ordered Thursday to seize all yellow oleomargarine being offered for sale in Michigan stores. Artificial precoloring of margarine was approved Tuesday in a referendum in the state elections. It went on sale in many stores Wednesday. Its sale will not be legal, however, until 10 days after the election results are officially certified.

Have Special Service

OTTAWA, Nov. 10—(CP)—A brief, impressive service was held in Ottawa Thursday to mark the funeral of King Gustaf of Sweden. The service, held in St. Andrew's Presbyterain Church in downtown Ottawa, was conducted by the Rev. Ian Burnett. Members of the Diplomatic Corps, cabinet representatives, government officials and senior officers of the three armed forces attended.

Jailed For Smuggling

DETROIT, Nov. 10 — (CP) — Alfred Piteau, 38, of Windsor, was fined $250 Thursday and Harry Tichinoff, 36, of Timmins, was sentenced to 18 months in prison for smuggling $3,000 worth of gold into the United States. They were arrested last July at the Detroit end of the Windsor-Detroit tunnel. Police said they found gold from mines in Timmins under the hood of a car.

LIBERAL CANDIDATE — Norman O. Hipel, 60, a former speaker of the Ontario Legislature, is one of eight candidates for leadership of the Ontario Liberal party. The election takes place at the association's convention in Toronto this week. A prominent Preston, Ont., industrialist, Mr. Hipel also held the posts of labor minister, minister of lands and forests and provincial secretary in the provincial Legislature.

Issue Warrant For Canadian Cleared As Spy

RENO, Nev., Nov. 10 (AP) — Mrs. Fred Alexander, the former Freda Linton who was cleared of spying charges arising from the 1946 Canadian espionage investigation, was questioned by United States immigration authorities here Thursday.

Immigration Officer Lawrence Beckwith said a warrant for Mrs. Alexander's arrest on charges of entering the United States illegally was issued Thursday afternoon at San Francisco. It will be served in the "near future," he said.

Beckwith requested the warrant after "taking a preliminary statement from her which established the basis for an arrest," he said.

Beckwith said she was being detained for questioning after Canadian newspapers sent inquiries here about her.

Records show she obtained a divorce here last August from William Alexander. She has been living here with her 12-month-old child off and on for several months.

Sought by Canadian authorities for several years in connection with the spy inquiry, she surrendered to the RCMP in Montreal last year. After an investigation, a charge against her of conspiracy to violate Canada's Official Secrets Act was dropped for lack of evidence and she was freed.

Ancient Mementoes Buried On Prairie

HAGUE, Sask. (CP). — The wind-swept prairie is the hunting ground of J. P. Newlove, 45-year-old railway pump man whose hobby is collecting relics of a former race.

He collects Indian weapons and tools, found mostly on high ground where wind and water erosion has worn away the protective covering of top soil.

He has been picking flints, spearheads, stone hoes, hammers and weapons ever since he joined the Canadian National Railways staff at Craik, Sask., 26 years ago.

Now he has hundreds of arrowheads in an assortment of sizes, designs, colors and shapes.

"Farmers' rock piles are also good hunting grounds," Mr. Newlove says. "But one of the best places I know is a flowing well about a mile east of here. It must have been a great Indian encampment at one time. The ground is covered with flaked arrowheads."

Hague is 30 miles north of Saskatoon on the railway line to Rosthern.

Raw-Throated Canary Fire-place To Blame

LONDON —(CP)— A tenant in a new housing development says the smoke is so bad he has to give his canary cough mixture every night.

The complaint was among those submitted by 60 tenants of an apartment block on London's Edgeware Road. They said they are smoked out nightly because of faulty fire-places.

H. C. Hampton Marylebone district housing director promised experiments would be undertaken to get rid of the trouble.

Decision Delayed In Theft Charge

Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC, reserved judgment in court today in the trial of Harry Woodbeck, 282 Romaine St., charged with stealing electric equipment from the Canadian General Electric Co. where he was an employee in the small motors department.

Walter P. Fetterly, an investigator hired by the CGE, testified that Oct. 23 he had Woodbeck in his office. After some discussion, Woodbeck signed a statement which Fetterly dictated.

The statement, which was admitted as evidence, said that Woodbeck admitted taking a quarter horsepower motor and some other miscellaneous electric motor equipment.

Detective-Sergeant John Stevenson of the city police force testified that he was called to the CGE the same afternoon. He went with Woodbeck to his home where the accused dismantled an electric motor from his wife's washing machine and produced three motor brackets, a switch and a small quantity of copper wire which he had been using as an aerial.

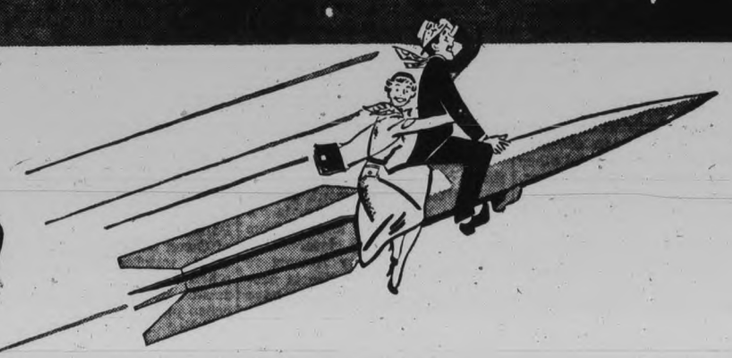
John Gilmour, superintendent of cost and estimating in the small motor division, estimated the value of the articles at $24.84.

He said Woodbeck had no authority, as far as he knew, to take any of the articles or scrap of any kind.

Speaking in his own defence, Woodbeck said the washing machine motor was one he had built from parts of his old motor, parts given to him by his son from another motor and two or three parts taken from the scrap barrel at work in the CGE.

The other articles he had produced for the police had been taken from the scrap barrel and were of no value except as scrap metal worth about 45 cents.

Representing Woodbeck, W. J. Arthur Fair, KC said he thought the investigation started by the CGE was not intended to seek out men who had been picking up one or two pieces from scrap barrels. He argued that the matter was of so little consequence it should be dismissed.



2 Men Electrocuted As Wires Touch

BROCKVILLE, Nov. 10 (CP)— Two men were electrocuted Thursday when steel guy-wires on a chimney they were dismantling touched a 250-volt Hydro line.

Dead are M. J. (Marty) Moirer, 24, and Floyd Easter, Jr., 18, both of Brockville. John Ryan, 24, of Mallorytown was knocked unconscious by the current but was revived.

The men were holding steel lines attached to a 30-foot metal chimney being torn down by a mobile [illegible]. During dismantling, the chimney broke, throwing the guy wires against the Hydro line.

Rocket Engine and Hydra-Matic Drive

A GENERAL MOTORS VALUE

OLDSMOBILE

"76"

First came Hydra-Matic—pioneered by Oldsmobile more than 10 years ago, and acknowledged as the greatest contribution to driving ease in the history of the motor car! Here at last was an engineering achievement that took the work out of driving and put pleasure in its place—a drive that outmoded the clutch pedal entirely, letting you drive without ever shifting a gear.

Then came the revolutionary "Rocket". Soon after Hydra-Matic, Oldsmobile engineers began work on an entirely new engine—one that would be better than any other motor car engine—a power plant especially designed to work with Hydra-Matic Drive, to produce a team that would revolutionize motoring.

And now the team is complete! Together, Hydra-Matic Drive and the "Rocket" engine give you brilliant performance you can't comprehend until you've experienced it! A sense of unbounded power . . . an ease of driving entirely new . . . combined with new economy—for the team makes the utmost of every gallon of gasoline. It's a team that puts Oldsmobile years ahead—and puts Oldsmobile owners years ahead. See your Oldsmobile dealer.

"88"

The "76", powered by an improved Big Six Engine, offers Hydra-Matic Drive as optional equipment at extra cost.

Oldsmobile "88", powered by the "Rocket" Engine features Whirlaway Hydra-Matic Drive as standard equipment.

German Papers And Magazines Glorifying Nazis As Heroes

By ROBERT PETTY

BONN, Nov. 10 —(Reuters)— Glancing at many illustrated weekly newspapers and magazines prominently displayed on West German news stands, one might almost think Hitler and his association were still running the country.

The bright magazine covers make a fine splash of color in the worries people who are trying to rub out Nazism and put something more democratic in its place.

The West German government was the first to draw attention to this sudden rash or hero worship. A government spokesman called a press conference to condemn the passion for photographs of swastika-adorned Nazi leaders, often printed on the front pages and followed up with flattering articles inside.

The bookshop just inside the entrance to the parliament buildings in Bonn displayed, aside from the Nazi-nostalgic weekies, 24 new books on the German general staff, the Tunisian campaign, Stalingrad, the German collapse, Marshal Erwin Rommel and other personalities of the Nazi regime.

Goering Favorite

Goering's is the favorite picture; few of the magazines seem able to resist the temptation to dig out old photographs showing him in the flamboyant uniforms of which he was so fond.

Hitler is less picturesque. One recent reproduction shows him looking more like a rustic in his best suit than the man who tormented Europe and the world for 10 years.

One popular weekly featuring Goering sold 450,000 copies. The publishers said that they could have doubled that figure if they had had the newsprint.

Referring to what he called the "false glorification" of dead or imprisoned Nazi leaders in magazines and books, the government spokesman said that the publishers made the government's task difficult by provoking criticism from abroad of "neo-Nazism." Particular harm was being done among the youth, he added. They were not old enough at the time to pass moral judgment on the Nazis and are now learning about them through rose-tinted pages.

"We can do nothing about it, as the press in Germany is, under the present constitution, free," he said.

Labor Party Goes Highbrow

LONDON, Nov. 10 (AP). — A trade union complained Thursday that Britain's Labor Party is going highbrow on the working people.

"Its brain" protested the journal of the National Union of Railwaymen, "is a stranger to its body."

As a result, the journal warned, there is a diminishing of fervor in the Labor movement. It said what is needed, quickly, is a system of training leaders from among the working class.

"The Labor Party is now so 'respectable' that it attracts people into it who would not have been seen dead there a decade or so ago," the journal explained.

"A political career is as good as any these days, especially when the highest jewels of political eminence can be grasped by comparatively young men. The workers have always been suspicious of intellectuals."

Prime Minister Clement Attlee himself is an Oxford graduate, but the Labor unions have never held it against him. Political observers judged that the railway union outburst was aimed at Hugh Gaitskell, the new chancellor of the exchequer.

Rob Jewelry Store

ORILLIA, Nov. 10 (CP). — Thieves escaped with more than $2,000 in jewelry Wednesday night after breaking into Madden's jewelry store here. Police said they entered through a skylight and shimmied down a five-foot rope.

Churchill Wanted Limited Merger

NEW YORK, Nov. 10 (AP).—Winston Churchill wanted to see at least a limited merger between the United States and the British Commonwealth after the Second World War.

In the latest instalment of his war memoirs which will be carried next week by The Montreal Standard, the British leader tells the story of a Washington luncheon talk that laid early foundations for the United Nations and postwar Anglo-American co-operation.

"I said I could see small hope for the world unless the United States and the British Commonwealth worked together in fraternal association," Churchill writes.

"I should like the citizens of each, without losing their present nationality, to be able to come and settle and trade with freedom and equal rights in the territories of the other.

"There might even be some common form of citizenship."

Four Watches On Leg Hold Stolen Car Driver

BRANTFORD, Nov. 10 (CP) — Police said Orval McCracken, 27, of Owen Sound was wearing four wrist watches around one leg when arrested Thursday in possession of a car with a stolen licence plate.

Police said their suspicions were aroused by McCracken's overanxiousness to pay a police towing charge for removing the car from a restricted area.

Investigation showed the car's licence plate was reported stolen in Barrie. Police said McCracken also answered the description of a man wanted for fraud at Walkerton and who had given two wrist watches to a service station attendant at Hespeler in payment for gasoline.

McCracken was booked on a nominal charge of having liquor in an unauthorized plate after an opened bottle was found in the car.

Austria Customer

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10 (AP) —Austria Thursday was authorized by the Economic Co-operation Administration to spend $10,000 in Canada for tractor parts.

ONE OF TWO 96-YEAR-OLDS who died in Millbrook this week was Mrs. Agnes Gibson, Above, who died Thursday. The other, not shown, was Mrs. Mary Anne Morden, who died Wednesday. Funeral for Mrs. Gibson will be held Saturday, and that of Mrs. Morden was held Thursday, with a further service today in Picton where she was buried.

Two Millbrook Women, 96 Die Wednesday, Thursday

MILLBROOK, Nov. 10 (ENS)—Two 96-year-old Millbrook residents—Mrs. Agnes Gibson and Mrs. Mary Morden—died this week within a day of each other. Mrs. Gibson died Thursday and Mrs. Morden died Wednesday.

In another three weeks, Mrs. Morden would have celebrated her 97th birthday on December 5. Mrs. Gibson marked her 96th birthday October 12.

Mrs. Gibson was born in 1854 on a Cavan township farm about one-and-a-half miles west of Carmel. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Gray, and lived in Cavan township until she was married to Robert Henry Gibson, who died in January, 1932.

25 Years in Cavan

Mr. and Mrs. Gibson lived on a farm in Georgina township, Ontario county, for 20 years, moved to Cavan where they lived 25 years, and 25 years ago moved to Millbrook.

They had seven children three of whom died before Mrs. Gibson. They were Mrs. Fred Challice, Frank and James. Surviving are Mrs. Nelson Ruddy, Winnipeg, Mrs. William Challice, Carmel, and John and Mina at home.

There are also surviving 12 grandchildren and 20 great-grandchildren.

Funeral service will be held Saturday at the G. T. MacPherson funeral home Millbrook, at 2 p.m. The Rev. Walter Patterson of Grace Presbyterian Church will officiate and burial will be in Millbrook Presbyterian Cemetery.

Husband Died in 1932

Mrs. Morden, whose husband also died 18 years ago, was born in Shannonville, Ontario the daughter of the late Alexander Reid and Jane Morrow. She married Richard Edgar Morden and they lived in Prince Edward county and later 20 years in Picton.

For the past 17 years she has lived in Millbrook and has been active in the Ladies' Aid, the WMS and Sunday School of St. Andrew's United Church, Millbrook.

She is survived by two children, Mrs. P. I. Bentley (Zella), and Everett L. (Doc), both of Millbrook. Two other children, W. Kenneth, of New York, and Mrs. Walter Dayton (Lena) predeceased her.

Funeral service was held Thursday at 8 p.m. in the G. T. MacPherson funeral home Millbrook. The Rev. T. G. Husser of St. Andrew's United Church officiated, and also conducted a further service today at 2.30 p.m. in Picton, at the G. M. Hicks funeral home. Burial was in Glenwood cemetery, Picton.

Pallbearers were W. T. Belch, Harold Tate, L. M. Fallis, J. H. McKnight, Wilfred Elson and A. R. Payne.

Clear Off Wreckage Of Collapsed Wall

COBOURG, Nov. 10 (ENS). — Workmen have cleared away the wreckage which occurred Monday when the north wall of Wilson's garage slid into an adjoining excavation for an addition to the garage. Most of the roof of the building collapsed when the wall went and this has been raised on supports for the necessary repairs. As there was danger that the excavation, which borders on Covet Street, might cause the roadway to become undermined, the street department closed off that thoroughfare until the danger is past.

Britain Revives Art Of Making Stained Glass Windows

Among the most inspiring works of man pictorial windows in stained glass have, for centuries ranked high. No guide book to countries which posses ancient churches, abbeys and castles fails to draw the traveler's attention to the glories in stained glass to be found in them, says a British writer.

For many hundreds of years Britain was rich in such treasures of art and craftsmanship. Much of it, however, was destroyed in the air raids of World War II. Yet modern craftsmen are replacing these shattered masterpieces with works of equal beauty and as high a degree of skill.

Old Firm Busy

Not only that, but the designers and craftsmen of a 270-year-old firm which I have just visited at Wealdstone, in the English county of Middlesex, not far from London, are also busy creating stained glass works of art for great new buildings in many parts of the world.

As early as the Sixth Century, glass was used for mural mosaics. In the early periods, designs of figures and ornaments were cut in pieces of colored glass and leaded together, the outlines and details being painted on and burnt in. In the 16th and 17th Centuries, however, the art, as a whole, degenerated. It often became mere picture painting on glass. In the middle of the 19th Century Harry Powell, of the centuries-old Whitefriars glassworks in the City of London, helped to revive the are within Britain in collaboration with some of the leading artists of the day.

The firm, known today as James Powell and Sons, Limited, now at Wealdstone in bigger premises has for more than 80 years since the revival been proving that the stained glass artists of medieval times have worthy successors in an age where machinery has largely replaced the skill of man's own hands.

Pride In Work

From 75-year-old Color Mixer Frank Blanchflower, who has been 60 years at his job, to the 16-year-old apprentices, there is very obvious pride in the beauty they are helping to create. Under the chief designer, 35-year-old Carl Edwards, the work of making stained glass windows begins in a high, raftered studio ringed about by tall drawing easels. From the first small-scale drawing in color, the window is drawn in its full size, criss-crossed all over with thick black lines for the lead-lines which will hold the glass mosaic in place. Tracing linen is laid over the drawing and the lead lines marked.

On this pattern the cutter cuts his glass, selecting his colors and glass textures with a highly developed artistic appreciation.

Such craftsmen as Arthur Howe, 31 years a cutter, handle their pieces of glass with the delight of a lapidary. "Just like jewels," says Mr. Howe; "there are hardly ever two pieces alike, either in color or texture. That is the secret of stained glass manufacture."

The varying texture of the glass, which gives it richness, comes from the way the glass is blown. It is not made in flat sheets, but blown into a square box frame or in a long uneven hollow roll. The box-like glass is cut out in panels, the roll sliced diagonally and when flattened or annealed it falls down into a flat sheet. But both methods produce glass with varying bubble effects which, when the colors are fixed into it in the great kilns takes on various degrees of density.

Memorial Window

Old as well as modern architecture is being enriched by windows Powell's craftsmen are creating. Just completed, and shortly to be exhibited to the public at the Victoria and Albert Museum, Kensington, London, is a memorial window to Britain's famous Eighth Army of World War II which is to be installed in Cairo Cathedral. Containing 12,000 pieces of glass and weighing approximately a quarter of a ton, the cost of the window is being met out of funds subscribed by men who served with the Eighth Army.

Side by side with this I saw another richly jeweled window for St. Thomas's Church, New York. More than 100 other New York and United States churches and cathedrals have windows made at Wealdstone. Others are to be seen in France, Italy, Spain, Portugal, New Zealand, Australia, India, Malaya, Bermuda and the Union of South Africa.

Perhaps the greatest achievement of the firm are the windows of the Anglican Cathedral at Liverpool in the north of England, one of the finest architectural projects of modern times. The tower windows are, in the opinion of many art critics, the greatest of their kind in the world, having a glass area of 1,800 square feet and soaring from 51 feet above floor level to a height of 166 feet at the summit.

Northumberland Farmers Considering Plan Of Medical Services — Four New Farm Forums In Peterborough — Junior Farmers' Bus Trip To Royal Winter Fair — Forums To Discuss Forests Monday, November 13.

Northumberland Federation of Agriculture is planning a rally at Warkworth, Friday, November 17, to inquire into the type of rural welfare agency represented by Kawartha Medical Services which was set up in Peterborough County 18 months ago.

Kawartha Medical Services was sponsored by the Peterborough Federation, and has accumulated a reserve fund of $5,000 after paying all claims. October payments "were not far off $1,000," Harold Lewis, fieldman, informed the Examiner. Its provisions for hospital and medical costs now extend to 1,000 persons.

Peterborough Federation investigated the Ontario medical services plan early in 1948 with a series of meetings, and decided to adopt it.

"Northumberland is interested, and has been asking about our progress," W. W. Dawson, president of Peterborough Federation, said yesterday, "and Mr. Lewis is arranging to attend their Warkworth meeting. Wellington Sutton is going from our Forum executive. It may be suggested that Northumberland might come in with Kawartha Medical Services for experience and as a means of building up a membership of their own."

New Forum Groups

Harold Lewis reports encouraging response from farm groups in the county to the new season's Forum program.

"We had 25 at an organization meeting at Westwood, where Mrs. Wilbert Graham was appointed secretary. The meeting at the Graham home got under way with promise of an active group in that section of Asphodel.

Another meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ken Petrie, south of No. 7 Highway, appointed Vince Heffernan secretary. There was similar enthusiasm shown there.

Clarence Hancock is secretary of the group at Lily Lake in Smith, and a meeting at the home of Robert Jackson, on the Crowley Line, Otonabee, named him as secretary.

That surge of action in the Peterborough district is further evidence of what can be accomplished, and Mr. Lewis will be glad to attend any other local meetings and help them organize.

"I am convinced we could have 25 Forum groups in this county, judging by the spirit that is being shown this season," he said.

✦ ✦ ✦

MEETING DEC. 2

Annual meeting of Peterborough Holstein Breeders is in the book for Saturday Dec. 2.

✦ ✦ ✦

BUS TRIP TO ROYAL

Tickets for horse show and included in the cost of the Junior Farmers' bus trip to the Royal Winter Fair Wednesday Nov. 15. The bus leaves the King St. terminal at 7.30 a.m.

✦ ✦ ✦

DINNER AT NEWCASTLE

Durham County Junior Farmers' Club are holding a dinner at Newcastle Community Hall, Wednesday Nov. 22 at 6 p.m. DST. Tickets may be obtained from Ray Challice, vice-president, Bethany, or any of the directors before Nov. 16.

✦ ✦ ✦

TALK ABOUT WOODLOTS

"Forests—Slash or Save?" is the subject before the Farm Radio Forum Monday night. It will probably extend from shelter belts to national timber resources, with emphasis on the importance of the farm woodlot.

✦ ✦ ✦

HURON MEDICAL SERVICES

Membership of Huron county Medical Services increased in its third year just ending from 2,796 to 3,146. Hospital costs amounted to $41,023.63 for 876 persons. The annual meeting this week recorded approval of an increase in membership fee to the provincial organization to provide extended service.

✦ ✦ ✦

JUNIOR FARMERS' MEETING

First of the winter series of meetings of Peterborough Junior Farmers will be held at the Normal School Tuesday, Nov. 21.

Cheques will be presented to the members of the minor clubs who carried through their projects to Achievement Day. Parents are asked to accompany their own children who took part in the calf and other club work this season. These clubs were sponsored by Junior Farmers, some of whom were club leaders.

✦ ✦ ✦

ROYAL WINTER FAIR

The agricultural season of 1950 projects its interests beyond the harvest and the late plowing into the ten days of the Royal Winter Fair. It is a big symposium of national shows, all down the list from horses through the breeds of cattle; flower show including 15,000 roses in a magnificent centre piece; sheep; swine; poultry; fruit; grain and seeds, including potatoes; vegetables; government exhibits; the Royal Theatre of film programs sponsored by the Dominion Department of Agriculture; and so on.

That is just a reminder to farmers who know the Royal from other years and are probably planning to go again next week.

✦ ✦ ✦

300 AT HOLSTEIN DINNER

Northumberland Holstein breeders wound up a successful season with an attendance of 300 at their recent dinner in Campbellford Masonic Hall. President John W. Rannie was chairman.

Roy Ormiston, fieldman, presented the premier breeder prize, a miniature model of a cow, to Craif Nelson, and a production certificate to Gordon Macklin, Cobourg for a cow from his herd with a record of more than 100,000 lbs. milk in seven years.

James T. Brown, Newcastle, director of the Canadian Holstein-Friesian Association, stressed the fact that the association had grown from 20 breeders in 1884 to the largest breed organization in Canada. He gratefully mentioned the progress since extension work was started in 1924, largely through the interest and foresight of the late Robert Holtby.

Earle Drope, manager of Harwood Creamery, cited some of the difficulties in marketing dairy products in competition with cheap substitutes. The ROP committee composed of Eric Merrill, Thomas Convey and Charles Honey reported the records in various divisions. In the 365 day test, a mature cow owned by Bertram Hoskin, Cobourg, gave well over 20,000 lbs. of milk and was reserve grand champion and judged the cow with the best udder at the District Black and White championships in Peterborough. The butter record of 740 lbs. in that division was held by Gordon Macklin, Cobourg. In three year olds, a Honey cow showed a test of 4.5.

Music was provided by the junior farmer group composed of Bruce Elmhirst, Bruce Barnum, Marion Wallace and Cozette Archer.

C. E. MOORE RESIGNS

Expressing his wish for retirement, to make way for some younger man, as he said, Charles E. Moore of Smith has been succeeded by Harold Millen of Emily on the board of Peterborough District Co-Operative Services.

Mr. Moore has been a director of Co-Op ten years, the first five as president. That was the period of transition from the old quarters on Simcoe St. to the larger premises at George and Dalhousie Sts. In that expansion and purchase Mr. Moore was one of the most active advocates. The ten years of directorship since then have been typical of the loyalty of Charlie Moore to the affairs and interests of his rural community, extending from his own township to the other parts of Peterborough county.

Mr. Moore has always manifested a broad and genuine sense of citizenship enhanced by diligence, kindliness, courtesy and other qualities that harmonize the organized efforts and enterprises of men like himself. He has been a member of the Peterborough Federation of Agriculture since its inception, and has been for years a director of the Peterborough Exhibition. He rates, too, with the veterans of the local Plowmen's Association, likewise of the Peterborough Holstein Breeders' Association, and the Whole Milk Producers' Association. There may be other farm groups which he has helped promote, and in his own neighborhood he has been a devoted member of Gilmour Memorial Baptist Church all his life.

Reference to his recent resignation from the Co-Op board does not suggest that Mr. Moore is making a general retreat. He was one of the working members of the Plowmen's Association at their county match last month. But, it does provide an opportunity of mentioning the characteristic of loyalty to rural interests that is appreciated by the members of the various associations which he has helped to promote. In that practical and important respect Mr. Moore has earned a high rank in the community of Peterborough county. That kind of rating can be attained only by personal sacrifice and qualities of mind and heart that are almost essential for enduring association with others.

$875 FOR ELMCROFT BULL CALF

George R. McLaughlin of Elmcroft Farms, Oshawa, drew $875. for the nine months old bull calf Elmcroft Rag Apple Abbott at the recent sale of Holstein cattle at Bridgeport, Ont. This top figure for males was paid by Dr. Jose Figueroa, representing the government of Mexico.

Sixty-three head overaged $465. for a total of $29,312. Seven bulls averaged $490; 16 bred heifers $476; 39 milking females $454 and one heifer calf $340. Highest price was $1,075. paid by Hardy Shore of Glanworth to M. C. Snider, Elmira for the five-year-olr cow, Sunny Nook Echo Governor. Peak price for a bred heifer was $625. paid by Fred A. W. Marsh, Wyoming, Ont., to G. E. D. Greene, Agincourt Ont.

BRANT'S SOIL PROJECT

Brant county soil conservation committee begins this week, with soil testing, a five-year program to demonstrate the value of good soil building practices.

Five organizations are banding together in this project. They are: Federation of Agriculture, Crop Improvement Association, Plowmen's Association, Junior Farmers' and the agricultural committee of the county council. They are selecting 15 demonstration plots that are to be soil tested this month. They will each comprise half an average field, and will be given the best practical care. The yields and the quality of products will be compared with the ordinary results from the other halves of the fields.

Results of the program as they appear over the five year period will be made available to the public for inspection and comment. Average size of the plots will be five acres. In their choice of locations the committee will consider such factors as the contour of the land, crop rotation the owner intends to follow, and past record of the field.

During the test term, the fields will be limed, fertilized, manured and worked as necessary to get the best possible results. Consultation with the 15 farmers who will do the work will be important in the program.

✦ ✦ ✦

DINNER AT BETHANY

Durham county's 500 bushel potato club is holding its annual dinner at Bethany, Friday Nov. 24. The speaker will be F. A. Lashley, associate director of agricultural societies, Ontario Department of Agriculture.

✦ ✦ ✦

SCHOOL AT STIRLING

The training school for junior farmer club officers for the counties of Lennox and Addington, Prince Edward, Northumberland and Hastings will be held at Stirling, Nov. 25.

✦ ✦ ✦

TRAINING SCHOOL AT LINDSAY

A district training school for officers of junior farmer clubs and affiliated organizations will be held at Lindsay Nov. 28 for the counties of Peterborough, Durham, Victoria, and Ontario.

Thirteen of these one-day officer training schools are scheduled for the southern part of the province. They open at 10.30 a.m. and close at 4.30 p.m., as announced by LeRoy Brown, agricultural representative for Victoria.

Dick Hilliard, junior farmer secretary, has explained that these meetings are for presidents, vice-presidents, secretaries and treasurers of all junior farmer clubs and affiliated groups. Program planning has been left largely to a committee composed of Jack Cockburn, Eleanor Saracuse, T. R. Hilliard, Miss Florence Eadie and Miss Helen McKercher.

✦ ✦ ✦

COST OF PRICE SUPPORT

Net cost to the federal government of its program of price support in farm products was $8,128,960.62 from the time the program was begun five years ago, up to March 31, 1950. This does not include all of 1950 operations which may add another $2,000,000 to the net cost. The price support act provides for a revolving fund of $200 millions for operations under this act.

The annual report of the Agricultural Prices Support Board just issued gives details of the net cost which are relayed from the Canadian Federation of Agriculture office in Ottawa, as follows:

Potatoes, PEI, N.B., Que., 1946, $170,748.48.

Potatoes, PEI, N.B., 1948, $1,646,839.34.

Apples, N.S., 1947, $3,119,274.22.

Apples, N.S., 1948, $1,443,231.39.

Apples, B.C., 1948, $44,650.93.

Apples to U.K., 1949, $1,499,329.28.

Dried white beans, Ont., $194,419.88.

Dry skimmed milk purchases, $10,467.10.

Total, $8,128,960.62.

COMES THE DAWN

A college boy went to help a farmer out one summer. The first night he had a big dinner and went to bed. At 4:30 the next morning, when it was still dark, the farmer got up, went and shook him by the shoulder and said: "Hey, Bud, hey. It's time to get up."

The college boy was sleepy. He yawned, "What's the matter?"

The farmer said, "come on, it's 4:30."

The colleg lad rolled over and said "well, old timer, it's time you got to bed. You got a lot of work to do tomorrow."

Order Autopsy

CHICAGO, Nov. 10 (CP). — Ralph Capone, Jr., nephew of Al Capone, prohibition era gang lord, was found dead Thursday in his hotel room. He had been workin gas a bartender. Death was believed due to natural causes but police ordered an immediate autopsy.

STUART A. BOWMAN of Peterborough is superintendent of the seed and grain department of the Royal Winter Fair which opens Tuesday Nov. 14 and continues until the 22. The classes are open to the world, but some of the exhibits will be shown in regional groupings on the basis of different climates. There will be a big entry of corn, cob and shelled, and soy beans are becoming of increasing importance at the Royal.

Beaver Oat Club Top Scores Norwood's Feature of 1950

G. A. Brethen has promised a review of the results of the East Peterborough Agricultural Society's competition this year in Beaver oats which wound up with the "Derby" at the Norwood Fair. One effect which he has gratefully noted is a keener interest in quality of seed wheat that has been sown this fall.

Sixty-six paid up members entered this competition which was in three branches: standing field crop; grain in the sheaf; and bushel lots of the crop exhibited at Norwood Fair.

Prizes totalling $275 ranged from $10 each to the members with the three highest scores down to $3 to each member who completed the project.

There were three special cash prizes—from Past President Col. F. E. Birdsall for the highest scoring field won by James Crowley, Hastings RR 3, with 99 points.

One prize from Gordon Parker, secretary of the Fair, for the best sheaf, won by Milford Parker, Norwood RR 2, with 96 points.

And the third special was given by S. H. Buck, chairman of the grain committee of the Fair for the best bushel of oats exhibited, won by W. G. Barrie, Norwood RR 2, with 90 points.

The Derby winner, with the highest aggregate score, was Max Scott, Norwood RR 2 with 373 opints out of a possible 400. In arriving at the gross score, the judges, because of higher relative importance allowed double values for all field crop scores over those of sheaf and bushel lot.

Mr. Scott received an engraved gold watch that was presented by Mr. Brethen, president of the society.

Possible scores were 200 points for the crop in the field, and 100 points each for sheaf and bushel lots. The members with the thirty highest gross scores are listed below. Mr. Brethen stresses the factor of top quality seed supplied to the members of this club. The 1,100 bushels distributed were government graded registered No. 1, germination 99 per cent, purity 100 per cent, and 'panogen' treated for smut.

The following 30 members were all of the Asphodel area except James Hope and Stewart Nelson of Otonabee, C. Parker of Alnwick and H. Hawkey of Indian River.

Beef Cattle Up 50 Cents During Week

TORONTO, Nov. 10 — (CP).— Bood beef cattle sold from 25-50 cents higher with lower grades about steady on the Ontario Stockyard this week, the Dominion Marketing Service reported today.

Stockers moved slowly at easier prices. Calves, sheep and lambs were steady and hogs gained 50 cents a hundredweight.

A moderate fresh run of 5,375 cattle was added to some 3,200 carried from last week, with 4,100 stockers included in the supply.

Slaughter cattle of medium to choice quality were picked out at higher prices. Choice weighty steers sold at $28-$28.25, with common to medium steers $21-$26.50. Common to medium light steers and heifers were $18-$25.50 with good heifers $26-$26.50. Medium to good cows brought $18.50-$20.50, and canenrs and cutters sold for $14-$16.50. Good bulls were $22.50-$23.50 for export with common light bulls downward to $18.

Stockers moved slowly with a considerable number unsold. Medium to good stockers were mostly $24-$27 with some feeders at $28.25. Common stockers sold downward to $19.

Calves totalled 1,891 head. Choice vealers were $31-$33 with a good export demand. Comomn to medium heavy calves sold at $21-$29, with grassers for slaughter $18-$20.

Hog receipts totalled 2,997 head. Prices were up 50 cents at $29.50 for Grade A, with sows $23-$23.50 dressed.

Sheep and lambs totalled 3,681 head. Lambs were steady with good ewes and wethers mostly $27.50 and a few long hauls up to $28. Bucks sold at the usual $1 discount with a few thin lambs sold for feeding at $25. Good light sheep brought $13-$16, with culls downward to $7.

New Pulp Mill In Sarnia Area

SARNIA, Nov. 10 (CP)—The Canadian Observer, which recently quoted a reliable source as stating that a $7,000,000 groundwood and sulphite pulp mill will be built in the Sarnia area, said Thursday that according to further information the name of the company is the Premier Pulp and Paper Co., Ltd.

The newspaper said the plant here will be part of a $24,500,000 project which will include a $9,000,000 mill across the St. Clair river at Port Huron, Mich., and that there will be room for doubling plant capacities on both sides of the river.

Source of pulpwood supply would be an 1,800-square-mile area in Northern Ontario stretching from Gogama to Peterbell, northwest of Sudbury and Capreol. About 95 per cent of the wood would be transported to Sarnia by rail.

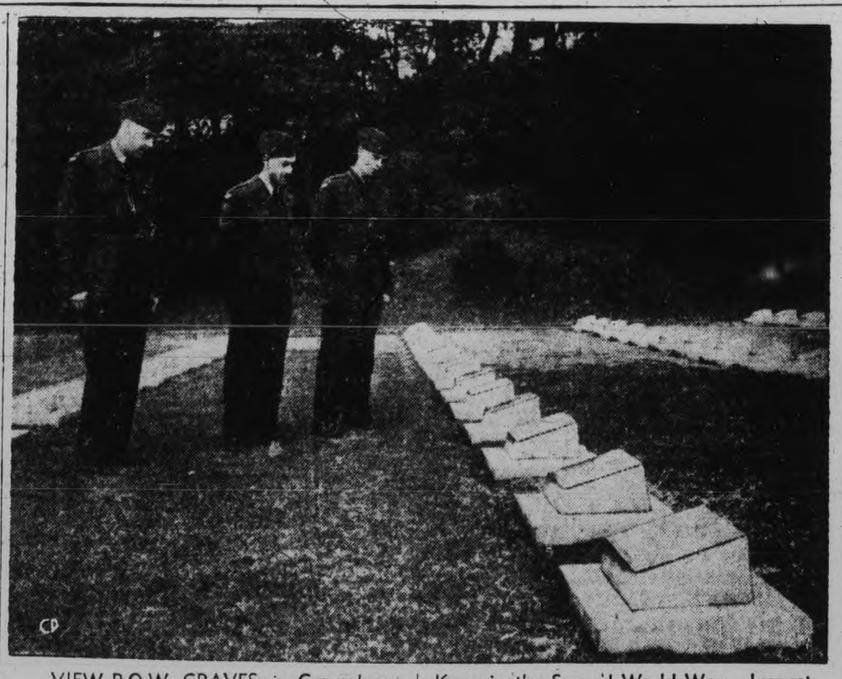
The pulp, in slush form, would be pumped through a pipeline to Port Huron where it would be converted into 62,000 tons a year of catalogue and directory paper. In this form it crosses the border duty-free, whereas finished paper is subject to a tax of 15 to 20 per cent.

Be Subsidiary

The newspaper indicated that Premier Pulp and Paper Company will be a subsidiary of United States interests, that New York money is financing the project, and that no public financing is expected for the Canadian company, though shares of the American companies, not yet officially formed, may be publicly offered.

The project is said to be scheduled to start in March or April and to employ 350 people in the Sarnia mill and between 1,500 and 2,000 in the woods.

Premier Pulp and Paper was incorporated in Toronto early this year.



(In Toronto legal interests which handled the incorporation said they have not heard of the reported developments.)

Used Aerial Bucket System To Feed Reds In Korea

By TOM STONE.

U. S. 7th DIVISION HEADQUARTERS, Korea, Nov. 10 (AP) —The Korean Communists had an ingenious aerial supply system that swung huge buckets of food and supplies over lofty mountains to troops 25 miles away.

It is an electrically-operated conveyor system that carried enough stuff to keep thousands of soldiers eating every day.

The supply end of the revolving cable system was taken by an American patrol Tuesday about 10 miles east of Oungsan, a small settlement near a reservoir and warehouses in northeast Korea. The operator was captured and tons of supplies were confiscated.

A second patrol went after the unloading end of the conveyor system, but found the Communists had abandoned positions there.

Capt. E. N. Anderson who flew from one end of the conveyor system to the other, reported:

"The conveyor resembled those at winter resorts to carry skiers to the top of the run, but these were a lot bigger.

"The towers, which look like oil derricks, were spaced about 500 yards apart and were perched on hilltops. The buckets rode along above the tree tops."

Anderson estimated that each bucket extending from revolving cables would "hold at least 100 gallons."

An intelligence officer in division headquarters said the conveyor apparently was intended originally to haul lumber across the mountains.

One high-ranking American officer said after the capture: "It looks like some of those North Korean soldiers will go hungry now."

$4 Reduction In Newsprint

• VANCOUVER, Nov. 10 (CP)—Pacific Mills Ltd., Thursday announced a $4 reduction in its $10-a-ton increase in newsprint. The new price will be $105 a ton.

Pacific Mills is part of the Crown Zellerbach Corporation with headquarters in San Francisco.

It raised its price $10 a ton last month shortly after the Powell River Company Ltd., announced a similar increase.

Powell River, the first Canadian newsprint company to raise its paper prices last month, has made no reduction.

Fighting Abroad Clouds Remembrance Day Services

By HARRY ECCLES
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Hostilities abroad again darken Canada's observance of Remembrance Day this year, as the dead of two world wars are honored.

Saturday, Nov. 11, is the 32nd anniversary of the ending of the First World War. In recent years it has been made a dominion statutory holiday in recognition of the fallen in both conflicts.

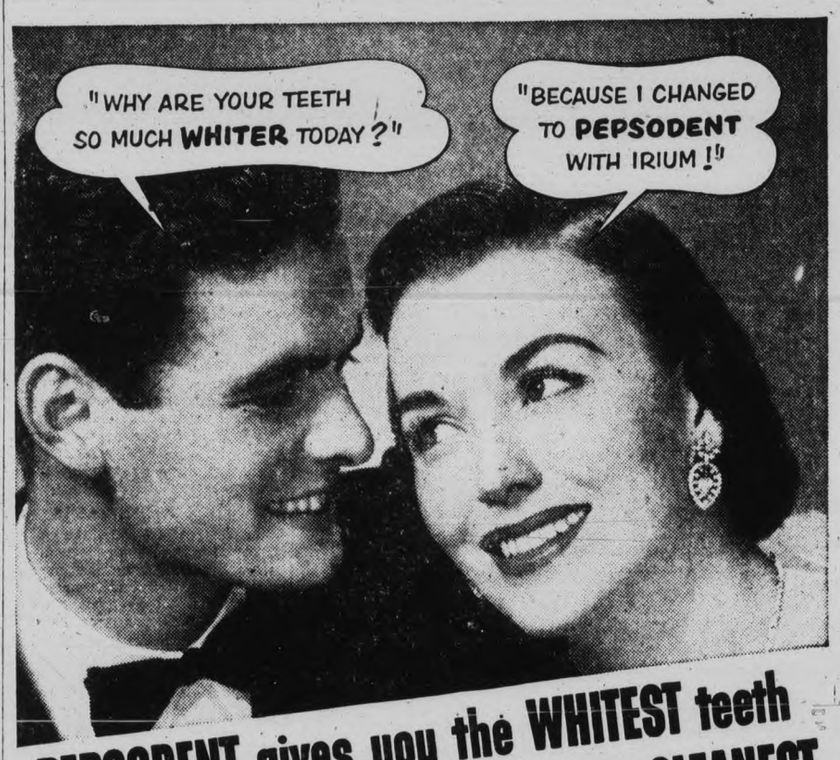
From Ottawa down to towns and hamlets across the dominion the two-minute silence will be observed at 11 a.m. local time. Wreaths will be laid on war memorials and tributes paid.

Through all the services will be running the consciousness of new hostilities. On this Remembrance Day Canadian soldiers are in Korea, preparing the way for a battalion and supporting troops from Canada's special service force, destined for service under the United Nations flag. This battalion is expected in Korea at the month's end, while the remainder of the special service force is at Fort Lewis, Wash., training for any new assignments that may come through the United Nations and the Canadian government, perhaps in Europe.

Only Part of Toll

Throughout Canada and the Commonwealth church services will be held Sunday to commemorate the dead of both world wars. There were 62,817 Canadian dead in the first conflict, 41,371 in the second.

That was only part of the toll, of course. An official tabulation of Nov. 30, 1945, showed 104,925 Canadian casualties in the Second World War, including 43,178 wounded and 332 missing. Another 1,062 seamen of the merchant navy were listed missing, presumed dead.



The figures do not tell the whole tale, for war veterans still are dying in hospitals as a consequence of wounds or sickness, incurred on active service.

"WHY ARE YOUR TEETH SO MUCH WHITER TODAY?"
"BECAUSE I CHANGED TO PEPSODENT WITH IRIUM!"

PEPSODENT gives you the WHITEST teeth because PEPSODENT makes teeth CLEANEST

THE TRUTH ABOUT PREVENTING TOOTH DECAY

SCIENCE has proved that much of the decay that makes cavities is caused by acid-producing bacteria . . . formed by tiny food particles.

TO PREVENT acid-producing bacteria from attacking the teeth, keep your teeth clean by brushing them immediately after meals.

PEPSODENT with Irium gives you the greatest cleansing action you can get. Fight tooth decay by using Pepsodent immediately after eating. Pepsodent gives you the cleanest teeth—teeth are safest from decay.

WHITEST TEETH can be yours when you change to Pepsodent—because Pepsodent and only Pepsodent contains Irium, the marvelous exclusive ingredient that provides the greatest cleansing action ever offered.*

Because of Irium, Pepsodent cleans your teeth thoroughly and safely—cleans better between your teeth—gets rid of every trace of dull, dingy film. And because your teeth are cleanest they're safest from decay. You'll like Pepsodent's delicious fresh minty flavor, too—it leaves your breath so clean and sweet.

Remember, Pepsodent with Irium gives you, too, the whitest teeth because Pepsodent gives you the cleanest teeth. Get Pepsodent Dental Cream today.

*Irium is the registered trade mark for purified alkyl sulphate.

PEPSODENT gives the WHITEST teeth

It's no trick at all to have Gleaming Floors all the time—

The back-breaking job of polishing floors by hand or with a clumsy, weighted brush is a thing of the past! The G-E Floor Polisher with counter-rotating brushes does a speedy, gleaming job on hardwood, linoleum, and tile floors ... right up to the baseboard, deep into corners, and close to furniture.

GENERAL ELECTRIC FLOOR POLISHER

$64.50
Complete with 2 polishing brushes and 2 lamb's wool buffing pads.

Easy to use
Because the two brushes rotate in opposite directions one exactly counter-balances the other. Eliminates tendency to "run away" which is common in single brush machines.

Light to carry
Weighing 16 pounds, it is light enough to be carried easily from room to room . . . yet heavy enough to do a lovely polishing job.

Gets in corners
As the brushes rotate they flare out making it possible to polish deep into corners and close to baseboards, heavy furniture and rugs.

Snap-on brushes and buffing pads
Polishing brushes have finger pull attachments for easy removal . . . lamb's wool buffing pads that snap on to brushes—give that final high-gloss finish.

You just guide . . . it does all the work—

$756 Collected In One Day In Traffic Fines

If you hear a loud jingling of coins as you drive past the city buildings these days the source of the noise is money being paid for traffic fines dropping into court coffers.

Thursday $756 in fines was collected in written pleas of guilty to all types of minor traffic violations. The fines were for speeding, failing to stop at stop signs, illegal parking, driving without tail lights and a long list of other driving miscues.

And the most surprising point about the whole affair is that $756 is by no means a record. The total has on one or two traffic days in court skyrocketed to over $900.

Do you find driving expensive?

Delay In Naming Guards Annoys Board

Peterborough's Board of Education is impatient with the delay in appointing traffic guards to look after school children at dangerous street-crossings. There has also been an unnecessary delay, they feel, in erecting signs requested last May that warn drivers of a school zone.

K. S. Wightman, superintendent of schools, said the appointing of school guards had been taken up by the Police Commission and the financing of the project had to be arranged by the city council.

The upshot is that there are still no guards and the Board has received no definite word of when they will be appointed.

Parents are worried about the safety of their children, said Mr. Wightman, particularly since the recent fatality on Lansdowne St.

Mrs Paige Rowell said she had received the assurance of Mayor Swanston that the placing of traffic guards at agreed-on intersections would be in effect by the end of October.

"I believe the parents are going to send a delegation to the city council," said Mrs. Rowell. "And I think we should bring what pressure we can on the Police Commission and the City Council to deal with this important matter."

Diamond Moved At Riverside

Preparations for winter have been the Parks Department's project during the past month.

Superintendent Armar Butcher reported today that the city parks had been all cleaned up and bulbs planted. The leaves have been taken to the river bank and will be used for fertilizer in future years.

Approximately 1,000 more bulbs have been planted at Riverside Park rockery. The diamond has been moved to conform with the lights and the top has been dressed and re-seeded. The new fence at the south end of the park will be finished next week. It has been built outside the guide wires and all the trees at that end of the park have been moved outside the fence.

The parking lot stone wall has been completed at the Civic Hospital and alpine plants have been planted.

Last week employees of the Parks Department started their winter activities of trimming trees on the streets.

Black And White Dog Still Awaits Owner

A young black and white spaniel that was struck by a car at Park and Rubidge Sts. this week is still waiting for his owner to claim him at the office of veterinary Dr. D. C. Smith.

The dog about a year and a half old was the second spaniel to be an accident victim this week. A honey colored spaniel was also hit and he was claimed by his owner after being taken to the veterinary by Humane Society Inspector Gerald Dunford. Neither dog was seriously hurt.

The inspector also has an English setter and black spaniel he would like to find homes for.

Six Of 300 Stores Show Nov. 11 Displays

Six stores in the downtown area Friday featured a window display recognizing Nov. 11, Remembrance Day in Canada and most countries of the western world, a survey Friday showed. There are more than 300 stores in the downtown area.

Another 10 or so stores put a wreath or a card in the window as their tribute to the day. The rest of the store windows were filled with merchandise.

Higgins Hardware store on Hunter St. and George Coleman's store on George featured a window filled with pictures of the 93rd Battalion in a welcome to members of the unit celebrating a reunion Saturday to coincide with Remembrance Day.

Chenaux Power Expected November 19 Saunders Says

Construction of a 32-mile stretch of transmission line between Brooklin, 10 miles north of Whitby, and Scarborough frequency changer and transformer station is being accelerated to hasten delivery of additional power from Hydro's new Chenaux plant on the Ottawa River to a wider area of Southern Ontario.

These facts were made known by Hydro Chairman Robert H. Saunders who pointed out that construction at Chenaux was ahead of schedule and that the first 20,000-horsepower unit was likely to be in operation about November 19 with the second unit following shortly afterwards.

This additional 60-cycle power, he stated, could be made available at 115,000 volts immediately at Peterborough and district over a line extending from Chenaux via Mountain Chute. A transmission line, at present constructed as far as Brooklin Junction, is being extended to Scarborough, so that power may be changed to 25 cycles and fed into areas west of Scarborough which are on the lower frequency.

The Scarborough station can also supply additional 60-cycle power from the Chenaux source through existing lines to Barrie or to Oshawa, according to demand.

Power on a supplementary section of line will be available also to Oshawa when Peterborough is cut in on Chenaux. The recently-completed section, which will carry 115,000-volt power to the automobile city, runs from Peterborough to Brooklin and is connected to an existing line down to Oshawa.

But Barrett Chute, along with the Chats Falls and Stewartville stations, will continue to supply power to the Southern Ontario System, particularly to the Eastern areas.

Obituary

MRS. HARRY J. NICHOLSON

Mrs. Harry J. Nicholson of 366 Mark St., died on Thursday at her residence following a lengthy illness. She was born in Winnipeg, Emma Kincaid, daughter of the late James Dunlop and Anna Belle Kincaid, and before moving to the city two years ago, lived for some time in South Monaghan Township.

She leaves her husband and a sister, Mrs. Norman Harper, both of this city, and a brother Vernon Friedly of Toronto.

Mrs. Nicholson, a graduate of a Texas Normal School, taught for many years in the United States. She was a member of Knox United Church, of its Women's Missionary Society, a member of its choir and was very active in every branch of church work.

Funeral service will be held at the Comstock Funeral Home on Saturday at 2 p.m. The Rev. E. W. Rowland of Grace United Church will officiate and burial will be at Union Cemetery, Port Hope.

Are Criminals Deer Hunting?

Crime in the city and deer hunting in the bush north of the city have little connection in the minds of most people, but coincidence linked the team in police court today.

When Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC, Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw, and Justice of the Peace James J. Fleming turned up at police court at 10 a.m. there wasn't a single case of any description to be dealt with.

City policemen patrolling their beats and provincial police officers covering the county in their police cruisers linked by powerful frequency modulation radio failed to turn up as much as one drunk who could be charged in police court.

By coincidence the deer hunt is five days old and reports from the hunting areas are that although deer are plentiful, hunters are even more plentiful. There's a brightly dressed man with a gun behind every tree just itching to let fly a volley at the first smell of deer.

The obvious conclusion is that Peterborough's criminals are all deer hunters—or are all the deer hunters criminals?

Ask 25-Cent Increase At Westinghouse

HAMILTON, Nov. 10 (CP).—Officials of the Canadian Westinghouse Company Limited and Local 504, United Electrical Workers Union today continued negotiations for a wage increase for 5,500 employees in the companys three Hamilton plants.

Under the open-end clause of their present agreement which does not expire until next May, the union is seeking a wage increase of 25 cents an hour for day workers and 15 cents for piece rate workers.

PS Men Teachers Ask Boost In Salaries

The public school men teachers have asked the Board of Education for a wage boost. And members of the Board are anticipating a similar request from the women teachers.

A letter outlining the requests of the man was read Thursday night at the November meeting of the Board. The whole matter was turned over to the Appointments Committee for consideration.

At present the salary schedule for public school men teachers sets the following maximums: assistants $3,400, vice-principals $3,600 and principals $4,300. Increases wanted by the men teachers would bring these figures up to $3,600, $3,900, and $4,500.

G. Wilson Craw commented that he thought it was late in the year for the present Board to make a decision. Elections are coming up and there may be changes on the Board.

Dr. Russell Morgan and Mrs. Paige Rowell both enquired if the women teachers had been heard from. K. S. Wightman, superintendent of schools, said no, not yet, but such a request was likely soon.

Offer Y's Men Solution World Peace

A solution for peace in the world was offered the Y's Men's club Thursday night by Donald Milburn, past-president of the Peterborough County Junior Farmers' Association and presently a director of the Ontario Junior Farmers' Association.

Speaking on rural club activities Mr. Milburn said that if it were possible for groups from all the nations to meet and discuss their mutual problems and difficulties, agreement could be made. They would agree, he added, with a deep understanding of one another that wars and fears of them would be banished from the earth.

One of the reasons why rural clubs were formed, Mr. Milburn said, was the fact that rural children have not the same time for recreation as the urban children. After school they must do tasks about the farm and summer is spent in helping with the harvesting.

About 54,000 girls and boys of rural Canada are participating in the activities. These clubs have various projects such as livestock, grain and field crops, tractor maintenance, and for the girls, clothing and foods. The club members are from 12 years to 20 years.

In some provinces the organized activities for rural youth stop at 20 years. But in Ontario there is a live and growing organization for the young people on the farms.

Not until 1944 were the several groups strong enough to join together to form the Junior Farmers' association. It was formed to co-operate with the Federation of Agriculture and the Department of Agriculture to form and develop a rural youth program in Ontario.

The association, said Mr. Milburn, has now come to occupy the position of being one of the largest rural youth organizations in the democratic world. From a beginning of 3,000 members it has grown to 11,000.

One of the most important functions of the organizations, said Mr. Milburn, is that it provides a medium of expression for each member. Whether they take part in the program of dramatics, music, or in one of the many country choirs, sports activities, in public speaking, each member has the opportunity to express himself in the manner best suited to him.

Mr. Milburn was introduced by Robert Bell and thanked by Steve Csumrik.

WALTER E. BANNON

W. E. Bannon Retiring From Board

Walter E. Bannon announced at the November meeting of the Board of Education Thursday night that he would not seek a fourth term.

His decision not to seek re-election leaves a vacancy on the Board. Up for re-election, as their two-year term on the Board has expired, are Dr. Ralph C. Honey, Dr. Ross Matthews and Frank H. Jobbitt.

W. B. Gordon, George St. barrister, is the only non-member to state he was in the running for office. Mr. Gordon is a former member of the Board. He stepped down at the expiry of his term, two years ago.

Mr. Bannon, a foreman at Outboard Marine, for this past year was vice-chairman of the Board, and chairman of the Property committee. During his six years as a member of the Peterborough educational body he served three years as chairman of the Advisory Vocation committee, and he was also chairman of the Appointments committee for a year.

Altogether Mr. Bannon has been a school trustee for 12 years. For six years he was a member of the North Monaghan board, and he has long been active in school work. When the part of North Monaghan where he lived was annexed to the city Mr. Bannon successfully sought election on the Peterborough board.

Date Book Service Proving Very Popular

The "Date Book" service sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce is proving itself popular since its inception last week, according to Jim Fraser, manager.

The purpose behind this service is to offset events in the city taking place at the same time. The Date Book can be used by service clubs, women's groups fraternal societies and other organizations who wish to make sure that no other highly competitive event is scheduled for the same date as their activities.

Mr. Fraser reports that in order to use this service all that has to be done is to phone the Chamber of Commerce when planning some event. The event will be recorded and if there is something else scheduled for that same night that information will be given.

The Chamber of Commerce also checks dates for events at the hotels in the city and the printers who have orders for tickets.

34-Foot Highway For Trans-Canada

DRYDEN, Ont., Nov. 10 (CP).—A survey to estimate the cost of widening the trans-Canada Highway is nearing completion in this northwestern Ontario district. Three surveyors have been working since early summer.

J. G. White, Progressive Conservative member of the Ontario Legislature for Kenora, said specifications call for paving to a width of 34 feet in most places.

City Tax Collections Total 93.5 Per Cent Tax Roll $1,554,139.04 Collected

Collection of municipal taxes at the end of October was 93.5% of the tax roll as compared with 94.2% a year ago, City Treasurer A. S. Couper said today. This is a statement of collection for the ten-month period in each year. The total amount of taxes due on the 1949 tax roll was $1,650,033.49; amount collected up to Oct. 30, 1949, was $1,554,139.04 or 94.2%. The total amount of the taxes due on the 1950 tax roll is $1,905,286.94; amount collected at Oct. 30, 1950 was $1,781,619.80 or 93.5%.

The difference is 7/10 of 1%.

It may be noted that the increase in the tax roll this year was $255,253.45; and the increase in the tax payments at October 30 was $227,480.76.

Then there is the poll tax; amount collected from that source up to Oct. 30 last year was $4,380 as compared with $4,910 at the end of Oct. this year.

Municipal nominations are two weeks from tonight, Friday, Nov. 24, at 7.30 p.m. in the city council chamber. The aldermen whose two year terms are running out are: A. B. Burrows, Hurrell Dodds, James E. Gillespie, Adam Sands and Dr. Herbert Young.

JAMES CURRAN FUNERAL

The funeral this morning of James Curran took place from the Lane Funeral Home to the Church of the Sacred Heart of which he had been a member since its opening. Requiem high mass was celebrated by Monsignor J. J. O'Brien, assisted by Rev. Dr. F. M. Grant and Rev. G. F. Sullivan. The pallbearers were James Guiry, Daniel O'Brien and four employees of the Peterborough Utilities Commission: James H. Johnston, Al Spencley, Edward Parks and Frank Worsencroft. The prayers at the graveside were said by Father Sullivan.

BRING BACK THOSE GATES

Hallowe'en pranksters are not popular with the Cavan township trustees looking after the property of Fairmount public school. On the night when ghosts walk and witches ride, two iron gates were removed from the school property—one of them is 10 feet long. Apparently the trustees aren't blaming the witches or any of their ilk because they've called in the provincial police to help find the missing gates. The practical jokers are asked to return the gates or at least tell some school authority where they are.

London Waited Five Years Start Coliseum

City of London, (Ont.), has decided to begin at once construction of a coliseum costing $1,350,000 at Queen's Park.

The ratepayers have already approved expenditure of $1,000,000. This project took shape in 1946, when the taxpayers voted a contribution of $400,000. That amount was boosted $600,000 last December.

Some members of the London council have objected to the reference of the final $350,000 to the Ontario Municipal Board for permission to borrow, instead of taking a vote of the ratepayers.

Dominion and provincial governments have each given $200,000 toward the cost of an adjoining livestock building, at Queen's Park, but recently the council has concluded that the federal Minister of Agriculture was given the Coliseum the "runaround." Estimated cost of the job has increased $121,000 since July.

This building is conceived on the board scale of use which inspired the Peterborough Community Centre, and will have seating accommodation for more than 7,500 people.

Of local interest is the fact that after five years of discussion and voting and so on, London has let the contract and are finally going ahead with their building.

Queen's Park is the site of London's agricultural exhibition.

Hasty P's To Give Cheque To Civic

A cheque valued at $300 will be presented to the Civic Hospital Saturday by the Duffy club of the Hastings-Prince Edward Regimental Association. The money wil be used for equipping one of the rooms in memory of the fallen of the regiment in World War II.

George L. Van Koughnett, president of the club, will make the presentation to John Hornall, superintendent of the new Peterborough Civic hospital. The money was raised through a recent draw held in the city for a trip to the United States or $200.

From profits of the re-union held a year ago the Duffy club has donated to the Children's Aid Shelter, a table tennis set, and to St. Vincent's orphanage a radio floor model.

The Duffy club will march as a unit in the Remembrance Day parade Saturday.

Vets. Of 93rd Gathering For Reunion

Approximately 250 former members of the 93rd Overseas Battalion, C.E.F., will converge on the Peterborough armouries Saturday for their second reunion, the first held in 1936. Advance parties are expected to arrive in the city from Toronto, Hamilton, centres in Western Ontario, other provinces and from the United States.

Saturday at 5.30 the veterans of the World War I battalion will meet at the armouries for the reunion dinner. Toasts will be made by Percy Luther, Capt. Walter Thompson, M.P., the Hon. Harold R. Scott, M.P.P., and Lt.-Col. Maxwell Clarke, E.D.

Drumhead Service

A memorial drumhead service and parade will be held Sunday afternoon. The veterans will fall in at the armouries square at 2.15 and the drumhead service will be held a 3 p.m. in the armouries, the guest speaker being the Rev. Ivan C. Morgan, Murray St. Baptist Church. Soloist for the service will be Jack Telford and the accompanist Charles Allen. All relatives and friends of the members of the 93rd Battalion are invited to be present at the service.

The 93rd Battalion was first recruited as a detachment of the 80th Battalion, but civic officials felt that the city and county of Peterborough should have an overseas battalion. This view was approved by the Dominion authorities and the 93rd Battalion came late being on November 1, 1915. Detachments were recruited at Apsley, Lakefield, Norwood, Havelock and district.

After preliminary training in the Peterborough armouries, Central Park, and other places, the battalion entrained for Barriefield camp, Kingston, May 29, 1916. After months of extensive training there, the battalion received orders to go overseas. It left Barriefield on the evening of July 12, 1916, and arrived in Halifax on the morning of July 15. Later that day they boarded the "Empress of Britain."

Lost Escort

Off the coast of Ireland, the ship lost its escort in a heavy fog. The ship arrived in Liverpool on July 23 and later that day the men encamped at Otterpool in Kent county. The first detachment left camp for France on September 15 and arrived at LeHavre two days later. After a short stay there, they were sent to the front and arrived at Albert in the Somme battle sector on October 8, 1916.

The remainder of the battalion was drafted to reinforce battalions in the first, second, third, fourth and fifth divisions. In November, 1916, the regimental band was transferred to the 247th Battalion and the C.A.M. Corps.

Racial Discrimination Found Necessary In South Africa

"Is there any alternative to racial discrimination in South Africa?" A. W. Steward, asked members of the Peterborough Kiwanis Club at their luncheon meeting at the Empress Hotel Thursday. Mr. Steward is the information officer for the Government of South Africa in Canada.

"South Africa is a community whose people are primitive, semi-primitive, semi-civilized and civilized and as a result there is no choice" continued the speaker. "Discrimination is necessary, not only for the benefit of one group, but for the benefit of all the people—the white, the black, the brown and the yellow people."

Much Misunderstanding

Mr. Stewart in his opening remarks explained that misunderstanding concerning South African affairs in many countries including Canada had resulted in harsh criticism of both the internal and external policy of South African government. He contended that this criticism had undermined the confidence of the backward and dependent people in South Africa in their government and also caused grave misapprehensions among other countries. He contended that with a true knowledge of conditions—economic and racial — other countries criticism of the South African government might be alleviated.

The speaker quoted exerpts of articles taken from Canadian newspapers which charged the South African government with committing acts of tyranny and exploitation.

"South Africa is an assemblage of mankind which represents nearly every branch of the species and many stages of its development," stated Mr. Steward. "The four main groups of the South African population are blacks, 8,000,000; whites, 2,500,000; colored, 1,000,000 and Indians, 300,000."

In a brief historical and political resume, the speaker pointed out that the whites and blacks arrived in South Africa at just about the same point in history, the mid 17th century. The Indians were brought in during the latter half of the century to work in the sugar plantations of Natal.

United In 1910

In 1910, the four separate colonies, the Cape, Natal, the Transvaal and the Orange Free State united to form the Union of South Africa. The racial problem existed before the Union came into being and was one of the main situations motivating its formation.

"The South African government is also confronted with two other handicaps, Mr. Steward informed his audience. "These are first, that despite tremendous industrial and mineral potentialities South Africa has so far been a relatively poor country. Its per capital national income is about one-quarter that of Canada's. And second, the Union is very young—only 40 years of age and for the considerable part of that time has been engaged in two world wars and recovering from the effects of them."

Dominating Influence

The speaker explained that the realization that the survival of civilization in this country depended on the working out of a liveable pattern of race relations has been the dominating influence throughout South African politics. As a result widely accepted by the white people in the country that the liveable pattern must be founded upon a recognition of those rights to which all the different groups are entitled.

"All the fundamental rights are guaranteed to everyone, man and woman, whatever their creed or color," stated Mr. Steward. "Any narrowing of these rights and racial discriminations is done solely to protect civilization in this country.

"Economically the South African government is spending each year ten times as much in direct services to the natives themselves are contributing to central revenue—a total of $56,000,000 expenditure as compared to $5,500,000 in revenue."

Laws Cannot be Uniform

Discussing the legal sphere of South African administration, Mr. Steward said that it was obvious that a uniform body of laws can never regulate the affairs of a conglomeration of individuals who range from representatives of the stone age to the products of a highly organized western civilization.

To offset the dangerous potentialities of racial discrimination in an intermingling of races, the policy, since union, has been to keep the races apart—proud of their peculiar inate characteristics and heritage.

"This policy has found its clearest expression in the apartheid (an Afrikaans word meaning apart-ness) of the present South African government," the speaker stated in his concluding remarks. "We deny emphatically that the conception of the apartheid is oppressive. Moreover, apartheid is not only a negative thing—its purpose is not only to protect against disharmony and friction. It is also dynamic: its positive aim is that each group should develop separately and parallely to the limit of its capacity."

Mr. Steward was introduced by Jim Lillico. He was born and grew up in Zululand in South Africa. In 1935, he was associated with a national newspaper in Johannesburg. During the Second World War, he served in the South African forces and later was loaned to the Department of External Affairs. In 1948 he was a delegate of the South African government to the United Nations. He came to Canada in March of 1950 to establish an information office for his government in this country.

Robert Arnold expressed the club's appreciation to the speaker.

Lieut. Governor William Richardson presented President Al Plaskett with the Lieut. Governor's Award for this quarter. This award is won by the club gaining the highest record during the past three months in Division 6. This is the third time this year that the Peterborough Kiwanis Club have won this award.

This division extending from east of Toronto to Kingston also won the district Ontario, Quebec and Maritimes award for the highest record of the 11 divisions in the district. This award was received by Lieut. Governor Richardson.

Among the guests attending the luncheon were J. H. Brand, trade secretary for the Government of South Africa and representatives of industry in Peterborough.

Emotional Explosion Fosbraey Defence

PICTON, Nov. 10 (CP).—Defence counsel R. E. Nourse told the court Thursday he intends to prove James Fosbraey suffered "an emotional explosion" when his wife was stabbed to death last Nov. 28.

The counsel opened the defence's case toward the close of the fourth day in Fosbraey's second trial for murder.

Sentenced to be hanged at his first trial in Napanee, Fosbraey won an appeal and a change of venue to this town. 15 miles southeast of Belleville.

For 2½ hours Thursday Mr. Nourse cross-examined Stanislaw Steinbach who Wednesday testified the friendship between the slain woman and himself had been platonic.

Defeat Motion

WINNIPEG, Nov. 10 — (CP) — Manitoba's Legislature Thursday night voted 36-16 to defeat a CCF non-confidence motion and uphold the record of Premier Campbell's administration during last spring's Red River floods. The CCF resolution, supported by Progressive Conservatives and a sprinkling of Independents, claimed the government had "failed dismally to give leadership" during the flood crisis.

Nevada Calls Gambling 'Entertainment'

By BOB THOMAS

LAS VEGAS, Nev., Nov. 10 — (AP) — In Nevada, where gambling is as legal as driving a car, the operators like to call it "entertainment."

That's one of the things I discovered while investigating the amazing boom town of Las Vegas. I came up here with Edmond O'Brien and the staff of his "Johnny Dollar" air show. While they sought sound effects and background information in one of the casinos, I did some sleuthing for myself.

"We don't publicize the gambling," said Abe Schiller, press agent for the Hollywood-flavored klamingo. "Everybody knows it's here, so we don't play it up. We consider it another entertainment, along with the swimming, tennis, skiing, boating on Lake Mead and our night club shows."

Slot Machines

Ben Goffstein, assistant to the Flamingo president, said slot machines are not a big profit for the hotels, where there are outdoor diversions in the daytime. They are more profitable in the downtown casinos, which attract people around the clock for the sole purpose of gambling.

Biggest moneymaker in the casino is the dice table, he said. The galloping bones somehow appeal to the American temperament more than any other form of gaming.

Although the hotel part of the enterprise now makes a profit, the restaurant does not. Nor does the night club, which runs a bill of $10,000 to $12,000 weekly for such entertainers as the Ritz Brothers, Spike Jones, Lena Horne and Frankie Laine. But the food and shows pay off by helping to lure customers to the gaming tables.

Beurling Buried At Mt. Carmel

HAIFA, Israel, Nov. 10 (Reuters) Flt. Lt. George (Buzz) Beurling, Canada's top air ace of the Second World War, Thursday was laid to his last resting place.

Beurling's remains were reburied at the foot of Mt. Carmel, near the cave of the prophet Elijah. Buried beside him was his Jewish friend, Sqdn.-Ldr. Leonard Cohen.

Beurling — a Christian — and RAF ace Cohen were killed in May, 1948, when a plane they were ferrying to Israel exploded in mid-air near Rome.

Beurling was credited with 31 enemy aircraft during the war. He fought at Malta when air battles over that island were fiercest.

As the funeral procession wound through Haifa's main streets Israel air force planes flew overhead in salute and flags were lowered to half-mast.

At the cemetery a crowd of hundreds heard Anglican and Jewish clergy recite last prayers.

Attending the funeral were members of the Canadian Jewish community and the Zionist Organization of Canada. A wreath of red poppies and maple leaves from the Canadian Legion was one of many placed on Beurling's coffin.

Unemployment Begins At Slower Rate

OTTAWA, Nov. 10 (CP)—The Labor Deparment reported Thursday that seasonal unemployment has set in, but at a much slower rate than last year and a month later than usual.

Despite the end of harvesting in most sections of the country, jobless registered for work with National Employment Service at Oct. 19 were up only 3,500 from the year's low point of unemployment at Sept. 28.

Registrations for jobs totalled 136,600 at Oct. 19, the department said in a monthly survey of the employment situation. This was 20,000 below the figure at the corresponding date last year.

Two of the regions last month —the Maritimes and Newfoundland—showed improvement from September.

In the Maritimes, registrations for jobs dropped from 16,500 to 16,100. Newfoundland's decreased from 5,500 to 3,700.

Quebec's registrations went from 42,700 to 43,100; Ontario's from 33,900 to 36,400; the Prairies' from 16,600 to 17,800 and the Pacific region's from 17,900 to 19,500.

Improvement in the employment situation as compared with last year, the department said, results largely from demand for workers in logging, heavy manufacturing and base-metal mining.

Factors responsible for this demand, it said, are favorable markets for newsprint, the accelerated defence program and increase in consumer demand for many goods and services.

Breakdown for Ontario regions with Sept. 28 figures in brackets:

Hamilton 4,329 (3,613); Kingston 635 (694); Kitchener 303 (266); London 1,054 (980); Ottawa 2,079 (2,278) St. Catharines 994 (993); St. Thomas 211 (194); Sarnia 327 (322); Stratford 187 (205); Sudbury 605 (712); Toronto 8,914 (8,226) Windsor 3,362 (3,150); Woodstock 125 (98)

Swedish Trade Boom

STOCKHOLM —(CP)— With a steady increase in production Sweden's foreign trade is greatly expanding. For the first seven months of the year exports amounted to $590,000,000, a gain of nearly one-third, while imports rose about the same percentage to $646,000,000.

I Had To Watch My Children Suffer

"For several years my two boys suffered greatly from asthma and bronchial attacks", says Mrs. A. Lamouroux, 256 Head St. South, Simcoe, Ont. "They would be weak, gasp for breath—choking, wheezing and coughing in a way to wring a mother's heart. I often had to watch my boys sit up nearly all night, unable to lie down because of the struggle for breath. Then I found out about RAZ-MAH. After 3 doses of RAZ-MAH they are relieved and have no attacks for months at a time. I certainly recommend RAZ-MAH."

New Zealand Special Unit Waiting UN Disposition

By J. G. GRAHAM

AUCKLAND, N.Z. — (CP)— There are growing predictions in New Zealand that this Dominion's special force for Korea, known as K-force, now may be converted to a role similar to that of the special brigade Canada is training. There are forecasts that the force may be made available, like the Canadian formation, for service anywhere as directed by the United Nations.

The government has denied that there has been any change in plans so far. It says the present intention is to send the force to Korea as originally planned.

However the Minister of Defence, T. L. MacDonald, said in the House of Representatives: "It is out of our hands. We do not know how events are shaping in Korea, nor do we know what further appeals the United Nations will make in regard to the force we are now training. When information becomes available it will certainly be given to the House and the public."

Pushing Ahead

The New Zealand force was raised from volunteers shortly after the appeal by the secretary-general of the United Nations, Trygve Lie, for additional ground forces for Korea. It was planned as the field artillery component of a British Commonwealth brigade and consists of an artillery regiment and ancillary units.

New Zealand is pushing ahead with the complete training of the force before sending it overseas. Only a small proportion of the men had previous artillery experience and well under half were ex-servicemen. However, three times the necessary number of volunteers signed up in a week, three times the necessary number of volunteers signed up in a week, so that the the army authorities were able to impose a high physical standard and the men selected were well above the average in physique and general ability.

Rapid Training

A period of concentrated basic training has been followed by specialized artillery training at Waiouru, New Zealand's main artillery camp, situated in ideal gunnery training country in almost uninhabited land in centre of the north island. Training is being pushed ahead rapidly and all week-end leave has been cancelled to accelerate preparations.

Present plans are to send the force on final leave in the last two weeks of November and to embark as soon thereafter as shipping is available. Before then, however, the situation may have changed considerably in Korea.

When fully trained the force will be a very useful unit to aid in any United Nations formation. New Zealand was noted during the Second World War for its artillery, which introduced many improvements in technique, especially in the direction of bringing down heavy concentrations of fire with great speed on a desired area.

The lessons of the war, and subsequent advances, are being fully applied in training the present force. It is being trained and equipped with British weapons, but the possibility is being kept in view that a change to American weapons may be necessary and the training is being conducted so as to enable a rapid switch to be made.

Parked Car Hit Driver Phones Police

A parked car was hit by Karl MacKay driving another car on Aylmer St., Thursday. Owner of the parked car, Harold Ward, 258 Aylmer St., thought at first he had been the victim of a hit-and-run driver, but MacKay phoned police some time after the accident to report it.

Police said MacKay was driving without a licence.

Ward said he had parked his car shortly after noon. He came out to it about a half hour later to find the front bumper broken.

Police learned the licence number of the car MacKay was driving from two eye-witnesses and had started a search for the driver when he phoned in. Constable John Morrow investigated.

Russian To Cut By 25% Building Costs

By TOM WHITNEY

MOSCOW, (AP).—A Soviet government decree this year declared that construction costs throughout the USSR must be reduced by 25 per cent.

This is in fact—judging by extensive press reports on this subject and newspaper articles written by construction officials"—actually being done.

As soon as the decree itself came out, various means were used to propagandize the various approaches to reduction of costs.

One of the means suggested was by simplification of building design. It was pointed out in various articles that some Soviet architects persisted in using elaborate decorations and decorative schemes on the outside of buildings which did not add to the beauty of the structure, and did add immensely to the erection costs. It was recommended that all building designs be reviewed, to see what could be eliminated from the architectural scheme without aesthetic or practical loss but with reduction of costs. Much was done in this direction.

Government Aid

The government itself gave the building industry substantial aid. It reduced wholesale prices of all building materials and other items used in building by a sharp margin and at the same time reduced freight rates on building materials, etc.

The government in reducing these costs told the building materials industry that it would have to produce more efficiently and secure a lower cost of production on building materials. This is also being carried out.

As another part of the drive it was recommended that the mechanization of labor consuming processes could assist. It was said that many building organizations were not making efficient use of the machinery in their hands. The government further decided to increase deliveries of building machinery to building organizations, including excavators, cement mixers, trucks, cranes and dozens of other items.

One of the most important items in the lower cost drive of the building industry was the propagandizing of progressive methods of work. Laborers and others who secured good results were asked to explain to their fellow workers how they did this. They were in exceptional cases written up in the press.

The drive for lowered costs of building has been going on for months now, and it is expected that it will be waged relentlessly all this year and probably well into next.

Jittery Bandit Makes $140 Haul

TORONTO, Nov. 10 (CP). — A jittery bandit last night held up a north-end pharmacy and escaped with $140.

Store manager Louis Pugen said the bandit, his hand trembling nervously, pointed a gun at him and told him to hand over the money. "I was nervous, but not nearly as much as the gunman," Pugen said. "I was afraid his shaking fingers might pull the trigger."

Cocktail Bar Operators Assist In Police Drive

TORONTO, Nov. 10 (CP). — Operators of 107 Toronto cocktail lounges and taverns decided at a special meeting yesterday to assist the police drive against drinking drivers.

J. J. Corcoran, president, said the association of Toronto Hotel Proprietors is "most anxious to continue the promotion of moderation and assist police in the fullest extent in their campaign."

The association's action was promoted by a statement by traffic inspector Vernon Page that the number of drinking drivers arrested this year had increased 22 per cent over 1949.

Mr. Corcoran said proprietors spend thousands of dollars every year for supervisors, floor managers, and doormen whose job it is to enforce moderation.

Posters now would be placed at exits and entertainers would give safety messages to patrons.

Hydro Speeds Line Connect With Brooklin

TORONTO, Nov. 10 (CP). — The Ontario Hydro Commission is speeding up construction of a new transmission line between Brooklin—10 miles north of Whitby—and the suburban Scarboro frequency-changer station to provide southeastern Ontario with additional power from the new Chenaux plant on the Ottawa River.

Commission Chairman Robert H. Saunders said the first 20,000-horsepower unit at Chenaux will likely start operation about Nov. 19 with a second unit due shortly after.

Sudbury Department Rehires Constable

SUDBURY, Nov. 10 (CP). — Constable Reg. Wainman, suspended by the Sudbury police department for striking a 15-year-old boy Oct. 27 and who subsequently resigned from the force Nov. 7, was rehired by the police commission Thursday as a parking meter service and repair man.

Wainman, a member of the Sudbury force since 1943, had spent most of his time as a constable on parking meter work. His salary and seniority in his new position will remain unchanged. He was fined $10 in Magistrate's Court for striking the boy with his glove.

U.S. Officers At Front Pay More For Meals

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10. — (AP).—The United States Army is slightly embarrassed about it, but American officers in Korea — even those in the front lines—have to pay more for meals than those on duty at home.

The cost of chow in the Korean theatre has been raised from 35 cents to 40 cents a meal for everyone from second lieutenant to high-brass general. Officers' meals at army posts in the U.S. still are 35 cents.

The reason given by the army is that food transportation costs from the U.S. to Korea made the five-cent boost necessary.

Mammoth Crowd At Tea Paying Tribute To City And St. Andrew's Fathers

Decorations on the centennial theme, embodying the city colours blue and white gained from a mammoth crowd admiration for ladies in charge of St. Andrew's WA tea and bazaar of Thursday afternoon. Their efforts made this an interesting and educational as well as a delightful social event and a credit to the organization.

Financially it was a greater success than last year as door receipts were higher and more than 500 tickets had been sold previous to the tea. As the weather was most unfavorable, ladies in charge of the refreshments had not anticipated such a large attendance, and so, with red faces, they set to work in mid-afternoon to augment the supply of sandwiches.

Attendants at amply supplied booths of garden produce, home cooking and miscellaneous sewn, knitted and hand made articles had little difficulty in disposing of their wares, thus boasting the net proceeds handsomely.

In the congregation of St. Andrew's are descendants of some of the first trustees and elders and members of the city's first families so it was that numerous interesting antiques were secured for display.

Centre Of Interest

Centre of interest was a large portrait of John Harvey, one of the original seven trustees which was painted in Peterborough around 1850 by Isabel Bissett, a niece, who had painted in the Royal Court. This painting and one of his daughter Isabella Harvey, which was spotlighted in the stage tea room, were loaned by his great granddaughters, Miss Isabel Brealey and Mrs. Ken Kingston. One of the first elders of the church, John Edmison, and members of his family, were recalled by their photographs on display.

The theme of pioneer life was carried out in the bazaar room by one of the tall, old-fashioned type bicycles, and a large spinning wheel, loaned for the display by the Public Library and Miss Fanny Dixon loaned a beautifully stitched quilt, made 100 years ago by one of her relatives.

There was also a set of murals depicting early life in Peterborough which have been painted by Marleen Wright, a Collegiate student.

Period Costumes

The days gone by were enlivened by some of the WA ladies wearing authentic period costumes. Guests took interest in the details of their design, with adroitly placed pockets, tucks, gathers and panels and in the fine quality silks, brocades and laces. Elaborate hats and tiny bonnets were selected to compliment the costumes and antique drop ear-rings, a long gold chain and watch and old-style brooches were finishing touches.

The costumed ladies were Mrs. Ford Turner who received at the door, Miss Margaret Ferguson, Mrs. J. B. Nelson, Mrs. J. Boyd and Mrs. M. T. Breckenridge who poured tea, and Mrs. M. B. Carr who was a tea room hostess.

Tables Charming

Perfection of a tea table arrangement that might have been picked from a ladies' journal of 1950 was accomplished for one setting, and the second, on the stage, was a charming tribute to Peterborough.

There was much comment on the old-fashioned table which featured an antique epergne centred in dainty white frilled doilies with the old-fashioned flowers, caper white narcissi, pansies, pink sweetheart roses, lovely queen's lace 'mums, blue forget-me-nots, little American 'mums and trailing sprigs of fern. The pansies were repeated around the base of blue candles and the tablecloth was white cutwork and lace.

Blue linen damask on the table done in the city's colours was centred with a three-tiered anniversary cake, iced in white and trimmed with candles. Two white antique vases held pale pink and tiny white American 'mums, nestled in blue marquisette.

Old-fashioned pedestal comports were used on both tables for the sandwiches and cookies.

Ideas for the superlative decorating originated and were carried out by Mrs. Ken Kingston and Mrs. C. C. Pilon.

Those Who Assisted

WA president Mrs. I. H. Keefer was receiving, assisted by Mrs. Turner and Mrs. M. J. Aiken. Mrs. V. Hamilton was the treasurer and ticket sales convener Mrs. George Green assisted her.

Tea pourers were the four costumed ladies, Mesdames M. T. Brackenridge, J. Boyd, L. E. Nelson and Miss M. Ferguson and also Mesdames J. E. R. Munro, G. A. Gillespie, H. Baker and Miss E. Scott.

Tea room conveners were Mrs. E. Hawley and Mrs. H. Northrop and their assistants were Mesdames V. Foster, L. Brooks, V. Hamilton, W. Swanger, J. Turnbull, C. B. Waite, A. McWilliams, E. R. Shirley, J. A. McKone, H. Wilson, L. Bearne, E. Frost, K. Robertson, J. Archibald, H. Waddell, R. Whalon, R. Maybee, R. Cole, H. Hawley, W. Henderson, J. Lillico, A. Archibald, F. Rothschild, H. Davis, A. Laing, E. Bacon, R. Hardies, Darling, R. Blackwell, G. Roper, E. Braund, F. Dawson, Reinhardt, Glendinning, E. Stacey, H. Tudhope, A. Hutchinson, and Misses Wilma Nelson and Marion Manning.

Hostesses for the afternoon were Mesdames F. W. K. Harris, G. M. Scott, R. Morrow, M. B. Carr and Miss B. King.

The garden produce table was attended by Mesdames K. Petrie, I. Rattenbury, M. Stewart, W. White, Misses Helen Brown and M. Hall. Convener of the home cooking was Mrs. Eric Baggs and assistants were Mesdames A. Hutchinson, H. Tudhope, C. Andrews, J. Young, F. Batten, T. Gaskell, C. W. Howman and H. White. Mrs. J. Wharry convened the miscellaneous table and her assistants were Mesdames P. Rowell, D. Ketcheson, J. Marshall, F. Moeser, J. Gillespie, F. Walker, C. Wishart, J. Heffernan, D. Crawford and C. B. Waite.

Set Minimum Price For Ontario Celery

TORONTO, Nov. 10 (CP). — The Ontario Farm Products marketing board today announced minimum prices for the 1950 winter celery crop.

The board set minimum prices of $1.75 a crate for Canada fancy storage celery and $1.50 for Canada No. 1 storage celery. Minimum price of Canada No. 2 storage celery will be the daily trading price on an open-market basis.

The board also announced establishment of a special grade, No. 1 repacked celery, to "enable shippers to reach distant markets with a high-quality product." It will sell at a price arrived at by shipper-buyer bargains.

Manvers Council Hear Appeals

BETHANY, Nov. 10—(ENS)—Seven appeals against assessment were dealt with, Tuesday by Manvers township council, meeting as a court of revision. Four assessments were reduced, one was confirmed, and two were transferred.

Assessment was reduced $450 on buildings owned by Stanley Chapman, by $200 on buildings owned by Mrs. Johnston Burnham, and by $350 on buildings owned by Mrs. Bertha Naulls. A $50 reduction was made on assessment of land owned by Arnold McNeil.

Assessment was confirmed in the appeal of Mrs. Arthur Brisbin, and in the appeal of Herb Kennedy, at $50 assessment on land was transferred to Harold Kincaid. The west end of a lot was transferred back to Mrs. Margaret Curtis with a $300 assessment.

As council met in regular session, a letter was read from the Department of Highways approving the transfer of $3,000 from new machinery to roads and bridges under the township's road expenditure bylaw.

Accounts totalling $6,184.48 were ordered paid. Largest single item was $3,531.93 for road vouchers 12 and 13.

Bank Cashier, Customer Foil Holdup

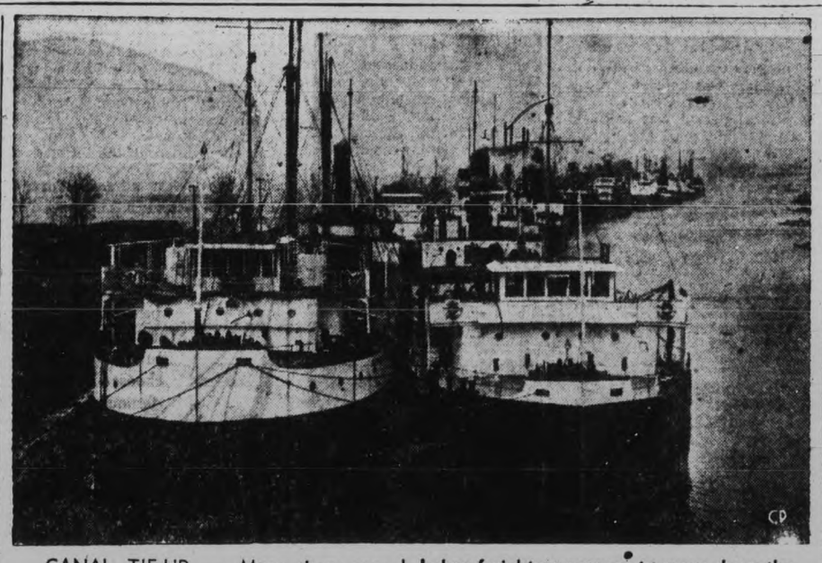
MONTREAL, Nov. 10 (CP). — A 24-year-old bandit and his accomplice who snatched $258 from a cashier in a branch of La Banque Canadienne Nationale on Thursday were chased along Ontario St., under gun fire and were in police custody less than an hour later.

There were about a dozen customers in the bank when the two men came to the cashier's cage. They snatched the money from Gataen Morin, 21-year-old cashier, and ran to a car outside.

Morin fired two shots and took up the chase. A customer joined him and the two pursued the bandits' car in the customer's truck.

One of the men jumped from the car. Morin left the truck and was joined by a taxi driver. They caught the first bandit.

Meanwhile the bank customer in the truck succeeded in forcing a crash with the holdup car. Police radio cars came up at the same time and the second man was captured.



One of the men was identified as Philippe Gauthier, 24, of nearby Mackayville. The other was not identified.

Police said Morin fired two shots in the bank and two more while the bandits' car was chased.

Police were investigating reports that a third man was connected with the holdup.

Popular Entertainment Offers Great Challenge Musicians Told

TORONTO, Nov. 10 (CP). — Young Canadian musicians should welcome the artistic challenge presented by such popular entertainment as radio, movies and television, Aaron Copland, American composer, said Thursday night.

Mr. Copland was guest speaker at the graduation exercises of the Royal Conservatory of Music of Toronto.

"I don't mean that we should write down or play down to the new audience," he said. "I mean that we should aspire to the writing of such great music as will appeal to the mass of the public as well as to musicians."

"Go right on writing for the refined few if you feel that is what you can do best and want to do. But if I had to begin again I'd like to feel that I as a composer was part of something bigger than myself, helping to connect the arts with the large field of life."

Principal Ettore Mazzoleni gave this advice to the graduates: "Even if you feel you have genius don't go out feeling the world owes you a living."

100 Graduates

Nearly 100 graduating students of the Royal Conservatory received diplomas from president Sidney Smith of the University of Toronto.

Students awarded gold medals included Mavis Reid of London, Ont., for violin and Phyllis Mailing of Hamilton, for singing.

Diploma awrads included: licentiate piano—Eleanor Beardall, Chatham; associate piano, solo performer's and teacher's—Donald Steele, St. Catharines; associate piano, solo performer's — Florence F. Keith, Hamilton, Janet C. Martell, Ottawa and Joseph West, Sault Ste. Marie; associate piano, teacher's—Donald H. Adams, St. Catharines, Charles Bowers, Chatham, Bonnie Elgie, Sault Ste. Marie, and Mrs. Nina Stapleton, Sudbury.

Val d'Or Offers 3 Sites For Meetings

VAL d'OR, Que., Nov. 10. — (CP) Val d'Or authorities Thursday studied proposals whereby religious groups may be authorized to hold outdoor street services at any or all of three locations. The locations were suggested at a town council meeting Thusday night and will come up for further action at a meeting Nov. 20.

Except for the last two weeks, members of the Regular Baptist sect have attempted over the last few months to hold meetings on Saturday nights at Third Ave. and Dollard St., across from the home of Mayor Oza Tetreault.

Some two score arrests resulted. Many of those convicted of violating a traffic bylaw of the town chose jail terms instead of payment of fines.

The proposed locations for outdoor evening services are the Kinsmen Club playground, next to the city hall and one block from the town's main intersection; the Val d'Or Baseball Stadium, two blocks from the "four corners" at Third Ave. and Seventh St.; and, for day or night services, a small park area across from Val d'Or's new Federal Building at Second Ave. and Sixth St.

The baseball park site was offered a year ago and this point was emphasized at the trials of Regular Baptists before Recorder J. L. Baillargeon.

On examination it was found that this offer, including bleacher and grandstand accommodation, was merely an administrative order. Council now is preparing to make it a matter of action and record.

Mayor Tetreault said the council was impressed by representations made by Rev. J. C. McClelland, minister of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church here.

Present New Officers At Hastings WA Meet

HASTINGS, Nov. 10 (ENS).—Group three of the WA of Trinity United Church held their November meeting at the home of Mrs. R. Burnham with a very good attendance.

The president, Mrs. W. Thomas, opened the meeting after which Mrs. R. Burnham and Mrs. Brownell took charge of the worship period. Mrs. Brownell read the scripture, Mrs. Burnham gave the theme "Fellowship," followed with prayer by Mrs. W. Dodd. Mrs. Rymerson gave a reading.

The president presided for the business period. The minutes and correspondence were read by Mrs. J. G. Thompson in the absence of the secretary, Mrs. B. Preston.

Mrs. C. Hoard, treasurer, gave her report. The nominating committee presented the slate of officers for 1951 as follows: president, Mrs. W. Thomas; first vice-president, Mrs. S Fisher; secretary, Mrs. R. Burnham; treasurer, Mrs. E. Fleming; pianist, Mrs. C. Scriver.

A feature of the meeting was a white elephant sale, which brought in $12. The Rev. N. Cole acted as auctioneer.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Yorkshire Pudding Hailed As One of Great Inventions

Yorkshire pudding in any guise or shape or shade is one of the finest cooking inventions to come out of England.

It is also one of the most foolproof. While it is best when baked in a hot oven, it cannot be spoiled if the oven is slow or moderate.

I have wondered how gullible or credulous some restaurant managers think the eating public is, when they offer on the menu roast beef with Yorkshire pudding —and what the waiter arrives with is a sort of soggy yellow muffin.

I unblushingly claim that my Canadian mother improved on my English parental grandmother's recipe for Yorkshire pudding. That is why it is eligible under this Canadian cookery column.

✧ ✧ ✧

Emem's Mother's Yorkshire Pudding

One cup unsifted bread flour, ½ teaspoon each salt and baking powder, 3 eggs, 2 cups whole milk. Beat the eggs and add 1 cup milk, beat, then add the flour sifted with the salt and baking powder. Beat and add remaining cup of milk. Let stand 1 hour. Twenty minutes before serving time, remove roast of beef from roasting pan and pour off all of the pan liquor except 1-3 cup. Pan should be very hot and oven should be at 450 deg. Fahr. Pour in Yorkshire pudding batter and bake for about 20 minutes, or until puffed about 3 or 4 times its original height and golden brown on all its little risen mounds and crisp on bottom. Cut into 3½-inch squares and serve with roast beef and rich brown gravy.

✧ ✧ ✧

Variation of Mother's Yorkshire Pudding

(1) Pour most of the fat from roasting pan but return roast to one end of pan and pour Yorkshire pudding in at one end and around roast. Bake in very hot oven as above but baste pudding with some of the leftover pan liquor, kept very hot of course.

(2) Use 4 eggs instead of 3 eggs for a puffier and richer pudding.

(3) When eggs are scarce use 2 eggs and one-quarter cup more of flour and 1 teaspoon of baking powder.

(4) When there is no roast but there is some leftover gravy bake Yorkshire pudding in buttered muffin tins and serve with hot gravy for a main course that is otherwise made up of vegetables. For this purpose use the 4-egg version suggested under No. 2 variation.

(5) Add ½ cup grated old cheese to Yorkshire pudding when it is baked in muffin pans for a meatless meal.

✧ ✧ ✧

Brown Velvet Gravy

Some of the dark brown sediment in bottom of roating pan is necessary for this, so scrape it off with spatula before adding the Yorkshire pudding to pan. To each 2 tablespoons of dark brown pan extract and fat add 2 tablespoons flour in saucepan and stir until flour takes on a golden brown look, but do not burn it. Add 1 cup liquid for each 2 tablespoons flour. This may be cold or hot water, liquid from boiled potatoes or carrots or beans or it may be tomato juice of even milk. Stir until gravy thickens. Taste for salt and pepper. If gravy does not become dark enough add 1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce. Strain gravy if you want it velvet smooth. Bring to table after roast is cared. Warm or lukewarm gravy is a disgrace and I hope no reader of this column would put up with it.

200-mile Trek To Deanery Meet

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask. — (CP)— Mrs. Philip John Charles and Mrs. J. McKenzie might well have been excused if they had been late for the first day of the Deanery meeting here of the Anglican Women's Auxiliary.

The church workers covered 200 miles of storm-swept hinterland to come from the remote trading settlement of Stanley.

For three days they paddled down northern Saskatchewan rivers, fighting rough river currents through driving snow and drenching rain. The route was studded with portages where canoes had to be carried.

On the fourth day, wet and weary, they reached Lac la Ronge where the Anglican missionary, the Rev. H. Fournier, gave them a lift in his automobile. But the car got stuck and the women had to push.

Despite their difficulties the two intrepid delegates—from the Amos Charles band of Cree Indians—reached Prince Albert in time for registering at the opening of their diocese's annual convention.

Alma Saunders Heads Bible Class

The Nov. meeting of Excelsior Bible Class was held at the home of Mrs. C. Davis, George St. The devotional period was under the leadership of Jean Davis, assisted by Eleanor Fife and Helen Wilson.

During the business period final plans were made for the class bazaar on Nov. 15. The report of the nominating committee was given by Bea Thompson and the slate of officers for 1951 was presented by Miss Martin as follows:

President, Alma Saunders, 1st vice-president, Leta Gardner; 2nd vice-president, Grace Sullivan; treasurer, Jean Davis; secretary, Carol English; sunshine convener, Mary Fife; telephone convener, Bea Thompson; telephone committee, Dorothy Palmer, Elma Browne, Thelma Simmons, Eleanor Fife; visiting committee, Vi Bell, Jean Armour, Emily Draper, Mary Robinson.

The class were asked to attend the evening church service as a group on Nov. 12. Refreshments were served by Jean Davis, Eleanor Fife, Dorothy Williamson and Helen Wilson.

Rebekah's 44th Anniversary

Golden Link Rebekahs celebrated the 44th anniversary of their organization this week with more than 200 attending a meeting in the lodge rooms Tuesday evening. Noble Grand Mrs. Leta Gardiner presided. District Deputy Mrs. Shaw, of Lindsay, and other members of the local lodge. Mrs. and Mrs. Robert Murduff and Mr. Bert Watt, all from Toronto. Past noble grands were presented to the lodge by junior grand Josephine Armstrong and each one, as introduced, answered with the year in which she held the office. There are about 40 past noble grands in the city. Presentation of a Bible, bound in white leather, was made to the lodge in memory of Mrs. Martha Watt, a past president of the Rebekah Assembly of Ontario, and charter member, and Mrs. Leota Firth presented a white satin cushion for it to rest on. At close of the lodge, a banquet was served with Mrs. Grace Webb and her committee in charge. The three-tier anniversary cake was cut by Mrs. Robert Murduff.

Flowers In Memorial Chapel

The Silver Cross Chapter's monthly meeting Wednesday evening in the YWCA Green Room was in charge of Mrs. B. D. Hall, owing to absence of the president, Mrs. B. W. Harvey. Business was discussed and letters read from Sunnybrook Hospital and Gravenhurst Sanitarium regarding what arrangements might be made to help inmates. It was decided to place flowers in the chapel at Civic Hospital on Remembrance Day and also to place a wreath on the war memorial. Mrs. Elizabeth Pruner will place the wreath if the president is unable to be present. Highlight of the evening was Mrs. Hall's account of her visit to Washington, D.C. Refreshments were served by Mrs. J. L. Young and her committee.

U.K. Finds Housing, Traffic Weighty Festival Problems

By EDWIN S. JOHNSON

LONDON — (CP). — The problem of how to cope with the influx of visitors to the Festival of Britain next year, has provoked a major headache for those responsible for accommodation and traffic control.

Officials of the British Travel and Holiday Association estimate at least 700,000 overseas visitors will come to London in the Festival year. Several times that number is expected from other parts of the United Kingdom and Eire.

Based on this rough estimate, accommodation officials say that transient lodgings will have to be found every night for about 100,000 people. To meet this need London hotels can take care of only about 33,000.

To Open Homes

To bridge the gap Londoners, with any space to spare, are being asked to open their homes to visitors unable to obtain accommodation in hotels or rooming houses. Many prospective tourists have already written in commending the idea. They feel such an arrangement will afford them a chance of getting to know the British people better.

Several other schemes have been suggested. One being seriously considered calls for the mooring of ocean liners in some convenient reach of the Thames River, to be used as floating hotels. A similar plan was operated successfully for visitors attending the Olympic Games in 1948.

Lodgings in houseboats, barges and cravans have been offered, and organizers are also studying the possibilities of setting up dormitory facilities under canvas on a 40-acre scenic spot in the outskirts of London.

Big Traffic Problems

But accommodation difficulties says Sir Harold Scott, Commissioner of Metropolitan Police, are nothing compared with the traffic problems that will arise. Even with all the improvements planned, including construction of a temporary bridge across the Thames, widening of some streets and diversion of traffic from normally-congested areas, traffic regulation, he believes, will prove an enormous task.

"It is a problem which is altogether unlike anything that has hitherto fallen to the police in the field of traffic or crowd control," he said.

What is mainly worrying the authorities is the acute day-to-day parking congestion in almost every area of Central London. A ban on parking in the busier districts has eliminated certain serious obstructions. But this has been achieved only at the cost of choking useful secondary roads with the displaced traffic.

As a possible solution, Sir Harold has urged reconsideration of plans prepared in 1938 for construction of huge underground parking centres at strategic points throughout the city. Such a scheme, however, would entail an outlay running into millions of dollars. And even if approved, planning authorities doubt if work on so vast a project could be completed in time to east the expected Festival traffic crush.

Verna Woodcock Becomes Bride Of Jos. McGillen

A pretty autumn wedding was solemnized at the Sacred Heart Church Wednesday morning when Verna Bernice, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emerson Woodcock, became the bride of Joseph C. McGillen, son of Mrs. K. McGillen and the late Peter McGillen, all of Peterborough. Rt. Rev. Monsignor P. P. Butler, rector of St. Peter's Cathedral and cousin of the groom, celebrated the nuptial mass.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white slipper satin, the bodice of which was fashioned with a nylon yoke, and had lace sleeves. The net veil was held in place by a tiara, beautifully embroidered with seed pearls and bugle beads. She carried an arm bouquet of calla lilies and pink roses.

Miss Catherine Bolin, as bridesmaid, wore a gown of aqua marine with lace bodice, featuring a sweetheart neckline, and short sleeves and a bouffant net skirt. She wore a matching colot and carried an arm bouquet of pink carnations.

Mr. Don McGillen, nephew of the groom, attended as groomsman and Ansel and Clem Woodcock, brothers of the bride, were ushers.

Later in the morning a reception and wedding breakfast was held at Bill's Place, where the bride's mother received wearing a frock of maroon tissue faille, with matching hat and black accessories. She wore a corsage of gardenias. Mrs. McGillen, mother of the groom, assisted, wearing a dress of flowered crepe with black accessories and a corsage of red roses.

For travelling the bride chose a cerise dress of transparent velvet and a silver grey gabardine top coat. Her accessories were black. Following a trip to Hamilton, Niagara Falls and Buffalo, the young couple will live at 492 Murray St.

Home and School

GROVE SCHOOL

Mrs. F. Sanders, president, conducted the meeting of Grove Home and School Association Wednesday evening. She announced that a box is being packed for overseas and asked for all donations to be in this week. Children's clothing was especially requested.

Mr. Frank Jobbitt, chairman of the Board of Education, spoke on the proposed new Collegiate, stating it is necessary and urgent. Mr. Stanley Adamson supported him in giving information in answer to members' questions.

Guest speaker was Miss Musa Cox, supervisor of music in the city schools. She explained how the children are taught to read music, starting with "rote" in the kindergarten and reaching harmony singing in the senior grades.

Miss Margaret Rutherford, kindergarten teacher at May's School, sang two pleasing solos, "Angel's Guide Thee" and "Laddie," with accompaniment by Miss Cox at the piano.

Mrs. W. Higgins thanked those taking part in the program.

The attendance prize was won by Mrs. Campbell's room.

In place of the regular December meeting, a Christmas concert is being held at St. Alban's Mission.

PCVS

The executive committee for 1950-51 is as follows: President, Mr. J .H. Moebus; vice-presidents, Mrs. J. Low and Mrs. C. McBride; recording-secretary, Mrs. E. A. Outram; corresponding-secretary, Mrs. G. Bryant; treasurer, Mrs. P. Martyn; executive members, Mrs. F. Dobson, Mrs. A. Brotherstone, Mrs. J. Hayward, Mrs. G. H. Frise.

At a meeting in the school library, with Mr. Moebus in the chair, the purpose of a high school association was discussed. It was agreed that there is definitely a need for parent interest in the curriculum and extra curricular activities.

In reviewing the past five years since organization, it was felt that while the association had fulfilled its purpose there is still much to be accomplished for the benefit of the students.

Composed of parents, teachers and others interested in youth, this association is the medium through which parents may know their school and the school understand the home. In this manner co-operation towards supporting a guidance program begins.

The definite function that is performed through the meetings is the arousing of public opinion and interest in educational matters, student activities and special curricular subjects which are brought before the parents for study and interpretation.

The first open meeting of this season to be sponsored by PCVS association will be held in the auditorium on Tuesday, November 14, at 8 o'clock. Parents of students will be notified by letter of this event to which the general public is also invited.

A request for the assistance of parents as chaperons at student council dances was received from the council. A committee was appointed to meet with the council and discuss plans for future social events. Parents will be invited to co-operate with this committee.

Those accepting convenerships are: Mrs. W. T. Fanjoy, membership; Mrs. J. Johnstone, publications; Mrs. H. Taylor, finance; Mrs. J. Matthews and Mrs. R. Ward, student council social functions; Mrs. E. Chambers, publicity; Mrs. J. Fanning, pianist; teacher representatives to the executive, Miss M. Johnson, Mr. A. Landry, Mr. H. Graham.

DOROTHY DIX

Children Driven from Home By Quarrelling Parents

DEAR MISS DIX: Can you suggest some way whereby I can induce my mother to leave my father and start her life anew? She is miserably unhappy. So is he. And so are we all.

My father is a fine man, but he doesn't love my mother and never has, yet because of some queer sense of chivalry he has continued to live on with her. She won't let him go because the words "divorce" and "separation" mean something common to her and that would hurt her pride. So the two live in the same house and eat at the same table, hating each other and never speaking. My brother and I never go home because we just can't bear it. My father has offered to support my mother as he always has done, but she won't listen to it. Don't you think that we children are at least entitled to ask our parents to provide us with a home—two homes if necessary—where we could visit each and be happy and love them both and not have something heavy in our hearts all the time?

E.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: I certainly do, and inasmuch as your mother refuses to do anything about ending an intolerable situation on account of her silly false pride, it is up to your father to take the initiative in breaking up the purgatory in which you all live, and leave a house that has long since ceased to be a home.

No Good In It

No good and moral purpose can be served by a husband and wife dwelling under the same roof when each brings out all that is worst in the other's nature.

Because children so need both a father and mother, and so need a home to grow up in, many husbands and wives who have come to dislike each other feel it a duty to go on living together for the sake of their children. This would be a fine and noble thing to do if they had the strength of character to bury their differences and make a home that was full of peace and harmony.

But very few men and women have enough self-control to do this. The disgruntled husband and wife make the home a place of perpetual strife. They quarrel incessantly before the children. They appeal to the children for sympathy and to take sides in their feud. They pull the poor little creatures apart in their loyalties and make them utterly miserable.

So, when people talk about keeping homes together for their children's sake, they do it to no avail unless they make them a happy home. Better no home at all, or the two homes for which my correspondent longs, than one in which the father and mother squabble.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: We are an able-bodied couple. My husband is employed, making quite good wages, but we thing we could save a few dollars each month if we gave up our home and went to live with our son and his wife. They are in very moderate circumstances, have two little children and their home is small. Our daughter-in-law is a sweet girl, but would she secretly wish to be alone? Would she object to taking us in? A MOTHER

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: The few dollars you would save by going to live with your son and his wife would not compensate you for the family row you would precipitate by doing so. You are on amiable terms with you daughter-in-law now. Stay that way by not going to live with her and of course she wants to be alone in her own house with her own husband and children and no outsider. Every woman in the world desires that. She regards her in-laws, and even her own mother, as an infliction. That is just nature and no reflection on either lady.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: My wife and I have been married fifteen years. We have a daughter 13 years old and my wife often says if it wasn't for her she would have left long ago. She likes to be well dressed and to go to parties and shows. I love the outdoors, hunting and fishing. As we do not agree, we have hit on this plan. We are dividing our savings and I am going to board with her and pay her a salary, as she is still going to help with the business. We are not going to get a divorce, but while we live under the samee roof we are both going to do as we please and make no claim upon the other. What do you think of this plan?

MR. X.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Evidently the trouble between you and your wife is that each wants to make the other do his or her way. Once you have made up your mind that she can spend her time in the beauty shops and she concedes you the right to spend your money on fancy fishing tackle instead of parlor curtains, you will be able to get along peaceably together. Anyway, your plan keeps a home for your daughter and gives her two parents instead of one.

Apsley Institute To Place Wreath On Cenotaph

APSLEY, Nov. 10 —(ENS)— The monthly meeting of the Women's Institute was held at Mrs. Rol. Tucker's home on Tuesday evening with 14 members present.

Mrs. B. McIlmoyl whose husband served in Canadian Army in World War I and whose only son served in Canadian Navy in World War II was asked to place the Women's Institute wreath on the Cenotaph at the Remembrance Day service.

It was decided that urns be purchased for plants to be placed at the Cenotaph in the spring. Plans were made for three card parties and committees named to take charge of each. Mrs. Wilson on behalf of herself and Warden Wilson thanked the branch for the splendid service rendered at the dance and card party given by them.

Mrs. D. Newberry and Mrs. Norman Reddick, delegates to the area convention, gave detailed accounts of the different sessions.

Mrs. Hales took charge of the meeting and gave an excellent paper on laundry and ironing including blankets, sweaters and plastic material. She also conducted a quizz on hidden names of animals which was won by Mrs. R. Tucker and Mrs. N. Wilson. Lunch was served by Mrs. R. Tucker assisted by Marion Roberts.

To Aid Mothers Who Lack Support

VANCOUVER —(CP)— Soon there will be an organization for unsupported mothers in Vancouver.

An association is being organized by Mrs. Robert Symington, clerk in the police department's records office, and now has a membership of 15.

Mothers who are without a husband's support and unmarried mothers will be admitted to membership.

The association, said Mrs. Symington, is "for the improvement of existing conditions of unsupported mothers everywhere."

It will be for those who wish to maintain a happy single home, developing independence in some self-chosen field of work.

There will be a course of lectures on all phases of becoming a better mother and a better companion to the child.

COOKBOOK OF THE WEEK

Cookie Book Gives Host Of New Delicious Recipes

Good cookies add a finishing touch to many desserts. For a host of delicious ideas, recipes, serving suggestions and step-by-step helps in making good cookies you must look to the Cookie Book, which is the seventeenth release in the series of 24 cookbooks being made available to readers of The Examiner on a book-a-week plan.

The Cookie Book is a beautifully illustrated ready reference book filled with recipes for all the different types of cookies. There are many old favorites and many new and unusual recipes, but for a good old standby you can't go wrong with Lemon Snaps:

LEMON SNAPS

⅓ cup shortening
1 cup sugar
5 egg yolks or 2 whole eggs
3 tablespoons milk
1½ teaspoons lemon extract
3 2/3 cups cake flour
2½ teaspoons baking powder
¼ teaspoon soda
½ teaspoon salt
Egg for glaze, milk.

Cream shortening and sugar. Beat eggs well and add with the milk and lemon extract. Mix and sift dry ingredients and add. Chill. Roll ⅛-inch thick. Cut and brush tops with egg diluted with milk. Make in moderate over (375°F.) 10 minutes. Makes 150 cookies 2½-inch diameter.

If desired, top each cookie with ½ almond before brushing with diluted egg. Decorating with narrow strips of candied ginger, pineapple, citron or lemon peel.

To get your copy of the Cookie Book and each of the earlier titles that you might want ,all you need do is clip one Cookbook Coupon from page 2 of any issue of this newspaper and present it with 25c at The Examiner office, to your Carrier Boy, to any of Braund's Home Food Markets, or Dominion Master Market. By mail ,send 30c to Cookbook Department, Peterborough Examiner.

What's Right

A friend has had a decorator help her in doing over a room.

WRONG: Feel free to ask: "Is he terribly expensive?"

RIGHT: Realize that such a question is almost as bad as asking what something cost.

Girls' Auxiliaries Officers Installed

The first joint installation service for the Girl's Auxiliaries of the Anglican churches of the city took place in All Saints' Parish Hall on Tuesday evening.

The president of All Saints' branch Miss Jean Jolly, was in the chair for the first part of the service.

The meeting opened with a WA hymn and prayers. The scripture was read by Miss Margaret Patterson. The president welcomed the members of all the visiting branches of the Women's Auxiliary. A short talk on girl's auxiliary work was given by Mrs. Riel, leader of All Saints' group.

Then followed the joint installation of officers by Rev. W. E. Kibblewhite of All Saints' Church when the following officers were installed in their respective branches.

St. John's executive: President, Josie Hendren; 1st vice president, Elizabeth Lowry; secretary, Jennie Luther; treasurer Phyllis Willshaw; Dorcas sec., Margaret Dabson.

St. Luke's executive: President, Beverley Pollack; vice-president, Eleanor Watson; secretary, Anita Mason; treasurer Velma Weavers.

All Saints' executive: President, Marian Foy; vice-president, Jean Jolly; secretary, Barbara Trude; treasurer, Margaret Patterson. Rev. Walter Gilling of St. Luke's offered the dedication prayer. All Saints' junior choir under the leadership of Mrs. J. Howard sang "He who would valiant be."

The retiring president called on the newly installed president of All Saints' branch to take the chair for the remainder of the service. During the taking of the offering the junior choir rendered a beautiful anthem.

A film was shown based on the senior study book of the year. It was called "South of the Clouds."

The meeting closed with Girls' Auxiliary hymn, "Youth of the World Arise," and closing prayer led by Mr. Kibblewhite with the junior choir singing the dedication hymn "God be in My Heart." Lunch was served afterwards.

6—In Memoriams

CROUTER—In loving memory of Mrs. Luella Crouter, who passed away three years ago today.
The world may change from year to year,
And friends from day to day,
But never will the one we love
From memory pass away.
—Remembered by daughter, sons, daughters-in-law and grandchildren.

IRELAND—In fond memory of William (Bill) Ireland, accidentally killed one year ago, Nov. 10, 1949.
God knows how much we miss him,
Never shall his memory fade;
Living thoughts shall ever wander
To the spot where he is laid.
—Ever remembered by cousins Norma and George MacPhail and Barbara and Don Perks.

PHILLIPS—In loving memory of our dear wife, mother and sister, Mabel E. Phillips, who passed away two years ago today, Nov. 10, 1948.
Deep in our hearts, a memory is kept
Of a mother we loved, and will never forget.
And though the years be many or few,
We'll always be thinking dear mother of you.
—Ever remembered, sadly missed by husband, family and brother.

IUE Woman Finds Sugar In Gasoline Tank

Sugar dumped into the gas tank of Mrs. Muriel McQuade, a member of the IUE, was discovered at noon today when she went to a service station to buy gasoline.

A year ago the same trisk was played on Mrs. McQuade, then acting recording secretary for the IUE, a few days after a hearing of the Labor Relations Board in connection with a split between the UE and the IUE.

Mrs. McQuade now holds no official position in the IUE except for being a member.

The tank was filled to the brim. She is not sure how she was able to drive as far as the service station. She thought probably there was enough gasoline in the gas line of the car to take her a short distance.

Last year she was not so lucky and the engine of her car seized. It cost her $33 to have the carburetor, gas line and tank cleaned out.

A bill that size was no joke, Mrs. McQuade said. She reported the incident to city police, but they told her there was little they could do about it without some sort of proof to back up her "darned good idea" of the person or persons who had done it.

Sure End Of ECA Won't Hurt UK

LONDON, Nov. 10—(AP)— A treasury spokesman expressed confidence today Britain could weather the end of Marshall aid without trimming its rations or having unemployment.

L. J. Edwards, economic secretary to the treasury, gave his opinion in a written answer to a question submitted by a member of parliament.

He noted that the sterling area has a favorable gold and dollar balance in recent months even without American help.

Edwards warned, however, the continuation of the favorable trend while the country enters a rearmament program "will require the highest possible level of production and the sacrifice of much that we might otherwise have enjoyed."

Talks are to start here next week on reducing or perhaps even temporarily cutting off Marshall aid. E.C.A. officials in Washington have said, however, that aid will be held ready if Britain gets into economic trouble.

Czechs Wipe Out Legal Code In Use Over 400 Years

PRAGUE, Nov. 10 (AP). — A swift legal revolution now is in its last stages in Communist-led Czechoslovakia.

Laws that have been accumulated over 400 years have been wiped out in five months. Most came down from the time of the Hapsburg rulers of Austria and Hungary, whose territories included what in 1918 became Czechoslovakia.

They are being replaced by new codes drawn up within the last two years to regulate a new social order and, in the official phrase, defend "the building of Socialism."

The last of these codes—embracing civil law and civil court procedure—will go into effect next Jan. 1 after getting approval of the government and the National Assembly (parliament).

The others—taking in criminal law and criminal court procedures—became effective Aug. 1.

All are the products of a "lawyers' two-year plan" for all-around codification of statutes by legal experts.

The National Assembly, approved this plan in July 1948, five months after the Communists won control of the government.

Have Russian Adviser

By official account, the code follows the experience of the Soviet Union and was drawn up with the help of Russian advisers.

Its announced aims are to prevent the exploitation of man by man and "exterminate the last remnants of the capitalistic producing sector," already a minor quantity in Czechoslovakia.

There are no labor laws in the code. "Only bourgeois jurisprudence included these," explains the official news agency.

A special commercial law also was left out of the new code. This, the agency remarks, "was a privilege of capitalist exploiting strata. It has no place in a society heading toward Socialism."

"Protects People"

The new criminal code sets out in its opening paragrapher that it "protects the people's democratic regime, her socialist construction and the interests of the working people and of the individual."

High treason is defined generally as any attempt to destroy the republic or social order. In its simplest form, it may bring a prison term of between 10 years and life. In case of any "aggravating circumstance," the traitor may be put to death.

Spying is punishable by between 10 years and life in ordinary cases and by execution whenever there is an aggravating circumstance.

The code backs up the government view that citizens of Czechoslovakia should stay in Czechoslovakia. Leaving the country without permission is made punishable by one to five years' imprisonment.

Using an unauthorized radio transmitter gets the offender one to five years, carrying arms without permission five to 10 years. "Spreading alarming rumors" calls for up to six months.

Convicted Of Manslaughter, Yuzwa Given 6 Years In Pen

Walter C. Thomson Elected Head Of Ontario Liberals

TORONTO, Nov. 11—(CP)—Walter C. Thomson, a tall ruddy-faced man who began life in a Presbyterian manse 55 years ago, is the new leader of Ontario Liberals. He was chosen Friday from an eight-man field by the leadership convention called to fill the post vacated more than a year ago by the resignation of Farquhar Oliver. A Toronto lawyer, he lives on a farm near Pickering in the Oshawa area and represents Ontario constituency in the Ottawa House of Commons.

His first plea to his party in a victory speech after a noisy ovation was for organization and unity to achieve victory in the next Provincial general election. The Liberals now rank third in strength in the Provincial Legislature with 13 of its 90 seats.

WALTER C. THOMSON

Speaking to newspaper men at a press conference, he said he would devote his full time to the leadership, turning first to the problem of organization. After study of individual constituency needs, he would make a province-wide tour to rebuild the party. He had not had time to consider whether he would resign his Commons seat to seek election to the Ontario Legislature.

Growing Trend

His election climaxed a growing trend in his favor which gained momentum almost overnight. He led on the first two ballots and gained a majority on the third over his remaining opponents, Dr. Harry Cassidy, of Toronto, and John G. Brown, of Kitchener.

When the result was announced, Dr. Cassidy and Mr. Brown quickly moved that the election

Canada Pays Tribute To War Dead

OTTAWA, Nov. 11 — (CP) — Canada today paid tribute to her fallen of two world wars.

Focal point of the country-wide observance was a brief, impressive Remembrance Day service around the National War Memorial, Canada's monument of remembrance to those who died in service for Canada in the first and second world wars.

There, on Connaught Place, the big open-faced square in the heart of the capital's business district, the diplomats, the politicians and the public servants, turned out in crisp November weather to pay respect.

At precisely 11 o'clock, a lone gun heralded the silence, salutes of honor were given and Viscount Alexander, as governor-general and commander-in-chief of Canada's armed forces, placed a wreath at the base of the great stone-and-bronze memorial.

Place Wreaths

With even-paced ceremony, he was followed to the base by Mrs. John Beasley, of Ottawa, frail, brown-eyed mother whose two sons died in the Second World War. She placed a wreath for Canadian mothers who lost sons in the conflict. Others were placed by Prime Minister St. Laurent and Group Capt. Alfred Watts, of Vancouver, Dominion president of the Canadian Legion.

The ceremony ended with the governor-general taking the salute from Ottawa district units in a march-past before a reviewing stand down the street from the war memorial.

Four sentries representing the services, including an air force man, a navy man and one uniformed and one kilted soldier, formed an honor guard about the memorial during the ceremony Muriel Beaton, of North Bay, Ont., a nuring sister stationed at Ottawa's Rockcliffe airport, stood guard with them.

Rebel Leader May Be Dead

SAIGON, Indo-China, Nov. 11 (AP)—French army headquarters today listed Ho Chi minh, president of the Soviet-backed Vietminh government, as a "possible casualty" in a French bombing attack in North Indo-China.

A military spokesman emphasized, however, that there is no certain proof the rebel leader was a casualty.

In response to questions by correspondents, the spokesman said Ho Chi minh may have been present in the town of Langea, 130 miles northwest of Hanoi, when French bombers and fighters unleashed a devastating attack last Saturday.

Telephone Strike Remains Unsettled

NEW YORK, Nov. 11—(AP)—It appeared certain today that the partial coast-to-coast telephone strike in the United States would continue over the weekend. It now is in its third day.

The first federal peace talks failed Friday after only one of several contract issues was discussed. No new joint session is planned before Sunday afternoon.

The striking Communications Workers of America (CIO) meanwhile have started a new system of "hit and run" picketing aimed at causing the greatest possible confusion in the huge Bell system.

It is designed to keep the company from mobilizing clerks and supervisors fast enough to handle jobs left vacant by striking employees at any one place.

Liberals In Britain Split Deadlock May Be Broken

LONDON, Nov. 11 (CP). — Britain's Liberal party appeared split today on a principle which may help break the present political deadlock between the ruling Labor Party and Winston Churchill's challenging Conservatives.

The issue is whether the Liberals should muster all their strength to try to dislodge Labor from power now, or try to preserve the present government rather than do anything which would assist the Conservatives.

Three of the party's nine members in the House of Commons — Lady Megan Lloyd George, Edgar Granville and Emrys Roberts —made plain in a statement Friday night that they prefer the second course. They said:

"In the present state of the House of Commons and of international tension, we strongly deprecate the practice of forcing a series of divisions purely for the sake of opposition, thereby artificially keeping in being a state of political crisis.

"This procedure makes the division lobby merely an instrument of Conservative party tactics to which the Liberal party should not lend itself. We believe that by our action (in voting independently) we have reasserted the radical tradition which we intend to uphold on every occasion that presents itself."

The statement was issued to explain why the three members abstained in last Tuesday's vote on a Liberal amendment on the cost of living. The three also voted against a Conservative amendment on housing.

This action, which cut across official party policy, is reported to have aroused protests from nearly every Liberal Federation in England and Wales, including west England districts where the old radical flame still burns fiercely.

Briefly the Liberal dilemma—discussed at an executive meeting Friday night—is where to draw the line between party unity and discipline and the old freedom of approach each situation empirically.

Quebec Folk Terrified By Bombing

U.S. Plane Forced To Drop Bombs Into St. Lawrence

ST. ANDRE DE KAMOURASKA, Que., Nov. 11—(CP)—Demolition bombs jettisoned in the St. Lawrence river by a four-engined United States Air Force bomber Friday shattered the quiet of this mountain-girded village on the St. Lawrence river south shore, throwing residents in a near-panic.

Residents ran out into the street as the earth shook and house windows rattled.

At Riviere du Loup, 15 miles east, Radio Station CJFP reported that its building quivered. Phone calls poured in from nearby villages, where windows shook noisily.

At the same time, directly across the St. Lawrence river—15 miles wide here—the blast was heard at St. Simeon and Port Au Persil.

A B-50 bomber, believed part of a flight on a training mission, dumped its load of 500-pound practice bombs over the water about five miles out from shore here.

Two of its motors were dead and the plane needed to lessen its weight.

Then it headed for Limestone, Me.—where there is a U.S. Air Force Field—some 125 miles south of this village, and put down there.

Government officials in Ottawa said there will be an investigation.

One of the few persons who saw what happened was Marie-Ange Frenette, housekeeper for the parish priest at the village church built right on the river shore.

Hears Noise

She was sitting on the verandah when she heard "a strange noise," parish priest the Rev. G. A. Garon, related:

"Then out of the river she saw a thick cloud of pale yellow smoke rise up and grow larger Then came the big, rumbling explosion. It might have been several explosions in quick succession. Anyway the terrific blast reverberated in the mountains behind us four or five times, shaking everything."

At Riviere du Loup, Gerard Lapointe, correspondent for the Quebec daily newspaper Le Soleil, reported buildings shaken, and people saying there had been an earthquake. Some women told him they saw "a ball of fire" in the sky.

Feared Attack

But here at St. Andre, where the series of blasts was relatively close, people feared it was anything from a revolt of the elements to a bombing attack.

Deposed King Of Nepal To Live In New Dehli

NEW DELHI, Nov. 11 (AP)—The deposed king of Nepal, his two queens and other members of his family arrived here today to begin life in exile.

The 44-year-old Nepalese monarch fled to the Indian embassy in Katmandu, Nepal's capital, last Monday after being replaced by his three-year-old grandson, Prince Gyanendra, in a palace revolution. The revolution was engineered by the state's all-powerful prime minister, Maharajah Mohun Shamsher Jang Bahadur Rana.

India has not yet recognized the crowning of the exiled king's grandson Gyanendra. The child was proclaimed the new king by Thursday.

Meantime, unconfirmed reports reaching here from Razaul on the Indo-Nepalese frontier, said armed supporters of the Nepali congress party early today raided the Nepalese town of Birganj and took prisoner its governor and his family.

THE STANDARD OF THE UNITED NATIONS was raised today on the flagstaff of the PCVS, a fitting tribute to Memorial Day services which were held in Confederation Park. Performing the ceremony above are Kay Grier of Lakefield and Cadet Corporal William Wilson.—Examiner Staff Photo.

Break Nearing With Yugoslavia

BELGRADE, Nov. 11 — (CP) — Yugoslavia closed and sealed the Albanian legation here today in a move just one step short of breaking off diplomatic relations between the two countries.

The Yugoslav government charged Albania has "conducted unbearable and serious discriminatory measures" against Yugoslav diplomats.

A note containing the decision of Premier Marshal Tito's government was handed to representative of its tiny, isolated, Mediterranean neighbor, and its contents were disclosed by the Ministry of Information here.

In blunt, stern, language, the note charged Albania has been using its legation in Belgrade not for "the conduct of current affairs and for the settlement of existing issues between the two governments, but has utilized its existence exclusively for the purposes of conducting offending and provocative activities against Yugoslavia and its authorities."

The note said Yugoslavia therefore "considers the further sojourn of the representatives of Albania in Yugoslavia clearly useless."

"Northwest Passage"

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11 (AP)—Direct navigation between the Atlantic and the Pacific via a "northwest passage," deemed impregnable now because of ice, may some become possible as a result of present studies, a United States Navy scientist says.

Question Peace Delegates For Hours On UK Arrival

LONDON, Nov. 11—(AP)—Delegates to the Communist-backed World Peace Congress filtered through Britain's tightening security screen today. Even those granted visas were question for hours and had no guarantee they would be permitted to enter the country for the Monday meeting at Sheffield.

Informants in Prague, Czechoslovakia, in close touch with preparations for the Sheffield session reported today it has been postponed. There was no immediate confirmation, either in Britain or on the continent. Th Prague informants said the postponement was decided upon because of a breakdown in transportation arrangements for delegates.

Hours after the arrival of the cross-Channel steamer from Calais to Dover, many delegates were being held there. Among them were Federic Joliot-Curie, president of the World Peace Committee who was fired as head of the French Atomic Energy Commission for his avowed Communism.

Painter Gets Through

Pablo Picasso, Spanish painter, was the only member of the French delegation to get through to London by noon.

Congress sponsors originally had invited some 2,500 delegates from 74 countries and had hoped more than 2,000 would be able to attend. Present indications were that only half that number would arrive and many "big names" of the fellow-travelling congress would be among those missing.

The Moscow radio broadcast an irate statement by writer Konstantin Simonov, head of the Russian Peace Committee, attacking Britain's refusal of visas to 40 of the Soviet delegates.

The British Government announced Friday it had granted visas to 40 of 88 Russians who had applied.

Among those refused were composer Dmitri Shostakovich and writer Ilya Ehrenburg.

Believe Molotov Now No. 2 Man at Kremlin

BERLIN, Nov. 11 (AP)—The Soviet army's official newspaper confirmed with visual evidence today that V. M. Molotov has risen to new heights of favor in the Kremlin.

The Taegliche Rundchau published a full page of pictures of ceremonies in Moscow commemorating the 33rd anniversary of the Red revolution, showing Molotov in significant prominence.

Recent reports from Moscow have indicated that the former foreign minister may have elbowed his way to the No. 2 spot in the politburo.

A photograph of the reviewing stand for the anniversary parade in Red Square shows 20 leading Soviet figures taking the salute with Molotov in the precise centre. G. M. Malenkov, once considered in line to succeed Stalin, and Lavrenti Beria, head of the secret police, are missing from the scene for the first time in some years.

Cripps Goes To Zurich

LONDON, Nov. 11 (Reuters)—Sir Stafford Cripps, who recently resigned as Chancellor of the Exchequer and member of parliament because of ill health, left here today by air for Zurich, Switzerland, to continue his rest cure. He was accompanied by Lady Crippa.

246 Gave Their Lives

Today the Examiner pays tribute to the men of two world wars who laid down their lives for Canada.

Particularly remembered are the casualties of the 93rd Battalion as the remaining members of the unit hold their first re-union in 14 years. The late Captain J. H. Burnham, paymaster of the 93rd, once estimated the number of men who lost their lives with the unit at 246.

A memorial to "the Fallen" is summed up in the poetry of Laurence Binyon:

They shall not grow old, as we that are left grow old:
Age shall not weary them, nor the years condemn.
At the going down of the sun and in the morning
We will remember them.

Report Prisoner Plans To Launch Appeal Against Present Conviction; "Provocation" Brings Cut In Sentence

By DAVE WHITE

LINDSAY, Nov. 11—After considering the evidence for four and a half hours a Victoria county jury Friday night found William Yuzwa, 33-year-old Hamilton salesman, guilty of manslaughter in the knife-slaying last November of Jack Loucks. Justice W. F. Spence sentenced him to six years in the penitentiary. Discharging the jury, Justice Spence said he thought their verdict "a wise and proper one." Defence Counsel B. J. Spencer Pitt of Toronto told the Examiner after the trial that he would appeal the conviction.

It was the second murder trial for Yuzwa, a stocky Ukrainian-Canadian. Last February another Victoria county jury were unable to agree on a verdict and Mr. Justice Urquhart set the case over to the present assizes.

Loucks, the 36-year-old victim, was slain by a deep stab wound under the right ear in a sidewalk skirmish shortly after midnight last November 18. Three other men received stab wounds in the affray—serious enough to be treated in Lindsay hospital.

They were Floyd Smith, 27, Hagerville truck driver, a scalp wound; Sidney Risley, 50, of Lindsay, a 12-inch slash on his elbow; and Thornton Oliver, 37, also of Lindsay, a scalp wound and a knife slash that nearly severed the tip of his nose.

Agree On Argument

Witnesses agreed that Loucks and Yuzwa had been in a cursing-argument at Yuzwa's truck, parked outside the Big 20 Cafe on Kent St., but no other motive for the vicious series of stabbings was heard in evidence.

Key testimony was that of Wesley Aldred, 36-year-old Lindsay laborer. Aldred was standing on the road just west of the cafe after

Planes Destroy Border Bridges Near Manchuria

SEOUL, Nov. 11 (AP)—Allied ground forces thrust northward today in a renewed offensive against Korean and Chinese Communists. Initial gains of three miles were made in the northwest.

The new drive breaks a five-day lull in the ground fighting, caused by a puzzling withdrawal by the Chinese Communists and the North Koreans.

The Communists withdrew abruptly to wooded mountain positions after inflicting heavy casualties in a sudden counter-attack last week. Many allied units were trapped and cut up.

In the wake of ceaseless air blows on the retreating Reds and their supply lines, American and British infantry pushed off Saturday in northwest Korea.

U.S. Marines and other allied units in the northeast continued their northward drive.

Italian General After Weapons

OTTAWA, Nov. 11 (CP). — A tall, slim Italian general flew here Friday to put to Canada the need of his reviving army for weapons.

Gen. Efisio Marras, chief of the Italian army staff, will be in Canada five days, conferring with Canadian military chiefs, looking over Canada's military training facilities and some of her army units.

Though the general didn't say so, he is expected to emphasize Italy's need for the next batch of army equipment Canada sends across the Atlantic in her arms-for-Europe program.

The first shipment, believed already started overseas, is going to Holland which has been allocated enough to equip a division. Enough for another division will be shipped later, but what country will get it will be decided by the North Atlantic Treaty powers.

Vandenberg To Return Soon May Ease Republican Fire

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11—(AP)—Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg (Rep. Mich.) expects to be back on the job in the new United States Congress, and his return may temper Republican fire on administration foreign policies.

Vandenberg hopes that by following doctors' orders he will be ready for work when the 82nd Congress convenes Jan. 3. With 49 Democrats to 47 Republicans. Idle for many months because of illness and a series of operations, he is resting now at his home in Grand Rapids, Mich.

As top Republican on the senate foreign relations committee, the Michigan senator has served in the past as the chief Republican spokesman on foreign policy in Congress. He has had notable success in comprising foreign-policy differences between the Democratic administration and a sizeable bloc of Republican senators.

Vandenberg kept himself relatively free of the campaign preceding last Tuesday's election, results of which indicated that administration international policies are in for a tough going-over from some re-elected and some new Republican senators.

Some of these have joined in the demand for the resignation of state secretary Dean Acheson and a complete overhauling of far eastern policies.

Vandenberg has made it clear that he doesn't subscribe to the course that has been followed in Asia. He isn't counted as any great booster for Acheson. But he is a long-time friend and admirer of defence secretary George C. Marshall and a confidante of Robert M. Lovett, the under-secretary of defence.

Percy D. Winsor 93rd Veteran Dies In Ottawa

Among those missing today from the 93rd Battalion reunion will be Sgt. Percy Daniel Winsor (195569), an outstanding hockey player with the 93rd Battalion hockey team. Mr. Winsor died Monday in the Ottawa DVA hospital.

He was buried Wednesday in his home town of Buckingham, Quebec. The funeral service was at St. Stephen's Anglican Church in Buckingham, the Rev. Hugh Mortimer officiating. And he was buried in the church cemetery.

After transferring from the 93rd to the 52nd Battalino he won the Military Medal and Bar.

After the war he starred as a hockey player with the Cooks and Sheiks teams of Saskatchewan.

Altogether 250 former members of the 93rd are expected to converge on the armouries for the battalion's second reunion, the last being held here in 1936. Ex-soldiers are expected from Toronto, Hamilton and other parts of Ontario, as well as the United States.

Percy Ecobichon of Cleveland was the first out-of-towner to register for the 93rd reunion. Mr. Ecobichon is an active member of the U.S.A. Legion and he is visiting his mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Ecobichon, Aylmer St.

Captain Jesse Ketchum of Ottawa, another 93rd hockey player, registered Friday and got a head start on the others in renewing acquaintanceships.

Another Ottawa visitor, and one of the first to register, is William Tanner. He is accompanied by his wife.

At 5:30 p.m. today the First World War veterans will meet at the armouries for the reunion dinner. Expected among tonight's guests is Capt. Walter Thompson, M.P.P., the new Liberal leader in Ontario.

A memorial drumhead service will be held Sunday at 3 p.m. in the armouries. The 93rd veterans will fall in at the armouries square 2:15 p.m. for the service 45 minutes later. The Rev. Ivan C. Morgan, Murray Street Baptist Church, will be the chief speaker.

May Tap Alaskan Volcanoes To Warm US Soldiers

By FRANK CAREY

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11—(AP)—Research into the possibility of "tapping" Alaskan and Aleutian volcanoes to warm American armed forces in the event of war in the cold country was suggested Friday by a defence department scientist.

Dr. H. E. Landsberg of the government's research and development board made the suggestion in addressing a conference of top-ranking American and Canadian scientists considering research needs in strategic Alaska.

Landsberg said the volcanic-heat possibility, while probably far-fetched at this time, warrants investigation along with other possible aides to military men who might be called upon to fight in a land of rigorous terrain and weather.

Most Exposed

Calling the Arctic areas of North America "the unprotected bald spot" of the western hemisphere, Landsberg said Alaska is the most exposed area of the northern defence sector.

Asked by a reporter to amplify on his volcanic-heat suggestion, Landsberg said:

"In theory at least, there's no reason why we couldn't pump water into the ground near volcanoes of Alaska and the Aleutian chain so that it would reach a level sufficiently hot to convert it into steam and then come out through natural gaps."

Cheerful Workers Hold Fall Tea

The Cheerful Workers of St. James' United Church Sunday School held their fall tea and bazaar on Wednesday.

The room was beautifully decorated with evergreens, bronze and white 'mums. On the tea table was a silk flowered tablecloth, a vase filled with fruit and white 'mums and candlesticks with red and green candles.

Mrs. A. E. Prest, president and Miss B. Bowers received the guests. Mrs. L. Glover was tea convener and head of the decorating committee. The servers were: Mrs. C. J. Copping, Mrs. L. Steward, Mrs. J. Monks, Mrs. J. R. Reynolds, Mrs. B. Scabrook and Mrs. F. Cruik poured tea. Also helping were Mrs. J. Rutherford, Mrs. E. Sargent, Mrs. C. H. Porter, Mrs. Close and Mrs. C. J. Heal.

The table of homemade cooking was attended by Mrs. M. Carter and Mrs. W. J. Sarenger; aprons, by Mrs. William Atkinson and Mrs. Matchett; pillow slips by Mrs. C. Dlaveson; fancy goods, Mrs. J. Worrallund, Mrs. L. Littlefuir; cards, Mrs. T. Hall, Mrs. A. Manley; candy, Miss E. Grose; novelties, Mrs. Meredith, Mrs. M. Copson.

Mrs. M. Drysdale and Mrs. J. P. Roberts provided a very excellent supper for the ladies. Mrs L. Glover thanked these ladies.

Acquit Uncle Beating Girl

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 11 — (CP)—Douglas Carapata was acquitted Friday night on a charge of beating his niece, Mary McIntyre, formerly of Vancouver, with a hammer at her San Francisco apartment last June 4.

The jury was given the case late Friday afternoon.

The 14-day trial was characterized by conflicting testimony, but through it all Carapata insisted that he was innocent.

Defence lawyer Emmet Hagerty contended that blows inflicted on the 25-year-old advertising agency secretary had so affected her mind that she was incapable of remembering who attacked her.

Hagerty laid stress on her orginal story—told when she regained consciousness after the beating—that she had awakened in her bloodstained bed to find a stranger standing over her.

Later, emerging from a long coma, she testified that Carapata had struck her with a hammer when she accused him of being a homosexual.

She added that when she regained consciousness shortly after the hammer attack she had telephoned Carapata to come to her aid "because he was my only relative here and it seemed the natural thing to do."

The northwest offensive was launched soon after airmen had reported a link-up of east and west coast allied forces across the 100-mile waist of the peninsula.

No Confirmation

The Eighth Army, however, had no confirmation of the link-up this afternoon.

The U.S. 24th Division and Commonwealth 27th Brigade pushed off from their bridgehead north of the Chongchon river at Anju. They drove three miles to the outskirts of Pakchon, eight miles north of the allied supply base of Anju.

Pakchon is 60 air miles south of the Manchurian border and 50 north of Pyongyang, former Red capital. It is believed a Red strong point.

However, elements of the 24th reached the southern outskirts of Pakchon without major opposition. Patrols earlier were reported northeast of Pakchon.

Farther east, on their right flank, the U.S. 1st Cavalry Division moved slowly forward, likewise unopposed.

Steady Advance

To the north-east, US Marines moved steadily toward the big Changjin power dam. They gained five miles and took the last of four hydro-electric plants which supply power to North Korea and parts of Manchuria.

Ahead of the advancing Allies, both Navy and Air Force planes pounded more than 50 areas. Villages were fired, big towns smashed and two Manchurian border bridges knocked out. Two more were damaged.

On all fronts the planes strove to block off oncoming Chinese from Manchuria.

A Washington spokesman for the army reported that two B-29s were so badly shot up by enemy fighters that one went down at sea and another was destroyed while landing at its home base.

Jets Use Rockets

Enemy jets are believed to have used rockets for the first time in an air battle between four US jet fighters and seven Russian-built MIG-15s over the rubbled northwestern city of Sinuiju. Neither side lost any planes in that action.

But Navy Panther jets shot down one MIG-15 in another air battle in the same area.

Almost 11,000 incendiary bombs were dumped on the Red command post and supply point of Uiju, 10 miles north-east of Sinuiji. Clouds of smoke obscured the target, but most of the area was believed ablaze.

A US Eighth Army Headquarters spokesman said there were reports of strong patrol contact with Comunist ground forces six miles north-west of Tokchon, on the north-west front. It was in that sector that the Red build-up was reported.

On the Eighth Army's west flank, U.S. 24th Division patrols went nearly six miles north without finding the enemy.

Youth Bags Bear

MARMORA, Nov. 11 (ENS) — Donald Shannon Jr., of Marmora township, got the hunting bug last Monday and thought it advisable to go alone in quest of some venison.

North of Crowe lake, he ventured, hoping to get a shot at a buck. He however spotted a large bear about two hundred and fifty pounds in weight and levelled his gun, using all his ammunition to account for his quarry.

riding up on his bicycle to get a cup of coffee.

He witnessed the argument between Joe Kearns, a Lindsay resident who was not called by the Crown at either trial, and Yuzwa. And later he saw and heard Loucks baiting Yuzwa.

According to his testimony Yuzwa jumped out of the truck when the three Zahodnik brothers walked out of the cafe. After an excited explanation of some sort one of the three brothers started west up Kent St., with Yuzwa, and the series of stabbings began.

Three Dismissed

After they were arrested on the outskirts of Peterborough, an hour later, by a police roadblock and a hail of bullets, all four men were charged with murder. The three brothers—Paul and James of Hamilton, and John of Toronto—were dismissed at a preliminary hearing in Lindsay presided over by Magistrate E. A. Gee. They were defended by J. B. Robinette, Toronto.

Yuzwa alone was committed for trial on the murder count.

For the third time at this week's trial Wesley Aldred told a court how he saw Yuzwa and "a man in a fawn coat" approach Loucks. He did not get a good view of what happened because the two attackers had their backs to him. But he saw a "forward movement" of Yuzwa's elbows and he observed Loucks twist his head away from Yuzwa, cupping a hand over his mouth.

At the same time, Aldred said, he saw the accused spin the fatally-injured man by the left shoulder. Spewing blood, Loucks wandered aimlessly about the street for a couple of minutes, called once for help, and collapsed.

Difficult Task

In his one hour and 15-minute charge to the jury Justice Spence conceded that their's was a difficult task because of "the tangled skein of testimony. He said none of the witnesses knew how long the arguing and fracas lasted.

"And it was unfortunate that many of the witnesses had indulged in alcoholic liquors," he said.

Justice Spence said flatly that he did not intend to rehash the evidence as this would probably "becloud" the jurymen's minds. But he spent most of the time during his charge explaining and defining murder and manslaughter.

"Yuzwa is guilty of murder if he meant to cause Loucks bodily injury, known to him as likely to to cause death, and if he was reckless whether death ensured or not."

However, if the jury were satisfied that Yuzwa struck the fatal blow "caused by a sudden provocation and in the heat of passion," they could bring in the manslaughter verdict.

Return Once

The jury retired at 3:22 p.m. and came back once to hear a re-reading of Aldred's evidence.

At 8:36 p.m. they filed back in, and Russell Graham, foreman, gave the verdict: "My Lord, we find the prisoner guilty of manslaughter."

Justice Spence thanked the jury and commended them on their "careful attention during the trial."

"I may say that I think your verdict a wise one, in fact the wisest one," he said.

"You have had the benefit of a a most adequate defence," Justice Spence told Yuzwa.

Showed No Interest

"Others in this province who have been convicted of manslaughter after a charge of murder have been given life imprisonment. I take the view that the jury wisely reduced the charge to manslaughter, because you did not intend to commit the crime of murder.

Had it not been for the element of provocation the sentence would have been 10 years, said Justice Spence. And had he been passing sentence at the time of the crime it would have been seven years.

"You have, however, spent nearly a year in jail and I am quite ready in fixing my sentence to allow you the benefit of the year in jail".

No Emotion

Yuzwa, dressed in a grey gabardine suit and natty tie, received the sentence with no sign of emotion. He seemed nerveless. He said a few words to Mr. Pitt, his defence counsel who patted him on the back and told him not to worry, and then stepped from the prisoner's box to be manacled.

His wife, a dark, attractive and vivacious woman, left the courtroom with relatives before he was led away.

1,500,000 S. Koreans Have Property Losses

TOKYO, Nov. 11 (AP)—The Korean war to date has caused property losses to 1,500,000 South Koreans and has destroyed more than 150,000 homes, a U.S. official reported today.

Brig.-Gen. Crawford F. Sams, head of the public health and welfare section of the United Nations' command, said the section has completed an eight-weeks program of immunization, water purification and sanitation for South Koreans in liberated areas.

Port Hope Girl Captures Shield

Brenda Wakely of Port Hope was the first prize winner of the Durham County Oratorical Contest finals that took place at the Ontario Training School for Boys, Bowmanville, Friday night. Second prize was won by Joan Venning of Blackstock.

The first prize winner was awarded the Durham Club Shield by Dr. L. B. Williams, president of the Durham County Club, Toronto, for her speech, "William Lyon Mackenzie King." The Lion's Club Shield, the second prize award was presented to Joan Vetnning by Russell Osborne, Bowmanville, for her speech, "Wood in the Life of Canada."

Finalist cups were presented to the remaining seven speakers: Diana Scott of Campbellcroft, Bernard Brinklow of Cavan, Wanda McFarlane of Bowmanville, Laurie Stapleton, Newtonville, Ray Munro of the Canadian Training School for Boys, Ruth Miller of Bethany and Beverly Cowling of Bowmanville.

The two first prize winners will compete in the Inter-County Oratorical Contest to be held in Havelock on November 17.

The winners of the Peterborough District Oratorical Contest, Gary McNeeley and Isabel Fulton which was held on October 27 will also be contestants in the Inter-County Finals.

Jeanette Carlos, Le Soleil correspondent here, said eye-witnesses heard a plane first and then saw dropping from it what appeared to be a "ball" which splashed in the water.

First report of the blast came from radio station CJFP, which serves this rugged region about 100 miles down-river from Quebec City.

At the same time, Canadian Transport Department officials at Mont Joli, Que., later reported they had been in communication with a B-50 that ran into engine trouble. The plane was evidently on a flight from the big air base at Goose Bay, Labrador, to Tucson, Ariz., they said.

A dispatch from Washington last night confirmed the jettisoning of the 500-bombs in the St. Lawrence.

be declared unanimous. Campbell Calder, a candidate who was eliminated on the second ballot, spoke briefly to support their motion.

The other four candidates went out after the first ballot. John J. Sullivan, of Hamilton, was out automatically as low man. Charles W. Cox, of Port Arthur, Arnott Hicks, of Hamilton, and Norman Hipel, of Preston, withdrew.

After the first ballot, when chairman Norman Mathews, of Toronto, read off the names in the order of their vote standing, some delegates shouted for the figures. The question went to a vote and it was decided not to make them public.

Ballot Results

However, it was learned that the results of each ballot was:

First: Thomson, 296; Cassidy, 156; Brown, 149; Calder, 69; Hicks, 28; Cox, 24; Hipel, 12; Sullivan, 4—total 738.

Second: Thomson, 334; Cassidy, 196; Brown, 166; Calder, 50—total 746.

Third: Thomson, 365; Cassidy, 220; Brown, 116—total 701.

Before the vote, it was announced that 782 of the 840 eligible delegates had registered.

The big surprise in the voting came in the showing of Dr. Cassidy, head of the School of Social Work at the University of Toronto, and Mr. Brown, member of the Legislature for Waterloo North.

Because Mr. Brown had the personal support of two federal cabinet ministers—Trade Minister Howe and Immigration Minister Harris—and of an influential group of active Ontario Liberals, it was felt he would give Mr. Thomson the closest battle.

His Second Bid

It was Mr. Thomson's second bid for the leadership. He was a candidate in 1943 when Harry C. Nixon, member of the Legislature for Brant since 1919, was the convention choice.

Mr. Thomson's winsome, 17-year-old twin daughters—Marie Louise and Janet Annabelle — shared in his victory reception. They went to the platform to stand with him as a host of well-wishers passed by to shake his hand.

In his maiden leadership speech Mr. Thomson emphasized that, as far as he was concerned, there was "no victor, no vanquished" in the party choice. He extended friendship to the seven defeated candidates and thanked Dr. Cassidy and Mr. Brown for moving that his election be made unanimous.

He recalled the advice of his minister father when he left home as a youth: "Remember, son, the knowledge of our limitations is the beginning of wisdom." He knew his own limitations and "I know that now I might be better on my knees than on my feet."

Born In Hastings

His Scottish ancestry was recalled at the press conference. He said his father, the Rev. Dr. D. A. Thomson, was born in Dundee; his mother, the former Janet McMillan, at Rothesay on the Isle of Butte. But he regretted that he did not play the bagpipes and I haven't the Gaelic."

Born at Hastings, he attended public and high school at Norwood, a few miles north of his birthplace. He studied law at Osgoode Hall in Toronto, was called to the Bar in 1923 and was created King's Counsel in 1935.

He served in the First World War, enlisting with the 93rd Battalion and later served with the 21st Battalion, retiring with the rank of Major. He was first elected to the Commons in the 1949 general election.

He is the first lawyer to head the Ontario Liberal party in 20 years. The last was the late W. E. N. Sinclair of Oshawa. The three leaders in the interval were practical farmers—Mitchell F. Hepburn, Mr. Nixon and Mr. Oliver. Like them, he operates a successful farm and is a noted cattle breeder.

The delegates were in a festive mood for the voting. Mel Cadeau of Hamilton led a sing-song, with Leo Gauthier, M.P. for Sudbury and co-chairman for the convention, taking over for a rousing rendition of "Alouette." J. Frank Casselman from Grenville-Dundas and George Gordon, M.P.P. for Brantford, sang impromptu solos.

Bring UK Steamer To Hong Kong

HONG KONG, Nov. 11 (CP)—The 2,994-ton British steamer Tsinan, which broke adrift in raging seas north of Formosa Thursday night, is on her way to Hong Kong under tow, the owners of the tug, the Margaret Moller, reported today.

The Tsinan hit a mine in the Yangtse estuary last August and is manned by a skeleton crew. It was being towed from Shanghai to Hong Kong. Friday night the Canadian destroyer Sioux—one of the three destroyers with UN forces in Far Eastern waters—rushed from Hong Kong to the Tsinan's assistance.

Kathleen Stokes PleasesAudience

Kathleen Stokes well known Canadian organist delighted an audience that well-filled the Collegiate Auditorium Friday night, with her selections on the Hammond organ.

Miss Stokes was the guest artist at the concert presented by the Peterborough Choral Society.

Ranging from classical to old and modern numbers, this organist captivated her audience with her charming stage manner as well as her playing. With the exception of two numbers Debussy's "Claire de Lune" and "Waltz in A Major" by Chopin which were never meant to be played on the organ, she chose selections which suited her rhythmic and colorful style of playing. At times, her tonal contrasts were too great to be pleasing to the ear and as a result the quieter numbers such as "By the Waters of Minnetonka" and some of the pieces in the medley of Armistice Day selections were more enjoyable.

The Peterborough Choral Society, under the direction of Wm. Simms, conductor, sang five selections both with and without accompaniment. Their best presentations were the two numbers "Brown Bird Singing" by Haydon Wood and "Bird Songs at Eventide" by Eric Coates.

Soloists for the concert were Gladys Groombridge (soprano), Peggy Horsnell (soprano), and D. Hurtubise (tenor).

Mrs. Groombridge sang two operatic numbers, from Bizet's "Carmen" and Mascagni's "Cavalleria Rusticana". Peggy Horsnell sang Massenet's "Weep, Weep, My Eyes" from Le Cid, and "Love and Music" from Puccini's La Tosca. D. Hurtubise sang "Ah Moon of My Delight" from Lehmann's "Persian Garden".

Olive Searles, ATCM, was accompanist.

Woman Bags Her Second Deer

It seems as though thousands in the Kawartha district have been bitten with the deer-hunting bug this season, including the ladies. In the village of Apsley, in the heart of the game country, Mrs. Art Earnshaw exchanged the skillet for a rifle and joined a village party of eight and proved herself the crack shot of the crowd. Out of five deer bagged in camp Mrs. Earnshaw shot two bucks. Mrs. Sid McCauley, another villager, also brought down a deer east of the vilage, her first this season; she is a veteran of the deer watches and has shot her quota in several past years.

At city police court on Friday only Magistrate W. R. Philp, Crown Attorney John Bradshaw and Justice of the Peace James J. Fleming were present. There were no cases. "Even the criminals have gone hunting, it seems," commented his worship.

New Check Point Established In Berlin

HELMSTEDT, Germany, Nov. 11—(Reuters)—United States and British military police coupled an Armistice Day ceremony here today with the setting up of a new joint Anglo-American check point on the road to Berlin from the west.

The new point houses in a modern building the American and British guards who inspect the documents of travellers to and from Berlin. It faces the Soviet zone's check point and cuts out the several hundred yards which separate the old one from the Soviet side.

WINNIPEG GRAIN

WINNIPEG, Nov. 11 (CP) — Highly active trade Friday brought higher prices for coarse grains on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange. Only rye was lower.

Class 2 wheat and IWA prices rose three-quarters cent. Wheat export business included United Kingdom allocation of 640,000 bushels, South Africa 370,000, Colombia 80,000 and Belgium 50,000.

Canadian Experts Keep Planes Flying On Airlift

By DAVE McINTOSH.

McCHORD AIR FORCE BASE, Wash., Nov. 11 — ((CP). — They rolled the 30-ton giant into the hangar and the ground crew swarmed over it like ants burrowing into a great silver log.

Almost a week later they rolled it out again, refreshed after the major overhaul and ready to tick smoothly on the 10,000-mile haul to Tokyo and back.

The men who keep 'em flying for the RCAF Korean Airlift Squadron had turned out another professional job.

Who are these men who make a squadron operational but whom you never hear about?

Take Cpl. Bill Widger, for instance. The 46-year-old Calgarian has been an airframe mechanic for 10 years. He worked on Battles, Kittyhawks, Hurricanes, Ansons, Lysanders, and Mosquitoes— among others—before North Stars were ever built.

In Perfect Order

Everything back of the fire wall is my business," he says. By this, he means all control surfaces are his responsibility — everything but the engines. Ailerons, fins, rudders, flaps undercarriage, nosewheel — all these must be in perfect working order. If an aileron should jam, a score of men might die.

Stocky, craggy-jawed Widger says: "I suppose aircraft become just like patients after a while, and you look after them like a doctor. You jab 'em here and there, and find out what's wrong. After that, you have to put it right."

He stuck his screwdriver in his pocket and leaned back against the work bench. He looked at the North Star, encased in scaffoldings as men dug into its vitals.

"Seems funny about the North Star," he said. "American design, British engines, Canadian modifications. She's got good engines. She's a good plane."

Can't Be Beaten

Any pilot here will tell you the same thing and that no engine can beat the Rolls-Royce Herlin. And they add that the ground crew keep them that way.

"That plane will barrel through anything," was the way FO. Jack Santarelli of Montreal put it.

Flt.-Lt. Gord Webb, DFC and Bar, of Hamilton, says: "I flew B-29s in Alaska, After those, handling a North Star is like stepping from a horse and buggy into a new car."

Sgt. Ed Jacobsen of Kenora, Ont., has been an engine mechanic in the RCAF for 12 years and joined the squadron from Centralia, Ont.

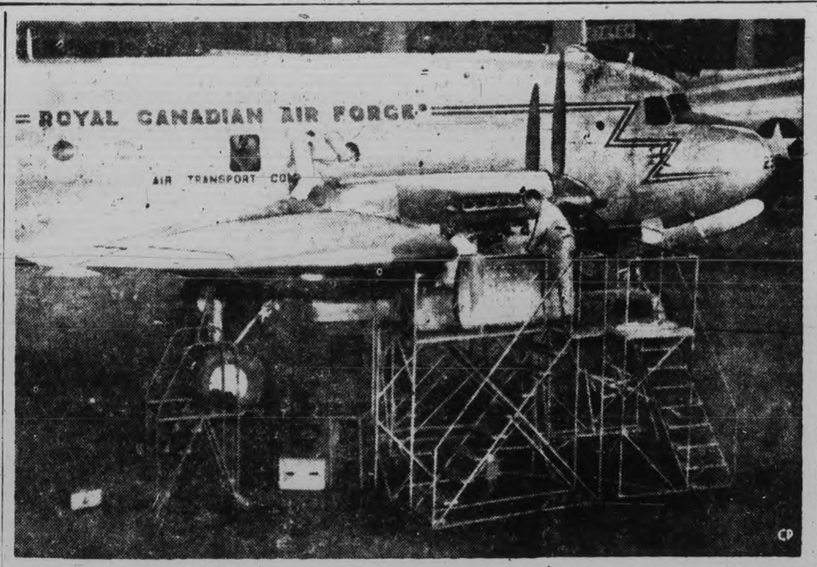
His job is to see that the engines turn over and keep turning over.

Well Trained

Another task is training new men. "It takes three to four months to train an engine mechanic," he says. "There's a good deal of natural ability to it, though. An engine mechanic is more or less born, not made."

This can be pretty credible to any layman, gazing at the incomprehensible jungle of rods, valves and feed lines. Beside an engine, the myriad dials and switches of the cockpit are a piece of cake.

A ground crew man who has to be able to—and can—fathom the intricacies of the cockpit is LAC. Bill Tigges of Ottawa. He has been in the RCAF 2½ years.



Modifications

"The instrument trade is pretty new," he says. "All I do is modifications, modifications." He exhibited a new flow-meter, about a third the size of the old one.

"Modifications are what make a better aircraft, though," he said.

Cpl. Leo Mancuso of Toronto is an electrician, has been for eight years. Before 1942 he was a draughtsman. He served in Europe as well as on a good percentage of airdromes in Canada.

Mancuso is responsible for all electrical circuits in the North Star. With four men, it takes five days to cover them all from nose to tail on a major check, which comes every 400 flying hours.

KEEP 'EM FLYING — Behind the air crews of the RCAF Korean airlift squadron working out of McChord Field, Wash., are about 400 ground crew members. Here four of them (Top) are working on one of the squadron's North Stars in hangar No. 2 at McChord. Inside the plane is LAC. Nick Rawluk of Edmonton; on the wing is LAC. Oscar Leblanc of Moncton, N.B.; working on the engine are LAC. Charlie Guillet, left, and LAC John Quinn, both of Ottawa. At another spot, the outer starboard Rolls Royce Merlin engine of one of the planes (Lower) is checked by LAC. Robert Nurse of St. John's, Nfld, left, and LAC Marcel Monchamp of Winnipeg.

Church Guild Euchre

APSLEY, Nov. 11 (ENS).—The Guild of St. George's Anglican Church held a very successful progressive euchre party in the Parish Hall on Wednesday evening, with good attendance.

Nine tables were played. Ladies' first prize was won by Mrs. Vernal Young; ladies' consolation, Mrs. Walter Miller of Peterborough; gent's first prize won by a visiting hunter; gent's consolation, Tom Staples. Chair prize, George Carr.

Ecuador Agreement

OTTAWA, Nov. 11 (CP)—Canada Friday signed a commercial agreement with Ecuador to open still wider the Latin-American doors to Canadian trade. The new agreement, similar to one signed with Venezuela about a month ago, is designed to lower tariffs and eliminate trade discrimination.

Appointed Consul

OTTAWA, Nov. 11 (CP)—Wilson St. Lerer Durdin of London, Ont., has been appointed Canadian consul in Frankfurt Germany, it was disclosed Friday in the Canada Gazette.

Union Leader Not Worried About Rail Law

TORONTO, Nov. 11—(CP)—A rail union leader said Friday he does not fear parliament's legislation ending the August general rail strike will set a pattern for compulsory alteration in labor disputes.

J. E. McGuire, of Ottawa, national secretary-treasurer of the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees (CCL), expressed this view before the Ticker Club. His union is the largest single organization of the 17 that went on strike.

The legislation called for a government arbitrator to settle retaining points at issue between the railways and unions. Some union men have criticized it as tending to set a precedent for compulsory arbitration of disputes.

Not Worried

Mr. McGuire said he does not share these fears, adding he is sure organized labor in Canada will 'resist to the limit of its ability any denial of its right to strike."

While opposing the principle of compulsory arbitration, he said Prime Minister St. Laurent's statement to parliament that the August measure was not compulsory arbitration in the usual sense 'is not far off the beam as some would like to make you believe."

Mr. McGuire said the legislation gave the employees more than the railways were offering and provided an opportunity for them to obtain further concessions by arbitration.

Leading Way

"The legislation has not only established the fiveday, 40-hour week beyond all question for all railway workers in Canada," he said, "but I am confident that many thousands of workers in other industries will get the fiveday, 40-hour week much sooner as a result of the action of the government in this instance."

He said some features of the act were not the most satisfactory solution from the standpoint of the railway employees, but he added:

"Frankly, whether we like it or not, parliament probably went as far as it could be reasonably expected to go, in an effort to end speedily the creeping paralysis which the strike was causing."

Say Hollywood May Become TV-Interested

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 11.(AP)—Hollywood, which so far has only its foot in the television door, this week heard that it might get inside some day.

NBC president Joseph H. McConnell told a press conference that "we expect to have a substantial number of television shows emanating from Hollywood; we also expect a substantial number of films in the television programming."

He indicated that plans are progressing for making more TV films in Hollywood but direct telecasting to the big eastern audience will have to await conclusion of country-wide transmission facilities, still a year or more away.

He added that he is "surprised that motion picture people haven't interested themselves more in television." He predicted they will in the future.

Saturday Stew

I note that Gloria Swanson is reported signed to make a picture in Britain. Also that she started a regular radio show from New York. So, despite her triumphant comeback and Oscar contention, Hollywood has offered her nothing to cash in on her fame . . .

Radio had one of its minor tizzies this week. Laurence Olivier and Vivien Leigh appeared together on Radio Theatre. As with other stars, they were asked to endorse the sponsor's product at the end of the show. The titled couple declined. No amount of persuasion could change their minds. Olivia de Havilland is the only other star who has told that program "no soap" . . .

Apsley WA Meets

APSLEY, Nov. 11 (ENS).—The Women's Association of Trinity United Church met at the home of Mrs. John Tucker, Thursday afternoon with a good attendance.

Plans were made for caretaker for the church and for decorating the church for the Christmas service. Mrs. Newberry gave the talk from the study book.

A committee was appointed to purchase some flatware for use at teas and suppers.

Worker Electrocuted

NAPANEE, Nov. 11 (CP) — Eugene Latimer, 21, of Gananoque, a truck driver for the Harvey Construction Co. of Kingston, was electrocuted near here Friday. He was engaged in the road-widening project between Napanee and Marysville. Assisting at the removal of a tree, Latimer was electrocuted when the boom of a derrick shovel contacted a high-tension wire. No inquest will be held.

"It's a trick—they're carrying the ball!"

Order Autopsy

TORONTO, Nov. 11 (CP) — George Hunter, 44, Toronto, collapsed and died Friday while being led from a police wagon to city hall court cells. Chief Coroner Smirle Lawson said an autopsy will be held. Police said Hunter, arrested on a false pretences charge, told them that during the last few weeks he had spent a $1,500 legacy left him by his father.

Re-United Hearts On The Eleventh

Today is one of memories. Today fitting ceremonies have been held at the War Memorial; the eleventh hour of the eleventh day of the eleventh month has been observed; and minds and hearts have been turned back but a little distance to the Second World War and its armistice on May 7th, 1945, only five years ago. It is a day of proud and painful memories which Time enshrines but does not dim.

• • •

It is fitting that today members of the 93rd Battalion, famed in the Great War, should again come together in the city on which it was based. It is their first re-union in fourteen years. We greet those veterans and honour them.

Juggling With Dollars

In the midst of his remarks on national finance to the Empire Club of Toronto last Thursday Mr. Graham Towers, Governor of the Bank of Canada, had by-words rather amazing to laymen in international finance, for instance, about the inward flow of American capital to Canada this year. In June Canada's official reserves of gold and United States dollars increased $73 millions. July was also a boom month in this regard. In August the movement accelerated and reserves rose by $184 millions. The peak came in September, reaching flood proportions; to an amount in excess of $335 millions. Mr. Towers commented. "I doubt whether any other country has ever experienced a capital inflow of proportionate size in such a short space of time. A comparable situation for the United States would be one in which the Government was called on to buy more than ten billion dollars worth of gold in four months."

• • •

The Americans bought Canadian securities in anticipation of a rise in the value of the Canadian dollar—an expectation which was fulfilled. But they also bought because they had confidence in Canada, even though this country, setting war debts in some countries aside, has a larger foreign debt than any other country in the world. It is the American experience as debtors which gives them confidence in Canada: for the debt, incurred over a long period of years, had chiefly been for productive purposes (factories, the development of mines and the like). Canada has thus been able to service the debt without undue strain.

• • •

The four months of precipitate American buying in Canada, brought intricate problems, which the Bank of Canada and the Foreign Control Board met, as explained by Mr. Towers.

• • •

It is not always realized that additions to exchange reserves require to be financed. When the Government buys United States funds from an American investor who wishes to purchase a domestic security, it must find the Canadian dollars to pay him with. During June and July the Canadian dollars required to pay for the increased gold and United States dollar holdings of the Foreign Exchange Control Board were provided from the cash resources of the Government. In August and September, as the capital inflow continued and then increased in volume, the Government found it necessary to borrow from the chartered banks, by issuance of $200 millions of Deposit Certificates, and from the Bank of Canada to the extent of nearly $300 millions by selling it exchange on a temporary basis.

• • •

This financing with the Bank of Canada would have had inflationary implications if it had resulted in a large increase in the cash reserves of the chartered banks. However, the Bank set out to prevent this happening by selling in the market part of its holdings of Government of Canada securities. Its net sales in August and September totalled more than $200 millions. "Taken in conjunction with certain other changes in our position, these sales of securities prevented an increase in chartered bank reserves over the period, despite the substantial central bank financing of the Foreign Exchange Control Board to which I have referred. I need hardly add that the pressure of our selling brought short term security prices down and interest yields up. We had never before had occasion to conduct open market operations on this scale within such a short period of time."

• • •

The jig-saw puzzle of Canada's finance so deftly pieced together by such experts as Mr. Graham Towers can incite only the admiration of the uninitiated. When the puzzle is so rosily integrated as it now is (Canada for the moment has no painful American dollar shortage), we can all praise the completed masterpiece, as we jingle more American money in our pockets than we have been allowed for several years, as shoppers in the U.S.A.

Our Monday Evening Music

The Examiner is sincerely proud and pleased to be able to present again this year the Coventry Singers of Peterborough to radio audiences through the medium of station CHEX. We believe the Coventry Singers to be among the best small choirs in Canada and the music which it sets itself to interpret among the most beautiful and interesting in the western world's library of song. It is as a service to music in Canada as well as for the enjoyment of the radio audience that the Examiner is sponsoring this Monday evening series.

The response to the Coventry Singers' four Christmas carol broadcasts last year, sponsored by this newspaper, was so enthusiastic appreciative, and widespread that we have persuaded the group to give six programs this year. They will begin at nine o'clock on Monday next and continue each Monday at the same hour until Christmas.

The Coventry Singers give their fondest study to earlier British part-songs, both secular and sacred; such gems as The Ash Grove, The Silver Swan and The Presentation of Christ in the Temple are included in the first program. But the choir ranges widely over many centuries' and countries' music. They will sing, for instance, ancient rounds) a form of contrapuntal music which this age has unwarrantedly relegated to children's camps and adults' supper clubs), and the hauntingly beautiful, exceedingly difficult Corpus Christi by the modern British composer Peter Warlock. Of unusual interest will be the performance, during the third and four broadcasts, of Purcell's Masque in Dioclesian, a work seldom performed in Canada. The last two programs will be given over to such fine Christmas carols as were heard last year.

The Examiner hopes that a large number of its readers and friends will avail themselves of the delighting, significant music which the Coventry Singers have in store.

A Roar About Aurora

Perhaps it is to jag up their spirits because the cold and gloom of winter is already settling over northwestern Ontario. Perhaps it is self-stoking for internal heat. Certainly the spark that flew out of Fort William the other day from a group called "New Province League" had some strange forgers whacking away at an old anvil. The notion of carving a separate province out of Ontario is as old as Ontario, though the segment to be chopped off varies from decade to decade: Northern Ontario, the eastern counties, north-western Ontario and so on. But this time the sweaters at the anvil have a new curve to their strikes. Speaking about this new province, to be called "Aurora", Ald. J. J. Spooner of Fort William said: "Don't think that Toronto is not concerned. They know that if we establish a separate province they will be on relief in thirty days". A new sort of Spoonerism, that. If those fellows up around Fort William aren't more choosey with their words, the first thing they know Toronto will become annoyed, and decide itself to secede from the rest of Ontario. They who will be on relief, or wanting to go on it, and unable to get it? What about that, Mr. Spooner of Fort William?

No Timely Joke

Newspaper jokes belong to a special category of humour. They are durable, much-travelled, well-worn. The Toronto Globe and Mail makes use of a joke every day, in a special place on its front page, headed "Your Morning Smile". Sometimes the smile is that with which we greet an old friend. Recently a joke appeared in this position which read thus: "An American visitor travelling through the American West stepped off a train and asked a native the name of the place; he replied "Saskatoon, Saskatchewan"; said she, "Isn't it charming; they don't speak English".

Well, the story is still good, after fifty years of use. Even bright-eyed Time magazine must think so. It quoted it last week as a timely news-story reported on by the Globe and Mail. The Globe must have had its own private morning smile when it saw the item in Time.

The Marchbanks Correspondence

To Samuel Marchbanks, Esq.
Dear Mr. Marchbanks:

Could you, offhand, name the most wronged group of men in Canada today? No, of course you couldn't, but I, as Perpetual President of the Indignant Females (Canadian Division) will name it for you. Policemen!

Almost every word which is applied to the police in everyday life is a term of derision. Take "flatfoot" for instance. It is a patent misnomer. The Indignant Females have taken plaster impressions of the feet of over two thousand Canadian police, and a majority of them have feet which are slightly rounded on the sole; the completely flat foot, shaped like a brick, was found in little more than nine hundred cases. Nor is it true that policemen have unusually big feet; our investigations reveal that postmen have bigger feet, and that policemen compare favourably with bill collectors in this respect.

When policemen go out driving, to preserve the peace, what is their vehicle called? A "prowl" car. Are policemen cats, that they should prowl? I appeal to you to do what you can during the coming seven days, which we have set aside as "Be Kind To Cops Week".

Yours indignantly,
(Mrs.) KEDIJAH SCISSORBILL.

To Amyas Pilgarlic, Esq.
Dear Pil:

A man I know has been boasting in the public prints recently about the difficulties which he has encountered in opening oysters. I can only conclude that he has never acquired this knack. The way to open an oyster is to insert a chisel, or perhaps a small poker, into the imperceptible cranny at the sharp end of the oyster, and heave. With not much more trouble than would be found in opening the main vault of the Bank of England, the upper shell will stir a little, and it is at this point that your assistants should push heavy wooden wedges (oak, for choice) between the shells. Then blow cigarette smoke into the crack and the oyster will sneeze, neatly blowing its top. No trick at all; once you are used to it, and in this way half a dozen oysters may be opened in an hour.

Lincoln said that he who cuts his own wood warms himself twice. Marchbanks says that he who opens his own oysters gives himself an appetite.

Did you know, by the way, that the great singer Adelina Patti (1843-1919) loved oysters, and used to sing so exquisitely after eating them that she would cause the most torpid audience to leap to its feet? This ability on her part suggested the name for that elegant confection, the Hoister Patti.

Yours,
SAM.

To Canadian Press
Dear Sirs:

Due to some oversight, no doubt, you neglected to ask me for my personal reminiscences of the late Bernard Shaw. I am sending them anyhow, and they are as follows:

In August, 1936, I visited the Shakespeare Hotel in Stratford-upon-Avon, and learned from the manager that Shaw had spent a night there two months earlier. But the manager also informed me that Mr. Shaw brought his own sheets and pillows with him, and that he insisted that a bowl containing a dozen oranges be placed by his bed at night. In the morning, every orange was gone, including the skin and pips. They had not been thrown at anyone, or disposed of in any traceable way. The manager's deduction was that the Swan of the Liffey had sat up all night devouring them. This I vouch for as true, and it suggests that Shaw was a lifelong Orangeman, and if he had aspired to political glory he might have risen to be mayor of Toronto.

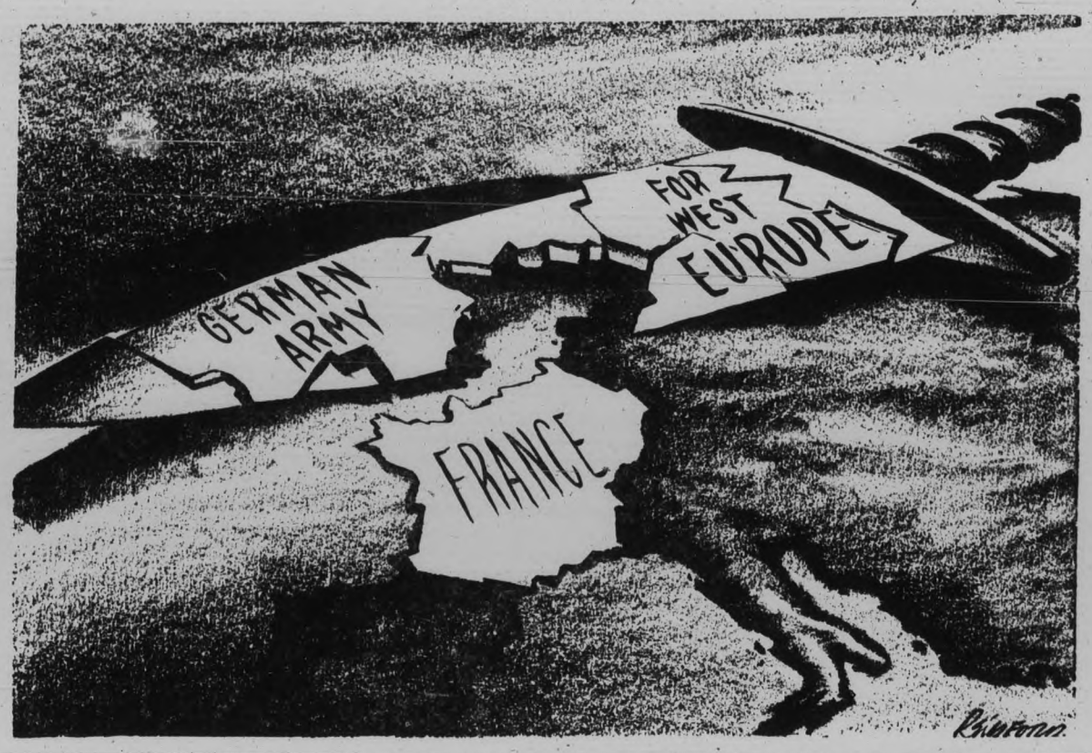
Yours with forgiveness for your neglect,
SAMUEL MARCHBANKS.

To Haubergeon Hydra, Esq.
Dear Mr. Hydra:

As deputy-assistant to the Semi-Permanent Controller of the Dominion Archives you have no doubt taken a look at Bruce Hutchison's new book about the Fraser River. I am writing merely in order to tell you what a piece of luck it was for this country that I never decided to be an explorer. I am utterly uninterested in rivers. It would never occur to me to go anywhere by river. In fact, it was some years before I realized that rivers move. I thought they were just large bodies of stagnant water lying about the country like dead snakes. I am not sure that I did not think they were dug for the convenience of hydro and waterworks people.

So you see, if I had been an explorer, I should have stopped dead at the first river. You may wish to file this in the archives under "Canada—Narrow Escapes Of."

Yours with ill-concealed egotism,
SAMUEL MARCHBANKS.



To Chandos Fribble, Esq.
Learned Fribble:

I have been reading a good deal of Canadian poetry lately, and it has disturbed me. But last Sunday I attempted to go for a country walk, and by the time I had reached home again I knew what was wrong with Canadian Poetry.

Canadian poets are not allowed to come into contact with Nature. The great English poets have, in most cases, refreshed themselves continually by spells of country life, or by excursions into the country. Canadian poets cannot do this. I walked about two miles in the country and although I did not count them I estimated that roughly 150 cars passed me in that time. I had no time for Nature; I was on the jump all the time. So I decided to walk across country. A farmer chased me, and told me not to tramp on his fall wheat, which I was not doing. However I left his land and struck into the bush. This was a mistake, for a big dog came and pointed his nose at me, and did his best to look like a bronze dog on a book-end. Soon two men with guns came crashing through the undergrowth, and seemed astonished when they saw me. "Say, what's that bird doing here?" cried one, and I knew at once that they had mistaken me for a partridge. But as they seemed about to blast my tailfeathers off I had the presence of mind to shout "I'm a game-warden!" and they made off as fast as their legs would carry them. The dog was still pointing, and as stiff as a mackerel, so they snatched it up in one piece and bore it away with them.

That is what Nature means in Canada.

THE MISSING PIECE

Shaw's Letters To The Editor

(AN EDITORIAL IN THE LONDON TIMES)

DELIGHTING in conversation no less than in the written word, Bernard Shaw once remarked at Malvern that he had wasted his life in sending letters to The Times, some of which had not been printed. He might truthfully have added that some of the many that were printed had, with his consent, been made more brief. For more than 50 years he was an indefatigable correspondent in these columns. His last letter, on British Communism, appeared only a few weeks before his death, and his first, so far as can be traced, dealing with the congenial theme of murder, juries, and the Home Secretary, was published in the summer of 1898.

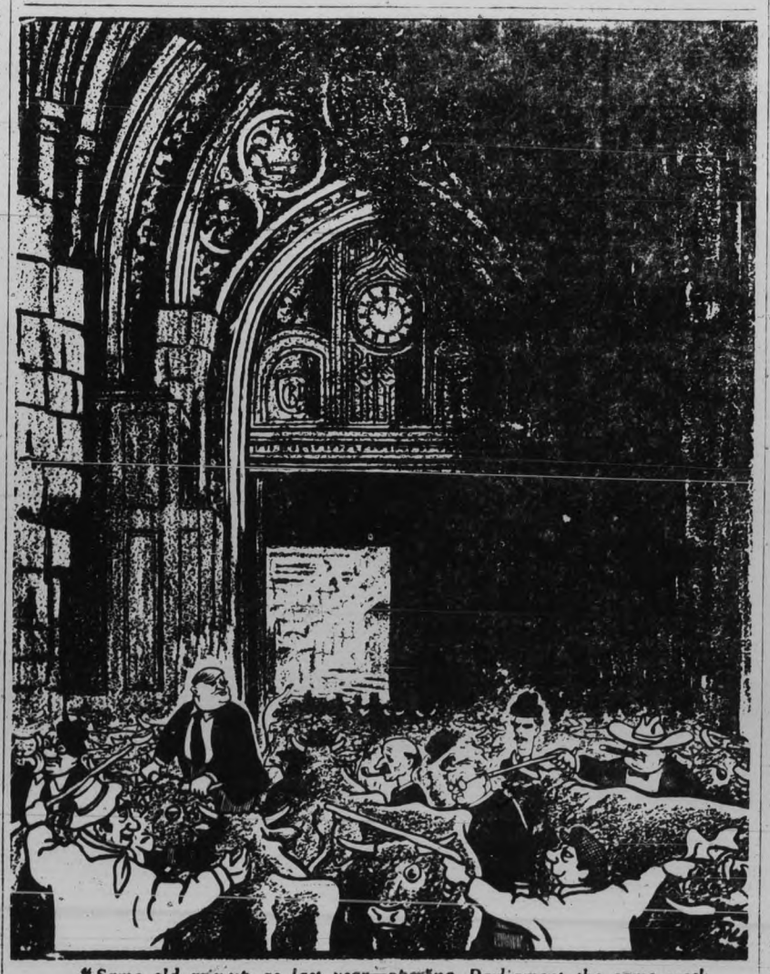
His zest for controversy embroiled him on many occasions with high authorities, whose blows he took as cheerfully as he hit back. There never was a less touchy dialectician. If for reasons of space, more desperately urgent today than in the past, he was asked to cut, he obliged with an unruffled good temper not invariably shared by all letter writers. The opening strains of this two-generations-long concert struck the true corno di bassetto note. It was clear to the Victorian Shaw that neither an average British jury nor an average humanitarian journalist understood the constitutional function of a jury or the meaning of a verdict.

Immaculate in evening dress at the opera, the early Edwardian Shaw, having dwelt deliciously on his own resplendent orthodoxy of attire, went on to argue that what were feathers for the gander should be obligatory for the goose. A lady in front of him had been decorated with the "pitiable corpse of a large white bird," looking "as if it had been nailed to her temple, which was presumably of sufficient solidity to bear the operation." Still preoccupied with sumptuary conventions, he asked, on the death of King Edward, why schoolgirls should deliberately be made hideous with b[illegible] because an "honourable career" had closed.

THESE are drops in an ocean of correspondence printed before the first war. Spelling reform, vivisection, vaccination, polygamy in India, flogging in Egypt, women's suffrage, the battle of the Book Club, motherhood, Socialist statistics, supertax, anti-Semitism, emigration, the national theatre, the distribution of wealth, Anglo-German relations, and a monument to Dickens all led to the free use of his untiringly provocative pen. He wrote on Irving and on corporal punishment in the Navy, on a minimum income and on electric lighting in Marylebone.

A. B. Walkley was a foeman worthy of his friendly steel and the sparks flew between them from 1910, intermittently, until well into the twenties. Middle-aged theatregoers may recall the duel these two fought over alleged lapses of taste in "Back to Methuselah". Among the minor charges against which Shaw adroitly defended himself was that of having led a young actress astray by making her pronounce "isolate" to rhyme with "is so late". "I once asked Thomas Hardy," said Shaw in riposte, "how he pronounced 'The Dynasts'. He replied that he called it 'The Dinnasts', but that so many people who knew no better called it 'The Dienasts', that he was getting shy about it and preferred not to mention it at all."

Older readers may remember a fiercer clash with a bishop, in which Shaw, warming to the good work of treading on the tail of an episcopal coat, asserted that "the suggestion, gratification, and education of sexual emotion is one of the main uses and glories of the theatre." Younger readers, under the illusion that Mrs. Grundy reigned supreme before they were born, should note that that letter was published in 1913.



AS the world grew more grim and Shaw older, his letters, while never losing the Shavian touch, dealt less often with light subjects. He defended Italian aggression in Ethiopia and thought that Anglo-French action over sanctions would be far less "sensible and humane than to drop the Geneva Council down the crater of Vesuvius." Within a few days of the outbreak of war he referred to the "joyful news" that "Herr Hitler is under the powerful thumb of Stalin, whose interest in peace is overwhelming." His letter ended "and everyone except myself is frightened out of his or her wits! Why? Am I mad? If not, why? why? why?" Russian Communism, he had asserted earlier, "is neither anarchism nor syndicalism . . . it is Fabian Socialism."

Such graver preoccupations were far from champing his versatility. "How we authors and inventors," he exclaimed, "envy the gamblers of the turf and the Stock Exchange, the insurance companies, the pawnbrokers, the casino exploiters, who, without running a tithe of our risks are not taxed on their winnings! . . . Why is property in our creation communized after less than two lifetimes and that of simple distributors made perpetual? Why is property in turnips made eternal and absolute when property in ideas is temporal and conditional?" He warned Mr. Bevan that, if he did not make a clean sweep of the doctors from the General Medical Council there would be trouble which might run to the breakdown of the Act. He had a remedy for the censorship of plays and a definition for the Oxford accent.

As chairman of the BBC pronunciation committee he was quite aware that Conduit Street is known in the West End as Cundit Street, but he was cheerfully prepared to ignore this local foible and to abide "the resultant Cockney raillery" as best he could. At the same time he claimed that "my grandfather, an educated country gentleman, swore by the virtue of his oath. He said 'Be the varshew o' me oath'!" He hoped that Lord Passfield would be buried in Westminster Abbey for "its peculiar sanctity is conferred on it solely by the valour of our illustrious dead commemorated there. They are not all churchgoers." It is hard to think of any other contributor to the correspondence columns of The Times who over so many years wrote more wisely, more wildly, or in such indefatigably high spirits.

Cars, grouchy land-owners, people with guns.
No wonder our poetry is thin.
Yours for a less cluttered countryside.
SAMUEL MARCHBANKS.

How Time Flies

NOVEMBER 11

1920 D'Arcy Dunlop, member of a pioneer North Monaghan family, dies at the age of 77.

It is announced that the Patriotic Fund is still distributing $2,000 a month here.

Bible Message

(From The Authorized Version)

By faith Enoch was translated that he should not see death; and was not found, because God had translated him: for before his translation he had his testimony, that he pleased God. (Heb. 11: 5.)

✧ ✧ ✧

Blessed be the Lord, who daily loadeth us with benefits, even the God of our salvation. Selah.

He that is our God is the God of salvation; and unto God the Lord belong the issues from death. (Ps. 68: 19, 20.)

✧ ✧ ✧

In God have I put my trust: I will not be afraid what man can do unto me. Thy vows are upon me, O God: I will render praises unto thee. For thou hast delivered my soul from death: wilt not thou deliver my feet from falling, that I may walk before God in the light of the living? (Ps. 56: 11-13.)

✧ ✧ ✧

I will abide in thy tabernacle for ever: I will trust in the covert of thy wings. Selah. (Ps. 61: 4.)

A GOOD EXCUSE

Mother: "Did I see you kissing that young Allen last night?"

Beryl: "Well, mother, he told me he had just lost an uncle and I felt sorry for him."

Mother: "If I know anything about that young man he won't have a relatives left in a week's time!"

Plain Crazy About Antiques! Collectors' Kawartha Haven

When it comes to antiques, there's no middle way. Either you're an uninitiate, and don't like 'em . . . or you're just plain "crazy about antiques." And once the bug bites you, you're a chronic antique fiend . . . for life.

That's the conclusion reached by Mabel and Arthur Burridge after thirty years of antique-collecting as a hobby, and three years as proprietors of one of Ontario's most popular antique shops and tourist attractions: Century House, nine miles past Lindsay at Pleasant Point. For all those years, people had been visiting Century House during the summer, when the Burridges spent their vacation combing the countryside for pioneer relics "with a story" to them, and the old furniture and bric-a-brac that turned up at auction sales and in old family homes throughout the countryside.

The Kawartha district, explain the Burridges, was among the earliest of Ontario settlements. Those pioneer homes combined the treasured family heirlooms brought from their native lands with the rough implements and handicrafts the settlers learned to make to meet the needs of their new life.

So the Kawartha farms and towns were, and still are, treasure houses of fine old articles, some from England or other parts of Europe, some representing early life in the Canadian backwoods. Century House gradually built up a collection of furniture, fine old glass, china, silver, brass and copper, as well as clocks, crafts, tools, kitchen implements, oxen yokes, spinning wheels, and other items of museum value.

Wide Interest

The Burridges are apparently not alone in their interest in antiques. Since they opened their collection into a combination shop and permanent museum, hundreds of American and Canadian vacationers have beat a path to their picturesque gate. Visitors to this year's Canadian National Exhibition saw a fascinating booth in the Women's Building, showing Ontario pioneer furnishings. It was especially admired by Kate Aitken, Women's Director for the CNE, and received the interest and comment of Lady Alexander.

Some visitors are eager collectors, delighted to find authentic Currier and Ives prints, delicate Bisque figurines, old lamps, perfume bottles, or whatever they collect. Others are seeking good furniture—and find chairs, tables, corner cupboards and many other pieces of good, traditional designs and strong construction.

The Burridges themselves have spent the winters restoring the natural finish to this furniture. Mabel Burridge has mastered the art of reproducing the early "bronze stencilling" growing so popular in modern interior decorating. The result is an ornate fruit, vine, or floral pattern in antique gold and metallic colors, on trays, rockers, coffee tables and other articles of furniture. This unique American furniture art is appearing often in recent home magazines—and the Burridges are among the few to offer it in Canada.

Anyone visiting the Kawarthas can hardly feel his visit complete without an afternoon at Century House, with its rambling ranch-house style, and its setting of pine woods, a stone's throw from Sturgeon Lake. Among the regular guests at Century House are Sir Ellsworth and Lady Flavelle, and Premier and Mrs. Leslie Frost, both couples in the "crazy about antiques" class.

Often those uninitiated we mentioned in the first paragraph leave Century House as new converts—murmuring those words so familiar to Mabel and Arthur Burridges of Century House—"I'm crazy about antiques."

O COAL!

The Summer's gone! Alas 't was fleeting;
No use to moan, no sense in bleating.
Improvident I,-as the butterfly that
Flits through the Summer haze
And gives no thought-though he knows
He ought-to provide for a rainy days.
Some people will the Summer spoil with Talk of coal and messy oil. But that's Not me; I like pure fun and wait till it's Up fifty cent's a ton.

Ladle In A Pot Of Gold

Death the Leveller

The glories of our blood and state
Are shadows, not substantial things;
There is no armour against fate;
Death lays his icy hand on kings:
Sceptre and Crown
Must tumble down,
And in the dust be equal made
With the poor crooked scythe and spade.

Some men with swords may reap the field,
And plant fresh laurels where they kill:
But their strong nerves at last must yield;
They tame but one another still:
Early or late
They stoop to fate,
And must give up their murmuring breath
When they, pale captives, creep to death.

The garlands wither on your brow;
Then boast no more your mighty deeds;
Upon Death's purple altar now
See where the victor-victim bleeds:
Your heads must come
To the cold tomb:
Only the actions of the just
Smell sweet and blossom in the dust.

Progress of Peterborough: XLIV

Teachers at $300 a Year; Churches Divided Orators, Circuses, Flatcars Came To Town

By HOWARD PAMMETT, M.A.

In 1850-51 half of the citizenry were under twenty, and interest was keen in education. Out of 592 children 6-15 years old, 420 were attending school: 60 in Grammar School (already described); 160 attending four private schools, including Mrs. Nesbitt's, Mrs. Flavelle's, and Miss Kelly's. The other 200 pupils (127 boys, 73 girls) attended two frame one-room Common Schools, one facing Aylmer at Sherbrooke Street, the other in North Ward. The average attendance was 107 in winter and 92 in summer; school was held twelve months a year, with two weeks' holidays in August and a few days at Christmas. The two men teachers received $300 per annum each. Government grants for the Common Schools totalled $448; both were suitably furnished, in good repair, with adequate playgrounds, but together they had only one map, one blackboard, one globe and no library.

These "miserable little buildings," as Mrs. Traill called them, were abandoned in 1852 when the new Board of School Trustees leased the Methodist chapel at the north-east corner of Hunter and Sheridan Streets, a roughcast building whose lower storey was built into the sloping hill. Along the south side was a high fence and a row of sheds. This building was remodelled: when the old log Grammar School became unfit for use, the Grammar School was moved into the upper storey of the Union School, beginning February, 1854, and the Common and Grammar School Boards united under Chairman John Langton.

Miss D. Flavelle of Lindsay wrote in 1896, 42 years after she taught in the Union School: "Our staff consisted of four teachers: a principal who took the High School work at a salary of £120 a year, a second male teacher at £75, myself and another female teacher at £60 each. Except in First and Second Books, boys and girls were taught separately. Three rooms were large, fairly well lighted and heated. The desks were old-fashioned long ones with benches to match, and there was a blackboard in each room, a map of the world, and also one of each continent, which we used in common. Upstairs were two small rooms formed from the gallery of the old church. We utilized one of these for taking certain classes. I taught the girls in Fifth Book as well as First and Second Books (mixed), my assistant taking Third and Fourth Books."

Old School Days

The Dispatch of Jan 22, 1856, reported an editorial visit to the school accompanied by Rev. J. Rogers: "There are seven rooms, too small and overcrowded, with average attendance 260, of whom 140 are boys . . . taught by three male teachers plus a monitor, and two female teachers with a monitor. The rates are 3/9 a quarter (3 months) per pupil in Common School, and separate fees for higher mathematics, classics, French, drawing, etc. in Grammar School." One resident in 1897 nostalgically recalled his schooldays in the 1850s, when he started at seven yeras of age, barefoot in summer like most of the boys. Messrs. Thomas and John Gordon were early teachers. About 1856 the staff was: Principal Dunn, Messrs. Loucks, Fairbairn and Borrowman, and Miss Luney. "Mr. Fairbairn was a Scotchman; he had a strong arm, a loud voice and red hair. He was familiarly known as 'Scotch Bob'. His arm never tired; he whaled on the slightest provocation. Several times during his ministrations the class mutinied—rose in positive rebellion. There was little sympathy between master and pupils. A long platform crossed the end of the room; on this the desk of the master was placed. Behind him on the wall was a long blackboard. The desk held, among implements of learning, several canes, rulers, gads, straps and other instruments of torture. The curriculum was not extensive, but it must be said what was taught was covered thoroughly. . . ." Among his vivid memories after forty years were the thirty anatomical charts on the walls, and the games they played outside—hunko, one old cat, two old cat, diggins, and macaleney. In macaleney a ball was thrown over the the school roof, and he who caught it on the other side darted around the corner and fired the ball into the ranks of the "foe."

The man from whom the joys of life have departed is living no more, but should be counted with the dead.

SOPHOCLES: Antigone, c. 450 B.C.

In 1857 there were 498 in the Common School and 87 in the Grammar School, the staff consisting of a principal, two male assistants and three women. The trustees after considering several sites decided to build a new school just south of the old Grammar School. "Under the supervision of a Building Committee the contractors (Mitchell Graham & McDonald) went ahead slowly, and the Union School was opened in January 1860. Mrs. Traill called it "a fine national free school built in the modern Italian style." The three-storey white brick building, costing $16,258, was heated by stone fireplaces on the ground floor and stoves on upper floors. It is the eastern of the two Central School buildings, still serving the great-grandchildren of its first pupils.

According to Poole, the first Roman Catholic Separate School was begun in 1851: "For three years, rooms were rented in a building on the corner of Aylmer and Simcoe Sts." In Hodgins "Schools & Colleges in Ontario," D. Costello is quoted: In 1852 the Roman Catholics established the first Separate School . . . and engaged me to teach at £60 per annum with dwellinghouse and fuel added. I had however 130 pupils on the roll, which involved hard work . . . I had no maps or other apparatus . . . I taught one year in Peterborough." In 1854 a roughcast school of two rooms was built near the church, on the site of the present convent, and used until it burned down in 1864.

Churches Multiply

While Rev. Mark Burnham was rector of St. John's Anglican Church 1852-55 a pipe organ was installed and other improvements made. He was succeeded by Rev. J. W. Beck 1856-89; in 1859 a Sunday School was built behind the church. Rev. John Butler of St. Peter's Roman Catholic Church died in 1853 after serving 19 years, and was followed by Rev. John Farrall, Rev. Dan Farrelly (who died in 1858), and Rev. M. Mackey; a pipe organ was installed in 1857. Rev. J. M. Roger and the Free Church Presbyterians broke away from the Church of Scotland in 1844, but continued to use St. Andrew's Church until 1857, when the Church of Scotland claimed it. Rev. Rogers and the Free Church group then built St. Paul's Church on Murray Street east of Water; until this was ready in 1859, they worshipped in the town hall and the Methodist Sunday School. Those remaining at St. Andrew's called Rev. J. S. Douglas who stayed until 1864. In 1853 the new brick Bible Christian Church on Murray Street west of George Street was opened, and the old church nearby became the parsonage. George St. Methodist Church was enlarged in 1854; at that time Rev. W. Poole was pastor, and other church leaders were Thomas White, W. Sheridan, Jas. Stevenson, Wm. Cluxton, R. Rutherford and Thos. McBurney. At Aylmer St. Baptist Church, which was served on a circuit with the Smith and Selwyn churches, a split arose in 1855 over open vs. closed communion; the "Regular Baptists" forced the withdrawal of Rev. John Gilmour and his "open" group, who held services in the town hall until peace and unity returned in 1862. The denominations grew with the town: by 1851 and 1861 censuses, Roman Catholics number 565 and 1,248; Anglicans 540 and 766; Methodists 494 and 860; Presbyterians 463 and 780; Baptists 79 and 118; Bible Christians 22 and 79.

New Organizations

The increasing tempo of town life brought new organizations to life in this decade. The Peterborough Library Association was organized in 1853, and in 1856 became the Grammar & Union School Library Association, with an office in the Union School. By 1861 this library had 800 books, in addition to school libraries with 1,692 volumes. The association also arranged educational lectures for the public: July 17, 1858, T. D'Arcy McGee, famous political orator, spoke on the historic connection between Scotland and Ireland, as noted in the diary of Alex Edmison, a young Smith teacher who attended. Shortly after, Dr. Robert Burns, of Knox College, Toronto, spoke on "The Dawn of Learning in Europe After the Dark Ages," and two weeks later Archdeacon Bethune spoke.

The churches were the centre for much community life; in addition to attending church two or three times each Sunday, the faithful were expected to go to weeknight meetings for prayer and instruction. The Methodist Church especially promoted the temperance cause vigorously; in 1857-8 there were speeches by Rev W. Ryerson, Rev. S. Nelles, and Davidson the noted temperance lecturer, also an escaped negro slave who spoke on the evils of slavery in the south. In Feb. 1858 the Independent Order of Good Templars was established to promote temperance, holding readings, concerts and soirees for young people; the Band of Hope held weekly debates on

At the rate southbound hunters' cars have been streaming down from the deer country all week, loaded with carcasses, it would indicate that this season is producing more game than ever before. Everyone I meet on the street stops and tells of cars parked here and there with meat tied to their fenders, and there are also numerous phone calls all day long. Unfortunately, space does not permit the publishing of all these names but I am grateful to hear about them just the same.

The deer hunt is six days old today, but the overall picture cannot be estimated at this time. The Department of Lands and Forests custodians are to be congratulated on setting up their road block at the Burleigh-Buckhorn junction in jig time this year. Rumour has it that the boys did a roaring business from Wednesday noon until after midnight and some results of their inspections are appearing already in the police court news of this newspaper.

According to my own observations of more than a dozen deer carcasses shot in the Haultain section on opening morning, all animals were in excellent condition, very fat. Butchers at the city's several quick-freeze plants have backed me up on this statement and say they are able to whack off chops equal in size to beef cuts; more than 50 carcasses are hanging in locker rooms as of this weekend. And operators expect many more because continuing cool weather has enabled hunters to keep game hanging in camp instead of rushing it to the city right away for storage.

A few bear have been brought down from the north, too. One of them will appear as a den rug at ex-Alderman Herb Bradburn's home, it is said. Rusty Crowe shot another south of South Bay at Stony Lake. No mention has been made yet of any hunters spotting the protected elk herd up the Oregon Trail way and some of them are still not straight about them BEING protected. They have been warned in this column more than once to lay off.

Tommy Mason of Buckhorn knows of a cow moose and calf, also protected, in the swamps of Serpentine Lake. Reports from Northwestern Ontario indicate that moose population is making a splendid comeback in that country, the result of two year's protection.

Send In The Wings And Tails

We are fortunate in the Kawarthas in having a splendid partridge season with birds at the top of their cycle; other more remote areas show a different picture which is the natural course of Nature's great and small seasons. Rather than let the cycles go their way and giving us some medicine man's mumbo-jumbo about seven-year cycles, the Government want to know why. So, a directive is given to all bird hunters, and especially those in our district, to send the complete wings and tail feathers to the biologieal staff of the Lands and Forests district office in Lindsay. From these specimens an intensive study will be made of the species and laws laid down in advance to prevent their low cycle periods. In other words, the Department intends to stop excessive killing in advance so that the crop levels off all along the line. See how conservation works?

• • • •

Another item the Department wants is deer heads of both sexes, bearing a tag telling in which Township the animal was killed and the name and address of the donor. These may be left in Peterborough with Conservation Officer Stan Windsor, or, if you live closer to Lindsay, at the district office. It would not be making an undue appeal to you Peterborough hunters who have carcasses in city cold storage plants to have the butcher save the heads for the general collection and see that they are directed to proper depots.

All Saw The Fire But None Reported It

Peterborough people have never been subjected to the terror of forest fires. Perhaps this is fortunate in one sense but they also take the matter too lightly. A case in point was a swamp fire about one-half mile north of Nassau on Highway 28 which was set 12 days ago on All Hallow's Eve. That night it burned quite merrily for some time and although hundreds of motorists passed by and saw it, it was never reported to either the Provincial Police or township fire departments, and hasn't been since. Even with all the recent wet weather—like Thursday's—three stumps were still smouldering.

Porcupines are the bane of hunting camps. They take over most of the year when shacks are vacant and gnaw their way through flooring and furniture and, if they take a fancy to the place, leave it in general shambles. It is salt they are after, a commodity which they crave, and anything that has been used by sweaty hands gets a right good chewing. One forest tower observer was amazed to find the trapdoor of his tower cabin chewed through; it was 80 feet from the ground. Hunters might take a tip from farmer friends and leave some pieces of rock salt outside their camps when they leave in the Fall. It will keep the mischief makers satisfied and be beneficial to other types of as well.

• • • •

Solid industrial Peterborough attracts the greatest numbers to the deer hunt, by far, from its factories. Twice as many as all other plants, the Outboard Marine has about 11 per cent of factory and office employees on the chase and five per cent went from Peterborough Canoe. Following closely, someone at the CGE estimated about 4 per cent, the De Laval three per cent and the Quaker Oats, just a few. When you consider that a large plant like the CGE with more than 4,000 on the payroll to smaller factories with 200 or more, it adds up to quite a contingent of shooters. And checking on all these figures on Friday, reports from parties afield show they are having remarkable luck.

Petes Rack Up Number Five With 10-6 Win Over Queen's

The Petes made it five in a row here last night to stay atop their OHA senior "B" grouping, defeating Queen's by a 10-6 count. They led 3-2 in the first frame and then the University boys, showing vast improvement over their last appearance here, tore in to outscore the league leaders 4-2 in the second stanza for a 6-5 lead. But the homesters fought back in the third for five goals, a couple of them of the flukey variety.

DUGAN STARS—Arn Dugan was in good sniping form for the Petes last night as he led them with four scoring points in their OHA senior "B" win over Queen's here.

Play was quite fast for so early in the season and pretty even at times, though the visitors faded after two hot periods. It was generally clean. Queen's drew six of the 10 penalties, and each side suffered owing to several sins, the Petes tallying twice and Queen's twice when the other side was short-handed.

Dugan Stars

Arn Dugan shone for the Jopling squad to score two goals and aid on two more, with Honey Tompkins runner-up with a goal and two assists. Gus Leonard, Wade and West were each in on two, as single points were garnered by Millar, Garvey, Collins and Fryia. Coach Johnny Carr-Harris was the big gun for the Kingston crew with three goals and an assist, while Don Murray and Wood each aided twice, single markers being sniped by Dunn, White and Ron Murray. Both goalies turned aside some hot thrusts, Harding being hot in the lively second chukker to keep down the count.

Gus Leonard got the first early from Tompkins. Sweetman and Millar got the finger for cross-checking and Wilde followed for interference. Wade tore in to count from Dugan and then the latter made it 3-0 on a solo try. White put Queen's in the picture on a pass from Carr-Harris and the latter made it 3-2 in a scramble, aided by D. Murray and Wood. Carr-Harris hit the penalty box then for holding.

Tied It Up

Dunn tied the count to open the second, but Wade got it right back on a pass from Dugan. Wade was off for interference when Carr-Harris counted again from D. Murray. Millar hit home his own rebound but, with Carr-Harris just back from serving a high-stick penalty with Dugan, the Queen's coach evened it once more. E. Leonard went over for kneeing and R. Murray put Queen's up one on Wood's pass.

West got credit for the tying marker in the third when it went in off Latimer's stick. Dugan's side shot glanced home off Bolvin's skate and then the Petes began pressing hard. Garvey got a neat one from Collins and West. Bender was gated for interference and Shepherd followed for holding the puck. Shy two, they were hemmed in by the speedy homesters and Tompkins cuffed in his rebound to run up the count. Near the period's end, Gus Leonard rapped in the final marker, with Tompkins and Fryia earning assists.

Queen's: Goal, Boivin; defence, Latimer and Wood; centre, Shepherd; wings, R. Murray and Ohlke; alts, Sweetman, Bender, White, Hay, Wilde, Carr-Harris, Dunn and D. Murray.

Petes: Goal, Harding; defence, E. Leonard and Davison; centre, Wade; wings, Turner and Dugan; alts, G. Leonard, Tompkins, Fyria, West, Collins, Garvey, Horton and Millar.

No Predictions From Lopez

CLEVELAND, Nov. 11—(AP)—Al (El Lobo) Lopez, a stranger in a baseball-mad town startled over Lou Boudreau's discharge, took over today as manager of the Cleveland Indians.

One of the first things he did, in an interview, was to decline to predict any quick pennants.

"As you know," said the 42-year-old Lopez, "I haven't been around the American League for the last few years and I don't know how we compare with other clubs.

"I'd like a good relief pitcher and I'd like some bench strength. Otherwise, from all I gather, it's a good ball club.

"I think I can handle the Cleveland club and I will do all I can to get a winning team. I am replacing a very popular man, a real nice fellow."

Lopez, however, did work for the Indians in 1947 as a second-string catcher, but few fans noticed him. He is certainly no stranger to the National League. He caught with Brooklyn, Boston and Pittsburgh for 18 years.

Dauthille Likely Get Shot At Jake Lamotta

By JACK HAND.

NEW YORK, Nov. 11 (AP).—Laurent Dauthuille probably will get another shot at middleweight champion Jake Lamotta—but the title won't be at stake.

After the Frenchman's close decision over Paddy Young Friday night at Madison Square Garden, they talked of a third Dauthuille-Lamotta match.

Al Weill, International Boxing Club matchmaker, hopes to arrange an over-the-weight bout between Jake and Dauthuille for Madison Square Garden, Dec. 8 or Dec. 15.

Dauthuille whipped Lamotta Feb. 21, 1949, before Jake won the title. Last Sept. 13 he almost lifted the championship, but was knocked out by the champ with 13 seconds to go in the 15th round at Detroit.

Naturally, the blonde Frenchman, who now fights out of Montreal, wants Jake again, title or no. Whether Lamotta wants more of Dauthuille remains to be seen.

Wants More

One fellow who wants more of Dauthuille is Paddy Young, the young Irishman from New York's Greenwich Village who thought he won Friday night. He had entered the ring as a 2-to-1 underdog.

It was almost a photo finish. The word "unanimous decision" hardly does justice to the gruelling battle. Judges Frank Forbes and Harold Barnes voted for Dauthuille 6-4, but referee Mark Conn saw it 5-5 with the Frenchman a winner on points 7-5. The AP card also was 5-5 in rounds with Dauthuille on top by a whisper 7-6.

Dauthuille is a good scrapper. Let there be no doubt about it. A good right hand is his best punch. Several times he rocked Paddy with right leads over his opponent's zooming left hooks. He hits and moves, sneaking the right hand and counter-punching in fine style. Bobbing and weaving, he made Young miss badly in the early rounds.

Young's hooks raked Dauthuille's body and made him hold and look for the clock in several rounds. For a slugger Paddy showed some top-flight boxing skill to protect his cut left eye from the fifth on.

A big ninth round sewed up the verdict for Dauthuille, although Young closed strong to win the 10th. Paddy thought he won 6-4 and clamored for a return. Instead he probably will get Rocky Graziano.

Held To Tie

HAMILTON, Nov. 11—(CP)—McMaster Socceramas wound up the Intercollegiate intermediate football schedule Friday by holding Ontario Agricultural College to a scoreless tie. OAC needed a win to finish in first place ahead of Varsity's Intermediates. Brown, Heurd and Cawley were tops for Guelph.

A rematch of the main mat bout between Yukon Eric and the Masked Marvel for next Tuesday evening in the Brock Arena was a natural after their torrid battle last week. They had the fans out of their chairs and the chairs out of their moorings—with the law finally breaking it up—as the pair went to a rough no-decision draw. So they're back at it again Tuesday and you'd better be on time if you want a seat. The semi-final has Wee Willie Davis—who usually headlines mat cards—in against Ray Gunkel. The prelim, too, has a topnotch in Seelie Samara going against rough Abe Zvonkin, former Hamilton gridder. Quite a grapple program.

No doubt you remember Leo Deadey. Played senior ball here just ere the war and was a starry end on the senior Orfuns, he and Curly Krug being the passing combination. Leo later played in Toronto for Beaches and Argos, and is now an ORFU referee. He wrote to Ted Reeve the other day, agreeing with the Moaner that Canadian football is still better than the USA brand. He finds, after handling many games each autumn—usually in intermediate ranks—that some sound football is served up, and he mentions some of the squads up this way which he and other officials see. He says:

* * * * * *

As Deadey Viewed It

"Each team has its own system (not a "T" formation in the bunch) which helps to confuse the defence. Oshawa (Cosgrove coach) shows a powerful line and fine blocking. Parkdale Lions (Art West coach) features lots of end runs—remember Westy on end runs? Peterborough and Bamforth has spread formation and hard tackling. And in Cobourg we see lots of hard hitting line plays, plus good sizing-up quarterbacking by Bob Cooper, who starts many of the quick kick plays. They still remember the single point. At Malton we see Bill Irwin with a bunch of kids and no backing trying to keep the game going. We find Canadian football is not lost in Canada yet. Thank goodness." Leo really knows the game.

Eagles and Petes clash at 8.30 Monday p.m. in Civic Arena in their first OHA senior "B" meeting of the season. Needless to say, this one will pack in the payees, it being the tidbit of the season so far. The two top teams of the good senior grouping are oldtime enemies when they hit the ice, and each would sooner win one game over the other than several games against Kingston or Belleville—no fooling! Eagles, as Legionnaires the past two seasons, have had it their own way pretty much in these scraps between the city rivals, but things could be different this semester. The Petes have been gradually improving and they have added good players, so they're not up there this autumn by accident.

* * * * * *

But One Should Lose

On the other hand, you can't overlook the fact that the Eagles—under their old name—won the provincial title in 1949 and were finalists last season. Also, they've made a few changes in an effort to keep pace with other improving squads, and they'll be plenty tough to beat again this campaign. But one of the teams will have to lose here Monday, unless they should wind it up in an overtime draw. It's the type of game that might find a lot of the betting gentry willing to lay some sugar on the outcome, though likely at strictly even money. We expect a slambang struggle between two fine teams, with every player giving all he has—and we hope they stick to hockey and don't renew old ice feuds. Too bad if some good player was laid up so early in the puck season.

The Petes kept intact their OHA senior "B" victory streak at Civic Arena last night by racking up their fifth in a row, downing Queen's to the tune of 10-6. But those University boys—sparked by Johnny Carr-Harris with Don Murray mighty good, too—are going to be tough for 'em all later. They made it a real battle most of the way and they'll improve more as the season wears on. Johnny scored three and helped on another. Arn Dugan led the locals at bat with four points, Honey Tompkins being in there for three, as Gus Leonard, Jake Wade and Junior West helped themselves to two points each. Jim Millar, Fred Garvey, Chum Fryia and Ted Collins were other marksmen. Ray Harding saved the bacon for the Petes on several redhot occasions with Queen's surging in fast. A speedy, clean contest.

Neill's-Grads Take Tilts In Girls' Loop

Walk-aways were featured in the Girls' City Basketball League at the YWCA Friday night. Neill's waltzed with Black's to the tune of 29-17, while Grads, a new entry, polished off Normals easily 31-11.

Neill's carried the play to Black's throughout the first game and built up a healthy 15-6 lead in the first half on foul shots. Polly Stewart with two field baskets and two foul shots led the way with Marg. Freeman, B Anderson, Dot Callan and Joan Dunk backing her up with further points. M. McIlvena dropped in two field baskets to make up two-thirds of Black's first half effort.

In the second half Neill's continued to outplay Black's but failed to capitalize on all chances to score. Black's rallied several times with Rosy McInroy leading the scoring way with five points. But Polly Stewart, N. Byers and Joan Dunk rapped home all Neill's points to keep the healthy lead.

Polly Stewart led the scoring with 10 points while teammates N. Byers and Marg. Freeman had five each and Joan Dunk six. M. McIlvena with six and R. McInroy with five were tops for Black's.

Grads Strong

Grads, Lindsay girls, nearly doubled the score on Normals in the first half as they slipped through holes in Normals' defensive system. Their scoring was scattered but Marj. Owen had four out of the Grads' 13. Joan Krogh tried in vain to hold Normals in the game with her six points out of the total half's seven.

Grads scored practically at will in the second half with nearly the whole team chalking up scores. They whipped in 18 points to Normals' four as the guards for Norman were caught time and time again well up the floor. Even then the Grads missed many close-in attempts.

Marj. Owen accounted for nine points, Ruth Beard seven and Shirley Meath six for the Grads. Joan Krogh's first half six was the best for the Normal cagers.

Line-ups:

First game—Blacks—Ferguson 2, McInroy 5, Laing 1, McGee 1, McIlvena 6, Nice, Naylor, Vint, Knox 2, McNeeley.

Neills—Stewart 10, Byers 5, Floyd, Dunk 6, Pagett, Callan 2, Anderson 1, Post, Freeman 5, Moyles, Castle, Smith, Livings.

Second game — Normals — Raper 2, Reynolds 1, Hollingsworth, Butlin, Shunk, Curtis 2, Scanlin, Krogh 6.

Grads—Meath 6, Algar 2, Owen 9, Cullis, Beard 7, Gilson 3, Craine 2, Galbrielson.

Beryl Cmsurik Leads

Good scores were noted in the YM lasses' bowling league this week as Lucky Strikes blanked Tigers and Aces whitewashed the Glengarry's. Bombers and Hurricanes respectively took two from Commandos and Corvettes. Beryl Csumrik took top honors with high three of 744 and single of 313.

Joyce Towns rolled 708. J. Alexander 669, A. Merrett 655, B. Castle 639 and E. Pearcy 631. W. McCarrell clicked off 622, Shirley Heckman 618 and B. Pogue and R. Dorrington 610 each. Good singles were: J. Towns 273, 261, A. Merrett 270, E. Pearcy 254, M. Menzies 248, J. Alexander 246, B. Csumrik 245 and B. Pogue 238. Lucky Strikes had high pinnage of 3,232 and top single of 1,091.

Dickers For Boesch

Lethbridge Maple Leafs, slated to represent Canada in the world amateur hockey championships in Paris next March, are dickering for the services of Garth Boesch, former Toronto Maple Leaf defenceman, club officials reported Friday.

Boesch, who formerly played in Lethbridge with the now-defunct senior Maple Leafs before turning professional with Toronto, retired at the end of the National Hockey League season last spring.

Pick Goalie Out Of Crowd Tigers Edge Marlies 7-4

By The Canadian Press

Hamilton Tigers picked a goaltender out of the crowd Friday night and won their first game in Toronto in two years.

The 7-4 victory over Toronto Marlboros in an Ontario Hockey Association major series moved the Tigers into third place, two points up on Kitchener-Waterloo Flying Dutchmen. Marlies lost a chance of pulling out of their first-place tie with Toronto St. Mikes.

The Tigers' choice of Lloyd Ayers, a Toronto intermediate goalie, came at the end of the first period when their regular netminder, Bruce Dale, was taken to hospital with a gashed leg.

Ayers held Marlies to three goals while his new mates scored six in the second and third periods. Hamilton scorers were Murray Comfort with two, Tom Smelle, Abe Conick, Harvey Fraser, Mayer and Gord Crulkshank. Bob Hassard, Bill Johnson, Sandy Milne and Don Rope were Toronto's marksmen.

Out Six Weeks

Dale's right leg was cut in a scramble around his crease and a muscle was severed. Dr. George Kitchen, who operated, said the goalie "won't be playing hockey for at least six weeks—probably more."

In OHA junior A games Friday night, St. Catharines Teepees overwhelmed Oshawa Generals 7-2, Toronto St. Michaels upset Windsor Spitfires 2-1, Guelph Biltmores dumped Toronto Marlboros 4-2 and Barrie Flyers drubbed Stratford Kroehlers 12-3.

The Teepees' win kept them atop the 10-team loop, one point ahead of Barrie. Al Teal scored twice for St. Catharines while singletons were tallied by Wayne Brown, Buddy Boon, Jim Robertson, Toyota and Pierre Pilote. Alex Delvecchio and Paul Liver scored for Oshawa.

Second Win

St. Mike's decision was only their second win in 10 starts and it snapped a five-game Windsor victory streak. Fred Sandford and Bob Sabourin scored for the Irish, John Offidani for Windsor.

Doug Towers, Leo Labine and Lionel Barber each scored twice for the high-scoring Barrie team. Singletons were scored by Chuck Wood, Real Chevrefils, Jim Morrison, Don Emmes, Jerry Toppazzini and Jack McKnight. Johnny Wood scored two for Stratford with Brian McFarlane getting the other.

Don Keith paced Guelph in the Biltmores victory with two goals while Chuck Henderson and Eddy Kulik got singletons. Ron Hurst and Danny Poland scored for Marlboros.

Here And There In Sports . . .

By The Canadian Press

Jockey Willie Shoemaker broke the modern American record for winners in a season Friday and maintained a dwindling lead over his nearest rival in the race for 1950 riding honors.

Shoemaker won two races at Hollywood Park, bringing his total for the year to 321 and breaking the old record of 319 posted by Johnny Longden, the western Canada veteran, in 1948.

Pressing close behind, however, was Joe Culmone, who scored a triple at Pimlico and boosted his triumphs to 318.

The 19-year-old Shoemaker won aboard Harbor Pilot in the first race and hit the winner's circle on Fair Regards in the featured seventh race.

Shoemaker started off today with a four-race margin over Culmone in their hot cross-country rivalry. At one time, with the difference in time zones, Culmone had pulled to within one race of Wee Willie, with victories on Conewage on the first race at Pimlico, Mere Bones in the fourth and Twinkley in the fifth.

An inquiry has been ordered into boxer Tommy Farr's latest comeback victory.

Farr knocked out Piet Wilde of Belgium in the third round at Leicester, England, Monday night.

Referee Moss Deyong ruled Wilde failed to beat the count but many ringside observers thought Deyong counted only nine instead of 10.

The inquiry, ordered by the British Boxing Board of Control, probably will be held next Wednesday.

The fight was the second in the 36-year-old Farr's heavyweight comeback campaign. His next bout is scheduled for Dec. 4, at Carmarthen, Wales, against Gino Buonvino of Italy.

Pete Leswick, veteran player in the American Hockey League, announced Friday night he is cutting loose from the Buffalo Bisons to return to his home in Los Angeles.

"When you have played hockey for 14 years and usually on the first line, it sort of hurts your pride to sit on the bench and play only the odd game," Leswick told a reporter. The Bisons have used him mainly as fill-in this season.

Leswick says he has several business enterprises in mind and wants to talk things over with his wife before making a definite decision on his future.

Art Chapman, general manager of the Bisons, expressed surprise and commented:

"We need a guy like that who can plug the gap without any fuss. Pete is a little fellow, and we couldn't see any sense in having him take a battering game after game. This other way he would be fit and available any time and anywhere we needed him. We sure will find plenty of nights this season that we will wish we had him around."

SEELIE SAMARA, above, who meets Abe Zvonkin in the opening match of next Tuesday's all-star wrestling card at the Brock Arena. In the semi-final Wee Willie Davis hooks up with Ray Gunkel. Chief interest is in the main bout which brings together for the second time Yukon Eric and the Masked Marvel. Fans who witnessed this week's match between Eric and the Mask know what to expect when they meet again. It should be a sizzling affair.

Ranger Lines Experience Big Shake-up

By The Canadian Press.

New York Rangers, who've been flayed verbally from their own front office lately, take the ice in Montreal tonight with almost everybody shifted around but the goalie.

The reliable Chuck Rayner, one of the National Hockey League's top netminders, will be in his accustomed position.

But a wholesale shake-up of forward lines and rearguard pairings has followed the Rangers' dismal showing at home last Wednesday when they blew a 3-0 lead and lost 5-3 to Toronto Maple Leafs.

It was their sixth loss in 12 starts. They've tied five and won one.

Coach Neil Colville benched two regulars, Pentti Lund and Dune Fisher. Fisher, a Regina product, later was shipped to St. Paul Saints of the United States League.

Other Changes

Veteran Buddy O'Connor was removed from a regular line and assigned solely to penalty-killing roles or duty on power plays when the opposition is shorthanded; rookie Reg Sinclair was shifted to a new line with Edgar Laprade and Tony Leswick, while Don Raleigh, Alex Kaleta and Ed Slowinski were teamed on another. Left intact was the trio of Ed Kullman, Nick Mickoski and Jack McLeod.

Colville split up the Pat Egan-Frankie Eddolls defence team and paired Egan with John Lancien, Gus Kyle with Wally Stanowski and Eddolls with Allan Stanley.

All this and a verbal blasting from manager Frank Boucher was designed to stir the Rangers, Stanley Cup finalists last season, from the doldrums. Among other things, Boucher said the Rangers were the worst passing club in New York history.

The Rangers-Canadiens clash is one of six games this weekend. All six teams will be in action twice.

In other games tonight, Detroit Red Wings tackle the Leafs in Toronto while Chicago Black Hawks play Boston Bruins' in Boston. Sunday night Toronto is at Boston, Chicago at New York and Montreal at Detroit.

The Red Wings will be strengthened by the return of defenceman Leo Reise to the line-up for their clash with the red-hot Leafs. Reise has been sidelined with an ankle injury.

Coach Tommy Ivan of Detroit looks to Reise to improve Detroit's chances of putting an end to the Leafs' undefeated streak of 11 games. In two previous meetings this season with the Leafs, the Red Wings tied 4-4 at home and lost 1-0 in Toronto.

Officials To Hear Protest

TORONTO, Nov. 11 (CP)—The Ontario Hockey executive decided at a meeting which ended early today to hear next Tuesday the Galt junior A club's protest of a game in Guelph last Friday.

Guelph won 4-3 with one of the goals being scored by Willy Marshall, centre of a player-deal squabble between the Biltmores and Toronto St. Michael's club.

Galt protested on the grounds the OHA had instructed Guelph not to use Marshall until the Guelph-St. Mike's deal was decided.

The executive also decided it will ask Arnold Somerville, Biltmore's secretary, to appear before it and explain his alleged statement that OHA secretary George Panter was in collusionwith Toronto Marlboros.

The meeting reviewed the player deal in which Marshall was to have gone from St. Mike's to Guelph in exchange for John Negladiuk, Ken Laufman and $500. Negladiuk reported to St. Mike's but the deal went sour when Laufman refused to report.

16TH CENTURY FLIER — A recent meeting of the Montreal headquarters of the International Civil Aviation Organization brought to light the fact that a Turk—Hezarifen Ahmet Celebi—succeeded in lifting himself off the ground with wings back in 1500s. To commemorate the event, Turkey issued a set of three stamps, shown here. Each stamp acknowledges I.C.A.O. in white letters on the border, and portrays a phase of aviation history.

Censors Faced With Big Task In TV Control

By HARRY ECCLES
Canadian Press Staff Writer

The expansion of television raises a tough problem of censorship on the same principles as censorship of moving pictures now is working to eliminate obnoxious angles.

Motion picture censors of various Canadian provinces have already given tentative study to this problem which will increase as the whole world may be connected by television within a few years, just as radio can accomplish it now.

That poses the question of control over programs from the United States and abroad entering Canadian homes with liquor advertising, blood and thunder scenes and sex themes. Apparently some sort of international agreement will be necessary.

The question is naturally linked with censorship of movies, which for a long time to come will provide a large percentage of television shows.

May Need New Board

J. J. Fitzgibbons, president of Famous Players (Canadian) Corporation, recently told a meeting of film censors at Toronto that Canada now has 17,000 television sets, mostly in Ontario. Subsequent discussions disclosed that provincial and federal boundaries may have to be ignored and a new international board of censorship set up to deal with television.

Dr. Hugh Flick, director of motion picture censorship for New York State, raised the question of censoring on-the-spot television broadcasts. He said "television's got us completely baffled. What will be done I don't know."

Remember Crystal Sets?

The radio broadcasting industry today doesn't bear much resemblance to the squealing infant of 1920. The 30th anniversary of broadcasting has just been observed, carrying listeners back to the days in 1920 when radio's function changed from one of communicating between two points to the broadcasting of music and information to all who might be listening.

In the late months of 1920 a few pioneer broadcasting stations were already on the air on a regular schedule.

One of the pioneer broadcasts was a sensation at the time, KDKA's broadcast of the 1920 US election returns in which Warren G. Harding defeated James M. Cox. It is believed that not more than 90 crystal sets, equipped with headphones, were tuned in to that historic broadcast.

Contrast this with the off-year US elections this November when the United States alone had 2,189 standard radio stations, 675 FM stations and 107 television stations on the air.

Famed Malta Ship Rises From Ocean Years After Bombing

By EDWIN S. JOHNSON

LONDON — (CP) — Retrieved from the Mediterranean more than eight years ago after a knockout blow from a German bomb, the heroic British merchant ship Breconshire has wound up in former enemy port to be broken up for scrap.

It was an ignominous end for the 9,600-ton blockade-runner which during the war carried sorely-needed supplies to the brave defenders of the heavily-blitzed "George Cross" island of Malta.

During the darkest days of the siege, Malta newspapers printed poems about the glorious achievements of the converted merchantmen. Crowds flocked to the harbor to cheer each time the ship arrived.

But enemy planes had been stalking her closely. In March, 1942, when only eight miles from a safe haven, the Breconshire was disabled by a bomb from a single German aircraft which appeared out of the morning mist less than 100 feet above the water. Knowing they had crippled the ship, the Germans sent wave after wave of dive-bombers to complete her destruction. Two days after the first hit, she was set on fire and had to be abandoned.

As she lay on the bottom with her side above water, a party of sailors climbed aboard, cut a hole through the exposed plates and pumped out 1,000 gallons of oil for the Malta garrison. But in the holds of the Breconshire were vast quantities of bombs, ammunition and other explosives.

Triumph Of Salvage

The British Admiralty recently went to work on salvage plans involving risky operations. A 12-foot model of the ship was tested in a tank under conditions expected to be encountered when the real job was tackled. Experts estimated the ticklish undertaking would take at least four years. It was completed in as many months.

More than 40 air connections were fitted underwater before compressed air could be blown in to make the ship buoyant. But the operation was successful and she rose to the surface bottom up.

An Admiralty spokesman reported "The salvage was completed in the face of great technical difficulties and hazards which would have dismayed any but the most fearless under-water men."

The Breconshire was to be sunk far out in the Atlantic, but when it was discovered she was fully buoyant an offer was made by an Italian firm to purchase the hulk.

The offer was accepted and the once-proud supply ship was towed 700 miles to the port of Genoa where it will be broken up into scrap.

Elected President

KINGSTON, Nov. 11 (CP) — Kenneth W. Robinson of Barrie Friday was elected president of the Recreation Directors Federation of Ontario. The federation held a four-day training course at Queen's University this week. Others elected: Vice-president, Andre Ley, Hamilton; secretary, R. S. Sturgeon, Timmins; treasurer, Jack Cropley, Deep River.

Silver Jubilee Service Planned

HAVELOCK, Nov. 11 (ENS) — Mrs. Fred Chase entertained the Women's Missionary Society on Friday afternoon when plans were completed for a Silver Jubilee Service on Sunday, November 19 at 7.30 p.m. when the guest speaker will be Miss Louise Scott a missionary on furlough from Central India.

The study was in the form of a dialogue with Mrs. C. J. Gall representing the United Church of Canada and Mrs. C. Spencer the United Churc hof Christ in Japan.

The worship service was led by the president Mrs. G. W. Chiles assisted by Mrs. H. Watson. A duet was sung by Mrs. Chase and her daughter Miss Beulah Chase. The latter also rendered a piano solo.

Lunch was served by the hostess and a social half hour enjoyed.

Nominating Body Named By Cottesloe WMS

COTTLESLOE, Nov. 11 (ENS). —November meeting of the WMS was held at the home of the president, Miss Helen Tedford, who presided throughout the meeting. Mrs. J. S. Kidd acted as secretary. The roll call was answered by 15 ladies.

A nominating committee was appointed consisting of Mrs. J. S. Kidd, Mrs. John Gallaher and Miss Helen Tedford.

Two letters were read on the allocation and offices that will be vacant at the end of the year in the WMS Presbyterial.

The program in the Missionary Monthly was followed. Mrs. Max Tedford gave the Bible reading. Mrs. Chas. McMillan gave the reader's part. Prayers were offered by Helen Tedford and Mrs. J. Gallaher. Mrs. F. Bolton gave a paper on "Remembrance," telling how we should remember God's goodness to us, also a Japanese girl's reactions while studying in Bible School in Canada.

Mrs. A. Tedford sang "In The Secret of His Presence," accompanied by her daughter Helen at the organ. Mrs. Wm. Forsyth read from the WMS year book.

Mrs. Fred Bolton spoke on temperance. The meeting closed with a hymn and prayer. Lunch was served by Miss Helen Tedford and her mother.

The R.C.A.F. has a code language all its own — brief, concise for quick, clear understanding.

"Vampire 555...Clear to Land" (Control to pilot) "555...Roger" (Pilot to control tower)

In those few words, a clear-eyed young Canadian pilot in a stream-lined Canadian jet knows that the field is clear—that it is time for him to "come in"—and confirms instructions. Perhaps YOU, as another alert young Canadian want to "come in" too.

The R.C.A.F. has immediate need of young men to train as PILOTS • RADIO OFFICERS • NAVIGATION OFFICERS

If you are between the ages of 18 and 24, physically fit and can meet the educational requirements, there is an immediate opening that will give you valuable training in the modern field of aviation, and an opportunity to serve your country in a vital arm of its defence.

Australian Ore Aid To West Armament Plans

By LOUIS L. LECK.

SYDNEY, Australia — (CP).— The world's largest deposits of high-grade tantalite, a metal ore used to toughen armaments, ore at Wodgins and two smaller mines nearby, 900 miles north of Perth. There the temperatures range up to 120 degrees in the shade in the height of summer.

It was 25 years ago that a man sidled up to Lady Moulden, then Australia's wealthiest woman, at the Adelaide racetrack, and whispered a tip which led to the development of the mine.

In the Second World War tantalite from Wodgins, worth $8,000 a ton raw, was flown by air express to the United States. There smelting produced one ton of refined tantalum metal from every two tons of ore.

Australia in those days could not smelt the tantalite itself because it did not have the equipment. Now, however, a company is being formed with the backing of the Western Australia State Government and the Commonwealth Scientific and Industrial Research Organization.

It will build smelters near Perth to treat the ore and sell the refined tantalum to all the democracies. The nw plant also will extract columbium, caesium and beryllium.

Columbium is used in stainless and chromium steels to prevent decay and add toughness. Caesium is used in the manufacture of photo-electric cells. Beryllium is harder than tool steel and nearly as light as magnesium. In an alloy with copper, it is non-sparking and is valuable for tools used in gasworks or oil refineries. It is used in X-ray tubes and as a source for neutrons in bombarding uranium in one stage of the production of atomic energy.

PICKETERS AND PICKETED — When Dave Shebib, 37-year-old Sydney, N.S., barber, inset, refused to hike prices of shaves and children's haircuts, the Sydney Barbers' Association picketed his shop. Shebib went along with a boost in the price of haircuts for adults from 65 to 75 cents, but opposed 15-cent increases on the other services. While pickets patrolled in front of his shop, Shebib continued his business and children travelled Sydney streets with placards urging citizens to patronize his parlor.

British Scientist Awarded Physics Prize

STOCKHOLM, Nov. 11 (AP)— The 1950 Nobel prize in physics was awarded Friday to the British cosmic ray scientist, Professor Cecil F. Powell, 46.

The ward was in recognition of his development of a simple photographic method to probe the secrets of the atom nucleus and his highly significant discoveries regarding the mesons— elementary particles believed to be the putty which holds the atom nucleus together.

Dr. Hideki Yukawa, a Japanese now on the staff of Columbia University in New York, won the 1949 physics prize for his theory predicting the existence of the mesons 14 years before.

Powell was the 13th Briton to win the Nobel prize in physics and the 40th British winner in all Nobel prize classifications since the prizes were established 50 years ago.

Powell, physics professor at Bristol University for 22 years, is one of the vice presidents of the British Peace Committee which is staging the Communist-line peace congress at Sheffield, England, next week.

He has denied, however that he is a Communist telling reporters, "I have no political affiliations." But he said in a speech at Bristol Wednesday that "it is quite impossible to have a peace movement without the support of the Communists."

Deep Fear Of Germany Turns French To de Gaulle

By HAROLD KING

PARIS, Nov. 11 —(Reuters)— France's deep-rooted fear of rearming Germany, and her isolation among Atlantic Pact countries for maintaining this policy, has turned some leading politicians here in the direction of Gen. Charles de Gaulle.

Three months ago, French political observers were inclined to regard the Gaullist movement as a spent political force.

Today, behind the scene in high places, serious consideration is being given to the possibility that the country may need him again and that circumstances might arise in which the president of the Republic would call upon him to take over the political destinies of France.

Indicative of this trend was the fact that during the visit of the Sultan of Morocco to Paris, Vincent Auriol went out of his way to bring the name of de Gaulle into an official speech.

Keeping Eye on Him

Until the outbreak of hostilities in Korea, the tendency in political circles was to ignore him. Now, go-betweens and newspaper reporters are calling frequently again at the Gaullist headquarters in Paris, after having given it the cold shoulder for a long time.

Contributions are today coming into the Gaullist coffers from industrialists and other prominent citizens who, a year ago, said they were not interested.

Despite his innate preference for moderate governments, the Frenchman is beginning to lose faith in the middle-of-the-road parties and is looking around for an alternative.

He is apprehensive of the Gaullists because he feels that either they will fail to affect the situation enough to make much difference, or they will be efficient and therfore impose upon him a degree of civil discipline which he would find irksome.

Nevertheless, he is at present wondering whether he can still afford easy-going methods of government. Persons in high places are also seriously asking themselves the same question.

Say Gradual Poisoning Makes Worker Ill

SARNIA, Nov. 11 — (CP) — Suffering from what Dr. J. D. Bruce believes might be gradual carbon monoxide poisoning, a Tillsonburg beet worker was admitted to hospital here Friday in serious condition.

Felix Vanderburg, 46, was found unconscious in a shack along with a companion, 25-year-old Roger Chesquire. Chesquire is also in hospital but his condition is not serious.

Dr. Bruce said Vanderburg's condition was probably caused by a low concentration of carbon dioxide over a long period of time —but not enough to be immediately fatal. He said the poisonous fumes may have come from a small stove in the shack.

Marmora Legion Visits Schools

MARMORA, Nov. 11 (ENS) — Visitation of local schools by members of Marmora Branch No. 237 Canadian Legion in keeping with Remembrance Day was completed on Friday afternoon. Ex-Sergt. W. J. Cottrell attended Marmora Separate School shortly after the noon recess where introduced by Miss Mary Shannon, principal, he gave an address on the moral values of the comradeship begotten in the overseas forces and the good spirits maintained by warriors in spite of odds. Poppies were given to the teachers and scholars.

At the High School later in the afternoon Major Percy Gray accompanied the same speaker and in his introductory speech called attention to the activities of the Canadian Legion. The topic chosen by the speaker was "The glory of the British nation."

Yes, Nickel is a wonderful help in keeping food pure. In hotels, hospitals, restaurants and ships, equipment used in handling food is generally made of "Monel" or Stainless Steel. These metals are glass-smooth, non-porous, rust-proof and sanitary. They last for years and years.

Range tops today are being made of Ni-Resist—a cast iron containing Nickel. Ni-Resist range tops and lids do not sag or warp. They last longer.

Gleaming surfaces around the soda bar are "Monel" too. They're bright, sanitary, easy to keep clean.

"The Romance of Nickel", a 48-page book fully illustrated, will be sent free on request to anyone interested.

Forty-three years of research have uncovered hundreds of uses for Nickel in the United States and other countries. Now Nickel exports bring in millions of U.S. dollars yearly. These dollars help pay the wages of the 14,000 Nickel employees in Canada and also help pay Canadian railwaymen, lumbermen, iron and steel workers and other men and women making supplies for the Nickel mines, smelters and refineries.

Getting Along With Others An Old, Most Acute Problem

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D.D.

A best-selling book of recent years told how to make friends and influence people. It has been related to the attainment of what is called success but the problem of getting on well with others is one of the oldest and most acute problems of humanity.

Around that problem are histories of unhappiness and strife. Here and there, however, shine noble stories concerning those who have achieved happiness and rewarding friendship through the happiness they have brought to others.

Throughout the Bible, and particularly in the Psalms and Proverbs, the topic of human relations is touched upon with a wisdom that might well counsel our society of today.

On the subject of enemies, the Hebrews wisely wrote, "Agree with thine adversary quickly; don't answer a fool according to his folly; a soft answer turneth away wrath." Such counsels indicate that even in their limited society, difficult relationships must have existed.

It has been a great tragedy of history that not only has religion failed to curb the quarrels and dissensions of man with man and nation with nation, reaching a climax of tyranny in the two world wars, and the threatened third in our twentieth century, but in the sphere of religion itself there has been bitter conflict, with intolerance of spirit, and the physical cruelty of dire and terrible persecution.

The greatest practical task of Christians would, therfore, seem to be to solve this problem of getting on well with others, and to purge religion itself of the curse and disgrace of the conflicts and bitter dissansions that have been, and still are, within its own sphere.

When I seek to face with realism dark situations and difficult problems I try to find what optimism there is in any ray of light, and a real ray of light shines, I think, through recent developments in world Christianity, and especially in the movement of Protestant churches towards a World Council of Churches.

That organization has not as yet achieved its full strength, but one of its greatest achievements in my judgement is its institution of a "World Communion Sunday," a conscious communion and fellowship of all Christians. This is in contrast to the sectarian idea of exclusive groups, known as "communions," which, by their very exclusiveness, deny the deepest meaning of communion.

Incidentally the New Testament Greek word, translated "communion," is the same word elsewhere translated "fellowship." The greatest need of the world is Christian fellowship.

PETERBOROUGH EXAMINER

VOL. CI. No. 111 — SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 11, 1950

Liberal Leader Comrade 93rd Battalion

Walter C. Thompson, M.P., the new leader of the Liberal party in Ontario, is expected in Peterborough today for the weekend reunion of the 93rd battalion in which he held the rank of captain.

Mr. Thomson is a son of the late the Rev. Dr. D. A. Thomson, Presbyterian minister at Hastings for 40 years. He grew up in the manse of the Trent village in which his father was held in high esteem by all its people and also by the rural communities of Percy township on the Northumberland side of the river, and of Asphodel township in Peterborough county. He attended school in Hastings and Norwood.

The emergence of Walter Thomson into the leadership of his party as the climax of its provincial convention is bound to recall to older citizens grateful memories of his devoted and kindly father. It was from the location of long residence on the Trent River that the son was attracted to the 93rd Battalion when its organization was authorized.

Joined Norwood Company

He joined the Norwood company of that unit, and with the rank of captain was second-in-command to its senior officer, Captain H. S. Neilson. He later served with the 21st Battalion.

Subsequently to the war he became a successful lawyer in Toronto, and in more recent years he enlarged his political interests in this Central Ontario area, the neighborhood associated with his youth.

He has been organizer and president of the Central Ontario Liberal Association, and at the last federal elections he was elected Member of Parliament for Ontario county, of which Oshawa is the industrial centre.

Mr. Thomson lives at Pickering on a rural estate that provided the attractions of country life, including his acquired interest in farming and the breeding of cattle. If he finds it possible to join the members of his old battalion in their reunion, he comes to Peterborough in the equality of service which they all knew, but elders who recall his family at Hastings back in those happier years before the war, will imagine they see beyond him the kindly Christian personality of the Presbytérian minister who was so long a first citizen of the village of Hastings, the Rev. Dr. D. A. Thomson.

PCVS Students Pay Tribute To 52 Heroes

Students and teachers of the PCVS paid tribute to the fallen of World War I and World War II Friday at their annual Remembrance Day service in the senior assembly. During the first war 58 former students of the school did not return and 94 during the last world war. The service was conducted by the PCVS Cadet Corps.

Following a prayer for the fallen by the Rev. Walter Gilling of St. Luke's Anglican Church, C. S. Browne read the honor roll of the 152 names. Then followed two minutes of silence ending with the hymn, "O Valiant Hearts."

Guest speaker, the Rev. Ivan C. Morgan of Murray St. Baptist Church, recited two verses of Laurence Bunyon's "For the Fallen" and briefly traced the civilian and military careers of three of his best friends who died during the last war.

Why they died, Mr. Morgan explained through a letter from a bomber pilot who was killed but left a letter for his mother "in case anything happens to me." The content of the letter was:

"It was with great reluctance that I left our home, but it was the only way of showing my love for you. If we were all to stay at home with our loved ones, there would be no one here to fight for them, and to protect them. And if we left you unprotected, how long could we be together? This man (Hitler) must be stamped out before we can find real peace and happiness once more. I am in this sense only too glad to have made this sacrifice."

Mr. Morgan left the students with the following questions: "Did our boys die in vain for us? How are we using the liberty and freedom they won for us? Are we doing out utmost to make their victories permanent?

"If there should be another war, another generation would take up the weapons they have laid down, and would fight for this nation, and this flag. But how many of us are willing in these days of comparative peace to set aside the pursuit of selfish ends, and to live for the ideals and principles which cost these their lives?"

Mr. Morgan was introduced by Cadet Lieut. G. Elcombe.

The scripture lesson, "The Song of the Fathers" was read by Cadet Major David Ingram and Cadet Major G. Hawley read a portion of Pericles' Oration praising the Athenians who died in the first year of the Peloponnesian war.

The PCVS concert band, under the direction of Albert Croasdale, led the students in the singing of the hymns.

Coventry Singers Take To Air In Monday Series

The Coventry Singers of Peterborough, under the direction of John Hooper, are giving a series of six half-hour programs over radio station CHEX. The series, sponsored by The Examiner, will be heard Mondays at nine p.m., beginning next Monday.

This small choir of 15 voices has established a notable name for itself in two and a half years since it was organized, even though it rarely sings in public. The group was formed from the nucleus of singers who provided the music for the Coventry Nativity Play staged at St. George's church in the Christmas seasons of 1947 and '48. From this it has taken the name "Coventry Singers".

Formed primarily for the private enjoyment and study of the singers themselves at weekly rehearsals, the choir has appeared only five times in public: at the Members' Community Concert last winter; at the Kiwanis Music Festival last spring where it took the highest number of points awarded any entry; at the Canadian National Exhibition in Toronto this summer, where it was placed second in a province-wide competition which included choirs of 50 voices; and on a broadcast series over Station CHEX in the weeks preceding last Christmas. This series was sponsored by the Examiner and received much enthusiastic praise from listeners.

Last Christmas season, the Coventry Singers limited their four programs to Christmas carols, ancient and modern and of many countries. This year the series has been extended to six, and only the two last will be on carols. The first two programs will be of unaccompanied songs; the second two will be devoted to the choral work of the seventeenth century English composer Henry Purcell, chiefly his "Masque in Dioclesian", a notable work rarely performed on this continent.

Mr. John Hooper, the director, is a gifted young Peterborough musician who makes music his avocation rather than vocation and means of livelihood.

The 15 members of the Coventry Singers are: Mrs. Wilfrid Huycke, Miss Mary Medd, Miss Iris Whalon, Mrs. John Evans, Miss Alma Blanchard Mrs. H. A. Mitchell, Mrs. Lloyd Hale, Mrs. William Rashleigh, Mrs. John Hooper, John Evans, Russell Cole, Anthony De Noble, William Rashleigh, Ian Clarke and Thomas Allen.

14 Peterborough Veterans All Patients In Same Ward

Fourteen Peterborough men were patients in the War Veterans ward at Kingston General Hospital, according to a local visitor there a few days ago. Most of them were men of the first war, and it was said there was a similar ward at Hotel Dieu.

This transpiring information is a reminder of the continuing effects of war service since the years preceding Nov. 11, 1918. Several names were mentioned as being recent patients, Alex. Smith, Tom Chapman, Jack Legros and others.

It was said that Mr. Legros, for instance, underwent a foot operation, the wiring of toes that were retracting as a result of a wound suffered in the first war, and also that he would have to return in some months to ascertain the operations results.

The presence of the fourteen men from Peterborough apart from other communities, acquired more emphasis or reality of the costs of war the public forgets in the approach to Remembrance Day.

Wounds and other disabilities were caused in the service more than 30 years ago. And there are also in hospital younger men of World War II, still paying the same price of two victories that were instalments in the cost of liberty.

Served 30 Years On Police Force

Chief Constable John Thompson and Deputy Chief John Naples are both marking 30 years' service on the city police force this month.

Chief Thompson joined the force Nov. 4, 1920, and the Deputy Chief Nov. 22.

Since then they have worked together constantly. Friday they took time out to reminisce for a short time.

The best-remembered episodes as far as they were concerned were stories that were never reported and never will be.

Neither man has forgotten what it was like to walk a beat in below zero weather. But they also enjoyed their work.

"We had some good times" the Chief recalled, a far-away look in his eyes. But they were soon back at the job of today, making plans to handle the Remembrance Day events.

Harry Kingdon Barbered For 55 Years

After 55 years of barbering in the city, Harry Kingdon, who was 70 on Friday, is still cutting hair. "I've cut a lot of heads of hair in those years," he said. "But I've never figured out just how many."

Born Richard Henry Kingdon in 1880, he was the son of the late George Samuel Kingdon. He started barbering when he was 15, and for most of his 55 years of hair-cutting had his own business on Charlotte St.

He and his wife, Sarah Ethel, have been together for 47 years and have five children, four of whom are in Peterborough.

One of the children, Harry, is a favorite of city hockey fans, and is known better as "Bun." The others are George, Helen, Eleanor, and Jack, who lives in Sarnia.

Mr. Kingdon a dapper, white-haired man, is a keen hockey and baseball fan, and has followed both sports for many years.

On hair-cutting, he says the toughest ones to handle in the chair are children.

WASHINGTON AT NEW YORK

George Washington, the first US president, was inaugurated at New York City—not Washington—in 1789.

Veterans Honor War Dead In Parade To Memorial

Facing cool November breezes, several thousand ex-service men and women and others paraded almost two miles to the cenotaph in Confederation Park today to lay wreaths in honor of the dead of two wars.

The Remembrance Day parade was greeted by crowds along the whole route. Starting from the Armouries, the group marched south on Aylmer St. to Charlotte St., east on Charlotte to George St., and north on George to the park.

Heading the parade was the 50th Heavy AA Band, followed by a Legion color party bearing the Union Jack, and the two flags of the Canadian Legion branches in the city.

Then came the members of the Legion, led by president Patrick Burke. He led branches 52 aind 452 (Women's Division).

Behind the Legion marched various ex-service men's clubs and associations—the Duffy Club, Navy Club, the Peterborough wing of the Air Force Association, the Red Patch Club, and others.

There were few uniforms evident, but medals and ribbons were sprinkled on marchers' coats, and many of them wore colored berets with regimental badges.

C.G.E. Contingent

One of the largest contingents in the parade was that from the War Veterans Association of the Canadian General Electric. They were about 1,000 strong, and were led by the CGE pipe band.

War veterans who work at other factories followed the procedure set in 1949, and fell in at the plants—the Westclox, De Laval, etc.—and marched to the armouries to join the main body.

As the parade neared the cenotaph, police blocked off George St. between Murray and McDonnel Sts. and diverted traffic on to McDonnel St.

Other bands in the parade were the Peterborough Pipe Band, the Salvation Army Temple Band, and the Peterborough Citizens' Band.

Reunion Dinner Held By Moore Preceptory

Annual reunion of Moore Preceptory, Knights Templar, was held on Friday night in the Masonic Temple. Dinner was served at 6:30 with four visiting preceptories from the district, Port Hope, Belleville, Oshawa and Barrie being present.

George Coleman sang two numbers and he was accompanied by F. G. Mann.

Following the dinner a class of 11 candidates were given the novice and installation orders.

ORGANIZATION MEETING

The first and organizing meeting for member of the Peterborough United Nations Association meeting will be held at the Public Library on Wednesday, at 8 p.m. This meeting will aim at the nomination and election of the executive. Before the meeting membership forms and fees may be sent to Treasurer A. E. Borland, 744 George St.

Wig-Wag Working Car Hit By Yard Train

Two minor accidents Friday night involved three cars and a CNR yard engine.

Charles Dunn, 655 George St., was driving west on Charlotte St., and told police he saw the CNR wig-wag signal moving, but thought it was for a train he saw standing by the station. He started to cross the tracks and his car was hit by the yard engine, and slightly damaged.

Slight damage was done to two cars when they collided at Charlotte and Bethune streets Friday evening. Ross Bertrand, 178 Auburn St., was driving east on Charlotte, and stopped for the traffic light at Aylmer St. behind a line of cars.

Shortly after the light turned green, he started to drive away, but was forced to stop again. A car behind him, driven by Lloyd Owen, 583 Fagan Avt., hit the rear of Bertrand's auto.

ELGIN MARBLES

The Elgin Marbles, famous collection of ancient Greek sculptures, were brought to England by Lord Elgin in 1812.

Colin McEachern In Charge Rehabilitation of Blind

Appointment of W. D. Colin McEachern, as Field Secretary to the Petermorough office, is announced by The Canadian National Institute for the Blind. Mr. McEachern is responsible for the administration of CNIB's rehabilitation program to the 220 registrants of the Peterborough county district.

A young man in his middle twenties, Mr. McEachern comes to this city with an excellent background for his work. A native of Kingston, the new Field Secretary took all of his public and high school training there, with the exception of a year spent at The Ontario School for the Blind, Brantford. Although partially sighted, he comes within the government definition of blindness, less than 10 per cent of normal vision.

Graduated from Queen's

On obtaining his matriculation, Mr. McEachern went to college at Queen's University, graduating in 1947. Typing out his own essays and examinations, and covering most of his book work with the assistance of volunteer readers, he completed the course in the normal length of time. His next achievement was the obtaining of the MSW degree in social work at the School of Social Work, University of Toronto. Besides the class work, and the reading of many books, this course required a period of actual social work experience, and a serious research project. Mr. McEachern wrote his thesis on the employment program for the blind as it has developed through the years at CNIB.

Since he finished his course in 1949, the new district officer has been with the Big Brother Movement to solve the problems of school age boys. While he has proven to himself that he could obtain and hold a position where full sight is usually considered essential, he is still a registrant with CNIB.

Three Cars Damaged Head-on Collision

Three cars were damaged Friday night following a head-on collision between two of them on Reid Street between Dalhousie and Sherbrooke Streets.

Herbert Stinson, 267 Charlotte Street, a cab driver, was parked on the east side of Reid Street, facing south, when a northbound car driven by Joseph Murphy, 457 Downie Street, met in head-on collision with the taxi.

The cab was driven backward into a car owned by Raymond Barrons, Bonarlaw. Front of the Stinson car was smashed in, and the grill, hood, and right front fender of Murphy's auto badly dented. The left front door and fender on Barrons' car were damaged.

PC Gordon Trennum, who investigated, said Murphy was "very abusive," and had been drinking.

MEN OF 93rd PAID WITH THEIR BLOOD FOR VICTORY IN 1918

Organization and Recruiting

Formation of 93rd Battalion Ordered In Autumn, 1915; Peterborough County Unit

Formation of the 93rd Battalion followed a monster recruiting meeting held Aug. 4, 1915, at the armouries. It was under the auspices of the Speakers' Patriotic Lea[illegible] George Foster was the principal speaker at that meeting when it was proposed that Peterborough county should be allowed to raise an overseas battalion.

FIRST COMMANDING OFFICER of the 93rd Battalion was Lieut-Col. Joseph Mills. Originally an officer with the 57th Regiment, Lieut.-Col. Mills served at the front with the 2nd Battalion before coming back to Canada to take command of the newly-formed unit. After only a few days he was appointed inspector of supply and transport in No. 2 military district.

For a while nothing came of the proposal and local men wishing to do their bit in the First World War were recruited as infantrymen at the Armouries. On August 23, J. H. Burnham, MP, announced that Peterborough would become an infantry training depot and that several hundred men would train here during the winter.

Nearly 100 men had joined up by that time, including a number of bandsmen from the Rangers and Temple Bands.

Went to Barriefield

Lieut.-Col. Duncan Walker, 57th Regiment, gave them the choice of joining the 59th Battalion in Kingston or remaining in Peterborough to form the nucleus of the new unit not then organized. The bandsmen and 33 other recruits joined the 59th and were transferred to Barriefield.

For some time it was doubtful if a local battalion would be formed. There was some indication that the infantry recruits would become part of the new 80th Battalion at Belleville. Maj. R. T. Hounsell of the 57th Regiment was placed in charge temporarily, and on September 1st Walter Hughes, cornet soloist of the 57th Band, was appointed bandmaster. He began to build up what was later recognized as one of the finest bands in the CEF.

On September 7, Lieut.-Col. T. J. Johnston of the 3rd Prince of Wales Dragoons, was made second-in-command of the 93rd Battalion and became commander of the local detachment. Two weeks later the new unit, 136 strong, was inspected at the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition by General Sir Sam Hughes, Canada's Minister of Militia.

Formation of a purely local battalion was still in doubt when Ottawa announced September 27 that Peterborough would be the headquarters of two companies of infantry. Other companies were to be raised in Lindsay and Cobourg.

Then the big stimulus to recruiting came a month later with the decision to recruit a battalion known as the 93rd, and confine the recruiting to residents of Peterborough County.

Named OC

Lieut.-Col, Joseph Mills, who was on his way home after seeing service with the 2nd Battalion at the Front was named commander. He was one of the first 57th officers to enlist for overseas service. But he was commander for only a few days, being appointed Inspector of Supply and Transport for No. 2 Military District in Toronto.

The command of the 93rd was handed over to Lieut.-Col. Johnston.

By Christmas battalion strength was up to 500 and the unit was stationed in the Armouries. As the battalion increased in numerical strength it also grew more proficient in signalling and machine gun sections were formed. Bandmaster Hughes also worked hard to improve the musicianship of his charges.

Recruiting Depots

Recruiting depots were opened at Apsley, Lakefield, Norwood, and Havelock, and the response of the men of military age was so great that it was possible to form platoons in each of the villages.

Weekly rallies were held in Peterborough by the Speakers' Patriotic League to maintain the popular enthusiasm; a number of speakers of national fame were introduced. The 93rd did not have everything its own way so far as recruits were concerned. At least 350 Peterburians joined other units recruiting here; the artillery was particularly successful in obtaining men.

The winter passed with the battalion undergoing intensive training and the mobilization of the complete unit was completed in May with the assembling in Peterborough of the platoons from Apsley, Lakefield, Norwood, and Havelock.

The 93rd was originally scheduled to leave Peterborough in mid-May but a powerful appeal from the Speakers' Patriotic League to military authorities allowed the unit to remain for a huge demonstration May 24.

Victoria Day Parade

Those who remember the 93rd parading in Peterborough recall that it was at its best on Victoria Day. A huge crowd jammed the Exhibition grounds to see the local men—observe the smartness and precision of their drill, and hear the excellent band play.

Singled out for special mention were the physical training squad under Battalion Sgt.-Major Tom Miller, the machine gun section under Lieut. G. P. A. Crisp, and the signalling section under Lieut. A. E. Gardiner.

Heavy rains prevented the battalion from leaving for Barriefield on the 25th, but five days later Peterborough bade good-bye to the 93rd. Unknown to the officers and men, the 93rd, as they marched to the train, they were passing through the city streets for the last time as a single unit.

Then it was off for Barriefield and the second stage in the moulding of a first-class fighting machine.

UK Refuses 40 Red Visas

MOSCOW, Nov. 11 — (AP) — Pravda said Friday the British Government has refused visas to 40 out of 65 Russian delegates who sought to attend a Communist-backed World Peace Conference opening November 13 in Sheffield, England.

The Communist Party newspaper says in its lead editorial that "Imperialists, made mad by the popular movement for peace, are going to all lengths to weaken and suppress this movement."

Pravda adds that among those refused visas were Metropolitan Nikolai of he Russian Orthodox Church, writer Ilya Ehrenburg, and composer Dmitri Shastakovich.

Tass, official Soviet news agency, said Britain has granted less than 100 visas out of the 1,900 requested by various countries.

(The British Government announced earlier that no foreigners would be granted visas to come to the United Kingdom as organizers for the conference and that applications to attend the Congress would be considered on their individual merits.

(In Budapest, newspapers said Britain granted only 17 visas to Hungarian delegates and another 17 were refused.

(All three clerical members in the delegation— a Calvinist bishop, a Lutheran bishop, and a Catholic priest—were refused. So was Professor Gyorgy Lukacs, renowned aesthetician and veteran Communist.

(In Copenhagen Communists announced that four Danes were refused entry. Among them were Professor Mogens Fog, who was minister in the 1945 Coalition Government, and until recently a Communist member of Parliament.)

Fenella WMS Hears Address

ROSENEATH, Nov. 11 (ENS)—Rev. R. C. White, pastor of Fenella United Church, gave an address "Japan Begins Again," at the Fenella WMS meeting held at the home of Mrs. Frank Down. The president, Mrs. N. C. Leach, presided, with Mrs. Laurie Hope as secretary. During the business period it was decided to remember the ill in the community with fruit.

Mrs. James Knox was in charge of a missionary program that included readings by Mrs. William Sandercock, Mrs. Marcus Lonsberry, and Mrs. Carl McNaught; a piano solo by Mrs. Burton Roberts and the singing of missionary hymns. At the close of the meeting the hostess served lunch.

Discharge Suspect

FORT ERIE, Nov. 11 —(CP)—Arthur Mitchie, 32, of Buffalo, N.Y., was discharged by the court here Thursday when arraigned on a charge of armed robbery in the $2,000 holdup of a bank at nearby Stevensville last Oct. 5. The Crown presented no evidence against Mitchie, arrested in Buffalo Oct. 13. He waived extradition.

PETERBOROUGH WELCOMES OLD COMRADES OF 93rd BATTALION

Royal Send-Off Given Unit

May Morning 34 Years Ago 93rd Battalion Left For Camp At Barriefield

When the 93rd Battalion responded to the bugle call of "fall in" early on the morning of May 30, 1916, not a single absentee was reported. The battalion was leaving Peterborough, where it had been recruited, for Barriefield camp, on the first leg of its journey overseas. Thousands of friends, relatives and well-wishers—one of the largest crowds ever assembled in Peterborough—gathered to say good-bye. The unit had been recruited, organized and trained here, and it contained officers and men from every part of the county.

The men of the 93rd were at the Armouries at 6.30 a.m. on that May morning 34 years ago, completing the final details of the departure. Details of soldiers looked after the loading of kit bags and truckfuls of luggage. Early as it was, hundreds of relatives and friends had already gathered, and there were many affecting scenes as last farewells were said.

Farewell Addresses

Addresses of farewell were delivered by Mayor (now Senator) J. J. Duffus, the Rev. R. G. Peever of George Street Methodist Church, the Rev. Father Phelan of St. Peter's Cathedral, the Rev. J. R. Webb of Murray Street Baptist Church, Mrs. W. R. Morris of the Women's Auxiliary of the Speakers' Patriotic League, and His Honor Judge E. C. S. Huycke.

Shortly after 9 a.m. the 93rd swung off the parade grounds on its march to the G.T.R. station, headed by the band of the 57th Regiment playing "O Canada." Peterborough county's first complete overseas unit marched along Murray St., down George St. to Charlotte St., and on to the station.

The streets were lined with Peterborough residents who formed an increasingly dense crowd the nearer the battalion got to the station. Despite ankle-deep mud on Bethune St. the crowd swarmed around the train to get a last glimpse of loved ones and shout a final farewell as the long string of coaches carrying A and B companies moved out from the station.

Major R. P. Watt, commander of the first section, and Major K. G. Lech, third-in-command of the battalion, waved their good-byes from the rear platform of the last coach as the train pulled out.

Twenty minuntes later C and D companies, the signallers, machine gun section, pioneers, paymaster's staff and hospital staff were quickly on board, and the good-byes typical of the first section were repeated.

Lieut.-Col. Johnston and Capt. Munro, adjutant, as well as a small group of senior officers, waved to the Peterborough crowd as the train pulled out on its way to Barriefield.

NCO's Played Big Part Moulding Unit

The group picture of the Non-Commissioned Officers of the 93rd Battalion, commemorating both Remembrance Day and the old Peterborough unit itself in its present reunion, recalls the men who played a big part in moulding it into a fighting corps.

Some of them were only in their teens when they enlisted, others had reached early manhood —thirty-five years ago.

The Battalion Sergeant Major was the late Thomas Miller, father of Ald. T. D. Miller, who served with the RCAF in World War II.

The roster of the other Non-Coms is fairly complete as follows: William Jones, retired Captain of the Peterborough Fire Department; Elmer Brown, Chris Jay, Jack Knowles, Percy Clarke, Emil Baumer.

R. Wm. Wride who was Sergeant Cook; Walter Hughes, Band Sergeant, leader of the 93rd band; Bert Hartshorn, Sam Calladine, Sr., Norman Crowe, Robert Naples George Grange, Percy Ecobichon, Herbert O'Heron, Harold Freeman, William Theobald of Millbrook; James Abraham.

William Leader, C. Lemay, Jack Playford, Jack Williams, Wm. Lewington, John Miller, Drum Sergeant; J. G. Manley of Westwood; Percy Luther, Robert Cottrell, Robert Matchett, William Lemay, David Melton, Peter Thomas Martin, Walter Miller, present Collector Customs, Andrew Rutter, Chas. Payne, Albert Stanley, Howard (Rock) Hall.

William Targett, George T. Toone, Frank E. Traynor, Walter Wagstaff, Gileon Walker of Norwood; Charles Webb, John G. Williams, Arthur Rose, Arthur Searight, Norwood; Joseph H. Watson, Robert Wilshaw.

AS PAYMASTER of the 33rd Battalion, Capt. J. H. Burnham was one of the most popular officers of the unit. He was the MP for Peterborough West when the battalion was organized.

RCMP Prepared To Deal With Red Action

OTTAWA, Nov. 11—(CP)—The RCMP hopes to be ready to launch a swift counter-offensive against Canadian Communists in the event of war, informed quarters said today.

These officials said the revelation of T. G. (Gerry) McManus that Canada's Reds are prepared to go underground immediately came as no surprise to the Mounties, who for years have been getting set for just that move.

Mr. McManus, former high-ranking Communist and labor union leader, quit the Communist party four months ago in a split over Korean policy. He told of its Canadian activities in an article today in Maclean's Magazine.

For many years, these activities have been under the eye of the RCMP Special Branch, whose job it is to deal with subversive elements in the country.

Just what measures now are being taken in the Mounties to combat underground activities in the event of war remain a secret, but a high official said today "it's reasonable to assume the RCMP would be ready for them."

Haven't Bothered

It was learned that the RCMP has not been in touch with Mr. McManus since his break with the Reds—a possible indication that the force does not consider it has much to learn from him.

"We've been ready before. Let's hope we are the next time. But if we are, let's keep it a secret."

There was no immediate comment here on Mr. McManus' statements that the Reds have men in the Canadian armed services, receiving instructions from the party and reporting on the strength of the forces and other details.

It is known, however, that there is machinery for combatting this type of infiltration. The anti-subversive forces is the joint responsibility of the defence authorities and the RCMP.

Across The Continent

Stars of Night Big, Bright When Motoring In Texas

By JACK SCOTT

The travelling salesmen make it nicely in a day, since there's nothing worth stopping for in between, but at a leisurely rate it's a two-day drive from San Antonio to El Paso, some 600 miles across the over-baked plains of southern Texas.

You leave San Antonio in the early morning under a cool, powdery-blue sky. The car radio makes the happy, rippy-tippy sound of Mexican music. This will remain with you all the way. Highway 90 is never more than a few miles from the states of Coahuila and Chihuahua and the misty-blue sawtooth rim of the Sierra Madres.

High over the tower of San Antonio a jet plane is climbing up into the limitless dome of the sky. Its white vapor trail foams thinly out behind to leave a hundred-mile chalk mark in the blue.

In the country outside San Antonio the hawks are wheeling low on the morning hunt. One pursues a small, frantic bird directly across your path. The small bird makes a desperate, futile attempt to find safetly in a thick grove of pecan trees. It's a strangely violent scene on such a placid, peaceful morning. The hawk circles off with heavy wings into the sky.

The sun becomes more vivid with each passing mile, the foliage more sparse. You stop for breakfast at a roadside inn a couple of dozen miles out of San Antonio. It is not yet ten o'clock, but four Texans are bellied up to the bar drinking beer. They have faces burned by the sun to a mahogany color, faded denim pants with a waistline just above the hip-bones. You wonder why no song writer has penned a lament about the Texas sweetheart who was tall in the saddle but a half-pint on the ground.

When you return to the car the leather seats are burning to the touch. The heat has begun to shimmer off the highway ahead. Cars approaching from the distance are wavering and distorted as if seen under water.

An Oasis

A large sign on the outskirts of one dry, sun-drenched hamlet, very Mexican in appearance, proclaims: "This is God's country. Don't drive through it like hell."

The temptation is to do just that. The magnificent highway unrolls like a carpet, string-straight as far ahead as you can see across the dust-brown, grey-green landscape. You simply point the car and hang on, one eye on the scenery the other on the temperature gauge. As on other lonely roads, you raise a hand in greeting at each passer-by.

By mid-afternoon you are a blob of heat: Outside the town of Del Rio you pull in by one of the many roadside parks maintained by the Texas highway department. Here is a mirage sprung to life. A crystal blue stream, chest-high, slips through a small green park. Emerald bass swim about the pebble bottom. You ease into the stream and let it put out the fire. Then you lunch under pecans on tables made of smooth concrete with a coolness that Mexican craftsmen seem to build into their masonry.

Then reluctantly, back to the car and on the road again and the highway unrolls beneath your blistering tires through the afternoon.

You decide to spend the night at a sleepy little burg called Sanderson. After a dinner of chili concarne you sit in deck chairs and watch the fierce sunset and the Texas night taking shape. The Texan who wrote that line "The stars at night are big and bright" was not exaggerating. This is an incredible show and when the giant canary-colored moon comes up over the velvet black hills (nicely timed to Mozart's Symphony in D Major from New York) you feel as if you could poke your head up among the stars.

The breeze now turns cool. You will need a sweater to sit outside. There is no sound in the night but the movement of the breeze through the stunted bush and the faraway horn of a Southern Pacific express cutting through the night. It should be a mournful whistle of course, and not that ugly, new-fangled klaxon, but you can't have everything.

With Color

Again the lovely, bracing morning and the open road once more. Travellers who make this trip regularly complain bitterly that it is sheer monotony, but on this first and only passing you see beauty on every side.

Rolling east to El Paso (annual rainfall: six inches) you see the ceramic mountains ahead, some like sugar loaves, some like a child's sand-castles, sandy green, serrated and with a mere fuzz of foliage.

With each mound your car tops, immense new valleys open up, some with small towns roasting far off under the naked sun. Alongside run the fences of immense cattle ranches, the cactus, like thorny green mittens holding their palms up to the sun.

Your car hums across bridges over dried-up creeks and rivers and the twisted arroyos. The metal blades of the wind-mills turn slowly in the hot wind. Twisters of burnt sienna dust dance a dervish across the desert. Noon comes and you see a Mexican work gang on the railway in siesta, looking as if they had been felled where they stood by some strange disease. The sun glints on the beer cans that line the old Spanish trail.

Color takes on a new meaning against this soft, bleached landscape. The bright ochre shirt of a cowboy riding a palomino bonelessly across the mesa, the solid fire-engine red of a trans-continental truck, the faded blue of the denims worn in the railway gangs, the cotton bolls of the green fields in the irrigated land near El Paso every color that is foreign to this land stands out brilliantly.

And so, at dusk, with the sky flaming across the Rio Grande you come into El Paso and begin to think about doing it all over again across New Mexico and Arizona.

LIEUT.-COL. T. J. JOHNSTON succeded Lieut.-Col. Mills as OC of the 93rd. He recruited and trained the battalion and as OC led the unit to England where it was later broken up by repeated drafts to other units.

Election Error In Michigan

DETROIT, Nov. 11 — (AP)—Discovery of a major election error in Macomb county Friday night tossed Republican Harry F. Kelly back into the lead in Michigan's fantastic governorship election by a margin of 319 votes.

Louis Luchtman, chairman of the Macomb county board of canvassers, reported the error which gave Kelly 381 votes more and subtracted 525 from the total for Governor G. Mennen Williams, the first-term Democrat who once was considered beaten and then pulled into the lead late Friday in the midst of a maze of election errors.

With 32 of 52 Macomb county precincts canvassed, the state totals changed to give Kelly 934,851 votes and Williams 934,532.

Luchtman said the remaining precincts would not be canvassed until Monday.

Queen Mary Has Cold

LONDON, Nov. 11 (Reuters) —Queen Mary had a slight cold Friday and will remain at home a few days on her doctors' advice. She is the third member of the the royal family to be reported sick this week. The King has been suffering from a slight attach of rheumatism, but carrying out normal engagements. Princess Elizabeth is suffering from a severe cold and has cancelled all engagements.

Many Heartbreaks As Battalion Broken Up

Troop Transport Separated From Escort Ships, Unit Broken Up In England

The ocean-crossing trip of the 93rd Battalion was an unexpected hazard. While crossing the Atlantic the Empress of Britain, carrying the Peterborough country soldiers, lost the escorting naval vessels in a dense fog and blundered through a minefield before arriving safely. To the delight of Orangemen the battalion left Barriefield camp July 12, 1916, on the way to Halifax. On the 15th they arrived at Halifax and marched proudly through the streets to the docks. There they boarded "the Empress."

For many hours on her trans-Atlantic journey the transport was separated from the escorting war vessels by a fog and the real danger was the fact it went through a mine field. However nothing happened.

After this hazardous crossing "the Empress" docked in Liverpool July 23, and the 93rd, most of them eager to get a glimpse of "the old country" disembarked.

The first camp was at Otterpool and the battalion was kept there under quarantine for six weeks because several men were discovered who were suspects for spinal meningitis. Intensive training was carried out and a detachment was detailed for duty with the Army Ordnance Corps at Ashford. Later there was a course of bombing and musketry training at Lydd.

In September the first draft left for France, and after a short stay in Le Havre the men were sent to the front. They went into action near Albert, in the Somme area, on October 8, 1916.

Other drafts following in quick succession. Quotas from the 93rd went to the 18th, 19th, and 20th Battalions, and later to the 52nd Battalion.

The battalion was finally broken up late in October and sent from Otterpool to join the 39th reserve at Sanding. Further drafts were sent to the 4th and 21st Battalions, and the rest of the men joined the 87th Battalion in France in November.

The regimental band and the medically unfit were sent back to Canada and reached Peterborough on Christmas Day, 1916.

Cabinet Rejects Conscription

OTTAWA, Nov. 11—(CP)—The cabinet rejected a Canadian Legion bid for peacetime conscription Friday.

The bid came in the annual presentation of the Legion's views to the government in a brief which said Canada isn't doing enough about defence or for war pensioners.

It was learned that the call for conscription got nowhere at a meeting of the National Council with Prime Minister St. Laurent, Defence Minister Claxton and other cabinet ministers.

Five Indian Brothers And Three Cousins All Served In The 93rd Battalion

Recruited from residents of Peterborough county, the 93rd Battalion was bound to have a large number of relatives. Follow ing is a comment of the Examiner on the unit:

"One feature of the 93rd Battalion that made it notable was the number of family groups that were to be found in its ranks. There were no fewer than 33 sets of brothers on the muster of the Peterborough country unit, and 15 cases where fathers and sons were drilling side by side. The Taylor family of Chemong Indian village held the record in this respect; there were five brothers and three cousins all serving in the same platoon. There were several instances of three brothers serving in the 93rd and of a father and two sons, all wearing 93rd numerals on their caps and shoulder badges. For example, Sgt. James Abraham had his two sons Sgt. Ernest Abraham and Pte. Reg. Abraham in the unit; and "Daddy" Dyer and his two sons were members of the battalion band."

Farewell To 93rd Battalion

Bidding goodbye to the 93rd Battalion on May 30, 1916, the Examiner paid this tribute to the departing soldiers.

"Peterborough has said farewell to her battalion. With its passing on to Barriefield this morning we have seen the 93rd march through our streets for the last time as a battalion. The members will be on leave from time to time before they go overseas but it is scarcely probable that ever again will the complete battalion assemble at Central Park. The streets will have an odd appearance without the familiar khaki; the blare of the band, the clarion call of the bugle, the rattle of drums and the tramp of military boots will be strangely lacking. In hundreds of homes in the city and county there will be a vacant chair at the family table, familiar faces will be missed from their usual circles and even to those who are not losing a relative the city will seem empty. The progress of the 93rd will be followed with vivid interest. Never in history has Peterborough sent out so many fighting men at one time; never has she seen so many citizens leave, and never has she had more reason to feel proud of her sons. The 93rd had already won a high reputation for good conduct and efficiency and there is no reason to fear that record will be lost at Barriefield."

Curve Lake Mother Marched To Lakefield With 5 Sons

One of the often-told stories when ex-members of the 93rd Battalion get together is of the Indian mother who marched with her five sons as they left the Curve Lake reserve to join the unit.

When her five boys left the reserve to join the Lakefield detachment of the battalion, the late Mrs. William Taylor, marched proudly into the village with her five sons.

The five soldiers were Samuel, Isaac, William, Hiram and Horace Dean Taylor. The eldest bother Isaac, was killed in France in 1916 after being transferred to the 18th Battalion long with the other four.

The five brothers were joined by three cousins—Emmett Johnston, George Johnston and Russell Taylor—and the eight men formed the Curve Lake platoon of D Company, 93rd Battalion.

After ts arrival in England the unit was broken up and the five brothers and three cousins were part of a draft that went to the 18th Battalion. Even after the death of Isaac the close association of the remaining seven continued until the end of the war.

Samuel Taylor received a deep scar in his left temple from a bullet that creased him at Lens in 1916. For several weeks he was in St. Alban's Hospital near London.

Hiram Taylor was the only other of the seven survivors who was wounded. He received shrapnel fragments in the neck.

Hand-knit Gown Wool Exhibits Glamor Feature

By MURIEL NARRAWAY

LONDON —(CP)— A white hand-knitted evening gown in traditional Shetland lace stitch attracted most attention at the recent London show, "Wool in Springtime 1951."

Completed in just under three weeks and comprising 500,000 stitches, the charming ballet-skirted gown is draped enchantingly over a crinoline hoop and a frou-fou of taffeta petticoats. The simple bodice, in a finer lace stitch, is topped by a cape-collar, off-the-shoulder neckline and the only touch of color is a narrow gold kid waist-belt.

The gown was knitted between daily chores by Mrs. E. N. Reed, a housewife and mother from Sidcup, Kent. Requiring 27 ounces of two-ply fingering wool costing £9, ($27), the dress is valued at £50.

The job was undertaken at the request of a well-known British wool firm to prove that hand-knitting does lend itself successfully to the textural softness and adaptability required in top-ranking glamor gowns.

Smartness In Wool

The rest of the show, sponsored by London's International Wool Secretariat, displayed to advantage the glamor possible in both hand and machine-knit woollies. Two hand-knitted wool suits have all the smartness and chic of a well-cut tweed and a turquoise golfer jacket in heavily-ribbed rough four-ply, would keep out the roughest winds and stay smart in all weather.

Two - ply machine - knitted woollies included cashmeres so fine they appeared transparent and yet were equally suited to a rough tweed skirt or a smart cocktail suit.

Two-ply is used again in hand-knitted white evening sweater with off-the-shoulder cape neckline. A lovely lace stitch stole matches the lace stitching of the sleeves and neckline.

These handknitted articles will be ready for sale to next year's visitors, but patterns of the designs and the wool required will also be available for knitters who prefer their own workmanship.

Schoolgirls Make Bamboo Music

MONTREAL —(CP)— Musical bamboo pipes are giving a group of Montreal's schoolgirls new interests in melody and fun at the same time. Girls attending The Study, a private school for girls from five to 17 years of age, are instructed by Miss Ruth Blanchard.

The girls make their own pipes, but first are given special instruction on how to use the tools that are needed. Each girl makes her instrument distinctive, painting it to suit her taste.

At Christmas the girls hold a concert at which the offertory music is blended with pipe and voice. "There is something fitting about their use at a religious service," says Miss Blanchard. "It was from pipes such as these that there evolved the great church organs we know today."

Woman Justice Says Neither Sex Is Invulnerable

COPENHAGEN, Denmark, (Reuters).—Justice Minister Helga Pedersen, Denmark's first woman Minister of Justice, says she doesn't believe "the world would be the slightest bit better off if it were governed by women."

She says that "women in government would make exactly as many mistakes as the men do.

"Person's qualifications should be the guide, not that person's sex."

An attractive, slim woman of 39, Miss Pedersen said she was "as surprised as anybody else" when she was asked to become justice minister.

She preferred not to comment on her new job "until I have settled down," but she did make these general remarks.

The lash: "I do not like it at all."

The death sentence: "I would like to see it abolished throughout the world."

CGIT Doings

FAITHFUL FOLLOWERS

Faithful Followers opened their meeting with the roll call and minutes read by Margaret Purdon. The topics discussed were How should a girl say good night to her friend on their first date? Should a girl go steady before 16? How should a girl ask her parents for a raise in her allowance? How late should a girl stay out on dates?

✧ ✧ ✧

GIRLS' CABINET MEETING

The meeting took the form of a pot luck supper followed by a sing song. Miss Marion Brown discussed publicity and urged each group to send in a report of their meetings.

The following slate of officers were elected: Lorene Keeting, president; Joan Naish, vice-president; Lou Ann Kempt, secretary-treasurer. December's meeting is to take the form of a box lunch with Murray Street group taking the devotionals. Each group is expected to present some form of entertainment. Roll call was answered by 28.

✧ ✧ ✧

TRINITY

Miss Armstrong, chairman of the Trinity Girls' Work Committee, was guest of the Torchbearers and she presented the new girls with their black CGIT ties which are supplied by that committee. Sheila Nickols thanked Miss Armstrong on behalf of the girls. Torch bearers continued their "Lessons in Loveliness" when Miss Lillian Weiss demonstrated the care of the skin and how to apply make-up. Joan Metcalfe thanked her.

✧ ✧ ✧

ST. JAMES

President Donna Moffat was in charge and read the scripture. Carol Dorrington presided for the devotional period and Doran Pullyblank led in prayer. Plans were made to present a Christmas play. It was decided the group would work towards becoming a chevron group and that a bowling party will be held in two weeks time.

✧ ✧ ✧

MARK STREET

Intermediates meeting opened with games led by Mrs. L. Pepper. Patsy Berry led in the call to worship. Business was discussed with Mrs. B. S. Morwood in the chair. Guest speaker was Miss Reid, night supervisor at the Civic Hospital who gave a demonstration on handling a baby and pointers for girls acting as baby-sitters.

Seniors joined the group for Miss Reid's address and she also spoke to them on requirements and work of a student nurse.

This group's business was conducted by president Ruth Hendren. Plans were made to have a speaker at next meeting to talk on the health project. Mrs. Morwood led the worship service on the theme "Healing."

Wight-Allemang

A wedding of interest took place last Saturday in Trinity Anglican Church, Galt, when Lois Elizabeth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Allemang, Galt, was united in holy bonds of matrimony to Murray Andrew, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Wight, Trent River. The Rev. A. B. Thomas performed the ceremony. Mr. W V. Lethbridge was at the organ and Lorne Jamieson sang.

Entering the church with her father, the bride was gowned in white satin with a fitted bodice and long sleeves, the full skirt fell into a sweeping train. Her floor length veil was held in place by orange blossoms worn by the bride's mother, and she carried a cascade of Bettertime roses. Miss Nealie Barnes, Malton, was maid of honor in a turquoise gown with matching mittens, poke bonnet effect headdress with ostrich tip and she carried pink carnations. Mrs. W. B. Melenbacher, Mount Hope, the bride's sister, was in a yellow gown and carried mauve and white carnations, and Miss Laurena Wight, Trent River, the groom's sister, was in a dusty rose gown and carried yellow carnations. The bridesmaids wore lace mittens, poke bonnet effect headdress, with ostrich tip.

William Wight, Lindsay, the groom's brother, was groomsman. Ward B. Melenbacher, Mount Hope, and Herman Wight, Trent River, were ushers.

At the reception the bride's mother wore a teal blue dress with navy accessories and corsage of rapture roses. A navy dress with black accessories and a corsage of Bettertime roses was chosen by the groom's mother.

For travelling the bride wore a wine dress with grey top coat, navy accessories and a corsage of rapture roses. Following a trip to Kingston and Thousand Islands they will take up residence at Mount Pleasant, Brant County, where the bride is on the public school teaching staff. The groom is principal of Burtch school.

Guests were present from Hamilton, Trent River, Peterborough, Lindsay, Mount Hope, Toronto, Sheffield, Branchton, Clyde, Scott's Corners, Norwood, Malton, Rockton and Preston.

Britishers Wool Conscious Fear Return of Rationing

LONDON —(Reuters)— British women, overhauling their winter wardrobes, are more wool-conscious than ever before.

Record prices paid at recent wool auctions in Australia, South Africa and London, have sent women rushing to buy extra woollens at current prices "because it's sure to go up, my dear."

The uncertain international situation has also led to fears that clothes rationing may return.

Women's interest in wool was demonstrated by the large turnout at a fashion show organized by the International Wool Secretariat.

For the winter, a feature of coats and suits alike was that most were belted and some suit jackets were also bloused.

A novel use for some of the belts evolves at the same time the eternal question of the lost umbrella. From the belt hangs a "scabbard" in which the umbrella is carried when not in use.

Skirts in general on these models are shorter than of late, an average length for a suit being rather above mid-calf.

The slim outline is the order of the day for suits as well as dresses, fullness being given either by buttoned or wrap-over skirts, or by a covey of knife-edged inverted pleats in the back. Many skirts are slightly slit to give extra width for walking.

A number of the coats are saddle-stitched and have large, deep pockets. One model was a black velour tent coat faced in check, with two enormous pockets at the front. The pocket motif was repeated in the dress. Made in bold black-and-pink-check chiffon tweed, it had two large, bellowed, "derriere" pockets—reminiscent of a man's "hip" pocket, only larger and on each side.

MR. AND MRS. JOHN GARDNER of Norwood who this week celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary.

Sills-Weaver

Mount Pleasant United Church Stirling was the scene of a pretty wedding, when Lois Katherine, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Weaver was united in marriage to Mr. Gordon Lindsay Sills, son of Mrs. J. C. Sills and the late Mr. Sills, of West Huntingdon. Miss Betty McConnell presided at the piano and Mrs. Arthur Hassall sang.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. Her gown of white nylon over taffeta had a tucked bodice with Peter Pan collar and full skirt. Her fingertip veil was held by a floral head-dress of roses and lily-of-the-valley. She carried a cascade of red roses.

Miss Ruth Rose of Toronto was maid-of-honor and Mrs. Jack Bush of Frankford, bridesmaid. They wore gowns of blue and wine made on similar lines to the bride's and carried crescents of yellow 'mums.

Little Carol Beckett of Harold made a charming flower girl, gowned in yellow taffeta and carrying a nosegay of mums.

Mr. Russell Sills was groomsman for his brother and ushers were Frank Weaver of Belleville and Donald Sills of Roslin. The reception was held at the bride's home. For travelling the bride wore a forest green gabardine suit with brown accessories. The couple left by motor for Iroquois Falls and points north. On return they will live at West Huntingdon. The bride is a graduate of Peterborough Normal School.

Fashion Flashes

A boon to the small wardrobe is the sleeveless, scoopneck sheath dress, done in faille, wool jersey or velveteen. Neck, below-waist-front and armholes are bound in black grosgrain. Dress closes with rhinestone studs. Very good on its own, and very dressy with furs, it takes beautifully to a white blouse for daytime wear.

Charm and variety mark suits designed for late afternoon and theatre wear. Black silk velvet is used for a suit, the jacket of which buttons to one side and has a crushed collar of faille with overlaid velvet bands. Skirt has buttoned slash at the hemline and there is a strapless bodice of the velvet-banded faille.

Glitter, glitter, everywhere is what the season calls for, judging from all the rhinestone-studded accessories. A dress-up belt of gold satin is overlaid with a glitter lattice-work of rhinestone and pearl embroidery. And as for glitter veils, why they are all over the place. And look out for rhinestone-encrusted hose!

Nice work in a good group of bags with reversible covers. A trim satchel of black faille with a gold mash frame and attached double chain handle comes with a reversible cover. One side is black velvet and the other is gold brocade, making a bag for daytime, afternoon and evening.

Richtones continue to dominate millinery. A soft orange color is used for a brushed velour hat. The soft, rolled brim—with all over tucking—continues down the side in two fan sections, each accented with tiny pearl drops.

New versions of the popular wool fleece coat are better than ever. Yellow fleece for a full-length, straight coat, its lines accentuated by a stitched-panel back. A leather strap holds the softly curved petal collar.

Did you ever see such handsome clothes as those prepared for this season? One outstanding outfit has a full-length coat of Black Watch plaid wool, made with flaring fullness that swings from softly curved shoulders. It is lined with gold wool jersey, which is also used for a surplice lined blouse that is worn with a skirt of the plaid.

Beautiful crop of fall blouses in the shops just now. Black velvet for a handsome long-sleeved blouse with a wide, deep, circular yoke of hand-run white Venise lace twinkling with tiny mother-of-pearl paillettes.

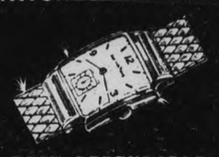
Luxury plus in a magnificent coat, full-length and fitted, of Russian broadtail, dyed midnight blue. Collar border of mink, dyed to match, above pointed, notched revers. Cuffed sleeves are fashioned to stay put when pushed up above the elbow.

Marmora News

Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Sabine are in Toronto, the former attending the Liberal convention as alternate delegate from the West Hastings Association.

Mr. Charles Sopha has returned home from a trip taken to the Sudbury district this week.

Dr. W. G. Wahl returned to Marmora on Tuesday for a two weeks stay.



Mrs. Minnie Fox is visiting relatives in Peterborough.

John McCormack of Trenton is visiting relatives here.

Recent guests include Mr. and Mrs. Earl Bowen and Mrs. N. H. McConnell of Belleville with Mr. and Mrs. Lorne Bowen; Mr. James Ellis of Peterborough with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Ellis.

Messrs R. E. Moloney, John McCormack and Michael Shannon have returned from a hunting trip to Barry's Bay.

When Some People Give You a Pain in the Neck

Don't people give you a pain in the neck? Who never show any appreciation. Who let you spend your money and your time upon them without even so much as handing you a poor thank you, and who appear to think that all your kindness and generosity to them is nothing more than their due.

Dorothy Dix

Who have no sense of values. Who do not know good things from bad. Who cannot tell vintage wine from cider. Who gobble down a meal that is a realization of an epicure's dream as if it were corned beef and cabbage, and who might just as well be driven around and around the same block as taken to see some breath-taking view.

Who give letters of introduction to any chance acquaintance who may be coming your way and thereby force you to do their entertaining for them, and be bored by people you never saw before and hope never to see again.

Who have collections that they insist upon showing to you to the very last item, while they explain its full history, pedigree and earmarks and tell how much it cost and when and how they got it. Or who have gardens where you are walked until you are ready to drop with fatigue and made to admire every spindling plant in them.

Surprise Visitors

Who pay you surprise visits and descend upon you bag and baggage with awful fatality at the precise moment when the cook has just left, the baby has the measles, little Johnny has broken his arm, and everything is generally at sixes and sevens and any guest is about as welcome as smallpox.

Who are never on time for anything. Who keep dinner waiting until everybody has had too many cocktails and the soup is burnt and the souffle flat as a pancake. Who never get to a play until tney can ruin the first act by crawling ever overybody in the dark trying to find their seats. Who are always 30 minutes late for every appointment.

Who are dumb. Who expect you to be mind-reader to know that they love you, although they never give any indication of it from which even a Sherlock Holmes could deduct that they were fond of you, and who expect you to know that they are grateful for the favors you do them, though they never mention it.

Who stage their family fights in public and force you to listen to all the mean, vituperative things they say to each other, while you squirm with shame and fear, and wonder if you will be called as a witness should murder be done, as seems inevitable.

Who are back-seat drivers who tell you exactly what speed to go, which way to turn and to watch out for the signal lights and traffice cops and who generally try to run everybody and everything in their vicinity.

Who abuse your belongings. Who drive their automobiles on the soft turf of your lawn. Who ring your precious old mahogany by setting wet glasses upon it, who wipe their lipstick off on your best embroidered towels and who burn cigarette holes in your dresser scarfs and your lace tablecloths.

Who tell you home truths that you would rather die than hear; who tell you that you are getting fat or looking old; who remark that your dress isn't your line of color and that your hat is ten years too young for you; who ask you who was the blonde your husband was having lunch with the other day and if your delicate child isn't tuberculous.

Village Cut-ups

Who try to be funny. Village cut-ups, who are always clowning, always playing practical jokes, who think they are being witty when they are only being rude and boorish. Who repeat other people's wisecracks and rehash all the stories you've read in the newspapers. Who make you so very tired trying to be the life of the party.

Who talk about themselves continually and never give you a chance to talk about yourself. Who describe to you every detail of their operations, and tell you what everything they have cost; who repeat every bon mot of little Tommy and Sally and go into details about the symptoms of their husband's last attack, and cut you out of any chance of relating any of the really remarkable speeches of your 2-year-old or of telling what the doctor said when you had your appendix out.

Who consider themselves the only ones in the audience intelligent enough to know what a movie or a play is about, and who ruin the pleasure of all within earshot by explaining it all to their companions and humming the theme song.

Who are on a diet and have to have special food prepared for them. Who can never sit in a draft or ride backward or walk a couple of blocks or follow any of the household regime. Who are too feeble to do what other people do, but always strong enough to go visiting.

Who never fit in anywhere. Who can never get along with anyone, and who always ruin your dinner parties by starting an argument.

Who, having health and money and family and friends, have the nerve to complain and whine in a world that is full of the sick and suffering and starving and lonely.

Don't these people give you a pain in the neck?

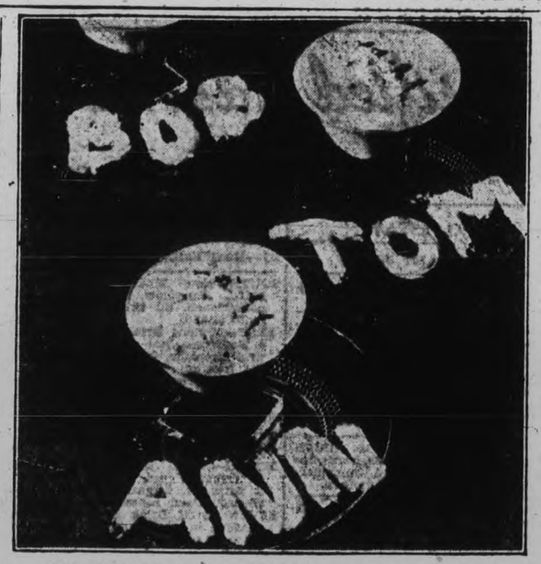
Marriage Help Not Sought By Many Couples

DONCASTER, Lancashire, England —(CP)— Out of every 1,000 courting couples and newly-weds, only one will attend talks on courtship, sex and marital problems.



So said Rev. G. Kirk, here to give a series of such talks, and his audience bore him out. Only 12 had attended in an area housing some 12,000.

The vicar, representing the Marriage Guidance Council and Moral Welfare Committee, has spoken to some 500 would-be brides and grooms, and has interviewed nearly 100 couples whose marriages have gone on the rocks.

There are girls who have been courting for two years, he said, who still do not know the nature of their young man's work. Others want marriage in terms of fitted carpets and chromium fittings. Some marry with as little common interest as a liking for the same dances, parties and films.

"This is the wrong basis for marriage," said the vicar.

Readers' Saturday Column Conducted by Mary Moore

QUESTION: Could you sometime give some space to recipes using molasses? Not just 2 or 4 tablespoon lots in a recipe—something using ½ a cup or a whole cup. I think your column is helping my cooking. My husband says so. Thank you for anything you can do. Sometime I would like sour milk recipes too. ANNA

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: I am glad you asked for molasses recipes.

✧ ✧ ✧

Molasses Chocolate Squares

Two cups sifted flour, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 cup shortening or margarine, ½ cup molasses, 1 teaspoon baking soda, 1½ cups firmly packed brown sugar, 2 well-beaten eggs, 2 7-oz. packages semi-sweet cooking chocolate. Sift together the flour and salt. Over low heat melt the shortening in the molasses. Add the soda to the molasses mixture and then the brown sugar, stirring until sugar is dissolved. Cool to room temperature. Add the beaten eggs, the sifted dry ingredients and the chocolate broken into tiny squares. Mix well. Spread on 8 x 8 x 2-inch buttered pans. Bake at 350 deg. Fahr. for about 20 minutes. When cold cut into 2-inch squares with sharp knife.

✧ ✧ ✧

Molasses Crisps (Ideal for Christmas cut-out cookies)

One-half cup molasses, ¼ cup shortening, 1¼ cups sifted flour, ¾ teaspoon baking soda, ½ teaspoon ginger, 1 teaspoon grated orange rind. Heat molasses over low heat with the shortening; cool slightly then add remaining ingredients. Chill overnight in refrigerator. Roll out to ⅛ inch thickness on floured board and cut out in desired shapes—such as Christmas trees or bells, or Santa Clauses. Baked on buttered cookie sheets at 375 deg. Fahr. for 8 minutes. If desired, when cool, spread with icing of plain icing sugar and water, then sprinkle with silver dragees, or red or green sugar or tiny varicolored candies.

✧ ✧ ✧

Hat Water Gingerbread

One-half cup margarine or good quality shortening, ½ cup sugar, 1 egg, cup molasses, 2½ cups sifted cake flour, 1½ teaspoons baking soda, ½ teaspoon cloves, 1 teaspoon each cinnamon and ginger, ½ teaspoon salt, 1 cup hot water. Cream the shortening until very creamy then add the sugar while creaming. Add beaten egg and molasses. Sift the dry ingredients together and add them alternately with the hot water, beating well between additions. Bake in greased paper-lined cake pan about 9 x 9 x 2-inches at 375 deg. Fahr. OR bake in buttered muffin tins.

✧ ✧ ✧

Gingerbread Waffles

(I am giving you this recipe because I know two young couples who were given waffle irons for wedding gifts and yet they live in two rooms and have little two-burner plates to do their cooking on. They both give little Sunday night parties around their waffle irons, and when it is a very special occasion buy ice cream to serve on them. They are very good.)

Two cups sifted cake flour, 1½ teaspoons each baking soda and ginger, ½ teaspoon each cinnamon and salt, 1 well-beaten egg, 1 cup molasses, ½ cup sour milk or buttermilk, 1-3 cup melted butter or cooking oil. Sift the dry ingredients together. Beat the egg until light, add the molasses and sour milk and mix well. Stir this mixture into the dry ingredients and beat until very smooth. Add melted butter. If desired the whole thing may be mixed in a big kitchen pitcher under the electric beater. This makes it easy to pour into hot waffle iron. Bake in waffle iron. Nice with lemon or orange sauce or ice cream or whipped cream or marmalade.

COOKBOOK OF THE WEEK

Cookies Serve Many Uses When On Hand at All Times

Cookies serve so many uses and are are so handy to have on hand that every wise homemaker needs to be able to make a few specially delicious varieties just to be ahead of the conventional packaged types. There is added charm in homemade cookies and for an infinite number of ideas—some simple, some involved—you must see the Cookie Book. This is the seventeenth title to be released in the series of 24 Culinary Arts Institute cookbooks being made available, a book-a-week to readers of the Examiner.

Here is an especially clever idea from the Cookie Book, so simple to make that you will want to use it for both young and adult guests.

Spritz Cookies

1 cup shortening
¾ cup sugar
1 egg or 3 yolks, beaten
2¾ cups cake flour
¼ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon almond extract
½ teaspoon baking powder

Work shortening until soft and cream with the sugar until light. Add beaten egg and almond flavoring. Beat until smooth. Add the flour sifted with the other dry ingredients. Mold with a cookie press into any desired shape. Bake in a moderately hot oven (375° F.) 12 to 15 minutes. Makes 45 cookies 2 inches in diameter.

VARIATIONS—Omit the almond extract and add 3 teaspoons melted red peppermint candies or ¼ teaspoon mint extract and color green. Spell out into names with a cookie press.

For your copy of the Cookie Book all you need do is clip a Cookbook Coupon from page 2 of any issue of this newspaper and present it with 25c to the Examiner Office, your Carrier Boy, any of Braund's Home Food Markets, and Dominion Master Market. By mail, send 30c to Cookbook Department, Peterborough Examiner.

What's Right

You meet an acquaintance on the street whom you haven't seen in some time and who does not look well.

WRONG: Ask "Have you been ill?"

RIGHT: Ask "How are you?"

If he has been ill and wants to talk about it, he will.

6—In Memoriams

ELLIS—In everlasting remembrance of Cpl. William John Ellis, who died on active service Nov. 5th, 1945.
You are not forgotten Bill,
Nor shall you ever be
As long as life and memory last
We will remember thee.
—Always remembered, Peggy, Billy, and Frank.

KENNEDY—In memory of J. Bruce Kennedy, 93rd Battalion, CEF, who passed away 12 years ago in Vancouver, B.C.
There's a road they call remembrance,
Where thoughts and wishes meet;
We take that road in thought today
To one we cannot greet.
—Always remembered by wife and family.

LASHBROOK—In loving memory of a dear husband and dad, Albert Lashbrook, who passed away suddenly, November 11, 1948.
Not now but in the coming years,
It may be in the better land,
We'll read the meaning of our tears,
And then up there we'll understand.
—Lovingly remembered and sadly missed by his wife Jean, Esther, Vic and Gordon.

SANDERSON — In loving memory, Mrs. Wellie Sanderson, who passed away three years ago today.
May the wind of heaven blow gently
On that quiet and hallowed spot,
Where the one we loved is sleeping,
And will never be forgot.
—Ever remembered by daughter Florence and family.

SANDERSON—In loving memory of Mrs. W. E. Sanderson, who passed away November 11, 1947.
Loving and kind in all her ways,
Upright and just to the end of her days.
Sincere and true in her heart and mind,
Beautiful memories she left behind.
—Ever remembered by son Roland, Rebecca and family.

SCOTT—In memory of Mrs. Joseph Scott, who died five years ago, November 11, 1945.
When days are dark and friends are few,
Dear mother, how we think of you.
Friends are friends if they are true,
We lost our best friend when we lost you.
—Sadly missed by husband and family.

7—Cards of Thanks

Mrs. H. May and family wish to take this opportunity of thanking the attending doctors and nurses, neighbours and friends for their kindnesses and beautiful floral tributes and Rev. F. Craik for his consoling words during the sickness and sad bereavement of a dear husband and father.

Spectators Weep At Fosbraey Murder Trial

PICTON, Nov. 11 (CP)—Spectators wept Friday as James Fosbraey, accused of murder, sobbed out the story of his wife's death in a snowbank at Napanee last Nov. 28.

"She was lying at my feet groaning," said the 29-year-old RAF veteran, a native of Sittingbourne, Kent, England, "and I realized I must have stabbed her. I knelt down and kissed her."

Fosbraey surrendered to police shortly after June Marie Fosbraey was slain. At his first trial, he was convicted and sentenced to be hanged. The Ontario Appeal Court ordered a new trial and granted his request that the case be tried in Picton rather than Napanee.

The Fosbraeys met during the war when he took RAF training near Kingston.

Too Friendly

He testified Friday that an estrangement between him and his wife started in October, 1949, when he suspected her of "being too friendly" with Stanislaus Steinbach, a friend of Fosbraey.

He said he heard his wife telephone Steinbach and ask: "Is everything satisfactory at your end? It is at this end."

This call, Fosbraey said, was after she had asked for a divorce and suggested that he return to England. He denied earlier testimony that he told Steinbach he could see Mrs. Fosbraey during his (Fosbraey's) absence.

"I hated him because he was the one who came between me and my wife," said Fosbraey. Later, he had come to believe his wife had not committed adultery.

During his visit to England—he received a letter in which she told of seeing Steinbach.

"She said it was none of my business what he was doing to her."

He related how, after days of mental anguish because of their estrangement, he saw his wife on a street.

Tormented Him

"I asked about our future and she said 'you've had your chance and muffed it.' She told me she had spent the weekend with Steinbach and was going to live with him as his common-law wife, and it was none of my business. And then it happened.

"The next thing I remember she was lying at my feet, groaning and I realized I must have stabbed her . . ."

At this point, Fosbraey broke into tears and laid his head on the witness box. The court was recessed.

When court resumed, Fosbraey said: "I told her that I would be coming with her soon. I was going to kill myself then, but I thought I would let the law do it".

Throws It Away

He said that on his way to the police station, he realized he was carrying "the dreadfu' thing that had killed her and I threw it away."

He told of writing letters to friends admitting his crime "so the letters would be intercepted by the (jail) governor and I would die soner."

All told Friday, Fosbraey spent 6½ hours in the witness box. He was 2½ hours telling his own story, and four hours under cross-examination by crown counsel.

The trial is continuing.

Veterans From Plants Parade To Square

War medals gleamed brightly in the pleasant sunshine this morning as the C.G.E. contingent of Veterans, more than a thousand strong, strode down Park St. from their assembly in the plant premises.

James Ridyard carried the Union Jack at the head of the column which appeared to be about two-thirds of veterans at C.G.E. The Pipe Band was brilliant animated color as the sun heightened the dominant reds of the McRae tartan. The parade turned into Rubidge St. on the way to the rendezvous at the Armouries.

Meanwhile men of the Western Clock Company lined up their squad and marched down the Hunter St. hill behind the Peterborough Citizens' Band. Quaker Oats Company veterans assembled at the Armouries.

These were components of the Remembrance Day assemblage.

William John Cox

Funeral service for William John Cox, 737 Charlotte St., who died Wednesday, was held Friafternoon at the Comstock Funeral Home. The Rev. Charles Boyd of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church officiated and burial was in Little Lake Cemetery.

Pall bearers were George Gillespie, Jack Gillespie, Fred Holmes, Keith Cox, John Pirie, and Col. J. H. Fee.

Mr. Cox is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Cecil Gallagher (Ethel) of Peterborough, four brothers, Clifford, Fred, Robert, of Peterborough, and William of Vancouver, and one sister, Mrs. Alfred C. Weir of Toronto. There aret hree granddaughters.

Norham WA PJanning Family Dinner Meeting

WARKWORTH, Nov. 11 (ENS)

The Norham Women's Association of St. Paul's United Church met Thursday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Platt with a good attendance.

Mrs. W. J. Honey was in charge of the devotional period and the business part of the meeting. The scripture lesson was read by Mrs. Ross Plumpton and as a part of the devotional period Mrs. Honey gave a reading entitled "Excuses."

A family meeting will be held in the Community Centre November 30 when dinner will be served. Mrs. Oscar Laver, Mrs. Blakely and Mrs. Palmateer were appointed hostesses and were to plan the menu.

Mrs. Blair Huycke, Mrs. Howard Evans and Mrs. Ross Plumpton were appointed the committee in charge of the program.

The sum of $20 was to be given to the Missionary and Maintainence Fund. An enjoyable program of readings, singing and contests was given under the leadership of Mrs. Martin Peterson and Mrs. Stanley Brenton. Readings were given by Mrs. Blakely, Mrs. Oscar Laver, Mrs. N. Gummer and Mrs. P. Windover. A double or nothing quiz contest was conducted by Mrs. Lorne Evans. The Rev. H. G. Lester gave an interesting talk on "The Origin of Nursery Rhymes." An art contest was won by Margaret Gummer.

A vote of thanks was extended to the hostess, following by lunch.

Warkworth WMS Names Committee

WARKWORTH, Nov. 11 (ENS)

The Women's Missionary Society of St. Paul's United Church met in the Sunday school room on Wednesday evening with twenty-four ladies present and the Mission Band as their guests.

The president, Mrs. H. G. Lester welcomed the visitors and a short business meeting was held. The supply secretary, Mrs. W. Barringer, read a letter giving a list of requirements for the next bale.

A nominating committee was appointed to present a slate of officers for the coming year at the next meeting.

Mrs. Allan Buchanan was in charge of the following program which was presented by twenty-one members of the Mission Band with their leaders Mrs. A. Buchanan, Mrs. H. Evans and the pianist Mrs. G. Hancock.

The program took the form of a regular Mission Band meeting.

Mrs. Grant Allen thanked the Mission Band leaders and members for their splendid work. The offering was received and lunch was served by the committee in charge.

Roseneath Man Tells Story Of Being Robbed

COBOURG, Nov. 11—(ENS)—George Ambrose, of Vancouver, was committed for trial yesterday on a charge of theft of a sum over the value of $25 from Albert Weir. The alleged offence took place at Roseneath on October 13.

Albert Weir, who is over 60, told the court that a group of men called at his home around eleven on the morning of Oct. 13 and asked him if he wanted his chimney fixed. He said he told them he didn't want anything done to it but the next thing he knew they were up on the roof and at work. Ambrose was the spokesman for the working crew, he testified.

"They said the job was to cost me $170 and I said I thought it was pretty steep and to give me a receipt. I got the money out of the desk in my bedroom and gave it to Ambrose. I think I had $600 left in the desk. I am not sure as I never counted it. That night at about twelve, Ambrose and another man came to the door. The other fellow had been fixing the chimney that morning. They said they wanted to see the new oil furnace so we all went down. Ambrose stayed down with me and talked about the furnace and the other man went upstairs. When we came up the other fellow was out in the yard. As I passed the desk on the way to bed I noticed that the lock was opened. It hadn't been that way before. Next morning I saw that the money was gone and I had somebody phone the police," testified Weir.

James Thompson, of Hastings, recalled that on his way past the Weir home around midnight on October 13, he noticed that the house was lit up and a car was in the yard. Clarence Lockhart also saw the house lit up at the same hour and a car in the yard.

Daisy Chrysler, of Cobourg, testified that she had gone to a dance at Roseneath Fair that night and before leaving with a Cecil Burns, she had been at the Plaza Hotel and heard "Curly" Ambrose phone somebody around 8.30 and say that he would send $400. On her return after the dance they all went up to Curly's room where a man by the name of "Hibbard" or "Hubbard" was talking to Curly.

"I heard Curly tell Hibbard that he had lost $100 and Hibbard, or Hubbard, whatever his name was, said that he had $3,000 bet on a horse for Saturday and was $30 short but would give Curly $100. He handed him over some bills but Curly gave him one of them back and said he would split with him," she testified.

Provincial Constable W. Baluk, of Cobourg, told of investigating Weir's claim that he had been robbed. It was evident, the constable said, that the lock on the desk in Weir's home had been broken, and there was no evidence that any of the windows had been opened. Ambrose was picked up in Winnipeg, the constable said, and in a line-up at the jail, Weir picked out Ambrose from the line.

Campbellford Man Held On 5 Counts

COBOURG, Nov. 11—(ENS)—Gerald Collins, 25-year-old Campbellford man, was remanded until Monday when he appeared in police court on a charge of breaking and entering the dwelling of Manson Shaw in Campbellford on August 6. He was also remanded to the same date on a charge of assaulting Joseph Brethour of Campbellford, occasioning actual bodily harm and with common assault on Mrs. Brethour and her 15-year-old daughter. He was charged also with theft of a bicycle from Joseph Brethour. Collins was arrested at Montreal and brought back to Campbellford by Chief Constable George Hardy.

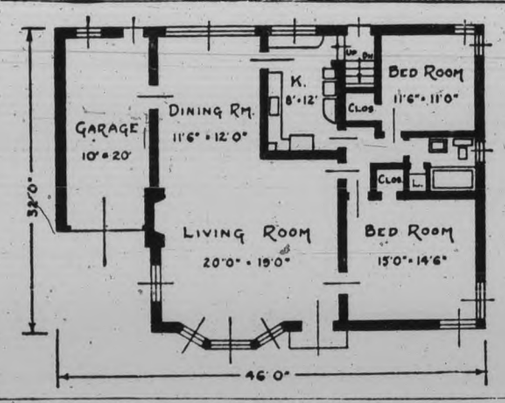
Try To Change Shop Set-Up

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., Nov. 11 — (CP) — A resolution that might spell the end to about 12 electrical shops operating under various Ontario public utilities commission was passed on to the directorate of the Ontario Chamber of Commerce at the close of its business sessions here Thursday.

Sponsored by the Belleville delegation, the resolution urged the Hydro Electric Power Commission to use its influence to have all public utilities commission's close down their appliance shops.

Malcolm Rob of Belleville said the shops had been opened originally to boost the sales of electrical appliances in the days when it was thought that the best way to reduce power costs was to increase the load.

This had been done, he continued and now private enterprisers would like the stores shut down. They complain that the shops have few of the private enterprise overheads, such as corporate taxes, rents heavy sales help wages, credit systems.



The shops make most of their sales to people who must enter their shops to pay their hydro bills.

E. D. Tolschard, general manager of the Toronto Board of Trade, said that in Toronto the public utilities commission shops boosts the smaller retailers in its advertising, pays all these overhead costs and allows smaller retailers to make big sales th ugh its shops. This was done some time ago following a complaint from small retailers, he said.

HOUSE NO. 126—This trim five romo home is right up-to-the-minute in design. Even astute lovers of the more conventional Colonial home will admire the gracious lines of this design. Most striking is the wide expanse of window area—just think how cheery and bright the large living room will be. Not only the living room, but dining room and other rooms as well—all come in for more than usual window area. Although there is no provision for an entrance vestibule, the plan follows along more conventional lines. The small hall provides convenience out of all proportion to the small area involved. Kitchen layout is admirable and offers every convenience in working arrangement. Landscaping has not been overdone, low planting, appears a wise choice in keeping with general height of roof lines. Correctly Styled Colors Can Do Much For The Home

Without considerable experience in studying all kinds of painted interiors and the scientific application of color, it is no doubt often difficult for the average home owner to visualize the miraculous tranformations possible with correctly styled color scheme. Good color styling can truly do wonders in the interior of the home, but if colors are chosen hurriedly at random without an overall plan, you'll find that no amount of decorating with furniture, rugs or draperies will improve the room. So choose your colors wisely.

Ask Yourself These Questions

There are five important questions you should ask yourself before choosing colors. Commencing first with the entrance hall, then the living room, next the dining room, the kitchen, bedrooms and finally the bathrooms, consider these questions carefully.

1. Are the walls too dark and dreary for the size and exposure of the room?

In general, the walls and woodwork in homes of average size should be kept quite light in color-value. Dark walls and woodwork have the effect of reducing the size of the room. They also absorb more light (both daylight and artificial) than light colors, making a room very dull, cheerless and uninviting. As a matter of interesting comparison, let us quote from one authority on the "light reflecting" value of various flat wall paint colors.

White, the lightest "color" of all, reflects 82 per cent light. It is for this reason that one should mix white or cream with most wall paints in order to bring them up to the correct tonal-value for the average-size home.

Other colors are rated as follows: Ivory reflects 70 per cent light; putty color reflects 58 per cent light; a medium dark green 49 per cent light; a medium dark blue 36 per cent and dark brown (of a tone too often used on hall and living room walls) reflects only 20 per cent. Little wonder then, that so many ask "what's wrong with my room?" In a great many instances, a good part of the fault lies in the treatment of the walls—color is usually too dark and of the wrong hue for the exposure of the room.

It is the exposure of a room that determines the proper color as weil as its tonal-value to select for both walls and woodwork. Too often home makers are guided too much by personal preferences in colors rather than by definite interior decorating principles.

2. Are the walls finished in the correct color and tonal-value for the exposure of the room?

In answering this question we must bear in mind that colors are classified in two groups known as "cool" colors, Comprising "white," blues, greys, greens and purples, and those that are referred to as "warm," such as black, orange, yellows, browns and reds.

The walls in a very sunny room just average size may be tinted in "cool" color, while the same size room that does not receive sunlight, at least very little, with too few windows, should be tinted in a "warm" color or quite light value.

3. Are the walls in a color that is consistent with both the purpose and style of the room?

The purpose of a room governs the choice of color and its value to a considerable degree. For instance, the average living room wall, if painted in a flat toned peach tint, would be out of harmony with the usual living room furnishings. The same color, however, if used in a breakfast room would be appropriate. Then, too, the value of a color may be slightly deeper in tone (if exposure is bright) in a hall, living room, dining room or study, than in a kitchen, breakfast room, bedroom or bathroom.

Color Of Woodwork

4. Is the color of the woodwork too dark and constrasting for the size of the room and a restful effect?

In answering this question we might say that the majority of woodwork in homes of average size is entirely too dark for a cheerful and harmonious decorative effect. Dark woodwork in a small room effects a decidedly "cut up" and spotty appearance and tends to reduce the size of the room. Dark stained woodwork and panelling is only suitable for certain types of good-sized period rooms.

Especially attractive for woodwork in halls, living rooms and dining rooms are deep ivory, light ivory, cream, putty and the following colors for sunny rooms—light pearl grey, dove grey and neutralized tints of Adams green.

Painted woodwork should bear color relationship (through color mixing) to the wall though it may be several degrees deeper in tonal value than the walls, or contrasting as in bedrooms, kitchens, etc.

5. Are the floors too light for decorative solidity and a proper relationship in color-value with rugs, walls, furniture, draperies and so forth?

This is an important question, for so many floors are stained too light to be decoratively correct in color-value. A stain of medium value or darker should be used in most rooms, for a floor must give the effect of solidity, since it is the foundation upon which one's decorative scheme is built, and should therefore be the darkest color-value in the room.

When selecting color schemes from sample color-cards, remember that the samples are apt to be very intriguing in their lovely tints, but when applied to the large areas of wall space may prove to be too deep in tonal value as well as too intense in color. It is for this reason that most wall paints should be mixed with either white or cream paint to obtain the correct value. Then, too if both wall and woodwork is to painted; one should mix a portion of the wall color with the woodwork color, and vice versa. This brings about a more harmonious color relationship. To avoid waste in mixing dark and light colors, always pour the dark colors into the lighter one.

Forced To Flee

KINGSTON, Nov. 11 (CP) — Cab driver Joseph McEwan told police Friday that he was forced to jump from his cab to escape three men in army uniform who were preparing to slug him. His car was found abandoned inside the RCEME at Barriefield. McEwan was unable to identify anyone when an army parade was called.

the subject, and the Sons and Cadets of Temperance gathered children into the fold. There was also a flourishing Bible Society in Peterborough by 1858.

The County Agricultural Society held one-day Fair at Peterborough each March and September. The St. George Society, organized in 1846, disbanded in the early 1850s. The Scots began meeting in 1852, and started the St. Andrew's Society with a big celebration Nov. 30, 1858. In April, 1854, a Board of Trade began meeting under President James Hall, but lapsed after 1860. From 1835 cricket games were played in the Ashburnham cricket grounds (now Cricket Place), and by 1850 there were clubs in Peterborough and Ashburnham which merged into the Maple Leaf Cricket Club to play with Lakefield, Port Hope and other towns. This was the only organized team sport, although the boys played shinny football, bandyball, etc. In 1858 the Rifle Company Brass Band was organized under Bandmaster A. H. Rackett (appropriately enough); this band was dormant during the 1860s but later revived. In Nov., 1859, the Curling Club was established under president A. S. Fraser, using the ice on the river and the creek, also Spauldings Bay and raceways. Other recreations were canoeing, sailing, swimming, skating, snowshoeing, picknicking, etc. Regattas and excursions were becoming popular; it was at Core's Landing Regatta Sept. 17, 1858, that John Stephenson competed with the first "Peterborough canoe." The gay young blades took their girls square-dancing and waltzing whenever possible. One young man recorded that he took a fair maiden to e"and old hag" of a fortune-teller, who charged him $1.00 for his fortune and 50c for the girl's in October 1857.

Town Events

Of the interesting events in the new town, only a few more important can be recorded here. Soon after 1850 the post office was moved from Queen Street to the east side of Water just north of Simcoe St., adjacent to Hall's confectionery works, destroyed by fire in 1861. On Dec. 27, 1857, Alex Edmison noted in his diary: "Processsions were marching through town in honour of Short's election . . . I spent over 2s. on sweets and suchlike trumpery." On May 26, 1858, Mosson Boyd wrote in a letter: "There was a great turnout here on the Queen's birthday. Three thousand visitors came by one train from Port Hope accompanied by several volunteer companies of rifles with their bands." John Fowler, the railway agent, invited all Peterborough to ride free to Port Hope on the new train leaving 9 a.m. May 31, returning 5 p.m.; open flatcars were lined with plank benches and a great time was had by all. On June 7, a Railway Ball was held in the market-hall (gent's tickets 10s. each), to celebrate the big event.

The first circus of which record has been found, Myers and Madigan's Circus, came to Peterborough July 5, 1855, but no details are available. Three years later, in July 1858, Sears and O'Connell's Gigantic Show came to town, after being advertised for weeks by lurid posters and bills. Most of the town's boys went out the Norwood road to meet the dusty procession of 11 wagons, nine other vehicles and two elephants. At the bridge, the elephants were refused passage by the county warden, and they had to ford the river below, having a bath in midstream. Admission was one shilling (20c) to the showgrounds at the corner of Queen and Simcoe Streets. Although the performance included only four horses, two elephants, two wolves, a few monkeys and parrots, a bear, and a "horned" pig, it was a thrilling day for the youngsters. One other event of 1858 might be noted: an excursion to Fenelon Falls on Sept. 21, twelve hours on the water, enjoyed by two hundred people, which ended in a free-for-all fight on the steamer returning home in the evening.

Get 3% Increase

TORONTO, Nov. 11 (CP)—The Seafarers' International Union (AFL) has negotiated a three-per-cent wage increase for about 500 unlicensed seamen on 28 ships of the Upper Lakes and St. Lawrence Steamships Company, it was announced Friday.

HON. LEWIS DOUGLAS (right), retiring as U.S. Ambassador to the Court of St. James's, is greeted at the Savoy Hotel in London, this week, by SIR CAMPBELL STUART (left), chairman of the Pilgrims' Society. Market Recovery From Break Sign Of Strength

By FORBES RHUDE,
Canadian Press Business Editor.

Stock markets showed basic strength this week in their recovery from a sharp break Monday.

A market at its current high level is bound to raise doubts, and in this condition one additional piece of bad news can crystalize them into one great big doubt.

At last weekend the market was abbut holding its own. Observers felt that even doing this was a sign of strength, for they considered the technical position poor.

On Monday, fears aroused by the Chinese intervention in Korea worked on this background and caused the biggest drop in months.

Tuesday was a market holiday in the United States because of elections there. Canadian markets halted their downward movement but hesitated while Wall Street was inoperative.

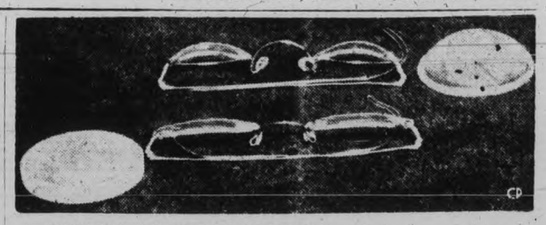
Bounds Ahead

On Wednesday New York cheered by Republican gains, bounded ahead at the opening. The enthusiasm was tempered, however, and the advance halted, though maintaining a good share of gains. Canadian markets duplicated the recovery.

Thursday saw most of Monday's losses wiped out, and the advance continued Friday, marked by a late pick-up in New York which was regarded as somewhat surprising in view of today's holiday.

Aside from what may seem to dictate the day-to-day happenings, the sum total of the week's performance seems to have been strength.

The market is in such a place that a big setback would ordinarily be well within the realms of possibility. But, though it may give way to bursts of nervousness it can't overlook the fact that earnings are high and that we are in for a period of great activity.



Shares In Uncertainty

The market, like everything else, and all of us, shares in the uncertainty of the world in current times. But back of the market, as back of everything else and every one, is that it is a world which is achieving a relative prosperity while it sits on a bomb.

Toronto Stock Exchange indices Friday showed the following changes from the preceding Friday:

Industrials up 0.5 at 281.87; golds down 3.13 at 77.30; base metals down .26 at 155.30; western oils down .65 at 81.50.

In Montreal averages banks were down .06, utilities up .4, industrials up .3, combined up .4, papers up 9.63, and golds up .52.

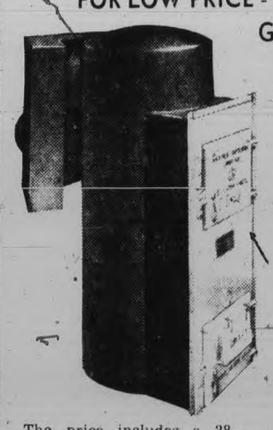
RADICAL LENS DEVELOPMENT—The upper of these two pairs of glasses may make optometrical history. They are believed to solve problems of deviation encountered in orthodox flat-lensed spectacles. Illustrating the basic difference are the two blocks of crystal.

UNORTHODOX OPTOMETRIST—George B. Wootten, Sudbury optometrist, spent seven years in developing new-type spectacle lenses, which are believed to eliminate much of the distortion found in orthodox lenses. They are ground from cup-shaped crystal blocks. Mr. Wootten was assisted in the work by high school mathematics teacher T. G. J. Stark, who worked with him three years before they applied for patents.

A-Bomb Changes Industry Style

LONDON, Ont., Nov. 11—(CP)—The invention of the atom bomb as instrument of war may spell the end of concentrated industry and large cities and force an entirely new mode of civilization, Col. Arthur Welsh, Ontario provincial secretary and head of civil defence in Ontario said Friday night.

He was guest speaker at the Armistice Day banquet of Vimy branch, Canadian Legion here.



"An enemy could never rain on Canadian cities the saturation bombing England sa win the last war, but the main objective of air raids would be to disrupt the civilian population, cutting down or immobilizing industry," Col. Welsh said. "The only defence against these attacks is to have civilian masses know the dangers of atomic warfare, know how to protect themselves and to keep the cities and factories functioning."

Wheat Farmers Get Cash Early In 1951

OTTAWA, Nov. 11—(CP)—Western wheat farmers will get a chunk of cash early next year, but it likely won't be as much as they want.

Officials today estimated that the final payment of the five-year Canadian Wheat Board pool, which ended in July, may run between $65,000,000 and $130,000,000, depending on whether the government decides to match the funds available in the pool.

Indications are that the government will, but farmers claim they are entitled to more than that.

A dispatch from Regina Thursday said that Saskatchewan Wheat Pool delegates believe that the government should not only make available the funds in the pool but should make additional payments of $48,000,000 and a further unestimated amount to cover the difference between what the farmers received for wheat and the world price.

The $48,000,000 would cover the amount western farmers believe owing to them on all wheat sold for domestic consumption during the 1945-47 period when prices were frozen at about $1.55 a bushel for No. 1 western, the same price Canada was receiving under the Anglo-Canadian wheat agreement.

Seek Extra Amount

In addition farmers seek an additional amount to settle the alleged obligation to growers under the "have regard" clause of the Anglo-Canadian agreement. Farmers believe they are entitled to some compensation for the loss involved when they sold wheat to Britain during the last five years for between $1.55 and $2 a bushel. The world price then was ranging around $3.

Some farmers have estimated the government should make a final payment of 25 cents a bushel for all the wheat delivered to the Wheat Board during the five years of the pool. That would run the payment to about $325,000,000, an amount the government is not prepared to pay.

Mystery Woman Causes Accident

LONDON, Ont., Nov. 11 (CP)—A mystery woman who, residents claim, walks up and down the middle of No. 2 Highway by night, was blamed Friday night for a car accident near Delaware.

Provincial Constable Bob Pritchard, of London, made an extensive search for the strange woman after the accident but could find not trace of her, he said.

Miss Olive Newcombe, of Dundas, told Pritchard she slammed on her brakes when the woman appeared in her headlights in the centre of the highway, with the result a car behind crashed into the rear of her car.

Driver of the following car was Larry Coulouris, 25, of Fort William, who passenger, Peter Saites, also of Fort William, was treated by a doctor for knee cuts and a badly bruised nose.

Nearby residents told Constable Pritchard they have often seen the mysterious woman walking back and forth on the highway after dark, but none could identify her and no trace could be found of her. No one has ever spoken to her or heard her speak.

Saunders Hoping For Seaway In 1956

TORONTO, Nov. 11 — (CP) — Robert H. Saunders, Ontario Hydro Commission chairman, said Friday he hopes that "in some way, shape or form, we get the St. Lawrence power project by 1956, because we need the power."

He declined comment on a statement by Governor Thomas E. Dewey, of New York, that his victory in Tuesday's United States elections was notice to the Truman administration that we want the right to develop immediately cheap power in the St. Lawrence and Niagara Rivers."

Mr. Saunders said: "We have asked the (Canadian) federal government for it and we know they, in turn, have asked Washington for it."

He said that in order for the St. Lawrence project to be ready in 1956, a start would have to be made next year.

U.K. Philosopher, U.S. Novelist Awarded Nobel Literary Prizes

STOCKHOLM, Nov. 11 (AP)—British philosopher Bertrand Russell and American novelist William Faulkner Friday were awarded Nobel literary prizes for 1949 and 1950.

The Swedish academy elected Faulkner as winner of the 1949 prize, withheld last fall. This year's prize was given to the 78-year-old Earl Russell, internationally - famed philosopher, mathematician and moralist.

The winners were selected from among more than 50 candidates. They will receive the awards from the new Swedish king, Gustaf VI, when the Nobel Foundation celebrates its 50th anniversary Dec. 10.

This year's prize money totals 164,303 krona ($31,715), while the sum frozen last year totalled 156,-229 krona.

This was the first time two full literary prizes had been awarded simultaneously.

Fouth American Wins

Faulkner is the fourth American to win the Nobel prize for literature. Others have gone to novelists Sinclair Lewis and Pearl S. Buck and playwright Eugene O'Neill. Poet T. S. Eliot, American-born but a British citizen now, also received the prize.

Faulkner, who had a meagre formal education, enlisted in the RAF in 1918 and saw combat in France.

With the selection of Earl Russell, the awarding body abandoned the purely-literary line for the first time in 23 years. In 1927 the French philosopher Henri Bergson received the award. In 1908 the choice was German philosopher Urdolf Eucken—criticized as one of the academy's weakest decisions.

The 53-year-old Faulkner has written more than 20 books, including the best-selling "Sanctuary," "Intruder in the Dust," "Light in August" and "Absalom, Absalom!"

The southern states comprise his only subject. Eschewing the "Moonlight and Magnolias" school he has depicted a south haunted and at bay, but still clinging to its heritage. Critic and public alike have acclaimed him as one of the greatest American writers.

Wide Talents

Earl Russell, three times married and twice divorced, was first of all a mathematician, and later applied the mathematical approach to cold reasoning in philosophy. But his voluminous work embraces dissertations on the history of philosophy, on morals, the frontiers of knowable science and on education.

His unorthodox views have generated many an intellectual storm. Ideas, for example, that marriage should be companionate and experimental rather than binding, until the arrival of children, or that most university students should have temporary, trial marriages caused a New York court in 1940 to revoke the philosopher's professorship at New York's City College.

Born at Trelleck, England, May 18, 1872 he became the third Earl of his line on the death of his elder brother in 1931. His vast and scintillating literary output is marked throughout by a lack of respect for authority in morals, aversion for dictators in politics, and reverence for logic in philosophy.

10 Die In Leduc Hotel Blast

LEDUC, Alta., Nov. 13—(CP)—The fire-blackened ruins of the pioneer Leduc hotel—death trap of 10 persons in an explosion which destroyed the building Saturday—symbolize the blackest day in the history of this oil-boom town of 2,000 population. It might have been a red-letter day in the town's history—one ranking next to the momentous discovery of oil Feb. 13, 1937—had it not been for the explosion. Leduc, 21 miles south of Edmonton was to have been serviced with natural gas Saturday. The gas was not turned out of the mains as scheduled, but when it is, shortly, the joy of the residents at achieving their cheap utility will be overshadowed by lingering memories of the worst hotel disaster in Alberta's history.

The two-storey brick-and-and-frame hotel was ripped asunder by a blast heard 17 miles away shortly before noon Saturday, just as Leduc residents returned from Remembrance Day ceremonies. The hotel beverage room was to open in five minutes and within 15 minutes it would have been filled Had the explosion occurred then, residents fear the death toll might have been closer to 100.

Blame Seeping Gas

The explosion was believed caused by gas seeping into the hotel basement from an undetermined source. Estimates of damage ranged from $100,000 to $300,000.

Sixteen persons were sent to hospital, Seven have since been released. Extensive damage was suffered by buildings close by, and five motor vehicles parked nearby were virtually demolished.

The 10 dead, most badly burned and some identified only by personal effects, were removed from the hotel wreckage by frantic rescue workers who did not turn over the last bit of rubble until Sunday night. Ont of the victims remains unidentified.

The other nine killed were Mrs. Norman Miller, Athabaska, Alta., a waitress in the hotel coffee shop; Orysia Megley, 12-year-old daughter of the hotel owner; two hotel beverage room employees, Steve Fenniak and Emil Abel; oil drillers Allan J. Powell, 30, and Art Mannville, 52, both of High River, Alta.; Elmer Baird, 36, Edmonton, a public works employee, and Bill Brohman and Fred Kincaid of Leduc.

In Hospital

Still in hospital are Mrs. H. H. Hubner, 38; Mrs. Leona Crouch, 38; Dennis Kuckinski, 26; Donald Keer, 25; Nadia Megley, 17; Mrs. John Johnson, 23; Miss Toby Hiller, 19; Neil MacDonald, 53; and William Davies, 31. Kuckinski is from Edmonton and MacDonald from Calgary. The rest are Leduc residents.

Charged With Kidnapping Woman Doctor Gets Bail

SANTA FE, N.M., Nov. 13—(AP)—Dr. Nancy Campbell, 43-year-old Yale-trained woman doctor, was released from jail today on a $25,000 bond pending trial on charges of kidnapping a contractor's nine-year-old daughter. The District Attorney's office said arraignment on the kidnapping charges, carrying a penalty of five years to death, would be in a week or two.

Through the night, a suicide guard stood watch in Dr. Campbell's jail cell, placed there by her counsel.

Dr. Campbell—dressed in men's clothes—was caught red-handed Saturday night when she reached for $20,000 ransom cash and 30 hidden federal agents and police rushed her in the darkness.

"Only Go-Between"

"I'm only a go-between'" they said she shouted as they hurtled into her, thinking she was a man.

But in her yellow convertible only a few feet away they found her bedraggled victim—blonde Linda Stamm. The little girl was groggy from a dose of sleeping medicine and chilled from exposure to the nine-degree above zero temperature, but otherwise unharmed.

Later, after they found two more ransom notes and a 25-calibre pistol in the woman's pockets, the FBI said she admitted luring the child away Friday from the Stamm's ranch estate in the wooded outskirts of Santa Fe.

Doctors and friends rallied to Dr. Campbell's aid.

However, other parents joined nine-year-old Linda's mother, Mrs. Allen Stamm, in hoping the accused woman never is freed again if convicted. Conviction carries a penalty ranging from five years' imprisonment to death by electrocution.

Justice Drafting Rail Settlement

OTTAWA, Nov. 13 (CP)—Final terms of settlement in the long railway wage-hour dispute are being drafted here by Mr. Justice R. L. Kellock of the Supreme Court of Canada.

The Justice, appointed government arbitrator to settle remaining points at issue between the railways and their unions, concluded hearings with the disputants at Montreal Friday.

His report to the government—expected to be submitted before Christmas — will lay down the terms of new contracts between the railways and 17 unions with total memberships of 124,000 rail employees who staged a nine-day general strike in August.

Under legislation that ended the strike, Mr. Justice Kellock was empowered to fix the settlement within the area still in dispute when the companies and unions broke off final negotiations during the walkout.

Open Rebellion Raging In Battle To Seize Power

NEW DELHI, India, Nov. 13.—(AP).—The Hindustan Times reports today that Nepalese insurgents have reached Amlikganj, only 25 miles from Katmandu, capital of the little kingdom bordering Tibet.

The insurgents, members of the Nepalese Congress party which is allied to India's ruling Congress party, have proclaimed their own government in an open rebellion against the all-powerful prime minister who ousted democratically-inclined King Tribhuvana.

Unconfirmed reports from Patna, in nearby Bihar, said the prime minister of Nepal, Maharajah Mohun Shamsher Jang Bahadur Rana, had appealed to Indian Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru to mediate the conflict. The Nepalese embassy would neither confirm nor deny the report.

The Hindustan Times also says M. P. Koirala, leader of the Nepalese Congress party, is coming to New Delhi to meet King Tribhuvana. He may also seek an interview with Nehru.

Amlikganj is a railway terminus 25 miles from Birganj, second largest town of Nepal, which the insurgents were reported to have seized. Amlikganj is about 25 miles south of Katmandu.

Unconfirmed reports said the insurgents also had captured the airstrip at Semra, 12 miles beyond Birganj.

The Nepalese Embassy, however, said the Government garrison at Birganj still was resisting the rebels and was being reinforced from Katmandu.

The rebels captured the governor of Birganj and his family and took them to Bihar. Indian officials rescued them and gave them refuge.

An Indian government official denied previous reports that Nepali Congress party men crossed from India int oNepal for Saturday's dawn attack on Birganj.

Mao, Korean Premier Confer In Manchuria

TAIPEI, Foromsa, Nov. 13 — (Reuters). — Chinese Nationalist intelligence sources here reported today that Communist leader Mao Tse-tung of China is conferring in Manchuria with Communist Premier Kim Ir Sen of North Korea.

Top advisers from Russia, North Korea and China were reported at the conference, including a Chinese Communist army marshal.

These sources claimed that the conference had made decisions on future strategy in Manchuria and Korea. The decisions had been cabled to the Chinese Premier and Foreign Minister, Chou En-lai, in Peiping.

Bullet Hits 3 In Car; Farmer Held

Attempted Murder Charge Laid Against Husband

SUDBURY, Nov. 13—(CP)—A 29-year-old farmer is in custody here today, charged with attempted murder in the strange case of a triple shooting with a single bullet.

Herbert Deering is accused of firing a one-in-a million shot from a high-powered rifle which struck his 10-month-old nephew, his sister-in-law and his wife in quick succession.

The shooting occurred in the tiny Manitoulin Island hamlet of Ice Lake last Friday, but it wasn't until Saturday that Deering was arrested. Charges were laid Sunday night.

When the victims were brought to hospital last Friday, it was thought they had been shot by a freak bullet from a hunter's gun But, after investigation, police arrested Deering and put him in jail here until he appears before Magistrate W. Golden at the town of Little Current on the island later this week.

Argument Over Dinner

Police said the shooting apparently occurred after Deering was involved in an argument with his wife over attending the annual turkey supper at Silver Water, social event of the year on Manitoulin.

They said that as the car drew away, carrying the two women and child, Deering fired a heavy-calibre bullet from a range of 170 yards.

The steel-jacketed, soft-nosed slug splintered as it ripped through the trunk and back seat of the car. Two portions passed through the elbow of the child. The bullet then penetrated the shoulder of the baby's mother, Mrs. Robert Deering, and lodged in Mrs. Herbert Deering's shoulders as she sat behind the wheel.

Deering's wife was reported in serious condition at hospital in Little Current while Mrs. Robert Deering is suffering from severe shock.

The baby is in serious condition in hospital here where an operation was performed to remove the small piece of lead left in the elbow.

Peace Congress In Wild Confusion

SHEFFIELD, England, Nov. 13 (AP)—The "World Peace Congress" met in chaotic session today to devise means of moving quickly to Warsaw, Poland.

The Sheffield city hall, where the Communist-line congress had engaged an auditorium for a five-day meeting, was for a few hours a strongly-guarded fortress. Dozens of stewards admitted only delegates with credentials, and some people were left out in the rain because they could not find their tickets. Reporters and the public were not allowed inside.

Some of the hundreds of persons who got past the screening at the doors and came out said the practical problems of making a 1,000-mile shift in scene on short notice were being considered. These problems were largely financial but delegates were taking what comfort they could from reports that the Polish government is willing to meet the costs of an adjourned meeting in Warsaw.

There, on Thursday, the travellers will open their week-long congress to demand a Russian-style ban on the atom bomb and reduction and control of armaments.

Britain's rejection at her borders of "hundreds" of delegates—including many of the congress' leaders—forced cancellation of elaborate plans in this week and arms centre.

Climbers Rescued

GLASGOW, Nov. 13 — (Reuters)—Three men and a girl trapped on an icy, hail-swept ledge near the summit of the 2,891-foot high Brack Peak in Argyllshire, Scotland, were rescued today. They had been roped together all night, with a sheer drop of 100 feet facing them if they slipped, while a rescue party clambered up the rugged peak.

Chinese Reds Enter Tibet's Capital

KALIMPONG, Northern India, Nov. 13 — (Reuters) — Chinese Communist columns have entered Lhasa, the Tibetan capital, after a sweep over the frontier and across Tibet, it was reported today.

Reliable sources here reported today that hostilities ended soon after the Chinese marched into the capital.

The source said the Tibetan government has accepted Chinese proposals for the future of the country.

The Chinese Communists began their march on Lhasa last month.

Many Tibetans are reported to have joined the army along the way.

Indian government sources in close touch with Lhasa reported on Oct. 28 that Chinese Communist troops had entered the eastern mountain district of Tibet three days earlier.

To Banish Oppression

A new China (Communist) news agency dispatch from Peiping Oct. 24 reported that Chinese Communist army units had been ordered to advance into Tibet "to free 3,000,000 Tibetans from imperialist oppression and to consolidate the national defences of China's western corner."

Proposals which the Tibetan national assembly has been discussing since last week, were understood to have contained a Chinese assurance that Peiping would not interfere with Tibet's internal administration.

The draft proposals emphasized that the Chinese government would be responsible for defence, external affairs and communications, would station a "token force" at Lhasa and appoint Chinese military advisers to reorganize the Tibetan army.

The institutions of the Dalai Lama and of the Panchen Lama were assured complete freedom but Peiping called for the establishment of mass education institutions and large scale constitutional and agrarian reforms.

Housewife Snatches Baby From Flames

KITCHENER, Nov. 13—(CP)—A young Kitchener housewife snatched her baby son from possible death today as he sat in his high chair and watched searing flames lick towards him.

Mrs. Harold Stumpf, who lives in the Knollwood Park emergency housing shelter, was washing clothes in another room when her five-year-old son, Bobbie, dashed in and told her the kitchen was on fire. She ran into the kitchen, grabbed her baby and fled out into the snow.

Nearby workmen formed a human chain and handed furniture out the apartment windows as firemen battled the blaze. The apartment was gutted.

BULLETIN

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP). Lt.-Col. Carlos Delgado Chalbaud, president of Venezuela's military junta, was slain today. A government announcement gave no details of the shooting.

WALKERTON— (CP)— Provincial police here said Howard Evarest, his wife Marie, and their two-year-old daughter were found in the kitchen of their home today, shot through the head. They described the tragedy as double murder and suicide.

Police Fire At Couple By Mistake

Frightened Victims Feared Holdup Fled From Scene

TORONTO, Nov. 13—(CP)—A man and woman were fired on last night by plainclothes policemen who suspected them of attempted extortion. They in turn mistook the detectives for holdup men.

Neither C. B. Gillespie nor his friend, Edna Cairncross, was hit by the bullets. Police said they had no connection with the persons sought.

Detective John Gillespie and Acting Detective William McNeillie were suspended, Chief Constable John Chisholm announced today, and will be tried by the police commission for "indiscriminate use of firearms."

Two bullets struck Mr. Gillespie's automobile—one pierced the rear trunk, the other a side window.

Alex McCathie, inspector of detectives, said that officials of a company whose plant was robbed last week have since received "ransom notes" demanding $500 in 20 bills. These were to be put in a brown paper bag.

Police declined to give further details but said that the two detectives, dressed in old clothes, were stationed on east-end Gerrard Street in the hope they might nab the extortionists.

Car Flees

They saw a car pull to a stop. A woman stepped out, carrying a brown paper bag. As the detectives approached, she jumped back in and the car sped away.

Cruiser cars hidden nearby overtook the car, stopped Mr. Gillespie and Miss Cairncross and released them after questioning.

Miss Cairncross told reporters the brown bag contained garbage and that she was about to throw it into a sidewalk garbage can when she noticed two men approaching.

One, carrying a gun, shouted: "Stop it!"

"If they had told me they were police the first time, it wouldn't have been so bad," she said. "As it was, we thought we were being held up."

Falls Off Girder Boy 9, Drowns

TRENTON Nov. 13 — Edward (Teddy) Rodgerson, 9-year-old son of Assessor Charles Rodgerson, tumbled from a footbridge into 12 feet of water in the Trent River and drowned before aid could reach him on Saturday.

He and a companion, Ralph Jackson Jr., 11, were crossing on a footbridge at the CNR bridge when the Rodgerson boy decided to cross on a girder under the bridge His companion said he warned him not to do so, but he persisted.

Jackson said he heard a splash, but no outcry. He shouted to men working near-by but it was several minutes before anyone responded.

Police and firemen dragged the river and the body was located three hours later by Ted Purdy and Rex Glover.

Hold Private Session

WINDSOR, Nov. 13—(CP)—The Windsor Police Commission met in private session today with acting police chief Edwin V. McNeill. The three commission members declined comment on what was discussed at the meeting, held in the acting chief's office. However, Judge Archibald Cochrane, Commission chairman, said that the Commission will not consider applications for the position of permanent police chief until after Nov. 15, the deadline for receiving applications.

Marines Nearing Important Korean Reservoir

SEOUL, Korea, Nov. 13 (AP)—U.S. Marines pushed cautiously 5½ miles through undefended, icy hills toward the great Changjin reservoir today.

While the marines advanced in the centre of the front, there was dogged fighting near both coasts.

Behind the battleline, United Nations forces drew a solid defence line across the narrow waist of Korea. The line was completed by the junction of the 3rd Division, built up to battle strength by the addition of South Koreans and Puerto Ricans, and the South Korean 8th Division.

The advancing marines, bundled like Eskimos, wound through a corkscrew gorge in sub-zero weather without tank support. Tank tracks churned the mountain road into a soggy mass that bogged down the heavy equipment.

Planes On Job

Marine planes flew close cover. Even that was unneeded as the troops ran into only a scattered handful of Chinese Communists. The Reds were eliminated without marine loss.

To the west, Communists appeared to be digging in or fighting delayed actions; but on the east coast they swarmed to the attack.

Attack In Storm

North Koreans guarding the approaches to the Soviet border attacked in force on the east coast Monday under cover of a blinding snowstorm. The Red spearhead battalion was led by tanks and self-propelled guns. It pushed across the Orangchon river, about 90 miles from the Russian border, threatening to outflank a South Korean regiment.

UK Loans Yugoslavia Money To Buy Food

LONDON, Nov. 13.—(Reuters).—Britain is to lend Yugoslavia £5,000,000 to buy food in an effort to avert a famine threatening the country it is reliably learned.

A usually well-informed source said today that Britain's ambassador to Yugoslavia will advise Marshal Tito of the loan Wednesday.

Yugoslavia has been facing starvation as a result of a country-wide drought which ruined this year's crops.

Yugoslavia has also asked the U.S. for economic aid.

Broker Finds Bonds Useless After Deal

Robbery Charges Laid Against Four When Plot Uncovered

HAMILTON, Nov. 13—(CP)—Earl Miller of North Bay, real estate broker and dance hall proprietor, said in court today that he was given $12,000 worth of stolen bonds as down payment on a North Bay area tourist camp. He said he called police after a bank notified him the bonds were listed as stolen.

Miller was a Crown witness at the preliminary hearing of two men and two women who face 14 charges, including bank robbery, automobile theft and retaining stolen goods. Accused are Steve Burtnick, Doris Mizzau, Leonard Burtnick and June Cunningham.

Miller himself originally was charged with robbery with violence and later with retaining stolen Bonds. The robbery charge was withdrawn by the Crown Oct. 1 and judgment was reserved on the retaining charge.

The two men and two women elected trial by higher court.

The bank robbery charges were laid in connection with robberies of branches of the Canadian Bank of Commerce at Binbrooke in the Hamilton district and at Keswick on Lake Simcoe.

Miller said he entered into a business transaction over the tourist camp with Steve Burtnick whom he knew as Carl Morrow. He said his (Miller's) sister, Doris Mizzau, accompanied Burtnick when they met for the talk.

An agreement of sale was drawn up and $12,000 in bonds handed over as down payment, Miller said. But when he sent the bonds to a bank in North Bay the next day, he was told they were stolen. He immediately called the North Bay detective office.

At a later meeting, Burtnick told him the bonds were stolen from banks at Binbrooke and Keswick, Miller said. During that discussion, his sister was not present.

The hearing is continuing.

McGill Seeking Reinforcements

MONTREAL, Nov. 13 (CP). — McGill University Redmen today were on the hunt for reinforcements as the result of their 21-10 defeat by University of Western Ontario Mustangs Saturday.

The Redmen, suffering their first defeat of the Intercollegiate Football League season, returned here Sunday a crippled and bruised team.

Following medical examination of seven linemen and a backfielder, Coach Viv Obeck announced that kicker Geoff Crain and lineman Moe Malone would not see action in next Saturday's playoff here for the College crown. Malone suffered a torn knee cartilage while Crain is out with a broken arm.

Other injured players on the doubtful list are: Bob McLellan, with a severe charley horse; Vince Capogreco, Bob Marshall, and Mike Farrell, out with body bruises; Ron Sharpe, a knee injury; and Dave Tomlinson, a broken nose.

Asks Royal Commission

Thomson Wants Further Windsor Inquiry

TORONTO, Nov. 13 —(CP)—Walter C. Thomson, the new Ontario Liberal leader, has called on Premier Frost's Progressive Conservative government to appoint a Royal Commission "with wide scope and extended powers" to investigate gambling and vice conditions in Windsor.

In an interview at his Pickering farm Sunday with a Toronto paper, Mr. Thomson said the Royal Commission should take over the Windsor investigation from the reorganized police commission of the city which is studying conditions following a provincial police report that gambling and vice flourished.

"Surely Mr. Frost would welcome the suggestion that a thorough-going investigation be made into conditions in Windsor or any other locality where the liquor trade is linked with widespread vice," he said.

In another Windsor reference, he said: "The people of Ontario demand to know what active or passive part was played by members of the provincial cabinet in the mess of degradation uncovered in Windsor."

In the interview, Mr. Thomson attacked the government's handling of liquor administration, education, forest resources and social security. He said the government had not implemented the report of a Royal Commission it appointed to inquire into management of forest resources and that it "has placed our vast forest resources at the disposal of a handful of men who operate the pulpwood monopoly."

Outline Blueprint For New US Aid Program

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13 (AP)—A blueprint for a vast new American foreign aid program, including economic help to Western Europe beyond the scheduled end of the Marshall Plan, was made public by the government last night.

It probably will form the basis for President Truman's foreign economic recommendation to the new Congress.

The president made public a global survey of economic prospects and American aid in the light of the Communist threat and the Western rearmament program. The survey calls for far-reaching developments of American policy to provide help running into millions of dollars over the next few years—perhaps $8,000,000,000 or more.

Truman released the report, prepared by Gordon Gray, former army secretary, as a document deserving "the attention and study" of the American people. But administration officials said there is no doubt that its main recommendations will largely shape the president's foreign economic proposal in his opening message to Congress in January.

Lay Cards On Table

This will pose squarely the issue of how long and how much the United States wants to give or lend friendly countries to help them rearm and strengthen their political and economic life against the threat of Communism.

1. Foreign assistance—a vastly-expanded U.S. aid program carrying billions not only for Europe but also for under-developed areas—Africa, Asia, and Latin America.

2. Domestic economic policies—drastic revision of American tariff, shipping, agriculture and other internal policies which Gray described as conflicting with U.S. foreign economic policies aimed at helping friendly countries produce and sell more goods for dollars.

3. Conditions of aid—the report takes the line that the United States, using aid agreements and distribution as a lever, should continue to insist on high performance by other countries in carrying their share of the load.

Adjourned One Week

Cecil B. Cooney, Murray St., was charged in police court today with false pretenses in issuing a $5 cheque for which he did not have the money in his bank account.

It was charged that he obtained goods from Donald Reid on the cheque. The charge was adjourned one week.

LPP Secretary Denies He's No. 2 Communist

WINDSOR, Nov. 13 (CP). — Stanley Ryerson, organizational secretary of the Labor-Progressive Party, has termed a statement that he is Canada's second-ranking Communist a "pack of lies."

(The statement was made in an article by T. G. McManus in the current issue of Maclean's Magazine.

Ryerson, speaking Saturday night at the Labor Temple here, denied several charges contained in the article.

He said no member of the L.P.P. (formerly the Communist party) had ever been instructed to perform sabotage in industry and said there was "no truth" in the McManus charge that he now was director of military activities.

Industrials Climbing On Toronto Exchange

TORONTO, Nov. 13 — (CP) — Industrials climbed upwards for the fifth successive day as the session progressed on the Toronto Stock Exchange today.

From a firm opening industrials slowly advanced to strong gains that ranged to two points. Papers, steels, utilities, constructions, banks, textiles, manufacturing companies and retail stores showed a majority of gains in the groupings.

Base Metals strongly advanced to new high ground. Quemont paced the list with a $1 gain and Quebec Manitou and Golden Manitou were very active with gains up to 50 cents. Consolidated Smelters, International Nickel and Noranda all added ¼.

Junior and Senior Golds were mixed with prices trading in a fairly narrow path:

Tin Miners Don't Get Pimples

Because Cornish tin miners appeared to avoid skin blemishes, British chemists suggested the use of tin in treating Boils, Acne, Pimples.

Kidnapping Tale Just A Hoax

BRANTFORD, Nov. 13—(CP)—A 16-year-old boy's wild tale of being kidnapped from an Arizona ranch, slugged over the head by two toughs and kept prisoner on a trip to Ontario turned out to be the product of an over-stimulated imagination, Brantford police discovered Saturday.

"I've been kidnapped," the boy greeted Constable W. Swanson in downtown Brantford.

At police station he told how he had been snatched at the Circle R ranch in Arizona more than a week before and that his brother was still being held captive and might be "rubbed out" at any moment.

After a lot of prodding the lad admitted the whole thing was a hoax, that he had run away from home for boys in Toronto. His father came to Brantford Saturday night to claim him.

Near the west coast, U.S. 1st cavalry division units advanced 1½ miles. That carried them half way to the walled town of Yongbyon. Patrols reached the walls but did not enter the town.

Heavy Communist resistance stopped other first cavalry troops near Won, eight miles southeast of Yongbyon.

And five miles south of Won, an estimated three regiments of Chinese Reds smashed a two-mile dent in lines of the South Korean 6th division. Allied fighter-bombers halted this drive, killing about 1,000 Reds in a blazing attack two miles south of Kunu. The South Korean seventh division moved up to bolster the 6th.

Elements of the U.S. 24th Division advanced up to two miles on the extreme western end of the front, about 18 miles west of Won. An Eighth Army spokesman said this placed them in the vicinity of Tungsan, four miles northeast of Panchon and about 60 miles southeast of Sinuiju, entry way for Chinese troops from Manchuria.

Bombers Active

Fleets of B-29s ranging back of the fronts hammered again at Sinuiju and set three main supply points aflame with fire bombs.

A spokesman at Gen. MacArthur's Tokyo headquarters said both bridges across the Yalu River from Manchuria to Sinuiju were believed knocked out after Monday's attack.

MacArthur's intelligence officer said there had been no information for two days on whether Chinese Communists still are sending reinforcements in large numbers across the Yalu. He said the Chinese appeared to be throwing more strength into the central part of the peninsula between the Changjin reservoir and the Yalu River.

This would place heavy concentrations between the main UN forces and Kongye, Red Korean command centre.

Intentions and capabilities of the Chinese forces still are not apparent, the intelligence officer said.

The People's Daily of Peiping, official Chinese Communist newspaper, said American forces could not be halted in Korea "unless we check them with force." Independent press reports from Hong Kong said 200 convicts were freed from Chinese Red jails when they volunteered to fight in North Korea.

ClaxtonHopesToMake Visit To Fort Lewis

OTTAWA, Nov. 13 — (CP) — Defence Minister Claxton, due in Victoria today, is hoping to slip across the American border to visit the army's special force at Fort Lewis, Wash. in the near future.

That visit and possibly another to McChord Field, near Tacoma, Wash., to see the RCAF's Pacific Airlift Transport Squadron are believed to be part of a tentative itinerary he has drawn up for his Western trip.

The special force is on the move now to Fort Lewis and the first full units will be moving in there shortly. One of them, the Princess Patricia's, is slated to head for Korea this month.

10 Die

Separate funerals will be held since about half the victims will be buried at other centres. A coroner's inquest opened Sunday but was adjourned, possibly for two weeks.

The blast caught most of its victims on the lower floors, where they were trapped or maimed by falling wreckage before fire cut off escape. A few persons were hurled to safety as the building buckled. Others jumped out of windows. Some clambered to safety through a maze of bricks and splintered wood.

One of many residents who rushed to the aid of the trapped was railroad worker Joe Merak father-in-law of Steve Fenniak.

Terrible Sight

"It was terrible," he said. "As I rushed to the building all I could hear were screams, screams, screams I helped one man out. He had a broken arm and was in terrible pain. There was one girl we could not help. I saw a woman on her hands and knees trying to crawl out. She too was screaming. But we couldn't help her. She was too far inside the wreckage and before we could get to her she disappeared."

Bob Doyle, 27-year-old oil worker from Winnipeg and Vancouver, escaped violent death for the third time when the blast hurled him clear of the hotel. He had been sleeping in his room. Doyle said he walked away from two plane wrecks overseas in the last war.

Cluness Evans, who operated a garage about six blocks away, said he discovered gas leaking into the garage from the service line about five minutes before the hotel explosion. He was seeking gas company officials when the hotel rocked the town.

Saves Four Daughters

A 36-year-old mother who pulled her four daughters from the burning rubble of the hotel told from her hospital bed of the explosion which claimed the life of her fifth child, Orysia.

Mrs. John Megley, wife of the co-owner of the hotel, is a powerful built woman with a kindly face and streaks of grey in her black hair. She was standing at a bedroom door looking at her 1-year-old daughter, Janice when the blast rocked the hotel.

"I don't remember any noise. I didn't feel anything. All I remember is running toward the bed to get Janice because 'I knew something awful was happening."

Mrs. Megley's other daughters, Betty Ann, 3; Sonia, 10; and Nadia, 17, were in the family's five-room suite on the second floor. Orysia, who had stepped into the hotel corridor was buried in the smouldering mass of mattresses, bedsprings, sinks, ceilings, and walls.

Mrs. Megley remembered lurching toward Janice and reaching her just as the room struck the ground floor and disintegrated.

"It was all a jumble after the room fell apart. They tell me I pulled the children out of the ruins. I don't know.

Mrs. Megley's stepfather, Fred Hayduk, so-owner of the hotel, said that Sonia told him her mother pulled her from under a refrigerator.

"Sonia says she remembers the piano tumbling past her as the room dropped," Mr. Hayduk said. "Then her mother grabbed her and pulled her from under the ice-box."

Nadia, with a fractured pelvis, is in no danger. Sonia received treatment for a cut eyelid but will probably be allowed to leave hospital in a few days.

Demand Explanation On Sheriff's Firing

WINDSOR, Nov. 13 (CP)—A membership meeting of Local 200 United Automobile Workers (CIO) has asked Attorney-General Porter and the provincial government to "publicly justify" the retirement of A. A. (Tony) Marentette as Essex county sheriff.

A resolution passed at the union's meeting Sunday night said "political patronage" had forced Marentette's retirement after 15 years' service.

It said the government should justify the dismissal or reinstate Marentette immediately.

Attorney-General Porter, in announcing the retirement of Sheriff Marentette a week ago, said the government was not satisfied with the way the sheriff was carrying out his duties.

Bruce Clouse, a lawyer and former mayor of Kingsville, was appointed to succeed Marentette Dec. 1.

Vienna Horses Feature At Royal

TORONTO, Nov. 13 (CP). — Western Canada farmers, who consistently cart off most of the world championships awarded at the seed show of the Royal Winter Fair, may find their powers weakened a bit this year.

Fair officials say seed men in the west report 1950 has been a poor year, August frosts having been mainly responsible.

The eight-day agricultural show, pageant and contest—one of the world's biggest farmer show pieces—opens here Tuesday.

The seed show, in a change started last year, now is an international competition, and the frost-hit western Canada farmers will have American seed growers from 10 midwest and northwest states as well as all other Canadian provinces after their laurels. There are 756 entries.

Perhaps the fair's biggest box-office attraction is its horse show. Last year the show featured the famous RCMP musical ride, 32 picked Mounties on matched horses in an intricate precision drill which wound up in a spectacular charge.

The stars this year are eight white stallions. Some of their most startling effects are obtained by immobility—classic poses on their hind legs.

The horses are the renowned Lippizzons from the Spanish riding school in Vienna. Four centuries of tradition back the superb snow-white stallions, and their riders attired in old-world liveries with Napoleonic hats, tail coats and black hip boots.

The formal charge of kidnapping for ransom was filed Sunday night and bail set at $25,000.

Linda was lured from her home Friday. She spent that night drugged and wrapped in blankets on the dirt floor of a shack at an abandoned ranch. There was no glass in the windows, no door in the doorway, and temperature was nine above zero.

FBI Traps Doctor

The schoolgirl was released Saturday night after agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation closed a trap on Dr. Campbell as she reached for the ransom money at the gate of the Stamm estate on the wooded outskirts of Santa Fe.

Mrs. Stamm, 32-year-old mother of Linda, told reporters she hoped Yale-educated Dr. Campbell never would be free again "to bring to others what she has brought to us in heartaches and worry."

"It must not be allowed to happen again—the mistreatment of an innocent child—the leaving of a little girl to the mercy of winter," Mrs. Stamm said.

Admits Crime

A. L. Zinn, lawyer for Dr. Campbell, said friends and doctors in Santa Fe had offered hundreds of thousands of dollars for bond. He said Dr. Campbell would be taken to Albuquerque "where she can have all the medical care necessary."

Dr. Campbell Sunday admitted she had planned and executed the kidnapping. She said she needed money, but those who know her said they find that hard to believe.

Regarded as a brilliant gynaecologist in medical circles here. Dr. Campbell had a large psactice, although some friends said perhaps half of it was charity. Among her patients had been Mrs. Stamm at the birth of a son two years ago.

UK Rejecting Occupation Plan

LONDON, Nov. 13. (AP)—Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin said today a Russian plan to end the armed occupation of Germany is "unacceptable."

Bevin hinted strongly that Britain will therefore reject a Russian bid for a Big Four meeting to discuss the removal of troops and the unification of Germany under a single government as proposed at Prague recently by Russia and her east European satellites.

Bevin told the House of Commons:

"In the opinion of the British government, the Prague communique does not afford an adequate basis for dealing with these great problems.

"It consists of proposals that have been made before — and have been shown to be unacceptable to the other occupying powers and, in addition, to the German people."

See-Saw Race Swings Back To Democrat

DETROIT, Nov. 13 (AP). — The lingering see-saw race for the Michigan governorship, still undecided six days after the State election, today swung back over to Democratic G. Mennen Williams.

A change in the canvassed returns from Macomb County, straightened out by a precinct election board chairman's testimony before canvassers, gave these State totals, with official canvasses still narrowly incomplete.

G. Mennen Williams (D) 935,-128.

Harry F. Kelly (R) 934,570.

Thus, with a half dozen of the State's 83 counties still to report their official canvassed figures, Williams takes the lead by a margin of 558 votes over his Republican rival, two-time former Governor Kelly.

Strangely, in the unique mix-up resulting from the State's closest governor election in history, Michigan may still not know whom it elected governor—even when inauguration time rolls around Jan. 1.

A formal recount of the State vote seemed certain, and that may take six weeks to complete after the canvassed figures are all in.

Telephone Operators Charge "Lockout"

NEW YORK, Nov. 13 (AP). — Long-distance telephone operators in New York City charged today they were "locked out" when they reported for work after striking equipment workers removed picket lines.

The American Telephone and Telegraph Company said that the charge of lockout "is absurd."

Removal of the picket lines was part of the "hit and run" picketing tactics of the CIO communications workers of America to snarl Bell system long-distance lines. The flash picketing was designed to catch management unawares and throw long-distance service into chaos before enough supervisors can be mobilized to man switchboards.

The New York operators reported at the long-lines centre in three shifts. Large numbers of them—estimated at 1,300-left the building within a short time. They charged they had been told by chief operators to leave after they said they would continue to respect picket lines. They said the company told them they had other workers for the jobs.

Brigade Troops Quit Canada

OTTAWA, Nov. 13 — (CP) — The Canadian UN force is on the move, part of it bound for Korea.

Their movement officially shrouded in secrecy, thousands of men are converging on Fort Lewis, Wash., in the country's greatest peacetime troop transfer.

The shift of the brigade's three battalions and supporting troops—largest since the days of the Second World War—started from a half-dozen points during the weekend.

Actual departure times were kept secret for security reasons, but 22 special trains will leave at various times in the next few days with about 11,000 men from Valcartier, Que.; Petawawa, Kingston and Camp Borden, in Ontario; Camp Shilo Man., and Wainwright Alta.

Civilian Planes Will Continue On Airlift Work

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13 — (AP)— The Military Air Transportation Service reported today it will continue to use chartered civilian planes on the airlift to Japan.

M.A.T.S. has been reducing the use of charter planes for the last two months and announced some time ago that it would "phase out" that part of the Korean supply operation by the end of December.

Since last August regular flights of Canadian Pacific Air Lines planes from the west coast to Tokyo have carried U.S. military personnel under a charter agreement.

The RCAF No. 426 Transport Squadron operates under the unified military command from McChord Field, near Tacoma, Wash., to Tokyo.

A spokesman for M.A.T.S. said that because of developments in Korea, it has been decided to continue charters at the present level. This means that about 40 civil aircraft, of the 66 at the peak of charter operations will continue on the west coast-Japan run.

The airlift is operating at a rate of around 70 tons daily. M.A.T.S. is flying more than 170 transports, including 72 borrowed from the U.S. Trooper Carrier Command.

Judge Ask Ruling On State Of War

SYDNEY, Australia, Nov. 13—(Reuters) — Judge F. W. Berne in the New South Wales Appeals Court today asked the Federal Government whether Australia was at war with Korea and Malaya.

He was hearing an appeal by Fardon Burns, publisher of the Sydney Communist newspaper Tribune, against a sedition sentence of nine-months imprisonment for publishing an article saying "not a man, not a ship, not a plane, not a gun for the war on the colonial liberation movements of Asia or for the imperialist war in Korea and Malaya."

The judge said the article could not be seditious if Australia was not officially at war.

He added that more than one Commonwealth Minister had stated that Australia was not at war in Korea. The war might be illegal, and it might be illegal, and it might be illegal to send troops there.

ONE MINUTE NEWS ABOUT JOHNS-MANVILLE

BATTLE OF AGE WON FOR HOMES

Since time began, fire, weather and decay have conspired to destroy the homes men have built. But these three universal destroyers have little effect on etxerior walls built of Johns-Manville Cedargrain Siding Shingles.

For J-M Cedargrains are madeof two minerals that can neither burn nor rot, asbestos and cement. Cedargrains do not require painting as their colour is provided by imbedded granules. Applied over old walls, J-M Cedargrains give weather-beaten homes brand new beauty and protection; in new construction, they lend themselves to all types of architecture.

Cedargrains are available in five beautiful colours, Greentone, Browntone, Redtone, Graytone and Rover White. These colours may be used singly or in combination as personal tastes prefer. Before you build or remodel, write for free folder on Cedargrains to Johns-Manville, 199 Bay St., Toronto — or see your J-M dealer.

Ontario Liberal Leader

It is not difficult to understand why Mr. Walter C. Thomson has been chosen as leader of the provincial Liberal Party; he visited fifty-odd of the Ontario ridings, made himself known to them and asked for their support; he has been a first-rate party man for at least three decades; he made an excellent campaign speech, and he made it without a note in his hand, which distinguished him from all the other contenders except Professor Cassidy. In short, he went to work as a politician should. After the well-meaning but dull leadership of Mr. Nixon and Mr. Oliver he should give Ontario Liberalism the aggressive and thorough direction that it badly needs.

* * *

Another factor—a negative one—worked in Mr. Thomson's favour. It was clear that the Federal Liberal Party wanted Mr. John G. Brown of Kitchener to have the Ontario leadership; no secret was made of that preference. The delegates resented this attitude, and rebuked the Federal party by choosing their own man. It is time that the Ottawa Liberals learned that the provincial parties are not subsidiaries of the Dominion organization and dislike interference from Ottawa. Liberal belief is the same, but its application to local problems demands local knowledge. Ontario Liberalism must not be expected to have its body in Toronto, and its head in Ottawa. The choosing of Mr. Thomson should not cause a vindictive spirit to arise against him in Ottawa; the Ottawa panjandrums must learn that Liberal principles apply within the party, as well as outside it; Mr. Thomson was the man the Ontario Liberals wanted, and he is the man for the job. The field of possible leaders was a wide one, though some of the entrants were little known, and revealed no uncommon ability in their appeals to the delegates. But in Mr. Thomson, Professor Cassidy and Mr. Brown there were three good men, and it is a sign of vigour in the party that it had three possible leaders to choose from.

* * *

Mr. Walter C. Thomson is an experienced and aggressive politician. Under his leadership the Ontario Liberals should make a better showing in Opposition that they have done since Mr. Hepburn retired. The convention which chose him was a spirited and vigorous one, and it may be hoped that Ontario Liberalism has wakened refreshed from its long sleep.

Three-Way Split In N.Y. Election

After a campaign described by New York City and State newspapers as the dirtiest on record, the voting in both produced a three-way split and elected a candidate who was the nominee of three parties. U.S. Senator Herbert H. Lehman was confirmed in the seat he won at a by-election, Governor Thomas Dewey was returned, acting mayor Vincent Impellitteri was elected mayor, and James G. Donovan was elected to the House of Representatives. Senator Lehman is a Democrat and a Jew; Governor Dewey is a Republican of English and Huguenot descent; Mayor Impellitteri, who ran as an independent is of Italian extraction, and Mr. Donovan, nominee of the Democratic, Republican and Liberal parties, is of Irish descent.

Each, therefore represented a large segment of voting population as divided by racial origin.

More often than not, in United States elections, the slate of one party or another carried the State. Exceptions in the case of minor posts are not uncommon, but a split such as that in New York is rare indeed. It would seem from the results that the voters of both the state and city were determined to elect either the most able or most experienced candidates, or candidates with a combination of both ability and experience, regardless of party, and were also thoroughly determined to defeat a long-successful communist candidate.

Senator Lehman's long and outstanding career in state and national policies gained him a strong vote in normally Republican upstate New York. Governor Dewey's fine record as public prosecutor and administrator brought out a heavy vote for him in strongly Democratic New York City, and the city voters selected Mr. Impellitteri with experience in municipal politics over two able candidates of the major parties. Mr. Donovan's victory was gained over Vito Marcantonio, American Labor (Communist) Party, who had served seven terms in the House of Representatives.

The most surprising feature of the three-way split was the election of Mr. Impellitteri. A former Democrat he had been denied the support of Tammany Hall, and entered himself as a candidate. The press was almost solidly behind one or the other of his two major party opponents. He could expect to gain no advantage from his Italian descent because of the city's large Italo-American population, since his opponents were Judge Ferdinand Pecora, Democrat, and Edward Corsi, Republican. He was a member of civic administration under which a police graft scandal was exposed, yet he became the first man ever to be elected mayor of New York without the support of either of the two major parties. His election was a remarkable expression of confidence and independence by the voters of New York.

Steady Progress With Ontario's Forests

Two important reports dealing with the province's forest resources have appeared in the last three and a half years. The earlier is the report of the Royal Commission on Forestry, published in May, 1947. The second is the report of the Select Commission on Conservation, published in March of this year, fully a third of which has to do directly with forest resources, management and development.

It is too early to say how the recommendations of the Select Commission are being acted upon, but the valuable volume is certainly not gathering dust in the departments of Lands and Forests, and Agriculture. Last week Premier Frost gave assurance that the "Kennedy Report" is not being ignored. Major-General Howard Kennedy, Royal Commissioner in 1947, made a detailed study of the province's forests, from the effect of war on them to the definition of a cord of wood. The Premier stated that steps have been taken to eliminate completely unprocessed pulp from Crown lands within the next decade—which was a recommendation in the Kennedy Report—and that a complete forest inventory will be finished in 1952.

"With completion of the inventory we will be in a position to assure sustained yield and permanency in our forest industry. We then will know what forest resources we have, where they are, what are the species. Our plans for cutting and harvesting can be based on certainty. We are going ahead with this job. It is not being done in an isolated haphazard manner."

The provincial government is setting out on a comprehensive plan to conserve and restore forests in blighted, fired, and cut-over areas. It now operates five tree nurseries producing twenty million trees each year, and is aiming at an annual production of sixty millions. These are being set out by the government and private agencies, in areas now unproductive.

This district is vitally interested in such matters, and not only because the Minister of Lands and Forests is Peterborough's representative in the Legislative Assembly. Peterborough used to be a great lumbering region; it was this industry which accounted for its development during the fifty years from 1835. The forests were stripped in the uneconomical, careless methods of those times when people considered only taking the profit and not providing for future yield.

Lumber is now a minor part of the district's economy. Yet the cut-over areas remain as potential forest wealth—most of them can never be farmed with profit. Many of these areas have been re-seeded, or already replanted with young trees got from the government nurseries. As more people become alert to the long-term investment uses of reforestation, and to the value of wood-lots and forests in conserving water and soil, Peterborough county may again become a lumbering district. It cannot of course compete with Northern Ontario as a pulpwood producer, nor with the slopes and valleys of British Columbia as a source of fir and cedar. But this district can and should produce again the fine hardwoods for which it once was noted, in small woodlots in good agricultural sections, in massive acreage in the Kawartha district.

NOTE AND COMMENT

It is legal in New Brunswick to kill a deer with a car. Messy, of course, when that very natural confusion arises between deer, other hunters, and cows.

When the Gallup Poll asked a lot of Canadians whether members of Parliament are elected or appointed, 10 per cent. thought they were appointed and 17 per cent. were not sure. Now we know who at least 27 per cent. of the people are who do not vote.

Doubtless we are old-fashioned and silly, but we wince a bit when we read in Time that the Royal Family have "met and mingled with" some Hollywood film people. We prefer to think that the shadow-folk met the Royal Family, and very lucky to do so.

Musical Notes

By PETER PIPER

So George Bernard Shaw, one of the very few that have ever achieved the fame of being known by their initials, is dead. As I am supposed to talk about matters musical in this column I shall not attempt to offer an evaluation of his achievement as a writer, a task that is probably beyond my powers. I shall however speak of him in his relation to music. In the first place, here was a great writer of prose, a penetrating and original thinker, who was keenly interested in music. At the outset of his literary career he was a music critic, and wrote under the name of "Corno di Bassetto" (Basset-horn, an obsolete musical instrument). He was an ardent Wagnerian at a time when the name of Wagner was synonymous with advanced tendencies, lack of melody, musical anarchy and ultra-modernism. He was sharply critical of Stanford and Parry for their academicism, and in spite of the high esteem in which these composers are still held by certain critics today it is true that Shaw's unflattering opinion of them has been borne out by the general public except for some of their church music. Revivals of Stanford and Parry are usually "succes d'estime", and no more. What probably annoyed Shaw more than anything else about these men was that they modelled their style very largely on that of Brahms, the figure-head of the anti-Wagnerian party on the continent. Nevertheless he should have given them credit for breaking away from the timid Mendelssohnianism that had paralysed English music for the past fifty years. Their academicism was certainly not of a narrow and cramping nature, judging from names such as Ireland, Bliss, Howells, Bridge and Vaughan Williams, who all studied under them. In fact they are rightly regarded as the fathers of the English Renaissance in music.

✧ ✧ ✧

Shaw was a life-long admirer and friend of Elgar, who was one year his junior. The two men came into fairly close contact at Malvern, in Elgar's native Worcestershire, where Shaw had started an annual Dramatic Festival. It was then, towards the end of his life that Elgar tried unsuccessfully to induce Shaw to write a libretto for an opera to be composed by him. Doubtless Elgar's highly original adaptation of Wagnerian technique was congenial to Shaw. Although Shaw had retired from regular practice as a critic in 1898 with the production of his book "The Perfect Wagnerite", he still contributed occasional articles on musical subjects, notably on the topic of Elgar. Shaw's critical writings on music still make excellent reading today. Even when he is wrong-headed he is always readable. He had not much detailed musical knowledge, but he had a brain (some brain!) and he could write. For sheer pleasure in reading I can only compare him with Berlioz, who wrote on music like an angel. I wish I could lay my hands again on a copy of his "Soirees d'Orchestre". I know of no present-day critic who can write so entertainingly on music as these two. Tovey died a few years ago, and his voluminous writings are being diligently collected and published by the Oxford University Press. Shaw's criticisms have been collected and are published by Constable.

✧ ✧ ✧

Once again I must protest against the barbarous habit of opening and closing a radio concert or recital with a "theme song" or what-not. Nobody would ever dream of introducing a speaker with a record of one of Winston Churchill's speeches faded out in the middle of a sentence. Why are the radio programme organizers of this continent so desperately afraid of more than three seconds of silence?

✧ ✧ ✧

It is a matter of regret that the ancient pastime of bell-ringing is not practised in this city. I must explain at this point the difference between ringing (or pealing) and chiming, and crave the indulgence of those readers who are in the know. When a bell is chimed the bell remains stationary and is struck by a hammer or clapper. This may be done by pulling a rope. Where there is a number of bells they may be operated from a type of keyboard by one man, so that tunes can be played. This is called a carillon, and we have one in this city in the tower of St. John's Church. In pealing, however, the whole bell is swung round, and instead of playing tunes (which would be impractical) various permutations and combinations of the order of pealing are used. This is known as change ringing. Naturally the number of permutations and combinations is vastly greater with a greater number of bells. With four bells there are only 24 different ways of ringing, taking about one minute to complete; with twelve bells there are 479,001,600, taking 37 years and 355 days without a break. In the old days the ringers refreshed themselves at intervals with beer. There is a large flagon in the belfry of a Suffolk church to this very day with the inscription:

"When I am filled with liquor strong,
Each man drink once and then ding-dong.
Don't drink too much to cloud your nobs,
Lest you forget to make the bobs (changes in order of ringing)".

✧ ✧ ✧

It cannot be claimed that the mathematical formulae used in change ringing have any musical value in themselves, but the general effect of a peal of bells "in full swing", to use the well-known expression in its original sense, heard from a distance is indescribably pleasing. I wish I could say the same for the more modern device of installing a loud-speaker in a tower playing records of chimes or amplifying the sound of metal rods. This soulless substitute is becoming more popular —it costs less. Better to have just one honest-to-goodness bell than something that can at the best produce only a sorry parody of real bell tone. I challenge anyone who has heard both to tell me that there is no real difference.

THE TRUTH WILL OUT

While the young suitor was waiting to take out his young lady, the latter's little sister entered the room.

"Did you know my sister's got three other boy friends," said the child.

The suitor pricked up his ears at this piece of news.

"Really," he said in surprise, "I haven't seen any of them."

"Neither have I," returned the child, "but she gave me a quarter to tell you."

THE FUSE

Letters To The Editor

GOOD USE FOR NURSES' RESIDENCE

Sir: Why oh why do our members of council want to dispose of that fine building on Argyle Street known as the nurses' residence when Peterborough is so desperately in need of at least two or three homes for the aged? A city the size of Peterborough and only the Anson House to take care of all the elderly people who are looking for room and board!

How many boarding houses want to take in older people? Not very many.

There are plenty of older people in our city living on small income, to say nothing of the number who are living on an old age pension who cannot get into Anson House owing to lack of space.

You City Fathers have the proper building right in your possession; why dispose of it for a mere trifle when it could be used to such an advantage?

The Minister of Health and Welfare made an announcement the other day regarding the Government going to see to it that several homes would be opened during the coming year. How about offering them part of the hospital or at least that residence as a start for Peterborough. Let's do something for our old people. You know we shall all be old one of these days.

Yours,
A NORTH ENDER.

REPLIES TO NON-DISTURBER

Sir: What is troubling Non-Disturber? He and all the rest of the Roman Catholics are quite welcome to believe the new dogma or anything else the Pope wishes to dream up. We're not bothering you either; or are we? We non-Catholics have far more important issues at stake at the moment than worrying or even trying to figure out your beliefs. So leave us alone please.

Liquor Permit Is Just A Tax

(Ottawa Journal)

The Manitoba legislature has a liquor committee which has been holding public hearings with a view to improving the liquor system of that province. One witness was an officer of the RCMP who advocated that the individual permit system be continued as an aid to law enforcement.

The Brandon Sun hopes this argument "will not weigh too heavily with the committee". The Manitoba Liquor Act, it says, is over-burdened with regulations included primarily to facilitate the work of the police but as a result "temperate and law-abiding citizens are being subjected to inconvenience and petty indignity". The permit system, says the Sun, no doubt aids the police "but it is an infernal nuisance to the general public".

Ontario has this "infernal nuisance" too, as all know who ever buy spirits, and the permit system is one of the factors which confuse and congest the liquor stores at busy times.

But that is only one reason, and not the main reason, why many think Ontario should abolish the liquor permit. The main reason is that the fee has its chief value to the Government as a source of revenue—the Ontario treasury must clear close to a million a year out of it. A tax it is no less, and on a business which already bears taxes and profits that would horrify people and governments if imposed for private advantage.

It is doubtful if abolition of the permit would mean any increase in liquor sales, and it would get rid of one item in our host of controls and regulations. Considering what the Ontario and Dominion governments take from the purchaser out of every dollar spent for liquor the province could get along without this levy of a dollar on everybody who patronizes its stores.

We recall the ostensible reason given at the outset for the adoption in Ontario of the permit system—it would be, we were told, a means of registering to the purchaser himself and his wife, if he has one, how much he is spending on liquor. May be, but at that it is another of those interferences with the liberty of a man (or woman) to do what he likes with his own money provided he does not make a nuisance of himself, and it is questionable whether it has any worthwhile effect. The province of Quebec has never adopted the permit system and the drinking habits of its people don't seem to be any the worse.

The high and flightly prices (set by government) of all kinds of intoxicants these days are in themselves a pretty effective prevention of over-spending.

How Time Flies

NOVEMBER 13

1920 Robert Gibbs, well-known liveryman, dies here after a lingering illness.

James J. Houlihan of Peterborough is asphyxiated by gas fumes in a Toronto boarding house.

The 49th anniversary of Trinity Sunday School is observed with Dr. G. H. Williams preaching.

1930 Dewart Bros. have purchased the grain and seed business of the late J. H. Ferguson.

Harry Dahn, former manager of the Grand here, is now district manager of Famous Players Corp. in Toronto.

Stores in Stirling, Norwood, Hastings and Warsaw are robbed during the night.

1940 The mayor-elect of Peterborough on Jan. 1 may remain in office two years according to the Local Government Extension Act.

A regional conference of inspectors is held at Normal School with problems of inspection and administration discussed.

R. M. Glover is re-elected president and Frank Buckland is named coach of the Peterborough Hockey Club.

Bible Message

(From The Authorized Version)

Say ye to the righteous, that it shall be well with him: for they shall eat the fruit of their doings. Woe unto the wicked! it shall be ill with him: for the reward of his hands shall be given him. (Isa. 3: 10, 11.)

✧ ✧ ✧

This I say then, Walk in the Spirit, and ye shall not fulfil the lust of the flesh. For the flesh lusteth against the Spirit, and the Spirit against the flesh: and these are contrary the one to the other: so that ye cannot do the things that ye would....

Now the works of the flesh are manifest, which are these; Adultery, fornication, uncleanness, lasciviousness, idolatry, witchcraft, hatred, variance, emulations, wrath, strife, seditions, heresies, envyings, murders, drunkenness, revellings, and such like: of the which I tell you before, as I have also told you in time past, that they which do such things shall not inherit the kingdom of God.

But the fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, longsuffering, gentleness, goodness, faith, meekness, temperance: against such there is no law. (Gal. 5: 16, 17, 19-23.)

✧ ✧ ✧

Be not deceived; God is not mocked: for whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap. (Gal. 6: 7.)

"SOME FEATHERS FOR IT TO FLY WITH, MISTER VISHINSKY?"

U.S. Companies Highly Regard Labrador Ore

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

The current monthly review of the Bank of Nova Scotia is a study of Quebec-Labrador iron ore.

It brings together known facts about this recent Candian development, examines future markets, and speculates upon its effect on the Canadian economy.

Factually:

Present proven reserves are more than 400,000,000 tons, "quite sufficient to justify the construction of the railway."

The railway on which work has started, will run 360 miles from the centre of the discoveries, Burnt Creek, to Seven Islands, Que., on the Gulf of St. Lawrence. This tidewater outlet can, with the aid of an icebreaker, be made a year-round port.

The railway is expected to be finished in 1954 and ore shipments to begin in 1955.

Anticipated Shipment

Anticipated rate of shipment is 10,000,000 tons a year, but "should the St. Lawrence seaway be built, annual output might in time run to 20,000,000 tons or even more."

Proven reserves are high-grade hematite, a non-magnetic, easily smelted oxide similar to that of the Mesabi Range in the United States, whose high-grade ore is nearing exhaustion, thus creating markets for new discoveries.

Expediture on exploration to the end of 1948 were $7,000,000 and projected expenditures are estimated at $150,000,000.

The review comments:

"There is every reason to believe the bulk of Quebec-Labrador ore will be marketed outside Canada. Though a growing Canadian steel industry may well provide a gradually-increasing market in this country, there is no likelihood in the foreseeable future of its reaching a size at all commensurate with the scale of the Quebec-Labrador development . . .

Three Main Areas

"Broadly speaking, there are three main areas to which the ore might look for a market: the Great Lakes-Pittsburgh area; the United States Atlantic Coast; and Europe." However:

"The main outlet for many years to come is likely to be the great interior steel region, which uses some three-quarters of the total United States consumption of 100,000,000 tons of ore annually.

"Just what will be the competitive position of Quebec-Labrador ore in this region is difficult for the lay observer to assess . . . Any estimate of the competitive position must include a view of the comparative costs of Lake Superior and Venezuelan ore and added to this are such intangible factors as company interests in the various sources of supply.

Great Possibilities

"But when all this is said, the fact that five American steel companies are planning to make a substantial investment in the Quebec-Labrador project is a clear indication of how competent and interested opinion regards the possibilities."

The review examines various routes of shipment. It says also:

"Of greatest significance may be the penetration of railway for the first time of the vast and almost-unexplored plateau of New Quebec and Labrador. The opening of this huge area—a part of the Precambrian Shield which in more accessible locations has provided the bulk of the base-metal and gold production of Canada—would surely be a landmark in Canada's economic history."

Loses Husband

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 13 (AP)—Mrs. George Lee, 17, gained a daughter Sunday but lost her husband. Lee, 20, was injured in an automobile accident Saturday night. He died Sunday morning in hospital while his wife was en route there to have their first child. A girl was born to Mrs. Lee.

Little Soldier Dies

BOSTON, Nov. 13 (AP)—It's taps for the "little soldier". Ten-year-old Earle C. Mace, Jr., died Sunday of haemophilia, a blood disease from which he suffered nearly all his life. His nickname came from nurses at Children's Hospital where he had had long treatments. They said the boy told them he wanted to "grow up and be a soldier."

Illegal Cargo

NAPLES, Nov 13 (Reuters).—Italian coast guards Sunday night captured a motor launch flying the British flag after a running gun-fight off the island of Capri. They said they found four tons of contraband American cigarettes on board. Coast guards said the launch had been sailing just off Capri with all lights dimmed.

Elect 1951 Officers For Hastings Group

HASTINGS, Nov. 13—(ENS)—Mrs. F. Crate was hostess to the Evening Auxiliary for their November meeting with 18 members and three visitors present. The president, Mrs. J. M. Baker, presided. Reports were given by the secretary and treasurer.

Mrs. W. Dodd read a paper on Stewardship. Marjorie Scriver, temperance secretary, read a paper on temperance. Members were asked to have knitted blocks in for the bale to be packed at the church.

The nominating committee presented the following slate of officers for 1951: president, Mrs. R. Burnham; first vice-president, Mrs. W. A. Thomas; second vice-president, Mrs. A. Orr; secretary, Mrs. Alton Thompson; treasurer, Mrs. F. Crate; press secretary, Mrs. L. Nelson; stewardship, Mrs. W. Dodd; temperance, Mrs. M. Scriver; literature, Mrs. D. Fisher; associate members, Mrs. Cliff scriver; community friendship, Mrs. J. G. Thompson; supply secretary, Mrs. J. S. Stevenson; Christmas card convener, Mrs. E. Hess, pianist, Marjorie Scriver; assistant pianist, Mrs. J. M. Baker.

Mrs. J. M. Baker, retiring president, expressed her thanks to the members for their co-operation, and how much she had enjoyed the auxiliary work.

Mrs. E. Hess had charge of the worship and study book.

2-Day Seminar

HUNTSVILLE, Ala., Nov. 13—(AP)—Southern editors, reporters and scientists today opened a two-day seminar on atomic energy, the first of its kind to be held in the United States. About 100 delegates are taking part in the session, designed to help the newspaper men prepare informative stories on atomic energy.

Gelinas Scores New Hit In English Play

By ALAN RANDAL

MONTREAL, Nov. 13—(CP)—Ti-Coq, the pint-sized, somewhat ugly darling of the French-Canadian theatre, has clipped his wings a bit, smoothed a scraggly feather or two and once more tapped success. That is, author-producer-actor Gratien Gelinas, as the "L'il Rooster," has switched from French to English and again has set Montreal's theatregoers on their collective ear.

Since opening last Tuesday at Theatre Du Gesu, Ti-Coq has been packing the place. How long this will continue may depend on whether or not Broadway lures Ti-Coq from his native province, or he goes on a Canadian tour.

Really, for Gratien Gelinas (pronounced Grass-ee-en Jay-leena) there has been no need to hurry to Broadway with Ti-Coq. Over a two-year period in Montreal, when he presented the play in French, he played five times a week and netted the better part of $5,000 weekly in profit.

Personal Triumph

The play is a personal triumph for this 40-year-old Montrealer who, prior to coming up with this, his first full-length play, had reached fame and $50,000 a year in his native province with his annual revues called "Fridolinons." In these he played the lead part himself and came to be known everywhere through Quebec as "Fridolin," an impish French-Canadian dead-end kid.

For his English version of Ti-Coq, Gelinas cut the play from three acts to two and reduced the time by 45 minutes with no loss of laughs or pathos.

Here you see Ti-Coq, the undersized army private who, starved for affection, nourishes a bitter hatred of his illegitimacy. He falls in love with Marie-Ange, the sister of his army pal.

This life with love and affection is so new that Ti-Coq is a bit afraid. He tells his army padre about it. . . "It is like the girl who has been saying 'no, no' for such a long time and then opens the gates. It is too bad for the girl. She cannot then close the gates."

While he is overseas, Marie Ange, under the urging of uncertainty, and the prods of her family, marries another. Ti-Coq is desolate. On his return Marie-Ange finds she still loves only Ti-Coq, is willing to heed his pleadings that they vanish away together. But To-Coq's great friend, the army padre, persuades the couple that love alone is not enough. Because both are Roman Catholic and divorce is impossible, any child of their's must be like To-Coq—a bastard.

For Ti-Coq that is the uncompromising truth. He renounces the only love he ever knew.

English-language critics can be summed up in the words of one (The Montreal Star): "For Fridolin himself, there is no improvement. How could there possibly be?" said the French-language La Presse "Here is a national To-Coq, proving once more that he dominates in the Canadian theatre."

PCVS Reaches COSSA Final As Quinte Seniors Downed

By DON GRANT

Closely associated with the COSSA championship for the past four years has been Coach Bev. Goulding and his senior PCVS Garnet and Greys. Once again, for a fifth time, the PCVS earned their way into the COSSA final Saturday walloping the Belleville Collegiate Redmen 32-11 at the Oval. This win gave the PCI'ers the two-game semi-final COSSA series 64-12. Last week they won on the snowy Albert college field 32-1. Next week they will travel to St. Catharines for the sudden-deather for the COSSA championship.

Coach Goulding's seniors had little trouble polishing off the Redmen. Under a steady ground pressure by the local Collegians the Bay of Quinte gridders wilted, offering only a weak forward passing attack and sudden bursts along the line until the score amounted 25-0.

At that point the Redmen saw red. They changed from short basketball passing to long desperate passes and clicked. The PCVS passing defence was weak and the Redmen cashed in for a major score. They sank again to allow the PCI'ers to add another point and touchdown. With a second smear of red they began to pass again with the lengthy drives and added their second major of the series on the last play.

Four Intercepted

Perhaps if the Redmen had thrown long passes to begin with Red Townsend's team would have been much closer. They had four shorties intercepted while six went incomplete. They connected on eight passes. PCVS had only so-so luck with passing, three complete, four incomplete and two intercepted.

PCVS lost little time in scoring. In four minutes Warren Brown, Bob Gandy and Roy Armstrong marched the ball to the 10-yard line. Al Northcott went around the end for the first score but the play was called back for an offside. He then passed to Neil Thompson at the Belleville four and he reeled across. Young converted. Shortly before the first quarter ended Al Northcott punted from the 35-yard line to Ken Allen behind the goal-line. He was rouged under a pile of PCVS linemen. An attempt for a field goal prior to this score was muffed by PCVS.

Rolled Again

Early in the second Paul Frise intercepted a pass at centre. Bob Craw and Bus Jensen carried for two first downs. Bryan Young passed to Art Galley for another first. Al McIlraith, Craw and Jensen plunged to the 10-yard line. There Jensen went across easily. Young neatly split the poles on the convert to make the half score 13-0.

Another intercepted pass, this time by Bob Gandy, at the PCVS 28 started the third score. Brown, Northcott and Armstrong worked the ball to the Belleville five where Armstrong tore around right end. Young converted.

Jim Dowsett greyed Red Townsend's hair minutes later when he attempted to run on a third down, faking a kick. He was smeared at the centre stripe. Gandy and Craw ground out 11 yards before Young passed to Jensen for 14 yards. McIlraith then jogged the rest of the way for the major. Young again converted.

Belleville then took over on the kick-off. Jack McBride swept in a long 27-yard pass and went to the PCVS 18. Two passes went incomplete before McBride tossed to Harry Brown at the line. McBride went around the end for an unconverted touch.

Bryan Young kicked a point early in the fourth and two plays later the Garnet and Greys blocked a kick at the Belleville 18. Warren Brown reeled to the nine-yard line and Armstrong crossed for the final PCVS major. Young converted for a perfect day of place-kicking. Harry Brown at centre passed a long drifter to McBride who was caught finally at the six-yard line. The PCI'ers held twice before McBride crossed around the right end. Brown passed to McBride for the 11th Belleville point.

PCVS Juniors In Finals For 4th Year

For the fourth straight year the PCVS juniors' Garnet and Grey colors will be flying in the COSSA championship game. Saturday at the Oval, Alex Londry's juniors smacked the Belleville Collegiate 24-0 to take the two-game points-to-count semi-final COSSA series 41-0.

Next Saturday the PCI'ers will be defending the COSSA championship which they have won for the past two years at the Oval. Two years ago they won the first title there from Port Colborne and repeated the performance last year at Port Colborne. This year's finalists will be Welland who won the other COSSA semi-final Saturday in Orillia defeating Barrie 15-10 in a sudden-death game.

Good Blocking

Polished blocking by the PCVS team enabled them to win both games easily. Here Saturday they held off the Bay of Quinte crew as long as a half-minute on some passing plays. The effectiveness of the blocking can be seen in the passing record for PCVS, nine complete, six incomplete and one intercepted. The ground attack was, as usual, powerful. Twice with the help of the steady blocking the PCI'ers went the length of the field for touches.

Not to be outdone, the PCI'ers returned to the field in seven sequence plays to the Belleville five-yard line. Murray Grafstein rolled for 24 yards on the first play, followed by Barry Hollingsworth, Brian Turner and Grafstein again for three first downs. Dave Langhorne and Hollingsworth carried to the five but the PCVS passing let them down, the only time in the game.

A short kick by Lawrence Moore in the first quarter set up the first PCVS major in the second. Starting from the Belleville 50 Langhorne, Grafstein and Stewart placed the ball on the 25-yard line where Grafstein went straight through. Langhorne place-kicked the extra point.

Fine Passing

Two plays after the kick-off Moore punted a bouncing ball to the PCVS seven. Ron Dunn, Stewart, Langhorne and Grafstein plunged to the centre stripe. There Stewart passed to Dan Griffin for 18 yards. Dunn plunged for eight to be followed by another pass this time to Hollingsworth at the 15-yard line. Stewart then passed to Brian Turner just over the line for the second major. Langhorne again place-kicked the extra to make the half score 12-0.

From the second-half kick-off PCVS jumped into scoring their third major. Two Stewart passes, to Turner and Grafstein, started the ball flying. Holligsworth went for eight followed by Stewart on a quarter sneak for 14 yards. Stewart then passed to Turner at the five-yard line and he went over for the score. Again Langhorne made the extra point.

Two minutes later PCVS were down again at the Belleville 10 but were held off and Moore kicked the ball back to the Belleville 44. Reg Fowler bucked for six followed by Stewart running for 22. Langhorne jogged for a couple before Stewart threw 23 yards to Grafstein for the last major score. Langhorne again converted neatly.

Lineups:

PCVS: Flying wing, Hollingsworth; halves, Turner, Grafstein, Langhorne; quarter, Stewart; centre, Russell; insides, Forbes, Outram; middles, Chevalier, Gilders; outsides, Hayward, Griffin; alts., Johnston, Fowler, Scriver, Hope, Huddart, Armstrong, Boorman, Haggart, McIlwain, Pollard, Patterson.

Belleville: Flying wing, Baker; halves, Moore, Burroughs, Thompson; quarter, Philip; centre, O'Hara; insides, Spencer, Gover; middles, Nickle, Adamson; outsides, Farmer, Page; alts., Soule, Lewis, Morden, Cherry, Hiles, Kellett, Ashley, McPartlin, Hagerman, Waddington, Meyers.

Mohawks Dump Buffalo 5-1

By The Canadian Press.

The two top teams in the American Hockey League collided Sunday night—and Cincinnati Mohawks came up with an easy 5-1 triumph over Buffalo Bisons. The Mohawks head the league's western division while Buffalo is ahead in the eastern section.

In the four other games of the night Cleveland Barons beat New Haven Eagles 7-3, Indianapolis Capitals beat Springfield Indians 6-5, Pittsburgh Hornets edged St. Louis Flyers 2-1 and Hershey Bears downed Providence Reds 2-1.

Cincinnati is a single point ahead of Cleveland at the head of its division. Buffalo heads up the eastern section by three points.

Goalie Emile (The Cat) Francis kicked out 36 shots for Cincinnati and allowed only one to get past him. The Mohawk scoring was spread among Gerry Plamondon, Fern Perreault, Jackie Gordon, Ivan Irwin and Gilles Dube. George Pargeter beat Francis in the third period.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Tonight's the night Petes and Eagles tangle in Civic Arena. And that's one hockey game that isn't hard to sell. Particularly since it's their first puck clash of the season and it's also a fact that neither senior "B" squad has met defeat so far this semester. Something will have to give this eve. Then, too, much rivalry exists between these clubs, dating back to the bitter battles on Omemee ice when the classy Petes ruled the roost and the Legionnaires—as they were called then—were just hitting their stride. The past two years have seen Legion (now the Eagles) superior, but the Petes have been building, and right now led the loop. So it's a real test of strength tonight, and we imagine it'll be a grand scrap.

* * * * * *

Yes, we followed the Petes to titles and enjoyed it all the way. And we were with the other team when they took down top honors at Sarnia, and in finals at Brantford last spring. We don't care which team takes the cake this campaign, so long as it's a local one. And so long as the clubs are well-matched and full of hustle to give fans a real run for their money. It looks like a natural this puck season whenever those oldtime rivals run into each other. They play hard, fast and smart hockey and they are not any too gentle with their checking. Go to it, fellows, but don't get hurt. There's a tough grind ahead, yet.

* * * * * *

It's Senior "B" Yet

Because of the fact that the former senior "A" grouping is now known as major hockey, many senior "B" clubs feel that they should be known as in senior hockey—with no "B" tag. The OHA is considering such nomenclature and perhaps have group winners go into playdowns toward the Allan Cup with the runners-up fighting it out for senior "B" honors in the province. However, the OHA has not so far rescinded the old rule, and until this is done clubs like Petes and Eagles must be known as senior "B" ones. It's good hockey and what's the difference in a name until time to take a crack at a berth in Allan Cup playdowns? The major teams are out-and-out pros under amateur disguise whereas senior "B" players work for a living and play hockey on the side.

* * * * * *

Intermediate "A" hockey opens on Friday with Bowmanville at Lindsay and Port Hope at Cobourg, Frank Buckland advises. The schedule will be out in a few days, and Lakefield will play "home" games in Cobourg as Bowmanville does likewise in Port Hope until they get natural ice. Meantime, the junior "B" schedule opens here on Wednesday with the Belleville Rockets playing the IOOF-ers, and both teams have NHL sponsorship this season. We'll have Bun Kingdon's local lineup tomorrow, his only minor worry at the moment being his defence. But he figures to have that taken care of shortly. Don't forget, Wednesday is junior hockey night here this week.

* * * * * *

On To The COSSA Finals

Both Collegiate grid teams rolled to easy victories here Saturday before a goodly gallery at the Oval. The wins were not unexpected. PCVS juniors walloped Belleville 24-0 to take the COSSA semi-final round by a 41-0 score, and the defending champs will take on Welland here Saturday aft in a sudden-death Cossa final. Alex Londry's lads will be shooting for their third straight title, and it's their fourth year in a row in the final sawoffs. Welland beat Barrie 15-10 in Orillia on Saturday in their semi-final bracket. The local squad had fine blocking up front with effective passing, kicking and running in the backfield department. A good young team, ably handled.

* * * * * *

'Twas 32-11 for Bev Goulding's senior PCI-ers o'er the Quinte bunch and Peterborough won the round 64-12. So, that puts 'em into the COSSA final once more against St. Catharines, who ousted Orillia by a 17-1 score on Saturday up north. The final will be this coming week-end in St. Kitts, the so-called "Ontario Collegiate champions" defeating the Garnet and Greys here in the titular tilt last autumn. A sudden-death game and the PCVS pack will have to give it all they have on foreign terrain, as the Saints are reputed plenty strong. But the PCI-ers aren't up there in finals year after year for nothing—they have plenty of gridiron class, too.

Cobourg Ghosts Win

COBOURG, Nov. 13 (ENS). — Cobourg Galloping Ghosts took the first game here on Saturday in the provincial intermediate "A" ORFU finals, defeating London Falcons 13-1. Return game will be played Saturday at London. The Ghosts had no trouble disposing of the highly-rated London team.

Bob Cooper, playing coach of the Ghosts, accounted for nine of the points. Art Jones kicked a placement and also the convert for Cooper's spectacular touchdown. Don Smith, Cobourg end, set a terrific pace early in the game and kept it up until the final whistle. His tackling stopped several London drives and his blocking helped his own backs to get away for good gains.

Hard Hoofing

Cooper's kicking gave Cobourg its wide margin over London throughout the entire game. Runnals, Falcon booter, was barely able to achieve 30 yard punts. Halfback Olizarevitch was good on the London team but otherwise the Falcons turned in an effort that was far from exciting. One of the highlights of the game came near the end of the third quarter when Cooper snagged a London pass and ran 45 yards for a touchdown which Jones converted.

Cooper kicked two singles in the first quarter and had added two more by half time. In the third quarter, Wade rouged Bevan for London's lone tally but Cooper countered by grabbing Mayers' pass and going across for the touchdown. Jones booted a placement and going into the last quarter the score was 13-1 for the locals.

Curling News

By HERB MARTIN

Today the curlers begin curling in earnest.

This afternoon 12 ladies' rinks began their schedule games for the Gibson Trophy and tonight 28 men's rinks start the long grind for the Harry F. Foote Memorial Trophy. And from now until March 31, or for four months and a half, it will be just one uninterrupted round of pleasure.

In days gone by we would be lucky to get two months of curling and some seasons it would be less than that. It all depended on the weather; but now with this artificial set-up we can go right ahead.

Yes, truly, we have come a long way in the last decade. Wonder what changes the next few years will bring?

For the first Saturday afternoon 'spiel, 12 rinks was not a bad response. The winning skips were G. Clark, A. Aitkenhead, I. Moore and R. F. Downey.

Lots of room for more entries for Saturday's all-day bonspiel for the Canada Packers Trophy, commencing at 9.00 a.m.

Teepees Bow To Oshawa In 3-2 Defeat

By The Canadian Press.

A look at the tightly-bunched standings of the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A schedule today will show that things are different this season in the 10-team league.

No longer are there signs of a runaway by the league-leader as has happened in recent years when Toronto Marlboros or Windsor Spitfires dominated the regular schedule.

Three weekend games helped tighten the margins separating the first eight teams. They also shoved Toronto St. Michael's deeper into ninth place and pushed the winless Waterloo Hurricanes further down in the cellar.

St. Catharines Teepees, who lost to Oshawa Generals 3-2 in overtime Saturday, still lead the league but they're only four points ahead of eighth-place Stratford.

In the other Saturday game, Galt Black Hawks defeated Waterloo 2-1 to edge ahead of Guelph into fourth place. In Toronto Sunday the two Toronto teams hooked up, Marlboros into second place tie with Barrie by pasting St. Mike's 6-3.

Edge Irish

Senior action saw the last-place Kitchener - Waterloo Flying Dutchmen down the league-leading Toronto St. Michael's 3-2.

The Dutchmen had to stave off a third period drive by St. Mikes to win. After a 1-1 first period, Kitchener-Waterloo took a two-goal edge in the middle frame and held St. Mike's to one goal in the last period.

Kitchener scorers were Harvey Jacklin, Dinny Flanigan and Jim Pernfuss. Dusty Blair and Johnny Meldrum scored for Toronto.

A first-period fight between Fred Sandford of the Junior St. Mike's and Pan Windley of Marlboros featured the Sunday game at Maple Leaf Gardens. Each got five-minute penalties and additional 10-minute misconducts.

Both goalies were hurt but continued to play after being treated. Don Lockhart of the Dukes was hit on the head in a goal-mouth scramble and Tom Battaglia stopped a hard shot from Gus Karrys with his teeth.

In Galt, Waterloo Hurricanes stretched their winless streak to 11 games. They have salvaged but one tie this season.

Tony Poeta put Galt ahead in the second period, but Gord Boniface evened it up in the last frame. Len Cooke decided it for Hawks.

Scores In Overtime

Bobby Attersley scored the overtime goal that put Oshawa atop St Catharines. The win moved Generals into a three-way, fifth-place tie with Windsor and Guelph.

St. Kitts had an edge in play in the first and third periods, but didn't have the pay-off punch. Wayne Brown scored for St. Kitts at 0.31 of the first, and Herve Dejordy nullified it with only three seconds to go in the period. Harry Sinden put Generals ahead 2-1 only to have Don McCombe knot the score again to force the extra period.

Two games are scheduled for Tuesday. Kitchener - Waterloo visiting Hamilton in a senior contest and St. Catharines playing host to Stratford Kroemlers in the junior loop.

Marvel Boasts He'll Take Eric

It will be a return match between Yukon Eric, the powerful lumberjack, and The Masked Marvel, the rough-and-ready mystery-man, in the main wrestling event at the Brock Arena on Tuesday night.

Yukon asked for the rematch to square accounts with the wild and woolly Mask. Though Eric isn't a rough grappler, he has enough experience at rough-and-tumble battling in the lumber camps of the north to be able to test matters with the unruly hooded matman.

The Marvel, never timid as to his own ability, and the help of his manager, not only agreed to the bout but boasted he'll send Yukon packing back to his northland haunts. That remains to be seen in the ring.

In the semi-final Wee Willie Davis will oppose Ray Gunkel, and in the opener Seelie Samara, popular Negro sensation, will wrestle Abe Zvonkin.

The Central Ontario Badminton Association annual meeting is being held at Trenton RD No. 6 on Sunday November 19. Peterborough will send five or six delegates to this meeting. For next Saturday night we are trying to get a tournament with Omemee.

On November 25th Port Hope is coming with four ladies and men's teams and eight mixed. The club dance is on December 2nd and the following Saturday we have Cobourg back. As all these tournaments are small only two courts will be used. All players are urged to get their names with partners on the ladder tournament if they want to play.

The executive at Wednesday's meeting decided to allow student nurses and pupils at the Normal School to join the club as junior players with the same privileges. It was also decided to have a 45c bird as the club's official shuttlecock and issue tokens for payment of birds and games.

Leafs Blank Bruins 7-0 But Bow To Wings 3-1

By The Canadian Press.

On the basis of team performances to date, Detroit Red Wings and Chicago Black Hawks loom as the only clubs capable of overhauling Toronto Maple Leafs in the race for the National Hockey League title.

The Hawks and Wings were the only teams to win twice in a heavy weekend schedule, thus staying within striking distance of the pace-setting Leafs. They also are the only teams that have beaten Toronto this season.

Montreal Canadiens, who started the season fast but now have gone eight games without a win, salvaged only one point in two games. They're fast skidding to the level of the hapless New York Rangers and Boston Bruins.

The Leafs appeared far from invincible at home Saturday night as the Red Wings snapped their unbeaten streak at 11 games, 3-1. Toronto hadn't lost since dropping their season opener at home to Chicago, 2-1, back in early October.

Quick Recovery

But the Leafs recovered quickly in Boston Sunday, rolling up the highest score of the season while blanking the Bruins 7-0. It was goalie Turk Broda's fourth shutout in the 11 games he has played.

On Sunday, the Wings stretched their string of unbeaten games on home ice to eight by whitewashing Canadiens 4-0.

Meanwhile, Chicago who had whipped the Bruins 4-2 in Boston Saturday, travelled to New York and stretched their skein of undefeated games to six by whipping Rangers 4-1. Saturday night's other game saw Rangers and Canadiens battle to a 1-1 tie in Montreal.

At Detroit, 12,991 fans saw young Terry Sawchuk record his second shutout of the season after missing by three minutes in Toronto Saturday. He had 22 shots to block while goalie Gerry McNeil handled 23.

The Wings jumped into a one-goal lead in the opening frame and sewed up the decision with a pair of tallies in the first three minutes of the middle session. Jim McFadden closed out the scoring in the finale. Detroit's other scorers were Metro Prystai, Sid Abel and Gaye Stewart.

13 Penalties

The action was rugged with 13 penalties being called while defenceman Glenn Harmon of Canadiens and McFadden came out of it patched up. Harmon had 11 stitches taken for a cut over his left eye. McFadden needed three to close a cut chin.

Boston suffered the added humiliation of seeing a large group of disgruntled fans among the crowd of 8,522 walk out on them five minutes before the final bell.

Veteran Harry Watson and rookie Danny Lewicki each contributed two goals as the Bruins absorbed their fourth whitewashing of the season. Joe Klukay, Sid Smith and Max Bentley completed the rout.

In New York, Doug Bentley almost personally sent the Rangers down to their seventh defeat with a two-goal performance. Pete Babando and Bert Olmstead each tallied once as the Hawks ran their victory streak to five straight. Jack McLeod tallied for Rangers.

Toronto's largest crowd of the season—14,325—saw a hustling bunch of Wings pile up a 3-0 lead before centre Cal Gardner broke through Detroit's close-knit defence to score with three minutes to go.

Big Gordie Howe, Phystai and Gerry Couture scored for the Wings.

At Montreal, 14,569 fans saw far more rough-house play than good hockey as Rangers, with a reshuffled line-up, and Canadiens battled to a stalemate. Ed Kullman scored for Rangers and Elmer Lach for Canadiens.

Bill Mosienko, Don Morrison, Babando and Roy Conacher tallied for the Hawks at Boston Saturday, while Phil Maloney and Fern Flaman connected for the Bruins.

Swimmers Take Two Seconds

Peterborough swimmers copped two seconds and two thirds in the open swimming meet in Toronto's West End YMCA Saturday night. The proceeds from the meet were for the British Empire Games and the Olympic team.

Coach Gord Minty's boys' relay team, Terry Northrop, Terry Reid, Brian Bell and Alec Baptie, placed second in the under 14 years relay. Toronto West End YMCA with two entries took first place. Other entries were Hamilton Aquatic Club, Woodstock YMCA and the Lakeshore Swimming Club.

Donald Wood came through with a second and a third. The Ontario 100-yard backstroke champion placed second in the junior men's 100-yard free style event to Bill Cameron of Hamilton. John Boorman, also of the Peterborough club, was third in the final. Wood placed third in the junior men's 200-yard backstroke swim.

Coach Minty said today that good efforts were made by two other swimmers in the juniors' 100-yard free style, Ralph Wood and Jim Starr. Starr in the older boys' competition chopped 5.4 seconds off his best time. Scott Pearton was a possible fourth in the juniors' 200-yard backstroke but through a misunderstanding stopped after eight lengths instead of the required 10.

Blake Bell and Harry Northrop supplied the transportation for the swimmers.

Cobourg Loop Set

COBOURG, Nov. 13 (ENS). — Cobourg Church Hockey League has organized for the coming season and will issue the schedule shortly. Officers elected at a weekend meeting were: president, Art Perfect; vice-president, Ed Campbell; secretary, Alf Winter; treasurer, Rev. G. J. Maher; scorer, J. R. Chapman, and referee-in-chief, Bob Cooper.

NORM DUSSAULT, the fleet digger on the Canadiens first line, has been going at a great gait recently for the Montreal team. Ti Norm will be a very important man in the Hab comeback trial for the top spot in the NHL standing. The Canadiens who were in the top slot at the beginning of the season, have slid down to the fourth position following a number of defeats.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

With more and more young stars leaving the ranks to don army and navy uniforms, big league baseball clubowners now are scanning the minor league rosters for over-age "draft proof" players.

Already such young stars like Art Houtteman, Curt Simmons, Eddie Ford, Preston Ward, Danny O'Connell, Billy Martin and Joe Adcock have either been inducted or are earmarked for induction into the armed services. Others like Erv Palica and Maurice McDermott are awaiting final decisions by medical boards. More are certain to follow.

So don't be surprised if such 40-ish stalwarts like Cliff Melton, Augie Galan, Bert Haas, Don Padgett, Cookie Lavagetto and Elmer Riddle are pulled out of the moth balls and given another big league life.

"Youngsters" like Bill Voiselle, Johnny Lindell, Ed Sauer, Lou Klein, Bill Salkeld, Steve Souchock, Bob Chipman, Mickey Haefner, Marvin Rackley, Hank Behrman, Dave Ferris and Dick Wakefield appear a cinch to return for another fling.

Veteran British jockey Gordon Richards rode his 200th winner of the season Saturday equalling the record of the late Fred Archer in riding 200 winners in each of five consecutive seasons.

Richard's victory aboard J. V. Rank's Celebrate in the southern counties handicap over seven furlongs here was the 4,166th in his career.

It was the 10th occasion the 46-year-old Richards scored the "double century" in 29 years in the saddle.

Willie Goggin of White Springs, N. Y., came from behind Sunday to win the $10,000 Savannah open golf tournament by two strokes with a total score of 280.

He fired a three-under-par 69 final round.

Tommy Bolt of Durham, N. C., finished second with a 282 total. One stroke behind in third place was Jim Ferrier of San Francisco with 283.

McMasters Marauders of Hamilton, unbeaten this year in winning the Intercollegiate intermediate football title, want a chance to show their stuff in the college senior series in 1951.

Ivor Wynne, who has done wonders in his two years as master coach, said Saturday he'll bring the matter up next March at the annual meeting of the Canadian Intercollegiate Athletic Union.

The same request was made last year and the Union favored it. But no action was taken because addition of the Marauders to a league which now includes Toronto, London, Kingston and Montreal would have created schedule problems.

Beaches Capture ORFU Title As Tiger-Cats Whip Argos

By The Canadian Press

Five teams remain in the fight for Canadian senior football laurels, but either Winnipeg Blue Bombers or Edmonton Eskimos will be eliminated today.

The Bombers forced today's third game of the best-of-three western playoffs by defeating the Eskimos 22-12 in a cold-weather tilt at Winnipeg Saturday.

In the east, Sarnia Imperials bowed out to Toronto Balmy Beach by an 18-10 score which gave Beaches the Ontario Rugby Football Union championships, 35-21, in the two-game total point series.

The victory earned Beaches the right to meet either Hamilton Tiger-Cats or Toronto Argonauts in the eastern final, last stepping stone to the Grey Cup game.

The Tiger-Cats came from behind to defeat Argos 13-11 in a close, hard-fought game in Hamilton. However, the Big Four winner won't be decided until Wednesday at Toronto, when the two teams meet in the final game of their total-points series.

While the Grey Cup hopefuls were working out their destiny, the intercollegiate loop was settling a few matters.

Mustangs Triumph

In the final games of the schedule, University of Western Ontario Mustangs upset the league-leading McGill Redmen 21-10 to force a post-season playoff at Montreal next Saturday. University of Toronto Blues pulled another surprise by spotting Queen's Golden Gaels a 5-1 lead and then winning 7-5 at Varsity stadium.

An icy northwest wind and 18-above-zero weather provided the setting for the Winnipeg-Edmonton game before 8,300 chilled fans. It was probably the roughest game seen in the West this year. Three players—Rollin Prather and Don Durno of Edmonton and Roy Gardiner of Winnipeg—were ejected for slugging.

The brawling brought about a change of officials for today's deciding game, with Seymour Wilson and Sam Richardson of Toronto as referee and umpire, and Cliff Roseborough and Andy Beiber of Winnipeg as judge of play and head linesman.

The Old Story

At Sarnia, it was an old story that spelled defeat for the Imperials—shifty Carl Galbreath. The high-scoring Toronto Beaches halfback took the sting out of a Sarnia rally with a spectacular 40-yard dash for a major with two minutes left in the game. Galbreath was largely instrumental in Beaches' 17-11 win over Sarnia the previous week.

Toronto led all the way, getting an early start on first-quarter touchdowns by quarterback Gerry Tuttle and halfback Billy Haddleton. Wally McIntosh recovered a Beach fumble in the first 15 minutes for Sarnia's first major and Johnny Chorostecki got the other after a march from midfield after Joe Kane fumbled an Imperial's kick.

Stan Heath, one of the top passers in Canadian football this season, provided the spark that carried Hamilton to the close win over Argos.

A crowd of 14,000 unhappy fans sat quietly in Civic Stadium as Argos ran up a 10-0 first-quarter lead with Heath riding the bench. Joe Krol, who outkicked Hamilton's Fred Kljek consistently, opened with a 55-yard single. Then Ulysses Curtis ran the end for a major from 10 yards out which Nick Volpe converted. Volpe added a placement from the 25-yard stripe.

Heath Sparkplug

Tiger-Cats came to life when Heath came on, and although he didn't figure directly in the scoring, Hamilton came through to make it 10-9 at the half on a touchdown by Ralph Bartolini and a convert and field goal by Edgar (Special Delivery) Jones.

Krol added another single in the third quarter but Hamilton came through in the final period with a single point when Volpe was rouged on Kijek's kick and the game-winning field goal off the boot of Jones.

The Tiger-Cats will be weakened for Wednesday's final game by the loss of hard-hitting Bill Gregus, who must report for duty in the U.S. army Wednesday morning. Argos will be without Doug Smylie, injured a week ago against Montreal, but Bill Bass, brilliant import half, may be back.

Crucial Defeat

At London, Ont., McGill suffered its first defeat of the season—and it was a crucial one too.

Intercollegiate rules call for a playoff only if the second-place team defeats the first-place finisher at least once during the year. The victory earned Western the playoff as well as giving them sole possession of the runner-up spot.

McGill had a 10-6 lead at halftime as a result of a field goal and a convert by Fred Wilmot, former Calgary Stampeder player, a single by Gene Robillard and a touchdown by Harry Irving, another former Stampeder. Bob McFarlane had converted Bob McNichol's major for Western.

The Mustangs dominated the scoring in the last half with touchdowns by McNichol and Blake Taylor, a single by Jack Gray and a convert and placement by Bob McFarlane.

Radio Prestige Programs Needed To Boost Canada

By JACK SCOTT

Browsing around yesterday with a column on various U.S.A. impressions I stumbled on an idea that might stand up under some further investigation, to wit: a coast-to-coast radio show in these United States devoted to selling Canada.

Made the suggestion because it seems to us all too apparent that the average American has no more than a myopic view of Canada and of Canadians. We are considered, if at all, as a large, lonely wilderness up thataway. Or worse, as a kind of interesting appendage, sort of like Alaska.

There are a number of obvious reasons why this is a poor state of affairs. A more subtle one appeals to me at the moment. I find it hard on the ego to get outside the borders of my own country and discover so few people aware of what we're doing or of the tremendous progress Canada is making.

Must Rap U.S.

Of course, we need to rap the Americans affectionately over the knuckles with a little propaganda for more than mere egotistical reasons. This is our biggest market. It's only smart merchandising to let the customer know of the people behind the product so that a "Made In Canada" label will have a personal meaning.

In a global or continental sense there seems to be plenty of evidence that Washington is aware of our role. But Joe Doakes of Newark, New Jersey or Atlanta, Georgia, or Phoenix, Arizona (where we happen to be at the moment) thinks of us only as a complacent seconder of motions or not at all.

Finally, we need to get across a picture of Canada and its people in a more effective way to further that great, sleeping giant of revenue, the tourist industry. About all that the average American now knows of Canada as a holiday destination is that he's heard the roads are bad.

Radio Bent

Idea of a radio progrm appeals to me because it seems obvious that the way to reach the American public is through entertainment's through talent. Mountains of literature on Canada, "good will speakers" addressing U.S. service clubs, the occasional sequence that finds its way into the American newsreels—these things, while important, are a plink in the bucket in reaching the masses.

I would suggest a weekly hour-long show on one of the four major networks, originating in Toronto, but with pickups from various Canadians cities that can offer talent. This could be jointly produced by a committee of the Canadian Broadcasters, representing the independent stations.

Should be no difficulty in getting this time. All of the American networks now feed shows into Canadian cities. While we send some "exchange" programs southward the reciprocal aspect is pretty one-sided. I'd think all of the major chains in the States would be open to this kind of suggestion.

Need Weekly Hour

What's more important, Canada could put together a weekly hour that would be a gem of radio entertainment, a prestige show for any U.S. network. An American producer, looking over an available list of Canadian performers would have trouble suppressing a drool.

Giselle, Oscar Peterson, music by Howard Cable, comedy by Johnny Wayne and Frank Shuster, the magnificent acting talent gathered under the direction of Andrew Allan, Ed McCurdy, Cliff Mackay, Juliette (who can't be topped by any Americana chanteuse)—well, these just happen to be some of my personal favorites. We have them by the dozen on a national basis and on a regional basis, giving all the rich color of our country.

So? Are we merely demonstrating to America that we have some clever minstrels? Not at all. We want to demonstrate to America that we're a country of vigor and with a certain sophistication and maturity not ordinarily associated with the word "Canada". We want to sell our product in a way that Americans appreciate.

Expatriates Plug Canada

The "commercials" on this program might well be given to expatriate Canadians in the entertainment world, the Alan Youngs, Jack Carsons, Raymond Masseys, and the rest; not because these people have any particular qualifications in spreading the good word, but because they are listened to.

In this way we can tell the average citizen of the United States what kind of people we are, what we think about, what the individual Canadian really is.

Forget the Mounties. Forget the Indians and the Eskimo. Forget all the rugged and rustic aspects that give the typical American the idea that he'll need a guide and Husky dog the minute he gets through customs.

We ought to spread the word of the Canada that is hep, progressive, independent, full of interesting and entertaining paradoxes and, in its own way, as verile as these United States.

We ought to tell the Americans that it's true, a lot of the roads are bad, but a great many of them are excellent. And we should start right now propagandizing on the thrill of a lifetime for any tourist; a drive from coast to coast across the Dominion over the world's most scenic highway. Sell that trans-Canada highway as we would a world-beating product because when it's completed we'll see a tourist industry beyond our greediest dreams.

REMEMBRANCE DAY SERVICE at War Memorial in Confederation Square, though the weather was cold, was said to be one of the largest held in Peterborough in many years. A large crowd which filled the park, but not shown in the photo, were separated from the veterans in the ceremony area by snow fences. The parade was very long and well organized — (Examiner Staff Photo)

UN Best Hope Of Civilized World Remembrance Day Audience Told

As the blue and white United Nations flag floated in a chill November wind, several thousand citizens and ex-service men and women gathered Saturday near the war memorial in Confederation Park to mark Remembrance Day.

It was the 32nd such ceremony marking the end of the First World War.

"This is a time when we stop in our work and remember comrades and give public expression of the gratitude we feel for the sacrifices made by two generations in two world wars," said Mayor M. J. Swanston.

"The United Nations has proved itself a strong instrument of justice; it is the best hope of the civilised world," he went on. "And on the flagpole in front of the collegiate, you can see for the first time the UN flag flying in this city."

The Rev. Walter Gilling led a solemn group in prayer "to revere the memory of those who lie in foreign fields."

The Rev. W. C. McCarney said that to make our kind of civilization last, we must reach into the hearts of people under "that other" civilization and bring them to our way of thinking.

Then, veterans and spectators stood silently, remembering other silences and other tributes as Trumpet-Sgt. Cecil Gallagher and Trumpeter William Johnston sounded the Last Post and Reveille.

The laying of wreaths followed, and the first of about 60 was laid by Mrs. Alice Gynane, 212½ Charlotte St., a member of the Peterborough Silver Cross Chapter. She laid the Ontario government memorial wreath.

Patrick Burke, Canadian Legion president, laid the wreath for Branch 52 and Mrs. W. H. Morewood, president of Legion Branch 452 (Women's Division), laid the wreath for her branch. President of the Ladies' Auxiliary, Mrs. Albert Mason, placed a wreath for the auxiliary. Wreaths from civic groups and other organizations followed.

RIO DE JANEIRO, Nov. 13 — (Reuters)—Two persons were killed and nearly 30 injured in a train wreck Sunday near Vespasiano in southern Brazil. Some of the injured were reported in a serious condition.

Millbrook Borrows On Debentures

MILLBROOK, Nov. 13 (ENS)—T. W. Belch, clerk, introduced a by-law at the meeting of the Millbrook council held recently that would empower the council to borrow money for the schools account until such time as the debentures could be printed and sold. Councillors Coulter and Raper moved that the Reeve and Clerk be authorized to complete this by-law after consulting the solicitor and being assured that clause 3 of this by-law does not interfere with the obligations and powers of the council.

A total of $1,110.45 was received in communications. This included $78.27 from the Department of Public Welfare; $965.24 from the Department of Highways; $56.38 from the Department of Public Welfare; and $8.56 from Province of Ontario.

A motion was passed to pay a total of $822.40 in accounts. These included: Gray and Banks, chimney on rest room, material and labor, $234.65, and Millbrook Hydro, $102.24.

Fire Chief Douglas Sheppard reported fire practice with eight firemen responding to call and equipment in good order.

The next council meeting will take place on December 4.

Bazaar To Open Marmora Church Hall

MARMORA, Nov. 13—(ENS)—The three-day bazaar to be held by the parishioners of the Sacred Heart Church will be the opening function of the new hall that was built in the basement of the church. The building project commenced four months ago with excavation work.

This hall is much larger than any other in the village. Total length is about 100 feet and its width about 40 feet.

It has a spacious and modernly equipped kitchen, 20 by 22 feet, at its south-east corner. The furnace room and other conveniences are at the north of the kitchen.

The new furnaces will provide heat and air conditioning for both the church and the hall. The stage, almost the full width of the hall, is 16 feet deep. The main part of the hall, apart from the stage and other rooms, is 70 by 40 feet, sufficiently large to accommodate at least four hundred people. The floor of the church is supported by heavy structural steel pillars. The ceiling of the hall is fire-resistant and has acceptable acoustic properties. The walls are plaster over a cement base and are greyish in color. New steel chairs with red leather finish have been purchased.

Ask Ottawa To Aid Underground Groups

TORONTO, Nov. 13—(CP)—Ukrainian-Canadians appealed to the federal government and the western democracies Saturday to recognize and help underground groups in Russia as warring armies.

In a printed statement distributed to some 2,000 Ukrainian-Canadians who attended a mass rally at Massey Hall, the western nations were asked to lend moral and material assistance to the underground, described as a force fighting against the "Russian totalitarian regime."

The rally was part of day-long ceremonies commemorating the death of Lt.-Gen. Taras Chuprynka, a former commander-in-chief of the underground Ukrainian insurgent army, killed last March.

Union Rejects Change

MONTREAL, Nov. 13—(CP)—The Canadian district of the United Textile Workers of America (TLC-AFL) decided during a weekend policy conference to remain affiliated with the United States parent body of the union on condition the international union respects the Canadian district's autonomy and self-government.

Announcement of the decision was made Sunday by R. Kent Rowley, Canadian director of the UTW, who was re-elected chairman of the conference.

The conference, attended by 155 delegates, in a series of resolutions dealt with the recent inquiry into the political status of its Canadian officers by the international union.

Madeleine Parent was re-elected secretary-treasurer of the Canadian conference. Both Miss Parent and Mr. Rowley were central figures in the inquiry. They have been accused of Communist sympathies and recently were refused credentials at the annual convention of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada here on that ground.

NOW STEAM AWAY NASTY COUGHS COLDS LIKE MAGIC

WITH HIGHLY MEDICATED BUCKLEY'S WHITE RUB

Mothers, now you can relieve the misery of kiddies' colds so much faster with the Buckley White Rub TWO-WAY treatment.

(1) At the first symptom, place a spoonful of Buckley's White Rub in a bowl or basin of boiling water and let the little one inhale the steam. Every breath carries soothing medication to the upper bronchial tract, subduing coughing, loosening phlegm, easing breathing.

(2) Now massage chest, back and throat with Buckley's White Rub—use it freely. It's SNOW WHITE and POSITIVELY STAINLESS. This external treatment helps break up congestion, ease sore chest muscles, and encourages restful sleep. The soothing vapors given off keep up the good work for hours while the little one sleeps. W-5

No other RUB has these 4 Important Features

1 Buckley's White Rub is snow-white, stainless, non-greasy.
2 It penetrates deeper, brings relief faster.
3 It is more highly medicated, hence more effective.
4 Its soothing medicated vapors carry on the good work longer while the patient sleeps.

TRIPLE YOUR MONEY BACK
—if Buckley's Stainless White Rub does not prove faster and more effective than any preparation you have ever used.

Centenary WA Elects Sherwin

ROSENEATH, Nov. 13 (ENS)—Mrs. Silas Sherwin was elected president of Centenary WA at the annual meeting held on Thursday afternoon in Centenary United Church.

Rev. R. C. White conducted the election of officers. The scrutineers were Mrs. Wilbert Smith and Mrs. R. C. White. Following are the officers elected: President, Mrs. Silas Sherwin; 1st vice-president, Mrs. Dawson Timlin; 2nd vice-president, Mrs. Arnold Elder; secretary, Miss Hilda Arthur; assistant secretary, Miss Emma Sherwin; treasurer, Mrs. Reginald Timlin; Good Cheer, Mrs. Leo Timlin; organist, Mrs. Arnold Elder; assistant organist, Mrs. Bruce Arthur; parsonage committee, Mrs. Silas Sherwin, Mrs. Ernest Burrison, Miss Hilda Arthur; flower committee, Miss Jessie Sherwin, Mrs. Ernest Burrison, Mrs. Silas Sherwin; quilt committee, Mrs. Dawson Timlin, Mrs. Arnold elder, Mrs. Charles Thackeray, Mrs. Delbert Sherwin and Mrs. Newman Lean.

Previous to the election a devotional and business period was held with the president, Miss Hilda Arthur, presiding and Mrs Bruce Arthur as organist.

The devotional period was in the form a Remembrance Day service with the roll call answered by a verse of scripture.

The treasurer, Mrs. Reginald Timlin, reported $100 given to the church treasury, $30 to the Maud M. Fund, and a donation of $5 to Dr. Tucker, a missionary home on furlough from Africa, leaving a balance on hand of $100.

Plans were made for the December meeting with an exhange of Christmas gifts and the ladies of the community are invited, every lady to contribute a number toward the Christmas program.

Mrs. Walton Lean was in charge of the Remembrance Day program with the singing of hymns, appropriate for the occasion Readings were given by Mrs. Bruce Arthur, Mrs. Dawson Timlin and Miss Emma Sherwin. A guessing contest was won by Mrs. Neil Sherwin and Miss Hilda Arthur.

Votes of thanks were tendered the retiring officers for their efficient service during the past year. Miss Hilda Arthur expressed her appreciation to the members for their loyal co-operation during the years she was president.

Rev. R. C. White closed the meeting with prayer. The committee serving lunch were: Mrs. Newman Lean, Mrs. Leo Timlin, Mrs. C. Thackeray, Mrs. N. Sherwin.

Norwood WI Hears Address On Nepheline

NORWOOD, Nov. 13 (ENS)—November meeting of the Norwood Women's Institute was held Thursday in the public library with 21 members present.

Mrs. Gardner asked that the senior society co-operate in every way possible with the girls' club.

The W.I. will sponsor a card party November 24, proceeds to be donated to the Girls' Club.

Mrs. Roy Baker gave a paper on Junior Farmers and also on nepheline.

Orland Brown and Eldon Van Volkenburg, Asphodel, attended the trip to International Harvester plant in Hamilton.

The American Nepheline Mines located in the Blue Mountains northeast of Lakefield, during the summer, made two shipments of 18,000 80-pound bags of Nepheline to Holland. The company also ships to Eng'and, Switzerland, Puerto Rico, Mexico, Italy.

Mrs. Goodswan spoke of the work of the institutes in England. The members decided to send a letter from our institute to an institute abroad. Mrs. Lionel Edmunds offered to send the first letter on behalf of this meeting.

The meeting closed with the singing of the King followed by lunch served by Mesdames Davis, Edmunds and Gardner.

Mrs. E. Armstrong Hostess To Cavan Group

CAVAN, Nov. 13—(ENS)—The north rural group of the Women's Association of St. Andrew's United church, Millbrook, met at the home of Mrs. Edward Armstrong on Tuesday evening.

The scripture reading and topic taken by Mrs. Allie Fallis. Mrs. T. Douglas led in prayer. Mrs. E. Armstrong played the accompaniments for the hymns.

There were twelve members present. One new member, Mrs. Allen Wood, was welcomed into the group.

The committee in charge served lunch.

Discuss Conservation

WARKWORTH, Nov. 13 (ENS) The Happy Gang Farm Forum met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Tett with an attendance of twenty-five for the discussion of "Who Should Pay for Soil Conservation." It was thought that the cost of conservation should be shared by the farmer and government and support gained through the loan act or bank.

Ranging In Age 49 To 80 Old Comrades of 93rd Hold Reunion At Armouries

For the first time in 14 years the marching feet of the 93rd Battalion were heard this weekend. Some 200 of the First World War veterans— all of them recruited from the city or county—met at the Armouries for a banquet Saturday night and a drumhead service Sunday afternoon. Some of the "old sweats" came from Western Ontario and others from the United States. The age group ran from 49 years (Fred Sheppard of Toronto) to 80 (John M. Luther of Stratford, one time cook of the battalion.)

Sunday afternoon led by the CGE Pipe Band 100 members of the unit swung, with all their old-time precision—learned under the watchful eye of the late Regimental Sergeant Major Thomas Miller—up George St. to the Armouries. An "eyes right" where Capt. W. Gordon Hall ("B" Company) stood taking the salute and then they filed into the Armouries for the drumhead service.

The Rev. Ivan C. Morgan, Murray Street Baptist Church, told the assembly of 93rd veterans, friends, relatives and interested citizens, "we can best show our gratitude to the fallen by giving constant heed to the things for which they died.

"Twelve of the past 37 years have been years of warfare for our nation," said Mr. Morgan. "The wars in which we have participated have not been such jousts as were known during the days when knighthood was in flower: they have been bitter struggles to the death."

Weapons of Combat

"Great masses of men, tanks, flame-throwers, planes, dreadnoughts, high explosives, automatic guns and atomic bombs — these have been the weapons of combat..

Large parts of Europe and Asia have been left a shambles, and the life of the whole world has been dislocated. Cathedrals, schools, palaces and humble homes have been ground to common rubble. The man who said War is Hell, understated the case.

"Humanity still stands dazed from the shock of it all, and virtue cries out trumpet-tongued against the deep damnation of the thing.

"You men of the 93rd Battalion were among the gallant band who answered the call of honor and bravery and in 1916 set out on an expedition overseas," said Mr. Morgan. "You realized full well the perils which might await you, but you ventured forth because the principles and the people you loved were in danger. You left our green and pleasant shores with one purpose high in your minds—the enemy must never be allowed to plunge through the Allied line."

Mr. Morgan said it was impossible for him to find words expressing adequate appreciation for their sacrifice, particularly those who died in defence of their King, country and way of life.

"Today we remember with gratitude—a gratitude which can never be sufficient—but probably we can best express it by giving constant heed to the things for which they died."

He said it was easy for us to weep as we recall their faces and also easy for us to pity ourselves as we think of the loss of their strength and help.

Unfinished Tasks

"The difficult thing is to live and work for the accomplishment of their unfinished tasks. They died for Justice, let us live for it. They died for Righteousness, let us support it. They died for Freedom, let us stand for it.

"Let us pray to God that we may be given the grace to have ideals as high as theirs; and may we co-operate with Him to rid the world of those sinister but commonplace things which blight virtue and hinder goodness."

Percy Luther was chairman during the drumhead service. The benediction was pronounced by the Rev. H. G. Douglas of Knox United Church. Jack Telford, guest soloist, sang two numbers, "O Valiant Hearts" and "the Lord's Prayer."

The opening prayer was by Col. H. C. Ritchie, Salvation Army.

One minute's silence was observed in memory of those members of the 93rd who died in the First World War.

Saturday Night Dinner

Lieut.-Col. George Melton, in the absence of Capt. Walter Thomson, proposed the toast to Canada at the Saturday night dinner. But first Lieut.-Col. Melton paid tribute to Capt. Thomson, who is the newly-elected Liberal leader for Ontario.

"Regardless of our political affiliations we all feel that Capt. Thomson has brought great honor to this gathering and all those associated with the 93rd Battalion," he said. Senator J. J. Duffus responded.

Percy Luther proposed the toast to Fallen Comrades. Our County and City was proposed by the Honorable Harold R. Scott, and responded to by Warden Norman Wilson and Mayor Max Swanston. The 93rd Battalion was proposed by Lieut.-Col. Max Clarke, responded to by Major J. E. R. Munro.

Brigade Recruited

Major Munro reminisced over the days during First World War when the residents of the city and county became enthused over the recruiting of their own battalion. A number of other units had already drawn heavily on the reserves of manpower, making the problem of recruiting for the 93rd more difficult.

He estimated that the county and city turned out the equivalent of at least one composite brigade during the First World War.

After preliminary training at the Peterborough Armouries the 93rd left for Barriefield Camp on May 29, 1916. On July 16 they set sail from Halifax for Liverpool and were sent to Otterpool.

The first detachment left Otterpool and arrived at Le Havre September 17, and arrived at Albert in the Somme battle sector October 8. Later the Battalion was broken up to reinforce other battalions—1st, 2nd, 3rd, 4th and 5th divisions. And in December the band was transferred to the 247th Battalion and the C.A.M. Corps..

The last re-union of the 93rd was held in Peterborough on May 30, 1936.

Burrows, Luther Candidates For City Council

Ald. Arthur B. Burrows and Percy Luther are two prospective candidates for the municipal elections.

They both told The Examiner they were definitely in the field.

"It is just a matter of being nominated," Ald. Burrows said. "I am rather expecting that somebody will put my name on the list. From there on, I am quite definite about standing for re-election."

Mr. Luther told The Examiner last week that he would accept nomination to the council, "but don't mention it until after the reunion of the 93rd."

Both Mr. Luther and Ald. Burrows were on the planning committee for the reunion at the weekend.

"It might not look right to some people if I let my name come out for council at the same time that I was active in the reunion," Mr. Luther said last Thursday.

The bushmen members of the council were back in main street today, and will resume the direction of the city's business tonight in finance committee. There are only a few meetings left on the municipal schedule.

Freak Accident Wounds Hunter

Richard Jeff, 20, a native of Apsley, is in St. Joseph's Hospital recovering from a freak rifle wound received Saturday morning northwest of Apsley.

A bullet from a deer-hunting rifle entered his right foot, travelled up his leg and came out the calf of his leg. With the assistance of a chum he was able to walk from the bush and reach the Red Cross outpost hospital. Later he was brought to Peterborough for treatment.

Jeff was sitting on a rock eating a meal when his companion reached for one of the deer rifles and somehow the gun was triggered off.

At present Jeff is employed at construction work in Peterborough.

Copper Cliff Man, 22 Found Dead In Hotel

WINDSOR, Nov. 13 (CP)—A man identified as Alfred Simmons, 22, of Copper Cliff, Ont., was found dead in his hotel room here last night. Police said Simmons apparently took a fatal dose of poison, which had been been bought in a Windsor drug store.

WIN 93rd DRAW

Wilfred J. Cunningham, Waterford St., won the $100 prize at Saturday's 93rd Battalion draw. The $50 basket went to Mrs. Harry Lavoie, Water St., and the $25 to Garfield (Gar) Torrance, George St. Other prize winners were Gordon Puffer, Water St., Bob Cottrell, McDonnel St., Harry S. Manley, Little St., Fred Sheppard, Toronto, and Joe Hobbins, Water St.

DISCUSS LABOR CANDIDATES

When the Peterborough and District Labor Council (CCL) meets at 8 p.m. one of the principal items on the agenda will be discussion on the nomination of four labor candidates at the coming civic elections. A meeting to nominate four aldermanic candidates was arranged for November 2, but it was called off because of poor attendance.

Jewellery Theft Nets 18 Months To Toronto Man

Found guilty in a Toronto police court of a charge of breaking, entering and theft of a fur stole and jewellery with a total value of $700 from the home of Mrs. Lillian Schneider, 212 McDonnel Street, Thomas A. MacDonald, Toronto, was sentenced last week to 18 months in Guelph Reformatory.

He was also found guilty of a charge of stealing a Toronto car and sentenced to one year to run concurrent with the 18-month term.

Car Stolen in Toronto

Police said he stole the car in Toronto and drove to Peterborough October 14. But on the way the car developed clutch trouble and he took it into a McDonnel Street garage to have repairs made.

While waiting, he walked up the street and broke through a back door into the Schneider home. He took the fur stole valued at $500 and a number of watches and jewellery valued at about $200.

The fur was sold to a Peterborough furrier for $40. MacDonald returned to Toronto and was arrested there. In the car he still had some of the jewellery. Some he had sold.

He was tried on both charges in the Toronto Magistrate's Court.

Deer Hunt Bag Reported Good

Deer hunters in the country west of Apsley brought out full counts of trophies this week-end, most of them taken the first two days. The largest bag McColl-Smith group at Copper Lake brought down 14 deer out of a party of 14.

The Jopling party in the same area got seven and a bear, while the Tuckers of Apsley shot six and it is reported that they shot at or killed a wolf. The Reynolds party, also in the Copper Lake district, bagged five; several of this group were American hunters.

Another crowd of which George Stenner of Lakefield was member, totalled 10 deer for 10 hunters. Nearly all parties reported a dominance of bucks in the 42 animals referred to above.

The Mountain Lake Club, from Peterborough, hunting in the Cavendish district, bagged five deer—three bucks and a doe. Walter Mortlock shot the biggest buck of the three, a 250-pounder. A doe and a fawn were the others killed. Charlie Elliott, a member of the club, reported no more deer seen than usual.

Man With Fractured Hip Walks Into Hospital 3 Men Injured In Crash

A man with a fractured hip—one of three Hydro workers from Tweed, all injured in a truck accident—walked into St. Joseph's hospital, Peterborough, today and calmly asked for treatment. He was Thomas Sandford, 32, of Bannockburn, who fractured his hip when the truck in which he was riding crashed into a Co-Op truck, driven by a Mr. Harrison from Guelph, a mile and a half west of Bethany on Highway 7A.

The two other injured hydro workers are W. Hannah, 42, also of Bannockburn, several cuts on his forehead and scalp; and Edgar Davidson, 40, Millbridge, scalp cuts.

Mr. Harrison was uninjured as was his wife, a passenger in the truck.

Details of the accident are lacking but it is believed that the Harrison vehicle skidded on some ice as it made a turn on "Watertrough Hill," and collided with the oncoming hydro truck.

Dr. G. M. Lonfield of Bethany attended the injured men and took them to St. Joseph's Hospital.

Bowmanville provincial police investigated.

Church Parade Held By Glens To St. Andrew's

Veterans of the 1st battalion of the Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry Highlanders attended the Remembrance Day service at St. Andrew's United Church Sunday. They paraded to the church, led by the CGE Pipe Band.

Taking as his text, "Greater love hath no man than this, that a man lay down his life for his friends," the Rev. M. J. Aiken developed his sermon on the topic, "This We Remember." The minister explained that this was a festival of remembrance, during "which we should not only remember the friends who gave their lives, but also in this present day we should remember the ideals and beliefs for which they gave themselves as a sacrifice."

During the service the battalion colors were presented by the color party and received by Mr. Aiken. Col. R. T. E. Hicks-Lyne, MC, read the lesson.

Special music was provided by Robert Aspinall, who sang "Arm, Arm Ye Brave" from "Judas Maccabeus" by Handel and "There Is No Death" by O'Hara. The choir, under the direction of Harry Northrop, ATCM, organist and musical director, sang "For All The Saints" by Couper.

Former members of the SD & G's also marched in the parade on Remembrance Day, and were the largest turnout of any unit that paraded.

Confirm Sale Of Valuable City Property

Sale of the Bank of Commerce block with frontages on both Hunter and Water Streets, by the Toronto Savings and Loan Company, was conditionally verified at the company's office today.

Conditions were that the details of transfer would not be completed until about February 1, and that the name of the purchaser was not to be announced for the present.

Street information, circulating the rumor, suggested that two Peterborough men were interested in the property, one of the largest parcels owned by Toronto Savings and Loan.

Bank of Commerce is the principal tenant. Ground floor offices on Water St. are: the offices of McColl and Turner, accountants; the law office of W. F. Huycke, K.C.; Dixon and Hurley, insurance; Archibald and Richmond, plumbing and heating; Sackville Insurance Agencies; V. M. Eastwood, insurance, and Hopkins' Motor Sales.

On Hunter St. are Soden's bookstore and gift shop, and the Vernon Fisk tobacco store.

On the second floor there are probably a score of offices, and the Masonic Temple occupies a large section of the top floor.

It is understood that the offer of purchase was not made by the Bank of Commerce..

Suffers Wound From .22 Rifle

Gordon Robinson, 29, of 140 Maria St., was wounded in the shoulder when a .22 calibre rifle discharged at his home early Saturday morning.

He was reported today by St. Joseph's Hospital officials to be in good condition.

The shooting took place in the basement recreation room of his parents' home where he usually slept. The rifle was also kept in the basement. Dr. Warren Gamble was called to the home and Constable Harold Mesley investigated for the police department.

Demand Compulsory Service Remembrance Day Dinner

A call for compulsory service for "every young man in Canada" was issued Saturday night at the Remembrance Day dinner by Major General Alfred E. Potts, CBE, speaking to members of the Canadian Legion.

"We will never bring our reserve forces up to strength under the plan we have now. There is little or no incentive for a young man to join a reserve force," he said.

The special force for Korea was a good start, but it was placed at the disposal of the United Nations, and was not at present available for the defence of this country.

"If it were made the duty of every young man in Canada to play his part in the defence program of Canada, then, and only then, would we begin to have adequate defences," General Potts declared.

Real Worth in Reserves

Although it is the tendency of many people to minimize the value of the part played by the part-time soldier, he said these people fail to see the real worth of the reserve forces.

In the last war, Canada was unable to send every man to the front fully trained. General Potts said that when he went to the First World War as a private, he was not fully trained, and he knew there were thousands more.

"Today we are not ready, and have no adequate defences. And I see no plan to provide these defences. Korea is the proof of that. I believe every able-bodied man should be required to serve.

"We need our citizen army. We could never keep our life if we had to maintain a standing army of the size we need to defend us," he went on.

"The reason we nearly lost the last two wars was because we had in our governments men who refused to vote for defence measures.

"It is now 32 years since the armistice was signed. Then, we did not envision another war, and we did not think that today we would be standing on the brink of an even greater war.

"If we wait this time as we did the last time, it will be too late."

General Potts was introduced by Claire H. Stuart, who acted as master of ceremonies for the banquet.

Auxiliary, Havelock Meet

NORWOOD, Nov. 13 (ENS)—The Evening Auxiliary of the United Church held its November meeting at the home of Mrs. Gerald La Brash. The president, Miss Pauline Weir opened the meeting and welcomed members of Havelock Evening Auxiliary, who were guests on that occasion Mrs. Chiles, president of the Havelock group replied.

Many articles for the bale for Japan were on display, and supply secretary Miss C. Jenkins read a letter asking that Christmas gifts for young girls might be sent to the Church of All Nations, Toronto.

The 1951 nominating committee of Miss Weir, Mrs. Mercer, Mrs. Gardner and Mrs. Stewart, was formed. The group leader, Mrs. La Brash assisted by some of the members of her group, Mrs. Brown, Mrs. Weir, Miss G. McGee, Mrs. Waters, Mrs. Mercer, and Mrs. Roberts took charge of the worship service, the theme being "One in Christ."

Mrs. Beattie of Havelock contributed a solo. A dialogue was presented by Mrs. Johnston and Mrs. Greene of Havelock, one speaking for the United Church of Canada and the other for the Kysdan (United Church of Japan). It was noted that there are 2,400 ordained ministers in Japan, several of whom are women. Mrs. Vanderburg told of an Easter sunrise service as described by one of our missionaries. At the close of the meeting tea was served by the group in charge, while contests and a social hour were enjoyed by both Auxiliaries.

Modern Singers Lack Ability Put Songs Over

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 13 (AP)—Longtime singing star Blossom Seeley, here to prepare her life story for the screen, says the modern songstresses don't have the stuff that made the oldtimers great.

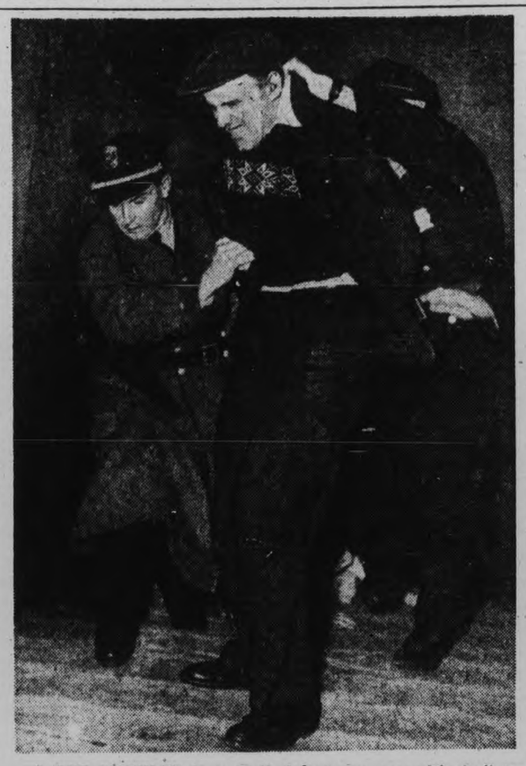
"They don't have to work for it," said Miss Seeley as we lunched with Benny Fields, her husband and a singing star in his own right. "These young girls have everything handed to them. They are placed before a microphone, they get a big publicity buildup and suddenly they are stars.

"But they have no individuality, no style, no heart. They all sound alike. Back in the old days we had stars like Nora Bayes, Fanny Brice, Belle Baker, Sophie Tucker, Marian Harris. Each one was different. We could all play the same vaudeville bill and the public wouldn't mind. Because each of us had a different style."

Blossom, who made "After You've Gone" and many other song hits famous, said the youngsters lack the training of their elders.

"I started out as a kid in San Francisco," she said. "I had years of training before all kinds of audiences — honky-tonks, clubs and vaude—before I hit the bigtime."

That Feeling



Blossom had to "feel" her songs. Once, when she was starring for Florenz Ziegfeld, she asked to have a song removed from the show because she didn't feel it. "I am Ziegfeld and you will sing it," the producer declared.

"I am Seeley and I quit," she answered. And she did.

Blossom, who has made a few appearances in recent years, hinted that she might return to the business after her film biography comes out. The younger singers might well catch her act and see how it's done.

Julia Marlowe Dies

NEW YORK, Nov. 13 (CP) — Julia Marlowe, 85-year-old former actress, who, with her husband, the late E. H. Sothern, was the leading exponent of Shakespearean plays from 1904 to 1924 died Sunday in New York city hospital.

No Army To Lead

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 13 (AP)—General Dwight Eisenhower said Sunday there is "no Atlantic Pact army at present to lead" and added this is no time to speculate whether he will command such a Western European force if it is organized. The Columbia University president and war-time European allied commander-in-chief said there was a misunderstanding about remarks attributed to him last week in Texas. He was quoted as saying he soon will have a military assignment in Europe. He declined further comment.

4 People Drowned

BRYSON, Que., Nov. 13 (CP) —Four persons were drowned and two escaped when a automobile crashed through the barrier of a dead-end street here late Saturday night and plunged into the Ottawa river at this upper Ottawa town. Drowned were Hormisdas Asselin, 42, and his wife, Rose, 34, of nearby Campbell's Bay, the parents of 10 children; Charles Lance, 66, and his wife, Delima, 59, the parents of Mrs. Asselin. The two who escaped were Edouard Dubeau, 40, of Otter Lake, Que., the driver of the car, and Emile Gallant, 62, of Campbell's Bay.

Need Defence Plans—Howe

WINDSOR, Nov. 13 — (CP) — Co-ordination of defence preparations with economic preparedness and peacetime planning was urged by Trade Minister Howe in a Remembrance Day address here Saturday.

"I do not consider a third world war inevitable," Mr. Howe told a dinner meeting of the Canadian Legion. "But I regard it as the duty of Canadian citizenship to be constantly on guard and adequately forearmed against the threat of war."

Canadians should prepare to live for a long time in uncertainty as to how the world situation will develop, he said.

The government had increased its military strength to meet international obligations, but did not want to harm unncessarily the welfare of the country as a whole.

"Nothing would suit the Kremlin better than to have us go all-out on defence preparedness and then relax under a peace offensive and be caught short if they again launch their program of aggression by proxy," he said.

Lakes Captain Dies

SALAMANCA, N.Y., Nov. 13 — (AP)—Charles Campbell, 74, a retired Great Lakes captain who sailed the lakes for 40 years, died Saturday night. His home was at nearby New Albion. Campbell was born at Battersea, Ont., and educated at Kingston. He started as a seaman on a sailing vessel when he was 18. From 1915 to 1935, when he retired, he worked for the Pickands-Mather Steamship Company of Cleveland. He became a captain in 1935.

Mr. Peabody and the end of the rainbow

• You could have knocked Mr. Peabody over with a feather.

For there, right through the window of his own room, came a rainbow. And at the end of it was a huge pot of gold!

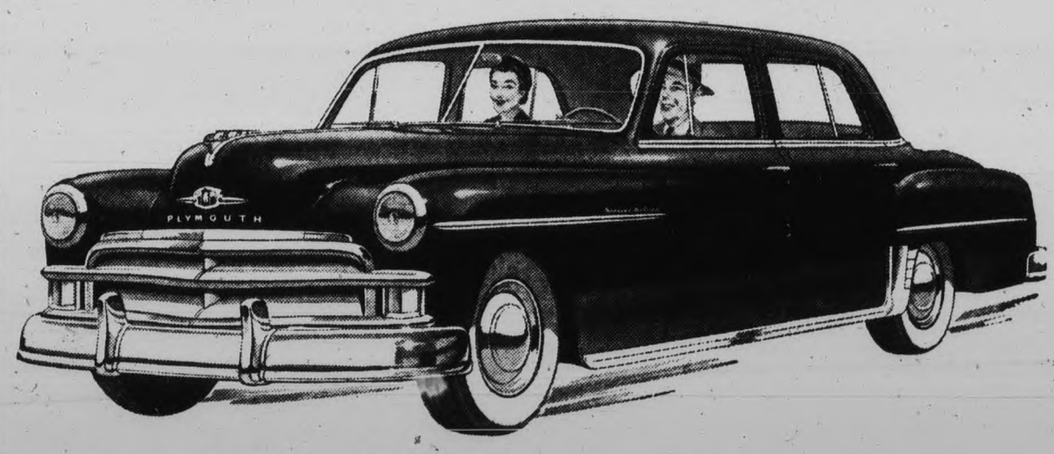
As he approached it to see if it was real, he heard the sound of bells. "The whole town has heard of this!" thought Mr. Peabody. "That's why the bells are ringing." And the sound of the bells grew louder . . . louder . . . LOUDER . . .

Mr. Peabody awoke with a start. The alarm clock beside his bed was ringing . . . ringing . . . RINGING. Shutting it off, he sighed sadly, got up and dressed.

At the breakfast table Mr. Peabody read his newspaper. In it a speaker was reported to have said that old-age benefits should provide everybody with enough to retire on.

"Hmmph!" snorted Mr. Peabody to himself. "More rainbows! I like the idea of additional help for older people. But to build the kind of comfortable old-age income I want, I fully expect to need all my life insurance – and maybe more. It gives my family protection now. And it covers my own special needs in a way no mass programme could possibly do."

Arriving at the office, Mr. Peabody, like millions of other Canadians, began another day of earning and saving for his future security with life insurance.



"Even without pots of gold, it's a pretty good world," he said to himself. And as he worked, he began to whistle softly.

Ask Washington Bring Suit Over Newsprint

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13 (AP). —Representative Emanuel Celler (Dem. N. Y.) called on the United States justice department Sunday to start an anti-trust suit "to restore competition in the newsprint industry."

Celler, chairman of the House of Representatives Judiciary Committee, recently conducted an investigation of the American and Canadian newsprint industry as part of a broad committee study of economic power in American industry.

Writing Attorney-General J. Howard McGrath, Celler said a score or more of newsprint mills —makers of the paper on which newspapers are printed—have adopted uniform price increases since October.

"I believe that here is clear evidence of violation of the anti-trust laws of this country," he told McGrath.

On Oct. 12, Celler wrote, the Powell River Company of Powell River, B. C., increased newsprint $10 a ton, a price followed by a number of other companies.

On Oct. 26, he said, International Paper Sales Company, selling agent of the largest Canadian producer—Canadian International Paper Company—and wholly-owned subsidiary of International Paper Company, an American corporation, announced it was raising prices $6 a ton.

Follow Suit

"Soon thereafter, Abitibi Power and Paper Company Limited, and Consolidated Paper Corporation, Limited, which had both previously announced $10 increases, reduced their price rise to $6 per ton," he told McGrath, adding that others then adhered to the $6 increase.

Celler quoted figures indicating the net income of the major newsprint producers had doubled and in some cases more than doubled in the 1944-49 period.

He gave little weight to the revaluation of the Canadian dollar as an excuse for price hikes.

Asserting that the newsprint industry is exercising economic control by raising prices instead of expanding facilities, Celler said:

"I am not the only one to express alarm over the situation indicating monopoly power in the newsprint industry. My sentiments are voiced by the National Retail Dry Goods Association and the American Newspaper Publishers Association."

Doctor Addicts Worry Ottawa

MONTREAL, Nov. 13—(CP)—Addiction of Canadian physicians to drugs is causing federal authorities concern, in the opinion of a National Health Department official.

H. C. Hossick, chief of the division of Narcotic Control of the department in Ottawa, wrote in the current issue of the Canadian Medical Association Journal that such cases are "handled discreetly as possible in a purely constructive way."

An effort is made to end the addiction "and it is gratifying to be able to report that there are many members of the medical profession in Canada who, although previously addicted, are now leading normal lives and have been doing so for many years as the result of our efforts on their behalf."

Mr. Hossick also mentioned trafficking in drugs by some physicians. He said these physicians have no idea to what extent drugs they prescribe are "sold to other addicts at a huge profit."

Some members of the profession find the "potential profit" an irresistible temptation."

Train Hits Truck Girl 13, Badly Hurt

CORNWALL, Nov. 13—(CP)—A 13-year-old girl was critically injured Saturday night when a transport truck in which she was riding was struck by a train at a level crossing at Finch, 21 miles northwest of Cornwall.

The girl, Rolande Vaillancourt, of Casselman, Ont., suffered compound skull fracture and severe burns. Driver Girard Dupuis was less seriously injured and four-year-old Pierre Vaillancourt received only head injuries.

30 Students Form Catholic Federation

MONTREAL, Nov. 13—(CP)—Thirty delegates from six Roman Catholic universities met at the University of Montreal Saturday and founded the Canadian Federation of Catholic University Students.

Purpose of the bilingual body is three-fold: To present the Catholic thought of Canadian students to the governments and the public at large; take part in international activities of Pax Romana; and spread the Catholic thought in regards to the social and professional obligations of students.
